MESSAGE TRANSMITTING THE BUDGET

To the Congress of the United States:

Herewith is transmitted the Budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930. The receipts and expenditures shown in detail in the Budget are summarized in the following statement:

Summary (exclusive of postal revenues and postal expenditures paid from postal revenues)

	Estimated, 1930	Estimated, 1929	Actual, 1928
Receipts:
Customs	$582, 000, 000. 00	$582, 000, 000. 00	$568, 986, 188. 50
Income tax	2, 175, 000, 000. 00	2, 165, 000, 000. 00	2, 173, 952, 556. 73
Miscellaneous internal revenue	559, 000, 000. 00	577, 500, 000. 00	621, 018, 665. 64
Miscellaneous receipts	525, 295, 829. 00	507, 235, 661. 00	678, 390, 745. 32
Total receipts	3, 841, 295, 829. 00	3, 831, 735, 661. 00	4, 042, 348, 156. 19
Total expenditures (including reduction of the public debt required by law to be made from ordinary receipts)	3, 780, 719, 647. 00	3, 794, 745, 469. 00	3, 643, 519, 875. 13
Excess of receipts	60, 576, 182. 00	36, 990, 192. 00	398, 828, 281. 06

The estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1928, as given in the 1929 Budget, were $4,075,598,091 and the expenditures $3,621,314,285. The year closed with actual receipts of $4,042,348,156.19, and expenditures $3,643,519,875.13. We were thus given an actual surplus of $398,828,281.06 that year, which is $55,000,000 less than the estimate. Taking into consideration that subsequent to the transmission of the 1929 Budget we spent $50,000,000 for carrying out the provisions of the settlement of war claims act of 1928, approved March 10, 1928, the real difference between the estimated and actual surplus for 1928 is but $5,000,000.

This current year, 1929, the outlook is not so bright. In the Budget for 1929, transmitted to the Congress in December, 1927, our receipts were estimated at $3,809,497,314 and expenditures $3,556,957,031. This indicated a surplus of $252,540,283. This forecast has been materially changed. With actual operations for four months of the current fiscal year of record and a clearer conception of what we face, the estimate is now that our surplus this year will be $36,990,192 While this margin of receipts over expenditures is small, it is most gratifying, as on July 1, last, the best estimate that could be made indicated a deficit of about $94,000,000. The surplus now estimated is based on receipts amounting to $3,831,735,661 and expenditures of $3,794,745,469. The difference between the estimate of a year ago and this estimate is primarily reflected in the expenditure figures which have increased $238,000,000. The postal deficit accounts for $68,000,000 of this estimated increase in expenditures. Included in that amount is approximately $9,000,000 for overtime pay of postal personnel, $9,000,000 for carrying ocean and air mail, $14,000,000 for increase in rail transportation rates, and $36,000,000 reduction in postal revenues. Expenditures for flood control account for $16,000,000. Public buildings under the Treasury Department and roads under the Department of Agriculture account for $26,000,000. Increases in the amount of pensions account for $11,000,000 and increases in pay of Federal personnel for $21,000,000. Tax refunds show an estimated increase of $18,000,000 and interest $5,000,000, while the Navy and Shipping Board expenditures account for $26,000,000. These are the major items which enter into the increase.

For the coming fiscal year, 1930, the estimate is that the receipts will amount to $3,841,295,829 and the expenditures $3,780,719,647, indicating a surplus of $60,576,182. The surplus margin for both this year, 1929, and next year, 1930, is small. It is, however, satisfactory, as it points to a balanced Budget. It is clear that we can not assume any great additional expenditures without jeopardizing this favorable outlook. We are committed irrevocably to a balanced Budget and that carries the assurance that the only revision of our tax laws which will be considered is a revision downward. We have no immediate prospect of any further reduction in tax rates; but we have no thought of curtailing in any way the benefits which have gone to the people by the four reductions already made in taxes.

THE FRENCH DEBT

On August 1, 1929, bonds of the French Government aggregating $400,000,000 will mature. At the conclusion of hostilities the American Expeditionary Forces in France had accumulated in that country vast stores of supplies, materials and equipment. Under the authority granted by the act of July 9, 1918, it was decided to dispose of these supplies in France. The President, therefore, created under the War Department the United States Liquidation Commission, whose main duty was to settle claims and dispose of this surplus property stored in France. The commission appraised the value of the materials for the purpose of the bulk sale to France at $562,230,800. After offsetting certain claims and counterclaims and taking into consideration the contention of the French Government that some of the supplies carried into France were subject to customs duties estimated at $150,000,000, it was agreed to transfer these supplies to the French Government, the latter to give in payment its 10-year 5 per cent bonds, dated August 1, 1919, in the amount of $400,000,000, interest thereon to be payable semiannually from and after August 1, 1920. Under the terms of this contract the French Government delivered to the United States 400 of its 10-year gold bonds in the face amount of $1,000,000 each. These are the bonds that are due and payable August 1, 1929. Semiannual interest on these obligations has been paid punctually.

In addition to the foregoing France purchased other supplies from the War Department stocks in the United States for which it gave obligations aggregating $7,341,145.01, of which $6,566,762.42 mature on May 9, 1930, and $774,382.59 on July 5, 1930.

All of the above-mentioned obligations were merged with the total obligations of France and included in the debt settlement agreement between the United States and France dated April 29, 1926, which funded the French indebtedness to the United States and under which the payments from France are spread over a 62-year period, with a material reduction in the interest rate. If, therefore, the debt agreement is ratified by the French Government and by the Congress of the United States prior to August 1, 1929, these obligations will not mature but will have become merged in the general indebtedness funded under the debt settlement.

The $406,566,762.42 due in the fiscal year 1930 has not been included in the estimates of receipts for the reason that it is still expected the agreement of April 26, 1926, may be ratified prior to the maturity of these bonds. If, in accordance with the terms of this agreement, it is ratified in France, it is recommended that it receive the prompt ratification of the Congress of the United States.

If the agreement is not ratified, it is believed that the $406,566,762.42 should be applied to the retirement of our war debt rather than treated as current receipts available for current expenditures.

FLOOD CONTROL

For the purposes of flood control the estimates contained in this Budget carry $31,000,000. That is the additional amount which the War Department states will be required to meet expenditures in 1930. If it should develop that more funds are required by the War Department for this purpose to meet the needs for that fiscal year, a further estimate will be presented to the Congress.

BUILDING

We are engaged upon one of the most ambitious and extensive building programs of peace-time history. When war was declared there had been appropriated by the Congress approximately $60,000,000 for projects widely scattered throughout the country, of which $30,000,000 remained unexpended. Building sites, some 150 in number, had been bought and construction thereon of needed public buildings was soon to begin. Imperative war demands postponed all activities of the sort, and when the war ended we faced serious lack of suitable office and housing space to meet the demands of materially enlarged governmental activities—not only enlarged but rapidly increasing. Postwar reconstruction demands, an extraordinary debt and crushing taxes further deferred remedial action in the matter of governmental building requirements. Reduction in expenditures and resulting reduction in taxes warranted in the year 1926 enactment of a national public building act which launched a building program of $50,000,000 in the District of Columbia, where need of new and suitable accommodations was most urgent, and construction programs for the rest of the country totaling $115,000,000. In 1928 the Congress amended this act by increasing the total by $100,000,000, making a grand total of $265,000,000 for public buildings for the civil purposes of the Government. In 1928 a subsequent act authorized an expenditure of $25,000,000 for the procurement of additional land within the so-called triangle in the District of Columbia, needed for building purposes, thereby increasing the total provision for these general building purposes to $290,000,000. There has already been appropriated under these acts $68,617,083.56, and $28,040,000 is carried in the estimates for 1930. Contracts have been let for 71 projects totaling $19,881,152, of which 35 have been completed and 36 are under construction, to cost $14,635,952. The foregoing figures are exclusive of $8,000,000 for the appraisers stores building in New York City, the full amount of which has been appropriated.

The Army has well under way a building program, exclusive of air service hangars and like structures, of $118,000,000. There has already been appropriated for this purpose $20,751,409 and $15,041,950 is carried in the estimates for 1930, with $3,000,000 additional authorized for obligation by contract. The estimates for 1930 also carry for technical and other buildings for the air services of the Army and Navy a total in round numbers of $4,500,000.

Additional hospital facilities for the Veterans' Bureau to the extent of $15,000,000 have also been authorized by Congress, of which $7,000,000 has been appropriated. The Budget estimates for 1930 provide $6,000,000 and in addition an authorization for obligation by contract of $2,000,000.

The act of May 7, 1926, authorized an expenditure of $10,000,000 for houses and offices for our foreign representatives. The program is a 5-year project, appropriations being limited to $2,000,000 a year. There has been appropriated for these purposes $2,435,000, while the estimates for 1930 call for $2,000,000 additional.

These figures show a program, exclusive of technical buildings for air activities, which involves for its completion some $433,000,000.

THE CHART PRESENTATION

The chart presentation of the estimates of receipts, expenditures, and appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, given opposite page A2, sets forth graphically the source of income and how the average dollar of the estimated expenditures and appropriations is apportioned to organization units and functions in the Budget for the fiscal year 1930.

Chart 1 exhibits the estimates of appropriations by organization units, exclusive of the Post Office Department payable from postal revenues, and gives the allocation of the average dollar to the several departments and establishments for which the appropriations are recommended. It will be seen that of the average dollar to be appropriated 0.53 cent is for the legislative establishment; 17.99 cents for independent offices, of which 16.59 cents is for the Veterans' Bureau; that 4.28 cents is for the Department of Agriculture; 8.63 cents for the Department of the Interior; 9.7 cents for the Navy Department; 12.35 cents for the War Department; 42.29 cents for the Treasury Department, of which 17.77 cents is for interest on the public debt and 15.36 cents for reduction in principal of the public debt payable from ordinary receipts; and only 4.23 cents for the Departments of Commerce, Justice, Labor, and State, the District of Columbia, and the Executive Office.

Chart 2 gives the estimates of appropriations by governmental functions and exhibits the purpose for which the average dollar is to be appropriated for the fiscal year 1930. It shows that of each dollar recommended for appropriation 3.49 cents goes for general functions; 36.53 cents for military functions, of which 18.01 cents is for national defense and 18.52 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. It also shows that of the average dollar to be appropriated 16.25 cents is for civil functions, of which 1.09 cents is for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, and 6.13 cents for public works. Of the total, 43.73 cents of each dollar included in the estimates is for nonfunctional purposes. This includes 4.26 cents for refunds, drawbacks, and like appropriations, 15.36 cents for public-debt retirements, and 17.77 cents for interest on the public debt.

Chart 3 gives the estimates of expenditures by organization units for the fiscal year 1930. Of the average dollar to be expended it shows that 11.18 cents will be disbursed by the Veterans' Bureau; 4.37 cents by the Department of Agriculture; 1.38 cents by the Department of Commerce; 7.70 cents by the Department of the Interior; 0.75 cent by the Department of Justice; 0.28 cent by the Department of Labor; 9.57 cents by the Navy Department; 12 cents by the War Department; 0.38 cent by the State Department; 46.46 cents by the Treasury Department, of which 14.63 cents represents reduction in principal of public debt payable from ordinary receipts, and 16.93 cents for interest on the public debt; 1.04 cents by the District of Columbia; 1.89 cents for postal deficiency; 5.24 cents for investment of trust funds; and but 3 cents to be disbursed by the legislative branch, the independent establishments other than the Veterans' Bureau, and the Executive Office.

Chart 4 gives the estimate of expenditures by governmental functions. It supplies information showing for the average dollar the general end or purpose to be accomplished by the expenditures during the fiscal year 1930. Of the average dollar to be expended during that fiscal year 3.41 cents will be spent for the general functions of the Government; 35.61 cents will go for military functions, of which 17.68 cents is for national defense, and 17.93 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. The chart also shows that 19.12 cents will be expended for civil functions, of which 2.08 cents goes for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, 6.97 cents for public works, and 10.07 cents for other civil functions; that 41.86 cents will be expended for nonfunctional operations, of which 4.48 cents represents refunds and miscellaneous; 31.56 cents for fixed-debt charges, of which 14.63 cents is for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts, and 16.93 cents for interest on the public debt; and 5.82 cents for the disbursement of trust funds.

Chart 5 exhibits the estimated receipts of the Government by sources of revenue, exclusive of postal revenues for the fiscal year 1930. Of the average dollar to be received 71.17 cents comes from internal revenue, 15.15 cents will be received from customs, and 13.68 cents will be derived from miscellaneous sources, which comprise interest and discount, sale of Government property, public-domain receipts, fees, fines, penalties and forfeitures, gifts and contributions, repayments of investments, District of Columbia receipts, Panama Canal receipts, and trust-fund receipts.

The amounts which form the basis for computing the allocation of the average dollar for the estimates of appropriations by functions for the fiscal year 1930, Chart 2, are given in detail in Budget Statement No. 11. The data used for the income statement, Chart 5, are supplied by Budget Statement No. 6; the data for computing the average dollar for the estimated expenditures by functions, Chart 4, are given in Budget Statement No. 14. The data for Chart 3, giving the average dollar allocation of the estimates of expenditures by organization units, are given in Budget Statement No. 2, and similar data for Chart 1 are given in the recapitulation of estimates of appropriations.

Chart 5 does not include the estimated postal revenues for the fiscal year 1930, because such revenues are not considered receipts of the general fund.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Ample provision is made in these estimates for national defense, the estimates for 1930 calling for $648,511,300 for the Army and Navy. This amount is reached after excluding from Army and Navy estimates all nonmilitary items so that the figure given is the amount provided for purely military purposes. The actual expenditure for 1927 was $558,004,447; for 1928 it was $596,500,896; the estimated expenditure for 1929 is $672,844,288; while the estimated expenditure, as distinguished from appropriation estimates, is $668,277,712 for 1930. In submitting the annual Budget for 1926 the Chief Executive stated that the amount carried in that Budget for national defense was $549,000,000 and that in his opinion we could have adequate national defense with a more modest outlay of the taxpayers' money. Nevertheless our defense estimates have steadily climbed until the cash requirements have advanced for 1930 by approximately $100,000,000 more than was estimated for 1926. This increase, however, is more apparent than real, for in these prior years the defense establishments have had the use of surplus supplies left over from the war. As these reserves have become depleted it has become necessary to increase the cash provision to take their place.

AIR SERVICE

The air interests of the Government are developing in a most satisfactory manner. The demands of this service while large have been adequately met. The 5-year program for the Army and Navy is approaching completion. Provision is made in these estimates for the third year increment of the Army and the fourth year increment of the Navy, and it is a fair assumption that at the end of 1931 the Navy will have a well-balanced fleet of 1,000 airplanes, while at the end of 1932 the Army will be in possession of 1,800 planes in proper proportion as to types. The necessary housing and other construction for the Army and Navy air forces are also provided for. The expansion of air activities, however, is by no means confined to the Army and Navy. The Department of Commerce, the Coast Guard, and the Department of Agriculture are playing their parts in the developing air program as is the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics. While the Post Office Department definitely retired from the business of carrying mails in 1928, there is provided for 1930 for contract air mail service in the United States the sum of $14,300,000 and $4,000,000 additional for foreign air mail. While this is not Government-operated service it is Government supported and can properly be cited as contributing materially to air service development. These estimates carry $6,427,260 for the Department of Commerce to carry on its important task in connection with commercial aviation. This estimate contemplates, among other items, the construction of 4,000 additional miles of lighted airways. There is provision in these estimates of $582,500 for the Department of Agriculture for obtaining weather predictions, fighting the boll weevil, and for forest patrol. The total contemplated for all these purposes, direct and indirect, in 1930 is $140,631,824.

