

Sec. 225. (a) For purposes of titles III⁹³³ and IV⁹³⁴ of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 and the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, any action of the United States Government that is transferred from one fiscal year to an adjacent fiscal year, including a payment, expenditure, receipt of funds from the sale of an asset, and the collection of revenues and other receipts, shall not be treated as causing a reduction in the deficit⁹³⁵ for the fiscal year from which the transfer was made except to the extent that such transfer reduces the sum of the deficits for the two fiscal years by at least $100,000,000. For purposes of this section, an action shall be considered to have been transferred when the action is taken in a different fiscal year and such change in the year is not --

(1) a necessary but secondary result of a significant policy change;

(2) to provide for contingencies; or

(3) to achieve savings made possible by or through changes in requirements or greater efficiency of operations.

(b) For purposes of the application of this section to the Congressional Budget and Impoundment

⁹³³ See supra pp. 53-210.

⁹³⁴ See infra pp. 211-245.

⁹³⁵ Section 3(6) of the Congressional Budget Act defines "deficit" (see supra pp. 13-20) and section 257(4) of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings (see supra p. 520) adopts the definition of section 3(6).