The rapid and legitimate expansion of our air service, military and commercial, is an achievement in which we can all take pride. Without artificial stimulation this extraordinary new factor in national defense and commerce has grown from modest and discouraging beginnings into a strong, healthy, promising national activity. To-day we have more airplane manufactories than we have automobile factories. To-day air mail lines cross the heavens in a rapidly increasing network of speedy communication. Freight and passenger carrying airplanes are increasing and a growing demand is seen for airplanes for private use. The generous contribution made by the United States Government to this great and growing activity has been justified by the progress made and the results achieved.

The history of these great and necessary projects emphasizes the fact that there has been no niggardly provision for pressing Government needs. While constructive economy has been demanded from Federal administrators, these economies have not deprived essential activities of funds, but have conserved and made available means for important necessary purposes. Our splendid Treasury is not a bottomless, automatically replenishing fountain of fiscal supply, and its outflow must be eternally watched and carefully and wisely directed into proper channels.

In submitting this, the eighth Budget of the United States, the Chief Executive wishes to express his appreciation of the courteous, friendly, and businesslike consideration accorded his estimates by the Congress. It is a matter for congratulation that after the careful and painstaking consideration given Budget estimates by the congressional committees there should be so little difference in results. Congressional action has amounted to practical ratification of the Budget estimates. It is also a matter for congratulation that congressional revision has resulted in reduction of estimates. The first seven Budgets (fiscal years 1923 to 1929) carried estimates totaling $27,000,475,970, which supplemental estimates increased to $29,800,233,790. On these estimates Congress appropriated $29,478,282,294, a reduction below Budget requests of $321,951,495. Of this reduction $135,468,732 pertains to the Budget for 1923, a reduction made possible by the Naval Disarmament Conference and the resulting curtailment of naval building projects as well as modifications in the Veterans' Bureau and Shipping Board programs. The total reduction in the six Budgets following 1923 is $55,971,630, a percentage of difference of only one-fifth of 1 per cent. To the Chief Executive nothing could be more gratifying than the hearty cooperation of the Congress with the President on Budget matters evidenced by these figures.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

DESCRIPTION OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS

INTRODUCTION

A classification by governmental functions has for its purpose to set forth the general end or purposes accomplished by the expenditures made by the several organization units of the Government. Each function of government represents a service rendered directly to the people or else a service performed as a means of promoting, protecting, regulating, or administering services directly rendered.

The classification set forth on statements Nos. 11 and 14 presents, first, the general functions of the Government. These correspond closely to the main organs of government established by the Constitution. The general functions have been divided into the following:

1. Legislative,
2. Judicial,
3. Executive, and
4. General administration.

The activities and duties of each of these deal with matters in all other functional fields.

Of the specific functions it is important in the case of the National Government to segregate clearly the expenditures for military and distinctly war purposes from expenditures for civil services. Therefore a segregation is made of the specific functions into the following classes:

1. Military functions.
2. Civil functions.
3. Nonfunctional expenditures.

The military functions represent those activities conducted for military and war purposes and include those activities of special war agencies and expenditures made by civil services arising from war conditions. These were of special importance during the recent World War, and some of them are likely to continue for an indefinite period.

The civil functions include those functions of government which have to do with the promotion of friendly relations with foreign powers; those which have to do with the conservation of social order and property; those which have to do with the conservation of natural resources and economic interests of the people; those activities which relate to the promotion and protection of health, the care and education of Indians, and the promotion of public education, educational research, and science.

The nonfunctional expenditures include certain important expenditures which are of a nonorganizational character. These are for the most part expenditures arising out of war, such as interest on and redemption of public debt, investments, refunds, and disbursement of trust funds.

The "refunds" and "investments" are segregated from other departmental expenditures because the former represents the repayment or refund of the whole or part of an amount previously received in payment of indebtedness to the United States, and the latter represents expenditures made in the purchase of notes, bonds, and other choses in action, and loans to foreign governments, railroads, and the like, which are not expenses of operation but the conversion of cash into other assets.

DEFINITIONS OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS

For the purpose of defining the expenditures or appropriations comprehended within each general function, the following definitions are given:

Legislative.—Under this function are grouped only those activities of Congress as a legislative body.

Judicial.—Under this function are grouped those expenditures having to do with the judicial branch of the Government. It includes all United States courts expenses other than the District of Columbia courts, which are included under "Local government."

Executive.—Under this function are included the direct cost of the Executive Office, including the salary and expenses of the President and Vice President and the cost of maintaining the Executive Mansion and grounds.

General administration.—Under this heading are grouped the expenditures of certain administrative agencies which are of a general character, dealing with matters in all the various fields of administrative functions and those departmental expenditures which can not now be allocated to specific civil functions.

This general title includes expenditures for (1) financial administration, (2) Government supply services, (3) public-buildings service, (4) civil pensions and allowance administration, and (5) institutional and general expenses.

Under "Financial administration" are included the Treasury fiscal services, the Bureau of the Budget, the services having to do with the collection of taxes, the public-debt service, and the General Accounting Office.

Under "Government supply services" are included those organization units of the Government whose function it is to supply personnel, services, or materials to all other agencies of the Government. It includes such services as the Civil Service Commission, the Bureau of Efficiency, the Government Printing Office, the Superintendent of Public Documents, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Government fuel yards in the District of Columbia, the General Supply Committee, and the Coordinator of General Supply.

Under "Public buildings service" are included all expenses incurred in connection with the maintenance and operation of public buildings within and without the District of Columbia. It includes the maintenance and operation of the Capitol Building and Grounds, the Senate and House Office Buildings, the Capitol power plant, all other building maintenance and operation expenditures connected with the legislative branch, and like expenses for maintenance and operation of buildings under the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital, Interior Department buildings, Treasury Department buildings, public buildings under the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, public buildings and grounds under the Chief of Engineers of the Army, and the Congressional Library buildings and grounds.

The "Civil pensions and allowance administration" comprises the general expenses of the Employees' Compensation Commission and the cost of administering the act retiring civil-service employees, which is supervised by the Pension Office of the Interior Department. It excludes the payments made out of the employees' compensation fund, which are reported under "Promotion of labor interests."

The "Institutional and general expenses" include only the salaries and expenses of the Treasury and Interior Departments not directly chargeable to any specific civil function. These include the salaries of the chief clerk's office of the Treasury Department (other than those relating to buildings service); other institutional services of the Treasury Department, such as appointment division, the printing division, the disbursing clerk, and the mail and files division; and like expenses of the Interior Department.

National defense.—Under this general title are included the military activities of the War Department, the naval and military activities of the Navy Department, and the special-defense appropriations given directly to the civil departments. It excludes all trust-fund expenditures.

This general title includes the military activities of (1) the War Department, (2) the Navy Department, and (3) the special-defense appropriations given to civil establishments.

Under "War Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper and all military activities involved in recruiting, training officers and men at schools and training camps, maintenance and operation of armed forces, and provisions for war equipment and stores, which comprehend the purchase, operation, maintenance, or construction, as the case may be, of fortifications, ordnance, ammunition, and other military equipment and supplies.

Under the "Navy Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper, and all naval and military activities involved in the maintenance, equipment, and training of regular forces, the militia and other reserve forces as indicated in the preceding paragraph, inclusive of the cost of operation, maintenance, construction, or purchase of vessels, ordnance, ammunition, and of plants and materials for the manufacture of supplies and equipment for use by the Navy.

Special war agencies.—Under this caption are included the war agencies organized in 1917 as a result of the World War.

Military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims.—Under this group are included all payments to persons by way of accruals or fixed charges made as compensation for past military services to the Government, including pensions on account of disability or death due to military service, pensions on account of services, salaries commencing to accrue to retiring military officers and enlisted men immediately on their leaving active service, allowances on account of military and naval services in the World War, losses on Government life-insurance policies, and salaries and expenses of the United States Veterans' Bureau; also the salaries and expenses of the Pension Office of the Interior Department exclusive of the administration of the act retiring civil-service employees.

Foreign relations and protection of American interests abroad.—Under this general title of civil functions are included the activities of the State Department in the conduct of relations with foreign governments, local representation abroad, cooperation for settlement of international controversies, and the promotion of friendly intercourse with foreign peoples.

General law enforcement.—Under this general title are included the activities having to do with the enforcement of the general laws and the administration and enforcement of special acts like the national prohibition act, the narcotic act, and the investigation and prosecution of war-contract frauds.

Provision for control of currency and banking.—Under this function are included the expenses incurred in connection with the regulation of currency and of banking through the office of the Comptroller of the Currency and public-debt service; the Federal Reserve Board; the Federal Farm Loan Bureau; and the expenditures made by the Bureau of the Mint and mint and assay offices in the maintenance of a money standard.

Administration of Indian affairs.—Under this caption are grouped the expenditures of the National Government in the care and education of the Indian wards of the Nation.

Administration of public domain.—Under this general title are included the activities of the Government having to do with the care and utilization of public lands and the care and utilization of the national forests.

Promotion and regulation of commerce and industry.—Under this general title are included those activities of the several departments and independent establishments having to do with the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry.

Promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation.—Under this general title are included the activities having to do with the preparation of charts and sailing directions, the supplying of public facilities for navigation, the provision for a merchant marine, and the rescue and relief of seamen and passengers, including the activities of the United States Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation and the Coast Guard Service.

Promotion and regulation of land transportation.—Under this general title are included those activities of the Government having to do with the promotion and regulation of land transportation, including the Federal control of transportation systems exercised during the World War, and the payments and advances made by the Government since the termination of Federal control in the form of guaranties as provided by the transportation act of 1920.

Postal Service.—Under this general title are included the deficiencies in postal revenues paid from the Treasury.

Promotion and regulation of agriculture.—Under this function are grouped the activities of the Department of Agriculture in the promotion of agriculture and game preservation and the expenses incurred through the State Department in the support of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, Italy.

Promotion and regulation of fisheries.—Under this function are grouped those activities of the Department of Commerce in the propagation and distribution of food fishes, the protection of Alaska seal and salmon fisheries in Alaska, and other like activities.

Promotion of labor interests.—Under this particular function are grouped the activities of the independent establishments and the Department of Labor having to do with the compilation of labor laws and statistics, the investigation of labor questions, the improvement in housing conditions, the establishment of employment agencies, the payments made by the United States Employees' Compensation Commission to Government employees from the compensation fund, and other like activities.

Immigration and naturalization.—Under this general title are included the expenses involved in regulating immigration, preventing importation of contract labor, the enforcement of laws against alien anarchists, deportation of aliens, care of interned aliens, and the regulation of naturalization.

Promotion of public health.—Under this general title are included those activities having to do with the promotion and protection of public health, exclusive of the Medical Corps of the Army, the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department, the medical corps of institutions for the care of aged and sick soldiers and sailors, and like expenditures of the Veterans' Bureau, all of which are reported under military functions.

Promotion of public education.—Under this general caption are included those activities of the several departments and independent establishments having to do with the promotion of public education and all activities of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

Science and research.—Under this general title are included the activities of the Government having to do with the investigation and publication of knowledge gained and verified by exact observation; the reporting of results of investigations that have been worked out and systematized concerning some subject or group of subjects of ascertained facts, and the principles covering or attempting to give adequate expression to a great natural group or division of knowledge. In addition, it also includes those research activities conducted for the purpose of adding to human knowledge, such as investigations of some phenomenon or series of phenomena by experimental methods to discover facts or to coordinate them as laws.

Public works.—Under this general heading are included the capital expenditures of the Government in constructing public works within and without the District of Columbia other than those outlays for plant facilities and additions which, being essential to the proper performance of specific activities, are included under their respective functions.

This function is subdivided to segregate the expenditures under the captions of:

1. General supervision, design, and overhead;
2. Public improvements; and
3. Government plant additions.

The first subdivision represents the general expenses incurred in designing and supervising the construction of public improvements and plant additions.

The second subdivision comprises the capital outlays made by the Government in the construction of public works, such as the Panama Canal, rivers and harbors and flood-control structures, railroad construction in Alaska, construction of irrigation systems by the Reclamation Service, public roads and rural post roads, the construction of buildings and structures in and around Washington, hospital construction and hospital facilities for war patients, and like capital expenditures.

The third subdivision comprises those structures which are constructed or additions made thereto which are built primarily to house the personnel of the Government and to provide proper facilities for the efficient operation of governmental activities. It includes the cost of construction and cost of improvements only, the operation and maintenance expense being reported under "Public buildings service."

The structures comprehended within this group are those purchased or built under the direction of the Architect of the Capitol; the acquisition or construction of diplomatic premises and buildings by the State Department; the construction work performed under the Supervising Architect of the Treasury in erecting public buildings in Washington, customhouses, courthouses, and post offices, and like structures.

Revenue-producing enterprises.—Under this general title are included the operations of the Government which are (or it is assumed will become) self-supporting.

The only activities included in this group at the present time are the operation of the Center Market, District of Columbia, by the Department of Agriculture, and the maintenance and operation of the Panama Canal and of the Alaska Railroad.

Local government.—Under this function are included the expenditures of the local government in the District of Columbia and the Territories of Alaska, Hawaii, and other insular possessions and such aid as is given to State governments by the National Government in the form of subventions, exclusive of specific grants for education, public health, construction of rural post roads, etc.

Relief expenditures.—Under this general title are grouped those expenditures of the Government made in giving relief to American citizens abroad, contributions toward the maintenance of foreign hospitals which admit citizens of the United States, and other like welfare operations, both foreign and domestic, such as those conducted to alleviate the distress and suffering in foreign countries.

Refunds, losses, contingencies, and miscellaneous.—Under this general title of nonfunctional expenditures are grouped the expenditures made by the Government in repayment or refund of the whole or part of an amount or amounts previously received in payment of indebtedness to the United States, losses and contingencies, such as charges on bullion sold, recoinage of gold, silver, and minor coins, and other bullion and coinage losses, and miscellaneous expenses incurred by the Government in connection with tercentenary and other celebrations.

Investments.—Under this general title of nonfunctional expenditures are grouped those expenditures made by the Government in the purchase of notes, bonds, and other choses in action; loans to foreign governments; and loans to railroads, exclusive of advances to carriers and the American Express Co., under section 209 of the transportation act of 1920, which are reported under "Promotion and regulation of land transportation," C–8.

Fixed debt charges.—Under this general heading are grouped the expenditures made from ordinary receipts in the redemption and purchase of outstanding bonded indebtedness and payments to the sinking fund. It also includes the amount of interest paid on the public debt, all of which is payable from ordinary receipts. It excludes refunding operations and additional redemptions paid from surplus and balances.

Trust funds.—Under this general heading are grouped all expenditures made by the Government (including District of Columbia trust funds) in the nature of repayments of amounts not subject to demand or claim by the United States. It is the repayment of those moneys received by the Government in trust for private purposes and over which it exercises the responsibility of custodian rather than owner.

DESCRIPTION OF BUDGET STATEMENTS

The Budget statements given herein supply data regarding the income and outgo of the Government, actual and prospective, during the last completed fiscal year, the year in progress, and the ensuing fiscal year. They also give financial data showing (1) the financial condition of the Treasury at the end of the last completed fiscal year (balance sheets), (2) the means by which such condition was reached (operating statements), and (3) the public-debt transactions and the condition at the close of business June 30, 1928.

Statement No. 1 is the master or key statement of the Budget. This statement, it will be seen, shows not merely the balance in the general fund at the end of the two last completed years, the estimated surplus that will exist at the end of the year in progress, and the estimated balance at the end of the ensuing fiscal year if the financial proposals contained in the Budget are adopted, but the means by which this balance has been and will be reached. It shows, in a word, the revenues and expenditures of the Government, past and prospective, for these years and exhibits the effect of these amounts in increasing or decreasing the available balance of the general fund.

In considering the showing, past and prospective, it should be noted that payments in respect to the reduction of the public-debt figure among the general-fund expenditures of the Government. The total amount of debt redemptions included among the general-fund expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, amounted to $907,613,730.42, of which $540,255,020.30 was required by existing law to be made from ordinary receipts, and the remainder, $367,358,710.12, represents the amount of general fund applied to the redemption of debt in addition to that now required by law to be made from ordinary receipts.

The estimated surplus of $36,990,192 for the fiscal year 1929 is reached after deducting the sum of $542,471,350 for the reduction of public debt now required by existing law to be made from ordinary receipts. Taking this item into account, it shows that the ordinary revenue exceeds all other estimated ordinary expenditures by $579,461,542, or an estimated improvement in the financial condition of the Government of this amount for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929.

The estimated surplus of receipts of $60,576,182 for the fiscal year 1930 has been decreased by the inclusion of $553,067,600 for debt redemptions out of ordinary receipts. Adding these redemptions to the estimated surplus of receipts reported in Statement No. 1 indicates an improvement of the financial condition of the Government of $613,643,782 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930.

Statement No. 2 supports Statement No. 1 and supplies the details of the expenditures made for 1928, compared with the estimates for 1929, and the proposals for 1930, by main branches or administrative divisions of the Government.

Statement No. 3 is a detailed statement showing the agencies collecting Government revenue by sources. It supplies the actual revenue items collected in 1928 and estimates of the revenue items to be collected by the several departments and other organization units during the fiscal years 1929 and 1930.

Statement No. 4 is a detailed statement of receipts, summarizing the items in Statement No. 3 by sources under organization units.

In Statement No. 5 the expenditures are classified according to character rather than by organization units, as is done in Statements 1 and 2. It will thus be noted that a distinction is made between those expenditures which are for the current operations of the Government, those that are of a nonadministrative character, those for construction work, including national-defense structures, and other expenditures. The importance of the distinctions here made may be seen from the fact that though the expenditure program for 1930 calls for a total expenditure of $3,780,719,647, only $1,084,890,919 is for the current operations of the Government. The latter sum, it will be seen, is $6,002,297 more than the corresponding item for the year in progress, 1929. Nonadministrative expenses, including such items as interest on the public debt, pensions, etc., call for the expenditure of no less than $1,433,962,188 in 1930.

Statement No. 6 also supports Statement No. 1 and supplies details of the sources of revenue of the Government. It sets out in detail the sources from which the income of the Government was derived in 1928 and is expected to be derived in 1929 and 1930.

Statement No. 7 has to do with the operations of the Post Office Department and Postal Service, payable from postal revenues. Beginning with the fiscal year 1923, the departmental expenditures of the Post Office Department at Washington are also financed from the postal receipts.

This statement shows the results of the operations, which for 1928, 1929, and 1930, show a deficit, and gives in detail the expenditures made and to be made out of the postal revenues. The deficiency in postal revenues, it will be noted, is carried in Statement No. 1 and represents the amount of money which will need to be advanced from the general fund to meet the program recommended in the Budget for the Postal Establishment.

Statements Nos. 8 and 9 give a summary of the complete operations on accrual basis of the Panama Canal and Shipping Board Merchant Fleet Corporation, respectively, showing the relationship of the purely governmental transactions of these agencies to their total transactions.

Statement No. 10 shows the transactions in various accounts, funds, and authorizations for the fiscal years concerned.

Statement No. 11 summarizes the estimates of appropriations by governmental functions for the fiscal year 1930 and the appropriations made for the fiscal year 1929. This statement sets forth the general end or purposes to be accomplished by the expenditure of the appropriations recommended for 1930, compared with the appropriations which have already been made for the fiscal year 1929. The classification given on this statement presents first the general functions of the Government. This corresponds closely to the main organs of the Government established by the Constitution. The general functions have been divided into (a) legislative, (b) judicial, (c) executive, and (d) general administration.

The specific functions are segregated to distinguish theexpenditures for military and distinctly war purposes from expenditures for civil services; therefore the segregation made in this statement divides the specific functions into (a) military functions, (b) civil functions, and (c) nonfunctional operations. This statement not only gives the amount of money recommended for appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, compared with the actual appropriations already made by Congress for the fiscal year 1929, but it also shows the percentages of the amounts allocated to the different purposes.

This statement will be found interesting and informative, showing as it does the approximate amounts devoted to important Government activities and interests.

It will be found that a total of $125,655,513.44 is carried for general functions, which include the legislative, judicial, executive, and the general administrative operations of the Government which can not be allocated to specific civil functions.

The sum of $1,315,525,582 is provided for military functions, which includes military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, and World War allowances, and national defense.

The amount recommended for national defense is divided into two classes: Army, $308,744,101; Navy, $339,767,199.

The amount provided in the Budget for military pensions and allowances includes $222,780,000 for pensions, $405,316,890 for World War allowances, and $27,879,004 for retirement pay.

The amount recommended for civil functions totals $585,037,775.21. Under this general function $14,136,401.60 is allowed for foreign relations and protection of American interests abroad; $42,273,169 for general law enforcement, which includes activities having to do with the enforcement of general laws and the administration and enforcement of special acts like the national prohibition act, the narcotic act, and the investigation and prosecution of war contract frauds; $8,431,664 for the control of currency and banking; $16,810,815.78 for the administration of Indian affairs; $32,544,648 for the administration of public domain, which includes those activities of the Government having to do with the care and utilization of public lands and the care and utilization of national forests; $27,729,174 for the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry, which includes the activities of the Tariff Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Patent Office, and those activities of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce having to do with the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry; $39,275,636.25 for the promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, which includes $9,994,000 for the Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation; $8,214,625 for the promotion and regulation of land transportation; $40,102,551 for the promotion and regulation of agriculture; $2,170,550 for the promotion and regulation of fisheries; $5,755,460 for the promotion of labor interests; $8,989,990 for immigration and naturalization; $19,017,862.92 for promotion of public health; $12,476,660 for promotion of public education; $31,072,710.66 for science and research; $46,072,307 for local government, including the District of Columbia.

For public works under civil functions, $220,671,500 is carried, which includes $93,647,600 for rivers and harbors, flood control, and items of similar character; $82,000,000 for roads; $8,639,000 for Reclamation Service; $825,000 for railroads in Alaska; and $35,559,900 for other public improvements and Government plant additions.

Under nonfunctional appropriations is carried a total of $1,574,941,709.02, which includes $153,391,430 for refunds, losses, contingencies, and miscellaneous; $553,067,629.02 for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts; $640,000,000 for interest on the public debt; and $228,482,650 for disbursement and investment of certain trust funds.

Statement No. 12 summarizes the estimates of appropriations by character and objects of expenditure for the fiscal year 1930 and the appropriations made for the fiscal year 1929. It makes a distinction between those appropriations already made and herein recommended for (a) current expenses, (b) fixed charges, (c) acquisition of property, (d) payment of debt, and (e) payments for rights and obligations.

Statement No. 13 shows the expenditures of the Government, exclusive of the Postal Service, for the fiscal years 1925 to 1928, inclusive, under the same classification as appears in Statement No. 12.

Statement No. 14 gives similar data to that presented by Statement No. 12. It is a summary of expenditures classified by governmental functions for the fiscal year 1930 compared with prior years. It not only gives the amount of money spent but that which it is estimated will be spent during the current fiscal year and the ensuing fiscal year. It also furnishes the percentages allocated to the different functions of the Government. The expenditures given for the fiscal year 1928 are on the basis of checks drawn and charged to appropriation accounts, authorizing withdrawal of cash from the Treasury as reported by the Secretary of the Treasury in the "Combined statement of receipts and disbursements, balances, etc., of the United States," brought to the actual cash expenditure by an adjustment figure.

Statement No. 15 gives the appropriations recommended and appropriations made by Congress during the fiscal year 1929, compared with the fiscal year 1928, classified by organization units, including those appropriations made by Congress for which no estimates were submitted by the Chief Executive.

Statement No. 16 summarizes the estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year 1930 and appropriations for 1929. It shows the amounts and percentages applied to current operations of the Government by Government departments and offices.

Statement No. 17 exhibits the appropriations made for theyears 1929 and 1928.

Statement No. 18 gives the amount of annual, permanent, or other appropriations, including balances of appropriations for prior fiscal years, available for expenditure during the fiscal year in progress, 1929, as of November 1, 1928. This statement shows the total amount available for expenditure during the fiscal year 1929 to that date.

Statement No. 19 is a consolidated current balance sheet; that is, it consolidates the general fund, which includes all other expendable funds, with the loan funds.

Statement No. 20 is a statement of operations of the general fund showing how the condition reported in the general-fund balance sheet was reached.

Statement No. 21 is a statement of operations of the public-debt (loan) funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928. It shows the receipts and expenditures of the loan funds for that year.

Statement No. 22 is a consolidated statement of operations showing how the condition reported in Statement No. 19 was reached.

Statement No. 23 is a summary statement of outstanding debt at the close of business June 30, 1928, compared with June 30, 1927, and June 30, 1916, on the basis of revised figures reported in the "Statement of the public debt of the United States." It shows that the gross outstanding debt on June 30, 1916, was $1,225,145,567.53 and that the gross debt as of June 30, 1927, was $18,510,174,266.10, while the gross debt outstanding on June 30, 1928, was $17,604,290,562.93. It will be noted that the gross debt was reduced over $900,000,000 in the fiscal year 1928.

Statement No. 24 is a detailed statement of outstanding debt at the close of business June 30, 1928, compared with June 30, 1927, and June 30, 1916. It supports Statement No. 23.

Statement No. 25 exhibits the securities owned by the United States Government on June 30, 1928, with a memorandum as to capital stock of various corporations.

Statements Nos. 26, 27, and 28 report information regarding the sinking-fund operations for the fiscal year 1928 and the estimated operations for the fiscal years 1929 and 1930, respectively.

Statement No. 29 supplies information as to the proposed borrowings from the public for redemptions and purchases of public-debt issues during the fiscal year 1930, compared with those expected to be made in 1929 and the actual borrowings and redemptions which were made during the fiscal year 1928, exclusive of those certificates of indebtedness which are issued and redeemed within the same fiscal year.

Statement No. 30 summarizes and compares by classification services and grades for the fiscal years 1930, 1929, and 1928, the average number of employees, the average salary rates, and the total salaries of the personnel of the executive departments and independent establishments in the District of Columbia classified under the act of March 4, 1923, as amended.

Statement No. 31 summarizes and compares by departments and independent establishments, for the fiscal years 1930, 1929, and 1928, the average number of employees, the average salary rates, and the total salaries of the personnel in the District of Columbia classified under the act of March 4, 1923, as amended.

[1] On basis of Treasury daily statement of June 30, 1928.

[2] Represents those disbursements of the Government which do not constitute expenses of administration, strictly speaking. Examples of such expenditures are interest on the public debt, pensions, grants, subsidies, and contributions, refunds and drawbacks, indemnities, military and naval insurance, and the like.

[3] The expenditure of $5,500,000 in 1928 represents the purchase of the Cape Cod Canal, and the expenditure of $6,230,000 in 1929 represents the purchase and retirement of the canal bonds and payment of accrued interest.

[1] The Comptroller reduced the fee paid by national banks for examinations beginning July 1, 1928. This reduction in fee will reduce receipts to the estimate as shown opposite 1929. In 1930 the fee will be increased but not to the old fee which was in operation prior to July 1, 1928; thus the estimated receipts for 1930 are as shown in the column "All other" opposite 1930 estimate.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

Appropriated for 1929	$3,137,000
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	26,000
Total for 1929	3,163,000
Budget estimate for 1930	3,419,000
Increase	256,000

This involves an increase of $200,000 to equip the new 8-story addition to the Government Printing Office buildings with filing and laboratory equipment, intercommunicating carrier system, and other miscellaneous equipment not provided for under construction of the building. In the office of the Superintendent of Documents an increase of $48,000 is included for personal services and $8,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Appropriated for 1929	$437,180
Total for 1929	451,750
Budget estimate for 1930	458,120
Increase	6,370

The cost of maintenance, Executive Mansion and grounds is increased from $109,630 to $116,000, an allowance of $6,370 having been made for repainting the exterior of the Executive Mansion.

ALASKA RELIEF FUND

Budget estimate for 1930	15,000

This is an indefinite appropriation of 10 per cent of the receipts collected outside of incorporated towns in Alaska. The funds are divided equally among the four district judges to be used in caring for indigent and incapacitated persons. On July 1, 1928, there was an unexpended balance of $4,056.68 to the credit of this fund for redistribution.

AMERICAN BATTLE MONUMENTS COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$700,000
Previous continuing appropriations	1,995,750
Total	2,695,750
Budget estimate for 1930	600,000

These are continuing appropriations. The estimate for 1930 is to provide for continuing construction of the memorials upon battle fields and in cemeteries in Europe in commemoration of the services of the American Expeditionary Forces, as authorized by the act of March 4, 1923. It was originally thought that $3,000,000 would be required to complete this project, but it is now estimated that the completion of the work in all its details will cost in excess of this sum, and this estimate contemplates raising the limitation to $4,500,000. Unanticipated increased costs and developments have made this necessary, supplemental plans for plants and planting accounting for a large sum. It is not believed that the whole project can be completed before 1931.

ARLINGTON MEMORIAL BRIDGE COMMISSION

Previous continuing appropriations	5,500,000
Total	7,800,000
Budget estimate for 1930	2,000,000

These are continuing appropriations. The authorized appropriation for this entire project, including the bridge and its approaches, is $14,750,000. The project will require 10 years for completion. Actual work was begun early in 1926. The amounts heretofore appropriated have carried the bridge construction well along, and the completion of that portion of the project is expected during 1930. The work on the approaches is yet to be done, practically none of this having been started.

BOARD OF MEDIATION

Total for 1929	355,002
Budget estimate for 1930	348,270
Decrease	6,732

The estimate for 1930 contemplates reductions of $1,100 for printing and binding, and $5,632 for salaries and expenses.

BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

Appropriated for 1929	$720, 740
Total for 1929	748, 740
Budget estimate for 1930	725, 863
Decrease	22, 877

There is a reduction of $3,640 in salaries involving a decrease of six in personnel, and a decrease from $170,800 to $149,563 in the amount for miscellaneous expenses. There is an increase from $38,000 to $40,000 in the amount for printing and binding.

BUREAU OF EFFICIENCY

Appropriated for 1929	$210, 350
Total for 1929	228, 130
Budget estimate for 1930	228, 130

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$1, 130, 352
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	68, 000
Total for 1929	1, 198, 352
Budget estimate for 1930	1, 251, 562
Increase	53, 210

The increases are made up as follows: For additional personnel, $55,210; and for travel expenses, $8,000. The increase in force and additional funds for travel were necessary to take care of the increased work incident to securing personnel for the Prohibition Unit. There is a decrease in contingent expenses of $6,000, and in printing and binding, $4,000.

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS

Additional amount required for 1929, to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	280
Total for 1929	7, 580
Budget estimate for 1930	9, 080
Increase	1, 500

For miscellaneous expenses (travel) there is an increase from $3,000 to $3,100, while the printing estimate increases from $300 to $1,700. This is to enable the commission to print its eleventh report.

EMPLOYEES' COMPENSATION COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$3, 755, 010
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	34, 140
Total for 1929	3, 789, 150
Budget estimate for 1930	4, 077, 326
Increase	288, 176

The figures for 1929 include $63,000 for the enforcement of the act of May 17, 1928, providing compensation for death or injury of certain employees in the District of Columbia. For 1930 that amount is carried in the District of Columbia estimates. There has been added to the 1930 estimates, however, $400,000 for the compensation fund, required by an amendment to the act of September 7, 1916, approved February 12, 1927, increasing the maximum compensation from $66.67 to $116.66, and the minimum from $33.34 to $58.33, and by the normal increase under the original act. There is, nevertheless, in the 1930 estimates a reduction of $47,824 in administrative expenses and a printing reduction of $1,000—a total reduction of $48,824. These factors account for the net increase of $288,176.

FEDERAL BOARD FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	4, 120
Total for 1929	8, 224, 120
Budget estimate for 1930	8, 176, 120
Decrease	48, 000

This involves a decrease of $50,000 for cooperative vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry and an increase of $2,000 for travel.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$120,890
Total for 1929	126,700
Budget estimate for 1930	179,500
Increase	52,800

The increase in the Budget estimate for 1930 over the amount available for 1929 consists of $38,250 for additional personnel, $700 for printing and binding, $1,000 estimated payments to States, and $12,850 for general expenses, of which $10,720 is for travel expenses.

FEDERAL RADIO COMMISSION

Budget estimate for 1930	164,440
Decrease	199,587

The 1929 appropriation included an item of $2,700 for law books and books of reference and $3,600 for radio instruments that it will be unnecessary to provide in 1930, and $7,175 for furniture and fixtures that will need to be continued in the amount of only $1,500. The resulting actual decrease of $187,612 in the estimate for 1930 below the appropriation for 1929 is accounted for by the decreased responsibility that it is contemplated the commission will have in 1930 in the enforcement of the radio act as amended. The amount estimated is deemed adequate for all requisite personnel and other expenditures, especially since it has not been found necessary to include any amount for rental.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

Budget estimate for 1930	2,605,741
Decrease	94,259

This is a permanent indefinite appropriation, and the 1930 estimate is the estimate of expenditures for that year.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$1,048,000
Total for 1929	1,112,760
Budget estimate for 1930	1,289,760
Increase	177,000

The amount appropriated for 1929 includes a supplemental appropriation of $85,000 for a special investigation of public utilities supplying power and light, directed by Senate Resolution 83, first session, Seventieth Congress, and the estimate for 1930 includes an additional $262,000 for 1929 and 1930 for completion of this investigation and the investigation of chain-store systems directed by Senate Resolution 224, first session, Seventieth Congress.

GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE

Total for 1929	4,101,000
Budget estimate for 1930	4,132,000
Increase	31,000

There is an advance in the amount for salaries from $3,856,000 to $3,902,000, involving an increase of five in the personnel and $44,000 increase in funds, while there is an increase of $2,000 in the salary of the Comptroller General. Printing and binding is increased by $5,000 for repairing and rebinding old record books and binding pay rolls. There is a reduction in the amount for contingent expenses from $220,000 to $200,000.

HOUSING CORPORATION

Budget estimate for 1930	397,950
Decrease	77,800

The decrease is made up as follows: Salaries, $9,050; contingent expenses, $1,000; printing and binding, $200; for the administrative work in the field for the collection of moneys due on property gradually being liquidated, $10,000; Government Hotels, $55,250. This large decrease is due to a close watch on all expenditures, resulting in the elimination of certain high salaried positions, a reduction in the number of lower salaried employees and to a decrease of approximately 300 guests; reduction in cost of maintenance of unsold property, $300; the expenses of foreclosure of mortgages reduced by $2,000.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$7, 654, 745
Total for 1929	8, 050, 555
Budget estimate for 1930	8, 213, 825
Increase	163, 270

The amount estimated for 1930 involves an increase of $168,336 for the general work of enforcing the laws to regulate commerce and covers the employment of additional attorney-examiners, travel expenses, and cost of reporting. This increase should enable the commission to bring to date the large number of appeals of shippers now pending. An increase of $16,280 for the general work of policing the accounts of the carriers. This activity has fallen behind owing to the large amount of work in connection with section 15–a (recapturable income). These additional funds will be used for this purpose. For the valuation of the property of carriers $202,160. This increase is needed for the primary valuation of 204 new roads which have come into existence since the field inventories were completed in their localities, for the reappraisal of lands, and for the policing of returns, of additions, betterments, and retirements; and decreases as follows: $7,860 in the division of safety device inspection; $105,580 in the division of signal and train-control devices, due to the fact that 85 per cent of the railroads have complied with the law requiring the installation of signal and train-control devices; $20,396 in the division of locomotive inspection, and $90,000 in printing and binding. This reduction is possible owing to the fact that practically all of the valuation reports have been printed and the amount given will take care of the general work of the commission.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR AERONAUTICS

Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	30, 000
Total for 1929	630, 000
Budget estimate for 1930	1, 300, 000
Increase	670, 000

The increase over the total for 1929 is necessary to enable the committee to carry more fully into effect its program of general research in the field of aviation, particularly in its effort to increase safety and economy in operation of aircraft. This increase includes $525,000 toward the construction of a wind tunnel suitable for the conduct of research on full-sized airplanes (to cost not to exceed $900,000), $30,000 for the construction of a combination heating plant, storehouse, and garage, and an increase in personnel, equipment, and supplies necessary to carry forward the program of the committee.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND PUBLIC PARKS OF THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Transferred from War Department appropriations, 1929	33, 259
Total for 1929	2, 963, 961
Budget estimate for 1930	2, 888, 061
Decrease	75, 900

General expenses have been reduced from $934,900 to $859,000, principally in the amounts for supplies and materials and for repairs and alterations to buildings due to the abandonment of one temporary building and the completion of major repairs to most of the remaining temporary buildings.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION

Appropriated for 1929	$1, 004, 162
Total for 1929	1, 089, 141
Budget estimate for 1930	1, 107, 573
Increase	18, 432

The increase is made up as follows: For additional personnel, $12,500; for the construction of a gallery to house paleontological specimens, $2,270; and $3,662 for miscellaneous expenses.

TARIFF COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1929	$754, 000
Total for 1929	805, 600
Budget estimate for 1930	815, 000
Increase	9, 400

There is an increase in the amount for salaries from $708,300 to $720,640, involving an increase in personnel of seven. There are decreases in amounts for miscellaneous expenses from $81,300 to $79,360, and from $16,000 to $15,000 for printing and binding.

UNITED STATES GEOGRAPHIC BOARD

Appropriated for 1929	$4,300
Budget estimate for 1930	9,200
Increase	4,900

This increase provides for the salaries of two employees who have heretofore been detailed to the board and carried on the rolls of other Federal agencies.

UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD AND MERCHANT FLEET CORPORATION

Appropriated for 1929	$13,688,750
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	7,580
Total for 1929	13,696,330
Budget estimate for 1930	9,994,000
Decrease	3,702,330

The amount of $13,400,000 was appropriated for 1929 to meet the estimated operating deficit. The Budget estimate for 1930 for this purpose is $9,000,000, a reduction of $4,400,000. This reduction in the estimated operating deficit is predicated upon expected changes in conditions during 1930 as compared with 1929, as follows: (a) That certain ship lines will be sold which will eliminate the losses now incurred by the corporation for their operation; (b) that the expenses for personnel and other operating costs will be further reduced through administrative action; (c) that an improvement in the operation of lines will be developed through the consolidation and rerouting of certain lines and through anticipated changes in the managing operators' agreements; and (d) through the proposed transfer of certain personnel from the fleet pay roll to the pay roll of the board.

Compared with the actual total operating deficit for the fiscal year 1928 of $16,279,368, the Budget estimate for 1930 of $9,000,000 is predicated upon a reduction of $7,279,368 accounted for as follows: (a) A decrease in the net operating expense due to lines sold, $1,273,000; (b) a reduction in the cost of fuel due to reduction in prices, $3,638,000; (c) a reduction in pay roll and administrative expenses, $712,000; (d) a reduction in the expense of inactive vessels in hands of operators, $365,000, and in custody of the Merchant Fleet Corporation, $937,000; (e) a reduction in expenses either through the sale of the United States Lines or through such lines earning a small profit instead of incurring a deficit, $465,308; (f) a reduction in expenses to result from changes in the form of managing operators' agreements, $273,744; total reductions, $7,664,052; and estimated increases in losses due to reductions in freight rates and other changes in conditions of business, $724,684, less an estimated increase in revenue through interest accruals on certain funds being made available for operating expenses by the appropriation act for 1929, $340,000, making the net increases $384,684, which, when deducted from the total reductions of $7,664,052, indicates a net reduction for 1930 under the actual net operating deficit for 1928 of $7,279,368. In addition to $9,000,000 to meet the operating deficit for 1930, the Budget estimate includes a new item of $500,000 to be available only for research and experimental development in ship and machinery design, construction and operation, and $494,000 for salaries and expenses of the Shipping Board, proper, as against $288,750 for 1929. This increase in the estimate for salaries and expenses for the Shipping Board is due to the provisions contained in the annual appropriation act for 1929 that the estimates for 1930 shall include the salaries of all employees whose service with the board has become permanent through detail from the Merchant Fleet Corporation.

UNITED STATES VETERANS' BUREAU

Appropriated for 1929	$560,060,000
Appropriation for 1928 available for 1929	7,000,000
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	3,443,480
Total for 1929	570,503,480
Budget estimate for 1930	597,375,000
Increase	26,871,520

Eliminating the item United States Government life-insurance fund, included in the above figures, which in the 1929 Budget was $74,500,000 and in the 1930 Budget is $97,400,000, the increase for 1930 is $3,971,520. This insurance fund accrues entirely from premiums and interest on investment thereof and no direct appropriation is necessary. The amount contained in the Budget represents withdrawals from the fund for investment and payments to policy beneficiaries.

The item "Salaries and expenses" is increased $3,500,000 to meet salary increases under the act to amend salary rates, approved May 28, 1928, and for personnel for new hospital facilities to be provided under the act of May 23, 1928. (45 Stat., 715.)

The 1930 estimate for printing and binding is $10,000 less than the appropriation for 1929.

Notwithstanding the estimated additional amount of $2,500,000 military and naval compensation, required in 1930 for payments to disabled emergency officers retired under the provisions of the act of May 24, 1928, the 1930 estimate is $3,550,000 less than the appropriation for 1929. There is a gradual decrease in expenditures from this appropriation, and the amount estimated for 1930 appears ample to meet requirements.

The appropriation for medical and hospital services, 1929, is $25,000 more than the estimate for 1930.

The 1930 estimate for military and naval insurance is $8,500,000 more than the appropriation for 1929. A supplemental estimate for an additional appropriation for 1929 will be necessary.

The act of May 23, 1928 (45 Stat., 715), authorizing the appropriation of $15,000,000 for the construction of additional hospital facilities for the care of disabled war veterans, was passed subsequent to the submission of the 1929 Budget. Of the amount authorized the second deficiency act of May 29, 1928, appropriated $7,000,000 for the fiscal years 1928 and 1929, and the 1930 Budget estimates include $6,000,000 more, with request for authority to incur additional contractual obligations not to exceed $2,000,000.

Deduct for comparative purposes, appropriations made in 1929 for specific projects which will not require funds in 1930		10, 824, 720. 00
Net total for 1929		152, 117, 160. 64
Budget estimate for fiscal year 1930	$154, 232, 131
Unexpended balances estimated for 1930	2, 784, 800
Total for 1930		157, 016, 931. 00
Net increase in 1930 over 1929		4, 899, 770. 36

The total of all funds available for expenditure by the department in 1929 is $162,941,880.64 and the total of all funds included in the estimates for 1930, $157,016,931. While these figures would indicate for the department as a whole a reduction of $5,924,949.64, the estimates for the department's regular activities for the fiscal year 1930 include a net increase amounting to $4,899,770.36. This figure is obtained by deducting from the total of funds available for expenditure in 1929 the total of appropriations made in that year for noncontinuing projects which do not require appropriations in 1930, and deducting the result from the comparable estimates for 1930. The noncontinuing projects aggregating $10,824,720, which have been deducted from the 1929 total, are:

Flood relief:
Road repairs, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Kentucky—amount appropriated in 1929 will be sufficient to make all necessary repairs	$5, 197, 294
Farm-devastated areas of the United States—the need for relief will not extend beyond the fiscal year 1929	400, 000
For losses due to enforced nonproduction of cotton in zones where such production was to be prohibited due to the presence of the pink bollworm. (Cotton zones were not established for the cotton-growing season of 1928, and at the present time it is not believed that such zones will be established for the season of 1929)	5, 000, 000
Operation of Center Market, Washington, D. C. (Due to the possibility that the present Center Market will be vacated at an early date to provide space for a new Federal building, Congress, for the fiscal year 1929, only appropriated funds sufficient to operate the market until February 1, 1929)	96, 250
Moving New York City food and drug laboratory to new quarters, work will be completed during the fiscal year 1929	50, 000
Rent of buildings, District of Columbia. (Appropriation needed only in 1929 to pay adjusted rent of Beiber Building)	30, 676
Dam across Cold Springs Creek, work to be completed in 1929	30, 000
Bridge across Bayou Teche, work to be completed in 1929	10, 500
World's Dairy Congress, appropriation needed only for 1929	10, 000
Total of noncontinuing projects	10, 824, 720

Of the net increase of $4,899,770.36 approximately $1,365,000 is for fundamental agricultural research and $1,107,936 is to cover new or existing legislation. The principal increases and decreases in the ordinary and routine work of the department which make up this net increase of $4,899,770.36 in 1930 are as follows:

Increases

	Increase	From—	To—
Federal aid to States:
To State experiment stations to cover new or existing laws—
For the more complete endowment of State agricultural experiment stations (Purnell Act, Feb. 24, 1925)	$480, 000	$2, 400, 000	$2, 880, 000

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Appropriated for 1929	$38, 375, 530
Balances available from 1928–29 appropriations	1, 373, 500
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	1, 342, 980
Comparable total for 1929	41, 092, 010
Budget estimate for 1930	58, 459, 749
Net increase	17, 367, 739

The net increase of $17,367,739 for the department involves an apparent decrease of $55,500 in the appropriations coming immediately under the office of the Secretary. It amounts, however, to an actual increase of $92,600 in view of the fact that in the 1929 appropriations for contingent expenses and for printing and binding there are included $34,100 and $114,000, respectively, representing needs of the Bureau of the Census that will be cared for in 1930 in a general appropriation for the Fifteenth Decennial Census. Furthermore, a decrease of $40,000 has been made possible in the printing item for the Patent Office due to reduced requirements for 1930. There results, therefore, substantial increases for contingent expenses and for printing and binding for the department proper and $84,500 for increased rental for the department building.

The estimate calls for $16,160 less than the current year's availability for the radio division, which represents equipment items that will not have to be provided in 1930.

For aeronautics the estimate submitted is $944,160 more than the current year's appropriation, or from $5,483,100 to $6,427,260. This is necessitated by the rapid increase in the number of airplanes to be inspected and pilots and mechanics to be examined and licensed. The funds, if provided, will add the requisite inspection personnel and 5 planes to the 13 already in use by the inspectors. They will also make possible the operation and maintenance of 11,512 miles of lighted airways to be in operation by June 30 next, as well as the installation and maintenance of 4,000 additional miles.

Increased estimates in the amount of $10,856 net for the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce as a whole, supplemented by minor reductions in several individual appropriations of the bureau, permit an increase of $20,000 for enlarged activity in the district office service.

The Bureau of the Census is given an increase of $16,853,590 over the total appropriations for the current year, an increase required by the enumeration work of the Fifteenth Decennial Census.

Moderate increases are made in estimates for the Steamboat Inspection Service and the Bureau of Navigation to provide needed additional personnel.

The Bureau of Standards estimates call for a net increase of $6,371 which is further virtually increased by $5,855, a reduction made in general expenses by the saving in fuel costs due to the new power plant building. The resulting increase of approximately $12,000 is applied to the expanding needs under standardization of equipment. The estimates also provide $100,000 to complete the equipment of the new power plant.

A reduction has been made in the allowances for the Lighthouse Service from $11,410,020 available for 1929 to $11,349,980 estimated for 1930. This represents increases in some of the appropriations and reductions in others. Retired pay has been increased $30,000 to meet the gradual advance in obligations under this appropriation and added bureau personnel will call for $7,000. An increase from $1,100,000 to $1,155,000 will make provision for the extra requirements in the construction of lighthouse vessels. The latter figure will construct and equip three new light ships and a tender to replace one now out of commission. Other aids to navigation will have a program of construction reduced by $137,000, or from $702,000 to $485,000, making provision, however, for $154,000 for the completion of four projects upon which work has already been in progress; $116,000 to continue work upon five more; $175,000 to begin work upon three; and $40,000 to begin and complete within that amount the construction of four projects. Furthermore, the installation of automatic lights has made possible a reduction of $14,970 in the salaries of lighthouse keepers.

For the Coast and Geodetic Survey an increase of $64,463 has been provided, from $2,451,397 to $2,515,860, which amount is further actually increased by an item of $4,000 included under magnetic work in 1929 for new instruments that will not have to be provided in 1930. Then by making minor reductions in other appropriations a new tender for Pacific coast work at a cost of $58,000 is made possible and $17,000 under pay and allowances of commissioned officers to provide for new positions and for increased longevity pay and subsistence requirements.

The increase of $76,442, from $2,094,108 to $2,170,550, for the Bureau of Fisheries becomes in effect an increase of $147,442 by taking into consideration four appropriations appearing in the 1929 total that will not be needed in 1930. These amount to $71,000, and by making minor reductions of unneeded amounts in other appropriations amounting to $19,320 there are provided for 1930 $125,000 for a new power vessel for Alaska fisheries, $4,400 for the crew of a new boat at Boothbay Harbor, Me., $16,340 for additional employees at new fish-cultural stations and $21,000 for other expenses of their operation and maintenance.

The total of $3,356,915 for the Patent Office for 1929 contains $18,115 that was made available for reallocation increases in 1928. With this in mind the estimate of $3,333,800 is a reduction of $5,000 which has been made in the appropriation for furniture and filing cases.

Eliminating the helium production and conservation program for which $466,560 is available for 1929 and $95,800 is requested for 1930, and the 1929 appropriations made for special purposes for which 1930 appropriations are not required, namely, mine rescue car and other equipment, $50,580; investigating methods of producing oil from shale, $77,340, the 1930 estimates for the Bureau of Mines are $51,272 in excess of the funds available for that bureau for 1929. The increases involved are as follows: Operating mine rescue cars and stations, $321,710 to $326,130, for an additional associate mining engineer; testing fuel, $169,410 to $179,210, for a study of the production of liquid fuels from coal; oil, gas, and oil-shale investigations, $208,480 to $232,000, to determine methods of producing liquid fuels from natural gas; economics of mineral industries, $276,018 to $285,000, to permit more frequent issue of coal-stock reports and further to expand the work in mineral statistics.

Furthermore, the estimate of $144,220 for mineral mining investigations is an increase of $10,000 over 1929 when consideration is given to the fact that the operation of the Reno Station, involving $22,250, formerly carried under this fund, will be transferred in 1930 to the appropriation for mining experiment stations. This increase will permit a study of such mining problems as safety, conservation of resources, and elimination of waste. The $95,800 recommended for helium production and conservation for 1930, together with the amounts from former appropriations, will be sufficient for the balance of the plant construction program and for the further amount needed to exercise options on leaseholds and will also permit, if necessary, the drilling of an additional well at a cost of $50,000.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	1, 218, 931. 26
Total for 1929	301, 851, 470. 26
Budget estimate for 1930	310, 957, 045. 78
Net increase	9, 105, 575. 52

The estimates for the office of the Secretary of the Interior are decreased from $891,560 to $883,000 as the result of small reductions in personnel and in contingent expenses.

The gradually diminishing cost of the administration of the public-land service is responsible largely for the decrease in the estimates for the General Land Office from $2,241,650 to $2,193,900.

The estimates for the Bureau of Indian Affairs are increased from $14,889,463 to $15,960,815.78, to give added impetus to the cause of education among the Indians and to provide increased facilities for conserving their health.

The appropriation for Army and Navy pensions is increased from $210,000,000 to $221,000,000 to provide the additional amount necessary to pay the higher rate of pension granted certain Civil War widows at the last session of Congress. The annual amount for financing the Government's liability to the civil-service retirement and disability fund is increased from $19,950,000 to $20,500,000 to keep pace with the increase in the Government pay roll resulting from recent legislation.

The estimates for the Bureau of Reclamation are decreased from $12,839,100 to $8,639,000. However, provision is made for continuing the availability of the balances of certain prior year authorizations, to the extent of $3,300,000. In addition, expenditures totaling $390,000 from power revenues are authorized, and it is also proposed to use $623,100 of funds advanced by water users, for the construction, operation, and maintenance of reclamation projects. There would thus be available for expenditure in 1930 by the Bureau of Reclamation a total sum of $12,952,100, which is a decrease of $3,652,596 from the total amount available in 1929.

For the Geological Survey the estimates are increased from $1,995,480 to $2,015,300. An increase for topographic mapping in cooperation with the States, and increases on account of the recent salary increase act, are largely offset by decreases in various items.

The estimates for the National Park Service are increased from $4,732,515 to $7,294,090. This is due to an increase, from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000, in the estimate of appropriation for the construction of roads and trails in the national parks, and follows the program authorized by the Congress at its last session for expediting this work.

There is an increase from $977,872 to $1,068,160 in the estimates for the Bureau of Education. A 3-year program for the study of secondary education in the United States is contemplated, and provision is made for the further extension of educational and medical relief work among the natives of Alaska.

A decrease from $300,440 to $219,600 in the estimates for the territorial governments of Alaska and Hawaii is due to the fact that the Territorial legislatures will not meet during 1930. The estimate for the Alaska Railroad is decreased from $1,300,000 to $1,200,000, because of increased earnings by the railroad.

For St. Elizabeths Hospital there is an increase from $1,375,132.33 to $1,430,000. The item for repairs and improvements is decreased from $285,000 to $150,000, due to the completion during the present fiscal year of a number of major repair and building improvement projects. This decrease is more than offset by an increase of $75,000 in order to complete in the fiscal year 1930 the medical and surgical building, for beginning the construction of which $400,000 was appropriated for the fiscal year 1929, and by an increase of approximately $115,000 to provide for an increased number of patients.

For the Columbia Institution for the Deaf there is a decrease from $130,000 to $120,000, as a result of the nonrecurrence of an item of $15,000 for remodeling the power plant during the fiscal year 1929, and of a proposed increase for 1930 of $5,000 in the amount for salaries.

The estimates for Howard University are increased from $390,000 to $600,000 to provide $80,000 additional for salaries and expenses, and an increase of $130,000 for the completion of the chemistry building and of the young women's dormitory building.

The estimates for Freedmen's Hospital are decreased from $492,574 to $260,180. Items amounting to $252,000 for remodeling of buildings, contained in the 1929 appropriation act, will not appear in 1930. Salary and subsistence items are increased, however, by approximately $20,000.

The estimated amounts required under various permanent and indefinite appropriations total $27,454,000 as against $25,712,000 for the fiscal year 1929.

The estimate for salaries, Department of Justice, contains an increase of $20,400 for additional legal and stenographic personnel in connection with income-tax cases appealed from the Board of Tax Appeals to the United States Circuit Courts of Appeals. The estimate also provides for the transfer to this appropriation of the personnel now being paid from enforcement of acts to regulate commerce, amounting to $11,200.

There is a new item for $75,000 for protecting interests of the United States under the settlement of war claims act of 1928, which provides among other things that the Attorney General shall assign such officers and employees of the Department of Justice as may be necessary to represent the United States in the proceedings growing out of claims of German nationals against the United States.

The increase of $65,500 in the estimate for salaries of circuit, district, and retired judges is due to legislation authorizing the appointment of an additional United States district judge in southern Iowa, and a considerable increase in the pay roll for retired judges.

An additional amount of $19,000 is necessary to pay the increases in the salaries of justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the circuit courts of Hawaii as authorized by the act of May 29, 1928.

An increase of $14,000 is recommended in the estimate for supplies for United States courts to purchase binders for the loose-leaf dockets it is intended to install in the offices of United States court officials. Heretofore the entire cost of the bound dockets has been paid from printing and binding, but under the loose-leaf system only the sheets will be paid therefrom, and it is possible, because of the change and economies effected thereby, to make a reduction of $20,000 in printing and binding.

In order to make a flexible fund for the payment of jurors and witnesses and avoid deficiencies, it is recommended that the appropriations fees of jurors and fees of witnesses be combined and that the new appropriation be increased $50,000.

The estimates for the maintenance of our penal and correctional institutions show a net increase of $172,451, to care for estimated increase in the number of prisoners at these institutions.

An amount of $50,000 is recommended for repairs to the Government-owned bridge over the Missouri River connecting the Fort Leavenworth Military Reservation with land in Missouri, which bridge and land were transferred from the War Department to the Department of Justice by the act of May 31, 1924, the land being now used by the United States penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kans., as a farm. There is an estimate of $65,000 for the construction, furniture, and equipment of an auditorium at the United States penitentiary, McNeil Island, Wash. And $150,000 is recommended in addition to the $400,000 previously appropriated for the construction of permanent buildings at the United States Industrial Reformatory, Chillicothe, Ohio, this project to cost not exceeding $3,000,000 and to be completed within five years.

An increase of $150,000 is recommended for support of United States prisoners to cover the additional cost of maintenance based on an estimated increase in the number of Federal prisoners in State institutions.

Reductions are contemplated in the appropriations printing and binding, detection and prosecution of crimes, salaries, fees and expenses of marshals, and pay of special assistant attorneys.

Appropriations for 1929 which will not be required for 1930 are $60,000 for the construction of a dormitory at the National Training School for Boys, Washington, D. C., and $177,100 for certain construction, repair, and equipment items for the United States penitentiary, McNeil Island, Wash.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Appropriated for 1929	$11,078,340
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	520,680
Total for 1929	11,599,020
Budget estimate for 1930	10,719,430
Decrease	879,590

The appropriation for 1929 includes $1,108,000 for promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy, Children's Bureau. The authority for this promotion, during a period of seven years, in the act of November 23, 1921, as amended by the act of January 22, 1927 (44 Stat. 1024), expires on June 30, 1929, and appropriation therefor is not requested for 1930. The appropriation for 1929 also includes $207,000 for special repairs at Ellis Island, and nothing is estimated for 1930 for this purpose. Included in the 1929 appropriation is $100,000 made available in the deficiency act of May 29, 1928, for an unemployment survey directed by Senate Resolution 147, first session, Seventieth Congress. The 1930 estimate includes $40,000 for continuation of this survey. In addition to amounts required to meet salary increases under the act to amend salary rates, approved May 28, 1928, the estimates request appropriation increases for the following purposes:

Contingent expenses	$500
Salaries, Bureau of Immigration	15,160
Expenses of regulating immigration	457,660
Salaries, Bureau of Naturalization	16,440
Salaries, Children's Bureau	3,820

The increase for contingent expenses is for the replacement of worn-out machinery, Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The increase for salaries, Bureau of Immigration, is for additional employees in the District of Columbia required to care for additional work, particularly relating to personnel and accounts, visa work, and return permits.

For expenses of regulating immigration an increase of $244,590 is required for increased pay of inspectors authorized in the act approved May 29, 1928 (45 Stat. 954), and $213,070 is requested to provide 80 additional inspectors and field clerical assistance.

The increases for salaries, Bureau of Naturalization, and miscellaneous expenses, Bureau of Naturalization, are to provide additional personnel in Washington and in the field required by reason of increase in work.

NAVY DEPARTMENT

Appropriated for 1929		$364, 233, 362
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923		798, 059
Total for 1929		365, 031, 421
Budget estimate for 1930	$349, 125, 482
To be made available by transfer from the naval supply account fund	2, 000, 000
		351, 125, 482
Decrease		13, 905, 939

In general, the estimates for 1930 will provide for the same number of enlisted men for the Navy and Marine Corps for 1930 as for 1929; for practically the same number of ships in commission during 1930 as will be in commission at the close of 1929; for continuing work at a normal rate of speed on all ships now under construction; for commencing construction of three remaining fleet submarines authorized in 1916; for continuing the 5-year program of development of naval aeronautics authorized by the act of June 24, 1926; for numerous public works projects, including new buildings, ammunition storage facilities, and completion of the dredging project authorized for Pearl Harbor; and for the operation and maintenance of the fleet and of shore stations.

The following comparison is made between the Budget estimate for 1930 and the existing appropriation for 1929. The estimate for pay of the Navy shows an increase from $127,651,215 to $130,482,827, due principally to automatic increases in pay of officers and men on account of length of service and to an increase in the number of officers and men on the reserve or retired lists. Pay of Marine Corps is increased from $15,665,816 to $16,124,131, due chiefly to the same causes as stated above under pay of the Navy. The Naval Reserve is increased from $4,075,000 to $4,750,000 specifically for the purpose of providing for an increase in the training of reserve personnel on aviation duty, with a view of partially supplying flying personnel, in addition to that available from the regular service, required to carry forward the 5-year program for aeronautics. The increase in construction and repair from $17,228,000 to $17,528,500 is for the purpose of procuring pontoons for salvaging vessels, especially submarines. The total for public works is increased from $5,410,750 to $6,227,350. The several items making up the total under this title are more or less unrelated from year to year and do not admit of comparison. But for 1930 the increase over 1929 is chiefly due to the inclusion of the sum of $1,500,000 toward providing for ammunition storage facilities authorized in the second deficiency act, fiscal year 1928. The estimate of $11,569,400 for ordnance and ordnance stores indicates a decrease as compared with the amount of $11,952,050 appropriated for 1929. But the amount for 1929 included $1,000,000 toward providing antiaircraft batteries for the battleships California and Tennessee, for which only $107,000 to complete this project is included in the estimate for 1930. Therefore, for usual purposes the estimate for 1930 really represents an increase over 1929. The reduction under increase of the Navy from $48,200,000 for 1929 to $36,750,000 (which includes $2,000,000 to commence construction of three fleet submarines) is due to the progress being made toward completing the existing authorized program of ship construction.

The appropriation for 1929 included $6,575,000 for major alterations of naval vessels. This amount, together with the amount of $6,575,000 included in the first deficiency act, 1928, made available the total amount authorized to date. Therefore no amount for this purpose is included in the Budget estimate for 1930. The estimate of $31,500,000 for aeronautics for 1930 as compared with $31,956,000 for 1929 indicates a decrease under this title. For 1929 there was appropriated $1,800,000, together with the reappropriation of $200,000, to commence work on two rigid airships. Due to delay in letting the contract for these airships, the unexpended balance to be carried forward from 1929 will approximate $800,000, which, with the sum of $1,000,000 included in the Budget estimate, is considered sufficient to meet cash requirements during 1930. Therefore, excluding the amounts pertaining to rigid airships, the Budget estimate shows an increase of $344,000 available under aeronautics for the procurement of air-craft and for development, maintenance, operation, and training purposes. In the development of the 5-year aircraft program it now appears that the shortage of qualified flying personnel is becoming acute. With a view of balancing the program, the Budget for 1930 includes material increases in the items affecting training and a material decrease in the amount to be used for the purchase of new planes. This proposal to provide for an increase in flying personnel under aeronautics is also reflected in the estimate for the Naval Reserve, mentioned above.

Deducting the amounts pertaining to public works, major alterations of naval vessels, and increase of the Navy, there remains for 1929, $304,845,671, and for 1930 $308,148,132, indicating an increase of $3,302,461 for 1930 over 1929 for current and ordinary requirements.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Appropriated for 1929, including estimated expenditures under indefinite appropriations		$774, 445, 042
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923		259, 803
Total		774, 704, 845
Budget estimate for 1930		816, 209, 325
Increase		41, 504, 480

When the Budget for 1929 was transmitted to Congress in December, 1927, postal expenditures for the fiscal year 1929 were estimated at $768,270,042, an increase over the estimate for the previous year of $27,399,642, or 3.7 per cent. The postal revenues were estimated at $753,000,000, an increase over the estimate for the previous year of $42,500,000, or 6 per cent. The resulting deficiency in the postal revenues for the fiscal year 1929 was therefore $15,270,042, a decrease under the estimate for the previous year of $15,100,358.

In preparing the Budget for 1930 it has been necessary to revise the estimates for 1929 to a point where it is apparent that the Postal Service is becoming, in increasing degree, a severe drain on the general funds of the Treasury derived from customs duties, internal revenue taxes, and receipts from miscellaneous sources. The expenditures for 1929 are now estimated at $790,495,830, an increase over the previous estimate of $22,225,788. The revenues are now estimated at $707,000,000, a decrease under the previous estimate of $46,000,000. The resulting deficiency in the postal revenues for the fiscal year 1929 is $83,495,830, an increase over the previous estimate of $68,225,788.

An analysis of the reasons for the marked increase in the postal deficiency for 1929 shows that it is due principally to legislation enacted by Congress and to a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission materially increasing compensation to railroads for transportation of the mails, after the Budget for 1929 was transmitted to Congress. Among the more important items of legislation, and the amounts by which the estimated postal deficiency for 1929 has been increased by reason of the enactment of the legislation, may be mentioned the following:

Night work differential:
Act of May 24, 1928, authorizing 10 per cent additional pay to postal employees required to work at night, i. e., between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.	$6, 565, 000
Additional compensation to fourth-class postmasters:
Act of May 24, 1928, authorizing allowances for rent, fuel, light, and equipment to postmasters of the fourth class in an amount equal to 15 per cent of the compensation earned in each quarter	2, 790, 000
Merchant marine act:
Act of May 22, 1928, known as the merchant marine act, 1928, authorizing the making of special contracts for the transportation of mail to foreign countries on American ships meeting certain requirements	7, 500, 000
(The annual charge for this item in 1930 will be approximately $12,000,000.)
Foreign air mail act:
Act of Mar. 8, 1928, authorizing the Postmaster General to enter into contracts for periods not exceeding 10 years for the transportation of mail to foreign countries and insular possessions by aircraft	1, 750, 000
(The annual charge for this item in 1930 will be approximately $4,000,000.)
Reduction in postage rates:
Act of May 29, 1928, revising certain postage rates will serve, according to the best estimate that can be made, to reduce postal revenues	16, 325, 000
Act of May 17, 1928, authorizing reduction in the rates of postage on air mail within the United States to not less than 5 cents for each ounce or fraction thereof will serve, it is believed, to increase revenues rather than reduce them, because of increased mailings. For a time, however, expenditures will increase until better terms can be made with contractors because of increased poundage.
Total increase due to new legislation	34, 930, 000
Increase in cost of railroad transportation:
Increased rates for transportation of mails on railroads fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission in its order of July 10, 1928, effective Aug. 1, 1928, will increase annual expenditures in the fiscal year 1929	13, 750, 000
(The annual charge for this item in 1930 will be approximately $15,000,000.)
Total increase due to new legislation and increased railroad rates	48, 680, 000

It will thus be seen that of the increase of over $68,000,000 in the estimated postal deficiency for 1929, over $48,000,000 is due to new legislation and the increase in railroad rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The remaining $20,000,000 is accounted for by a reduction in the estimate of the rate of increase in revenues for 1929 from 6 per cent in the Budget for 1929 to 4 per cent in the Budget for 1930, less unexpended balances of appropriations, and to an actual reduction in the revenues for 1928, on which the percentage of increase for 1929 was based.

With regard to the fiscal year 1930, it is shown in the summary at the head of this synopsis that the appropriations for 1929 amount to $774,445,042, and that the Budget estimates for 1930 amount to $816,209,325, with a resulting net increase for 1930 over 1929 of $41,764,283. This amount should be reduced, however, by $18,673,700 because of probable supplemental estimates for 1929, due principally to the new legislation and the increase in railroad rates referred to above. On this basis the net increase for 1930 over 1929 falls to $23,090,583, and is accounted for principally as follows:

An increase of $10,070, to provide one translator for the office of the chief inspector, and three additional clerks for the International Postal Service.

An increase of $6,100,000 for clerks in first and second class post offices, to provide for increases in pay for night work allowed by recent legislation, for automatic promotions and necessary additional personnel.

An increase of $450,000 for watchmen, messengers, and laborers, to provide for additional pay for night work, for automatic promotions, and for additional laborers in post offices.

An increase of $100,000 for clerks at contract stations, to provide for the cost of new stations and the increased cost of renewing contracts.

An increase of $350,000 for rent, light, and fuel to provide for the cost of additional quarters and space for handling the mails and increased cost of renewing leases.

An increase of $220,000 for miscellaneous expenses of the Railway Mail Service, principally for improving conditions at terminals.

An increase of $1,500,000 for city delivery carriers, to provide for additional pay for night work, for automatic promotions, and necessary additional carriers.

An increase of $750,000 for special-delivery fees, to provide for the anticipated increase in special-delivery business.

An increase of $500,000 for the vehicle service, to provide for additional pay for night work, and for the purchase of new equipment.

An increase of $671,300 in the provision for the compensation of postmasters, due principally to the additional allowances granted by new legislation.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

A decrease of $50,000 in village delivery service, due to a probable decrease in the number of offices eligible for this service.

A decrease of $50,000 in car fare and bicycle allowance, due to better distribution of post offices and the transportation of carriers in motor vehicles.

An increase of $2,550,000 in railroad transportation and mail-messenger service, due principally to the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission increasing railroad rates for the transportation of the mails.

An increase of $2,750,000 for Railway Mail Service salaries, to provide for increased pay for night work, for automatic promotions and necessary additional personnel.

An increase of $220,000 for miscellaneous expenses of the Railway Mail Service, principally for improving conditions at terminals.

An increase of $3,950,000 for foreign mail transportation, due to additional special contracts under the provisions of the merchant marine act of 1928, a further material extension of airplane service to foreign countries, and an increase in sea-post service.

An increase of $3,300,000 for contract Air Mail Service, due to the large increase in the volume of this class of mail, and the new routes necessary to meet the demand for this service.

A decrease of $35,000 in power-boat service, due to an anticipated reduction in the cost of this service.

A decrease of $1,900,000 in the provision for the manufacture of stamped paper, due to reduction in the cost of stamped envelopes, change in postage rates, and the use of business reply cards and envelopes.

A decrease of $500,000 in indemnities for the loss of domestic mail, due to a decrease in the number and amount of claims as the result of better service.

An increase of $140,000 in the provision for the manufacture of mail bags and equipment, due to increased cost of canvas and an increase in number of sacks and pouches required.

An increase of $650,000 for star-route service, to provide for the growth of this service due in part to the discontinuance of railroad lines which in many cases are replaced by busses.

An increase of $1,000,000 for Rural Delivery Service, for the extension of existing routes and the establishment of new routes.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Appropriated for 1929	$14,466,236.39
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	115,720.00
Total for 1929	14,581,956.39
Net increase	162,875.04

Included in the net increase of $162,875.04 are increases of $40,000 in personnel and $10,000 in printing and binding for the enlarged publication program of the department, which contemplates publication of the United States Treaty Series, publishing press releases and other documents, and bringing Foreign Relations up to date, including the publication in similar form of the diplomatic correspondence relating to the World War from 1914 through 1919. There are also recommended $23,300 for additional personnel in the newly created treaty division, $14,000 for the appointment of permanent civilian employees as chiefs of the Divisions of Latin American Affairs and Near Eastern Affairs to replace Foreign Service officers now on detail to the department, and $14,760 for additional stenographic help.

There is an increase of $75,000 in the estimate for transportation of Foreign Service officers, to cover additional travel between the United States and posts in foreign countries on account of vacancies which may occur in the Foreign Service because of a change in administration, to take care of deferred transfers, to permit the return to the United States on statutory leave of absence of Foreign Service officers who have performed three years or more of continuous service abroad, and for transporting to their former homes in this country the remains of Foreign Service officers who may die abroad or in transit and which is now being paid from another fund.

An amount of $2,000,000 is recommended for the acquisition by purchase or construction of sites and buildings in foreign cities and for the initial repair, alteration, and furnishing of such buildings, under the Foreign Service buildings act of 1926, which authorizes not exceeding $10,000,000 to be appropriated for this purpose, with a provision that not more than $2,000,000 shall be appropriated for any one year, but that all appropriations made pursuant to the authorization shall remain available until expended. Thus far there have been appropriated $435,000 in 1927, $700,000 in 1928, and $1,300,000 in 1929, or a total of $2,435,000.

The quota of the United States toward the maintenance of the Pan American Union has been increased from $152,256 to $167,219.60, based on a new estimate of population and an increase of 10 per cent in the budget of the union to meet the obligations devolving upon it by reason of the retirement plan as approved by the governing board.

A reduction has been made in the estimate for relief and protection of American seamen from $100,000 to $80,000, based on expenditures for the past several years.

There is a decrease of $45,835 in the estimate for the Mixed Claims Commission, United States and Germany, due to the fact that it is now thought there will be less than 6,000 claims filed under the settlement of war claims act of 1928 instead of 12,000 claims as originally estimated.

The estimate for the International Water Commission, United States and Mexico, was of necessity fixed at $15,000 for 1930 as compared to an appropriation of $35,000 for 1929 because the enabling act of March 3, 1927, places a limitation of $50,000 on the amount to be appropriated for this purpose.

In arriving at the amount of the net increase for 1930 there has been taken into consideration appropriations for 1929 not asked for 1930, the most important of which are the International Exposition at Seville, Spain, $300,000; diplomatic and consular establishments, Tokyo, Japan, $250,000; conference on conciliation and arbitration, $50,000; statue of Henry Clay in Caracas, Venezuela, $41,000; Permanent International Association of Road Congresses, $25,000; and the Second Pan American Conference on Highways at Rio de Janeiro, $15,000.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

(Exclusive of interest on and retirement of the public debt from ordinary receipts)

Appropriated for 1929, including estimated expenditures under indefinite appropriations	$345, 940, 278. 00
Additional amount required for 1929 to provide for increases in salaries to certain customs service employees under the act of May 29, 1928 (Bacharach Act)	900, 089. 00
Additional amount required for 1929 to meet provisions of act approved May 28, 1928, amending the classification act of 1923	5, 177, 779. 00
Total		$352, 018, 146. 00
Budget estimate for 1930	$329, 698, 615. 80
Approximate additional amount required for new projects under the public buildings act of May 25, 1926, for which supplemental estimates will be transmitted to Congress when the Treasury Department has concluded its survey of projects to be undertaken at this time	11, 960, 000. 00
Total		341, 658, 615. 80
Net reduction		10, 359, 530. 20

This reduction is made possible principally by a substantial decrease in the amount required to be appropriated for public buildings.

The details as to the increases and decreases which result in the net reduction, and the branches of the Treasury service involved, are as follows:

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF CLERK AND SUPERINTENDENT

A net increase of $42,800 for miscellaneous and contingent expenses, due principally to the necessity of providing for the care of additional buildings and for miscellaneous expenses of certain activities, heretofore covered by other appropriations, and for additional labor-saving machines and devices.

DIVISION OF BOOKKEEPING AND WARRANTS

An increase of $60,000 in the estimated expenditures under the indefinite appropriation for the recoinage of silver coins.

PUBLIC DEBT SERVICE

A reduction of $127,250 in the expenses connected with the administration of public debt and paper currency issues, due largely to the retirement of the third Liberty loan in the fiscal year 1929. In addition there is also a reduction of $131,895 in the estimated requirements under the indefinite appropriation for expenses of loans below the amount included in the Budget for 1929, and $582,130 below the amount which it is now estimated will be spent in the fiscal year 1929 for this purpose.

A reduction of $175,000 in the requirements for distinctive paper for United States securities, due to the reduction in the size of paper currency.

The total reduction in the expense of administering public debt and paper currency issues in the fiscal year 1930, compared with the fiscal year 1929, is therefore $884,380, and this does not include reduced manufacturing costs for paper currency which will be shown in the estimates of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

CUSTOMS SERVICE

In addition to the increases in pay to customs employees under the so-called Welch and Bacharach Acts, amounting to $542,423 and $900,089, respectively, there is a further increase of $488,928 in the provisions for the customs service. This is made up principally of increases of $6,840 for four additional clerks in the departmental service, $322,500 for 150 additional employees in the field service, $150,000 for incidental and contingent expenses, and $26,400 for automatic promotion of clerks under the provisions of the Bacharach Act.

The estimated expenditures under the appropriations for refund of excessive duties and debentures or drawbacks show increases of $500,000 and $2,000,000, respectively.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN BUREAU

An increase of $106,800 to enable the Federal Farm Loan Bureau to complete the reorganization of its departmental and field forces, in order that it may deal promptly and effectively with the many and varied problems which are now before this service.

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

An increase of $100,000 in the estimated expenditures under the special fund for salaries and expenses of national-bank examiners.

BUREAU OF PROHIBITION

A net reduction of $96,304, involving an increase of $10,080 for seven additional positions in the departmental service at Washington, and a reduction of $106,384 due to the elimination in the estimates of the requirements for financing the various units of the field service in excess of the amount which probably will be actually expended.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

A decrease of $50,000 in the estimated expenditures under the indefinite appropriation for allowances or drawbacks on internal-revenue taxes paid on distilled spirits used in the manufacture of flavoring extracts, medicinal or toilet preparations exported.

COAST GUARD

A net increase of $641,275, made up principally of an increase of $14,295 for additions to the force in the commandant's office in Washington; a decrease of $42,800 in the provision for fuel and water, due principally to allowances in 1929 in excess of needs; an increase of $102,000 for outfits and ship chandlery, due to increased requirements for ammunition, sundry supplies and materials, and other equipment; a reduction of $75,000 for rebuilding and repairing stations, due to decreased requirements; an increase of $30,000 for communication lines, due principally to the renewal of certain cables to isolated lighthouses on the coast of Florida; an increase of $666,000 for continuing the construction of the 10 new cutters authorized in 1926, the funds provided for 1930 making possible the completion of the seventh and eighth cutters and beginning the ninth cutter; an increase of $81,400 for repairs to Coast Guard vessels; and a reduction of $34,770 for new Coast Guard stations, due to the fact that no additional stations are vitally necessary at this time.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING

A reduction of $202,263, due principally to the reduction in size of paper currency, the partial use of paper, instead of cloth, for wiping presses, and decreased requirements for new machinery.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

A net reduction of $300,477, made up principally of an increase of $28,926 for pay of commissioned officers, to provide for automatic promotions; an increase of $17,400 for additional acting assistant surgeons; an increase of $11,940 for seven additional junior inspectors and an additional engineer, an increase of $17,500 for additional force in the hospital service, for the treatment of Coast Guard officers and examinations under the provisions of the so-called longshoremen's act; a reduction of $90,310 for the quarantine service, due principally to the nonrecurrence of the item for new vessels; a reduction of $262,000 in the provision for studies of rural sanitation, due to the expiration of the arrangements for cooperative work in the flood area; and a reduction of $15,000 due to the practical completion of the survey of salt-marsh areas in the South Atlantic and Gulf States.

BUREAU OF THE MINT

A net reduction of $23,963, due principally to the proposed discontinuance of the Carson City (Nev.) Mint and the consolidation of the appropriations for the maintenance and operation of the various mints and assay offices.

OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING ARCHITECT

The appropriations for the construction of public buildings for the fiscal year 1929, including marine hospitals and quarantine stations, and $8,000,000 for a new appraiser's stores building in New York City which will be completed within the fiscal year, amounted to $54,811,500. The Budget estimates for 1930, plus the $11,960,000 reserved for supplemental estimates to be transmitted later, as mentioned in the summary above, amount to $41,250,000, a reduction of $13,561,500.

For public buildings under the provisions of the act of May 25, 1926, the estimates for 1930 are $1,468,500 less than the appropriations for 1929. This is made possible largely by the proposal to appropriate in lump sum for the construction and completion of projects in respect to which the limits of cost have already been fixed. The estimate for the purchase of land for public buildings within the so-called "triangle" in Washington is $4,680,000 under the amount appropriated in 1929. Owing to delays in acquiring these lands a large part of the funds heretofore appropriated are still unspent, and it is believed these unexpended funds, plus the $5,000,000 for which an estimate is now submitted, will make available all the money that can possibly be expended until additional funds are provided in subsequent annual appropriation bills. If the amount of the estimate is appropriated the unappropriated balance of the original authorization of $25,000,000 for the purchase of this land will be $10,320,000.

The amount of the estimate for remodeling public buildings is increased $50,000 over the appropriation for 1929, in order to relieve congestion in public buildings which are not included in the public building program, but which require immediate attention in order to properly conduct Government business.

The estimate for rent of temporary quarters for the accommodation of Government officials during reconstruction of Federal buildings under the building program has been increased $625,000 over the appropriation for 1929. The building program is gaining headway and the cost of temporary quarters in the large cities of the country is quite high. Every effort is being made, however, to keep the obligations incurred thereunder within reasonable bounds. In many cases the special alterations required for the conduct of the business to be accommodated are extensive and the cost of them is usually made a part of the first year's rent. In order to secure more economical terms legislation is proposed in the text of the estimate authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to enter into leases for periods not exceeding three years.

There is an increase of $379,572 in the estimates for repair, equipment, and general expenses of public buildings. Aside from a small increase in the provisions for general expenses, the increase is due to provisions for major repair items in these estimates which have heretofore been included specifically in the estimates for construction.

The estimate for outside professional services shows an apparent reduction of $155,000 under the appropriation for 1929. In the 1929 appropriation, however, provision was made for special services in the District of Columbia and architectural assistance in designing the new Federal building in Pittsburgh. These items do not recur in the estimates for 1930. On the other hand provision is made in the 1930 estimates for professional services in connection with the new Federal building in Chicago at a cost of approximately $342,000.

For the operating expenses of public buildings $140,705 additional is provided. Included in these expenses $196,000 is for additional force to care for 19 new buildings and 16 border inspection stations and to provide for the salaries of telephone operators in public buildings on switchboards covering jointly two or more Government activities. For furniture and repairs to same $10,000 additional is provided. Due to economies effected and efficient administration it has been found possible to reduce the estimates for operating supplies by $65,000.

MISCELLANEOUS

In the fiscal year 1928 there was appropriated $50,000,000 to carry out the provisions of the settlement of war claims act of 1928, approved March 10, 1928, and this amount has been withdrawn and placed in a special Treasury fund to be available for disbursement when needed. While the act authorizes, under certain conditions, appropriations not in excess of $100,000,000 in the aggregate, it is not probable that additional appropriations will be necessary either in the fiscal years 1929 or 1930.

WAR DEPARTMENT

Net increase				31, 959, 053

The amount shown in the above table as the total availability for the fiscal year 1929, namely, $412,304,969, does not include appropriations made by the second deficiency act, fiscal year 1928, approved May 29, 1928. While such appropriations are chargeable against the fiscal year 1928, approximately $20,000,000 thereof will, in fact, be expended during the fiscal year 1929. Taking this into consideration, the real net increase of Budget estimates for 1930 over the amount available for 1929 is approximately $12,000,000 instead of $31,959,053, as shown in the above table. This $12,000,000 net increase is due principally to an increase in pay of the Army by reason of the automatic advance of officers to higher pay rates, an increase in the average officer strength of 200 in order to provide additional officers for the Air Corps under the provisions of the Air Corps act of July 2, 1926, and an increase in the retired lists of officers and enlisted men; to an increase in the amount for construction of barracks and quarters in accordance with increased authorizations of Congress for this purpose; to an increase in the amount required by the Air Corps for the third increment under the 5-year expansion program provided for by the act of July 2, 1926; and for an increase in the amounts required for flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento Rivers under the provisions of the flood control act of May 15, 1928.

MILITARY AND NONMILITARY ACTIVITIES (EXCLUSIVE OF NATIONAL HOME FOR DISABLED VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS AND PANAMA CANAL)

The amount estimated for the maintenance and operation of the Regular Army, supplemented by the use of other funds which will be available to the War Department for this purpose, will provide for an average strength throughout the year of 12,000 commissioned officers and 118,750 enlisted men, exclusive of the Philippine Scouts, for which an average enlisted strength of 6,500 is provided. The amount estimated for the civilian components will provide for the training of 16,382 reserve officers for an average of two weeks and of 454 reserve officers for periods varying from one month to one year; for the attendance of 35,000 men at citizens' military training camps; for an enrollment of 127,141 students in the reserve officers' training corps units; and for the maintenance of the National Guard at an aggregate strength of 190,000.

The Budget estimate also provides for essentials connected with the maintenance and operation of active military posts, camps, and stations as now constituted. The estimates for 1930 for these purposes for barracks and quarters, other buildings and utilities amount to a total of $11,650,784, which is a decrease of $1,018,160 from the appropriation for 1929, made possible by the replacement of World War buildings with new construction under the Army housing program provided for by Congress. For new construction at military posts, exclusive of the United States Military Academy, of barracks and quarters and utilities and appurtenances thereto, there is carried in the 1930 Budget the sum of $14,441,950, an increase of $8,159,975 over the amount appropriated for this purpose for 1929. In addition to the amount submitted for appropriation, provision is made in the 1930 Budget for obligation by contract to the extent of $3,000,000. There has already been appropriated under the Army housing program a total of $20,751,409.

Provision is made for necessary Army transportation, including the operation of the Army Transport Service, and for the purchase of 2,000 horses, 1,000 mules, and $500,000 worth of new motor cars and trucks; for the maintenance in part of war reserves; for surveillance of and protection of stocks of ammunition to prevent deterioration and spontaneous combustion; for the continuation of Army laundries at general hospitals, the disciplinary barracks and at various camps, posts, and stations; for the upkeep of existing fortifications and accessories, and for carrying forward the general plan for the protection of the Panama Canal.

For the Air Corps of the Regular Army $33,447,429 is estimated, of which amount $2,250,000 is for liquidating obligations previously incurred under contract authorizations. In addition, the Budget makes provision for Army aviation to the extent of approximately $32,500,000, various sums aggregating this amount being included in the estimates for the pay and supply branches of the Army for application to the maintenance, operation, and expansion of the Air Corps of the Regular Army and in the estimates for the National Guard and Organized Reserves. The amount provided in the Budget estimates for the purchase of airplanes, their spare parts and accessories, aggregates $18,258,942, of which $17,439,280 is for the Air Corps of the Regular Army, $300,000 for the National Guard, and $519,662 for the Organized Reserves.

For the United States Military Academy provision is made for the essentials connected with its maintenance and operation, and $600,000 is provided toward the construction of a new cadet barracks.

The estimates provide $500,000 for the national matches on the same basis as for the fiscal year 1929.

Approximately $1,700,000 is included in the estimates to provide for salary increases authorized by the act of May 28, 1928.

Excluding all items of a nonmilitary character, as well as the pay of military personnel on the retired lists of the Army, the total amount provided for national defense in the War Department Budget estimates is $308,744,101.

Funds recommended will care for the various nonmilitary activities of the War Department, such as national cemeteries, national military parks, national monuments and memorials, and the Alaska cable and telegraph system, and will maintain existing roads, bridges, and trails in Alaska.

For rivers and harbors, $50,000,000 is carried for the maintenance and improvement of existing river and harbor works, in addition to $7,207,600 which will be available from permanent specific and indefinite appropriations and contributed funds. For flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento Rivers $30,000,000 and $1,000,000, respectively, are estimated. In addition an estimate of $4,370,000 is submitted under the provisions of the flood control act approved May 15, 1928, to cover refundment to the State of California of funds previously contributed by that State for flood control on the Sacramento River. For the maintenance and operation of Dam No. 2, Muscle Shoals, Ala., including its hydroelectric power plant, $270,000 is estimated. This plant is being operated and the power generated is sold to private interests and is producing a net annual revenue of approximately $900,000, which is deposited in the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts. The total provided for all items of river and harbor work, including flood control, is $93,647,600.

NATIONAL HOME FOR DISABLED VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS

For the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers the Budget estimate provides for the essentials connected with the maintenance and operation of the 10 homes and for aid to State and Territorial homes for disabled soldiers and sailors.

PANAMA CANAL

For the Panama Canal the Budget estimates provide for essentials necessary for the normal maintenance and operation of the canal, and for the sanitation and civil government of the Canal Zone. In addition, provision is made for capital additions consisting of $400,000 for continuing the construction of permanent quarters for canal employees; $80,000 for additional nurses' quarters at Gorgas Hospital; $24,000 for highway resurfacing; $176,000 for the purchase of 4 towing locomotives, and $1,000,000 toward the construction of a dam across the Chagres River, at Alhajuela, Panama, to provide for additional storage of water for use in the operation of the canal. This latter project was commenced during the fiscal year 1929 with an initial appropriation of $250,000. Its total cost is estimated at $12,000,000.

In connection with Budget estimates for maintaining and operating this great national asset the following information is of interest:

The investment in the canal and its adjuncts is partly for national defense and partly commercial. To June 30, 1928, the investment charged to national defense was $113,127,338 and to commercial use $269,995,041, the total investment being $383,122,379, which is exclusive of fortifications, military posts, and naval bases. The total gross revenues from the opening of the canal to June 30, 1928, amounted to $362,553,019, derived from tolls, taxes, and business operations. Deducting from this the expenses incident to transiting vessels through the canal, $104,028,845, and expenses connected with business operations, $159,608,734, which includes the value of services, supplies, and materials sold, we have a net revenue, excluding interest on the investment, of $98,915,440. Of this, $92,229,121 was from tolls and taxes and $6,686,319 from business operations. Included in the expense account for the canal are fixed annual charges of $1,138,474 for depreciation and amortization of canal fixed property and $743,000 for depreciation on canal plants and equipment. The amount of tolls collected has increased from $5,627,463 in 1917 to $26,943,513 in 1928, the increase for 1928 over 1927 amounting to $2,714,683.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

For the office of the director of traffic an increase of $7,000 is recommended to provide for temporary clerk hire that will be needed in 1930 in renewing automobile operators' permits.

The printing and binding needs of the different departments, heretofore paid from the department appropriations, are collected into one estimate of $70,000 for the fiscal year 1930. An estimate of $5,000 is included for the purchase of calculating machines for the assessor's office.

For street and road improvement and repair (including the trees and parking division and work incident to the maintenance of public convenience stations) the estimates for 1930 total $3,662,400 as compared with current appropriations of $4,078,460. This decrease of $416,060 is more than accounted for by the absence in the 1930 estimates of any street-widening projects, or of any item similar to the 1929 appropriation of $178,000 for reflooring the Highway Bridge. The estimate for repairs to streets is the same as for 1929, $1,475,000. It is proposed to consolidate in one appropriation item of $87,500 "for construction, maintenance, operation, and repair of bridges," items previously carried separately for the maintenance of the Highway, Anacostia, and Francis Scott Key Bridges.

An increase of $1,750 is recommended for the operation, by the playgrounds department, in the summer time, of additional public-school playgrounds.

A comprehensive study of street lighting requirements is under way by District officials, and in view of this situation no change is recommended in the 1929 appropriation of $950,000.

For operating the public schools the estimates for 1930 amount to $9,683,580, as compared with current funds of $9,538,530. This increase of $144,970 is distributed through various activities, but provides, among other things, $27,000 for the purchase of office appliances for instruction purposes in the Business and Cardozo High Schools; $13,600 for additional furniture and equipment in the normal schools; $20,000 additional for fuel, light, and power; and $64,600 for salaries of additional school teachers.

For buildings and grounds the Budget provides $1,650,000 for new construction, and $310,000 for the purchase of additional school building and playground sites, making a total of $1,960,000 as compared with 1929 appropriations of $2,612,000. The 1929 items of $250,000 for completing the building, and $250,000 for the athletic field and grounds, at the new McKinley Technical High School (as well as $350,000 for equipment of that school), are not recurrent items in the 1930 estimates. Provision is made in the 1930 estimates for beginning construction of a new business high school on land now owned by the District of Columbia at Thirteenth and Upshur Streets NW., at a total authorized cost of $1,500,000, and with the provision that the present building shall be utilized as an elementary school for colored pupils. The 1930 estimates also provide for the completion of the E. A. Paul Junior High School in Brightwood, the 24-room John Quincy Adams elementary school building in the vicinity of Nineteenth Street and Columbia Road NW., and the Morgan School at Florida Avenue and California Street NW., for beginning construction, on a 2-year program, of the Reno Junior High School and the Kingsman Junior High School; and for other construction as follows: An eight-room addition, including gymnasium and assembly hall, at the Lovejoy School; gymnasium and assembly hall at the John Eaton School; and an athletic field and stadium for the Dunbar High School. Estimates are included for the purchase of building sites at the Giddings and Lovejoy Schools, and in the vicinity of Connecticut Avenue and Upton Street, and for additional playground space at the Stevens and Banneker Schools.

The estimates for the police department total $3,129,190. The appropriations for 1929, amounting to $3,141,545, included $52,000 for the erection of a new No. 15 police precinct station house. Increases of $27,000 for the employment of 15 additional privates, $8,669 for the installation of a teletype switchboard system, and $5,000 for the purchase and maintenance of motor vehicles, are recommended.

For the fire department an estimate of $28,000 is submitted for the purchase of a site in the vicinity of Connecticut and Nebraska Avenues NW., to supplement a current appropriation of $12,000 for that purpose. There is also included an estimate of $63,750 for the construction of a fire station on this site, $19,000 for fire apparatus, and $17,000 for the salaries of 18 additional privates for this new company during the last 6 months of the fiscal year 1930.

The estimates for the health department include $1,020 for repairs to the crematorium; $1,750 for the purchase of a motor ambulance; and $3,640 toward the establishment of an additional child-hygiene center. Consolidations of several small appropriation items under this department are also recommended.

The estimates for the juvenile, police, and municipal courts show little change over current appropriations, but an increase of $3,300 for repairs and improvements to the courthouse is for the purpose of providing separate quarters there for men and women jurors who are held overnight. A decrease of $10,000 is recommended for support of District prisoners in Federal institutions in view of the intention to care for a larger number of these inmates at the reformatory at Lorton, Va. Chiefly on account of the increase in condemnation proceedings instituted by the Federal Government in connection with its public building program, the regular 1929 appropriation for miscellaneous expenses, supreme court, has been increased from $35,000 to an estimate of $60,000.

Because of the increased facilities that will be available at Gallinger Hospital in 1930, the estimates for medical charities have been reduced from $137,000 to $68,000. Beginning with 1930 the District will handle all charity cases at Gallinger, except for estimates of $18,000 and $10,000, respectively, for continued charity work at Children's Hospital and the Washington Home for Incurables, and $25,000 and $15,000, respectively, for accident cases at Emergency and Casualty Hospitals. The estimates for Gallinger Hospital have been increased to provide for the larger population expected in 1930.

The estimates for the District Training School, located near Laurel, Md., have been increased to provide for the larger number of feeble-minded children that will be sent to this institution in 1930, the principal increases being $5,720 for personnel, $10,000 for maintenance, and $5,000 for repairs and improvements. Estimates of $1,500 for two silos, $1,750 for a motor truck, $2,500 for additional land, $100,000 for an employees' home, and $15,000 for a residence for the superintendent, are also recommended.

On account of the increased attendance at the Home for the Aged and Infirm the maintenance appropriation is increased by $4,000, and provision is made for the extension of ward buildings and dining-room facilities at a cost of $47,000.

The estimates for the militia are practically the same as the appropriations for 1929, and the amount recommended for the reclamation of Anacostia Flats, $180,000, is the same as for 1929.

For public buildings and public parks the estimates provide a total increase of $56,065. For the continued development of park improvements, the estimates include $100,000 for Meridian Hill Park; $90,000 for the Rock Creek and Potomac connecting parkway; $25,000 for Anacostia Park; $14,000 for the installation of lighting and sewer systems for the sylvan theater; and $10,000 for minor auxiliary structures. For the work of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, including the purchase of land for park and playground purposes, $600,000 is provided.

Increases of $1,680 for an additional guard and $4,380 for additional equipment and supplies are recommended for the Zoological Park.

For the water service the Budget recommendations amount to $1,495,330.

The total of the estimates for permanent and indefinite appropriations is $3,052,500. The increase of $332,500 over the estimates for 1929 is chiefly occasioned by the increased estimate for the extension of streets and avenues.

RETIREMENT OF THE PUBLIC DEBT REQUIRED TO BE MADE FROM ORDINARY RECEIPTS

Appropriated for 1929, revised as shown in the Budget for 1930	$542, 442, 707. 56
Budget estimate for 1930	553, 067, 629. 02
Increase	10, 624, 921. 46

The amount is made up of an increase of $9,370,721.46 in sinking-fund operations, a reduction of $245,800 in retirements from proceeds of principal and interest of foreign-government obligations, and an increase of $1,500,000 in retirements from Federal reserve bank franchise-tax receipts. The retirements from net earnings derived from Federal intermediate credit banks and from receipts from miscellaneous sources, forfeitures, and gifts are estimated at $375,000 and $200,000, respectively, in both years.

INTEREST ON THE PUBLIC DEBT

Estimated expenditures for 1929, revised as shown in the Budget for 1930	$675, 000, 000
Estimated expenditures for 1930	640, 000, 000
Reduction	35, 000, 000

The reduction for 1930 below 1929 is due to the continued curtailment of the public debt, principally to the retirement of the third Liberty loan on September 15, 1928. The estimated expenditures for the fiscal year 1929, as shown in the Budget for that year, were $670,000,000. Due to the high money rates prevailing in the early part of the fiscal year 1929, which materially affected the refinancing which it was necessary to accomplish during that time, it has been found necessary to increase the estimated expenditures for that year by $5,000,000.

Estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930—Continued

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, reference to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929
Printing and binding for Congress chargeable to the foregoing appropriation, when recommended to be done by the Committee on Printing of either House, shall be so recommended in a report containing an approximate estimate of the cost thereof, together with a statement from the Public Printer of estimated approximate cost of work previously ordered by Congress within the fiscal year for which this appropriation is made.
During the fiscal year [1929] 1930 any executive department or independent establishment of the Government ordering printing and binding from the Government Printing Office shall pay promptly by check to the Public Printer upon his written request, either in advance or upon completion of the work, all or part of the estimated or actual cost thereof, as the case may be, and bills rendered by the Public Printer in accordance herewith shall not be subject to audit or certification in advance of payment: Provided, That proper adjustments on the basis of the actual cost of delivered work paid for in advance shall be made monthly or quarterly and as may be agreed upon by the Public Printer and the department or establishment concerned. All sums paid to the Public Printer for work that he is authorized by law to do shall be deposited to the credit, on the books of the Treasury Department, of the appropriation made for the working capital of the Government Printing Office, for the year in which the work is done, and be subject to requisition by the Public Printer.
All amounts in the Budget for the fiscal year [1930] 1931 for printing and binding for any department or establishment, so far as the Bureau of the Budget may deem practicable, shall be incorporated in a single item for printing and binding for such department or establishment and be eliminated as a part of any estimate for any other purpose. And if any amounts for printing and binding are included as a part of any estimates for any other purposes, such amounts shall be set forth in detail in a note immediately following the general estimate for printing and binding: Provided, That the foregoing requirements shall not apply to work to be executed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.
No part of any money appropriated in this act shall be paid to any person employed in the Government Printing Office while detailed for or performing service in any other executive branch of the public service of the United States unless such detail be authorized by law.
[Section 91, chapter 5, title 20 of the Code of Laws of the United States is hereby amended so as to include and apply to the Government Printing Office] (act May 14, 1928, vol. 45, pp. 530, 531).
Equipment for New Addition to Government Printing Office Buildings—
To enable the Public Printer to equip the new eight-story addition to the Government Printing Office Buildings (act July 3, 1926, vol. 44, p. 874) with the necessary steel filing equipment, intercommunicating carrier system, laboratory equipment, and other miscellaneous equipment not heretofore provided for under construction of the building, to be available until expended (submitted)	$200,000.00

NOTE.—This equipment is required, and is not provided for in any other appropriation act. Because of uncertainty as to the time new building will be completed, the requested appropriation should be made available until expended.

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929
Permanent specific appropriation:
Cooperative Agricultural Extension Work—
For the purpose of paying the expenses of cooperative agricultural extension work and the necessary printing and distributing of information in connection with same, there is permanently appropriated $480,000 for each year, $10,000 of which is paid annually to each State which has by action of its legislature assented to the provisions of the act. There was also appropriated an additional sum of $600,000 for the fiscal year following that in which the foregoing appropriation first became available, and for each year thereafter for seven years a sum exceeding by $500,000 the sum appropriated for each preceding year, and for each year thereafter there is permanently appropriated the sum of $4,100,000 in addition to the sum of $480,000. The additional sums are allotted annually to each State by the Secretary of Agriculture and paid in the proportion which the rural population of each State bears to the total rural population of all the States as determined by the next preceding Federal census, but no payment out of the additional appropriations can be made in any year to any State until an equal sum has been appropriated for that year by the legislature of such State, or provided by State, county, college, local authority, or individual contributions from within the State, for the maintenance of cooperative agricultural extension work. On May 16, 1928 (45 Stat., p. 542), this appropriation was amended to include a permanent allotment to the Territory of Hawaii of $10,000 plus an additional sum of $12,935.43, subject to the same terms and conditions as the original act. The permanent annual appropriation was thereby increased to $4,602,935.43 (U. S. C., p. 114, secs. 342, 343; 45 Stat., pp. 571, 572)	$4,602,936.00	$4,580,000.00
22 Grants, subsidies, and contributions: Expenditures—1930, $4,602,936; 1929, $4,602,935.43; 1928, $4,580,000.

Estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930—Continued

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929

BUREAU OF PLANT INDUSTRY

NOTE.—A consolidation of a number of subappropriations of the Bureau of Plant Industry and, in certain cases, a reassignment of funds from one item to another, has been effected in the estimates for 1930. This consolidation will provide in a single, concise paragraph the authority and funds for all investigations relative to a particular crop or class of crops, and will be helpful in realigning certain features of the work now under way and in contemplation, so as to insure effective concentration of effort on the major problems requiring investigations. Further, the consolidation will facilitate administrative realignment and make possible more effective correlation of the various projects dealing with production problems of the crops concerned. This applies particularly to horticultural crops, funds for which are now included in nine separate paragraphs in the current appropriation act; cotton, funds for which are now provided in three paragraphs; and to a lesser extent to rubber, fiber, and other tropical plants, and forage crops.

Salaries and Expenses, Bureau of Plant Industry—

For all necessary expenses in the investigation of fruits, fruit trees, grain, cotton, tobacco, vegetables, grasses, forage, drug, medicinal, poisonous, fiber, and other plants and plant industries in cooperation with other branches of the department, the State experiment stations, and practical farmers, and for the erection of necessary farm buildings: Provided, That the cost of any building erected shall not exceed $1,500; for field and station expenses, including fences, drains, and other farm improvements; for repairs in the District of Columbia and elsewhere; for rent outside of the District of Columbia; and for the employment of all investigators, local and special agents, agricultural explorers, experts, clerks, illustrators, assistants, and all labor and other necessary expenses in the city of Washington and elsewhere required for the investigations, experiments, and demonstrations herein authorized as follows (U. S. C., p. 56, secs. 511, 512; p. 95, secs. 111–114; act May 16, 1928, vol. 45, pp. 549–552):

For necessary expenses for general administrative purposes, including the salary of chief of bureau and other personal services in the District of Columbia, [$193,120] (U. S. C., p. 56, secs. 511, 512; p. 95, secs. 111–114; act May 16, 1928, vol. 45, pp. 549–552) $207,000.00

Permanent indefinite appropriation:

Refunds to Depositors, Excess of Deposits, National Forests Fund—

All money received, by or on account of the Forest Service for timber, or from any other source of forest-reservation revenue, is covered into the Treasury of the United States as a miscellaneous receipt; and there is appropriated so much as may be necessary to make refunds to depositors of money deposited by them in excess of amounts found actually due from them to the United States, and so much as may be necessary to refund to the rightful claimants such sums as may be found to have been erroneously collected for the use of lands, or for timber or other resources sold from lands located within, but not a part of, the national forests, or for alleged illegal acts done upon such lands, which acts are subsequently found to have been proper and legal. [The Secretary of Agriculture is required to make annual report to Congress of the amounts refunded hereunder.] (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 499) ..... $75,000.00 | $75,000.00

Permanent specific appropriation:

National Forest Reservation Commission—

A sum sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of the commission and its members, not to exceed an annual expenditure of $25,000, has been appropriated, to be paid out on the audit and order of the president of commission, which audit and order is conclusive and binding upon all departments as to the correctness of the accounts of the commission (*U. Estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930—Continued

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929
Special funds:
Payments to States and Territories from the National Forests Fund—
Twenty-five per cent of all money received from each forest reserve during any fiscal year is paid at the end thereof by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State or Territory in which the reserve is situated, to be expended as the State or Territorial legislature may prescribe for the benefit of the public schools and public roads of the county or counties in which the forest reserve is situated. When any forest reserve is in more than one State or Territory or county, the distributive share to each from the proceeds of the reserve is proportional to its area therein (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 500)	$1,400,000.00	$1,285,000.00
2200 Grants to States: Expenditures—1930, $1,400,000; 1929, $1,351,279.79; 1928, $1,285,216.95.
Cooperative Work, Forest Service—
All moneys received as contributions toward cooperative work in forest investigations, or the protection and improvement of the national forests, including deposits received from timber purchasers to cover the cost to the United States of disposing of brush and other débris resulting from cutting operations in sales of national-forest timber, are covered into the Treasury and constitute a special fund, which is appropriated and made available until expended, as the Secretary of Agriculture may direct, for the payment of the expenses of the investigations, protection, or improvements by the Forest Service, and for refunds to the contributors of amounts paid in by them in excess of their share of the cost of the investigations, protection, or improvements. [Annual report is required to be made to Congress of all moneys received as contributions for such cooperative work.] (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 498)	1,400,000.00	1,500,000.00
