BUDGET MESSAGE OF THE PRESIDENT

To the Congress of the United States:

I am submitting herewith the Budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1943. It is the budget of a nation at war in a world at war.

In practical terms the Budget meets the challenge of the Axis powers. We must provide the funds to man and equip our fighting forces. We must provide the funds for the organization of our resources. We must provide the funds to continue our role as the Arsenal of Democracy.

Powerful enemies must be outfought and outproduced. Victory depends on the courage, skill, and devotion of the men in the American, British, Russian, Chinese, and Dutch forces, and of the others who join hands with us in the fight for freedom. But victory also depends upon efforts behind the lines—in the mines, in the shops, on the farms.

We cannot outfight our enemies unless, at the same time, we outproduce our enemies. It is not enough to turn out just a few more planes, a few more tanks, a few more guns, a few more ships, than can be turned out by our enemies. We must outproduce them overwhelmingly, so that there can be no question of our ability to provide a crushing superiority of equipment in any theater of the world war.

And we shall succeed. A system of free enterprise is more effective than an "order" of concentration camps. The struggle for liberty first made us a Nation. The vitality, strength, and adaptability of a social order built on freedom and individual responsibility will again triumph.

The War Program

Our present war program was preceded by a defense effort which began as we emerged from the long depression. During the past 18 months we laid the foundation for a huge armament program. At the same time industry provided ample consumers' goods for a rapidly growing number of workers. Hundreds of thousands of new homes were constructed; the production of consumers' durable goods broke all records. The industrial plant and equipment of the country were overhauled and expanded.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

Adjustment to a war program can now be made with greater speed and less hardship. The country is better stocked with durable goods. Our factories are better equipped to carry the new production load. The larger national income facilitates financing the war effort.

There are still unused resources for agricultural and industrial production. These must be drawn into the national effort. Shortages, however, have developed in skilled labor, raw materials, machines, and shipping. Under the expanding war program, more and more productive capacity must be shifted from peacetime to wartime work.

Last year fiscal policy was used to shift the economy into high gear. Today it is an instrument for transforming our peace economy into a war economy. This transformation must be completed with minimum friction and maximum speed. The fiscal measures which I outline in this message are essential elements in the Nation's war program.

WAR APPROPRIATIONS

This is a war budget. The details of a war program are, of course, in constant flux. Its magnitude and composition depend on events at the battlefronts of the world, on naval engagements at sea, and on new developments in mechanized warfare. Moreover, war plans are military secrets.

Under these circumstances I cannot hereafter present details of future war appropriations. However, total appropriations and expenditures will be published so that the public may know the fiscal situation and the progress of the Nation's effort.

The defense program, including appropriations, contract authorizations, recommendations, and commitments of Government corporations, was 29 billion dollars on January 3, 1941. During the last 12 months 46 billion dollars have been added to the program. Of this total of 75 billion dollars there remains 24 billion dollars for future obligation.

In this Budget I make an initial request for a war appropriation of 13.6 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1943. Large supplemental requests will be made as we move toward the maximum use of productive capacity. Nothing short of a maximum will suffice. I cannot predict ultimate costs because I cannot predict the changing fortunes of war. I can only say that we are determined to pay whatever price we must to preserve our way of life.

WAR EXPENDITURES

Total war expenditures are now running at a rate of 2 billion dollars a month and may surpass 5 billion dollars a month during the fiscal year 1943. As against probable budgetary war expenditures of 24 billion dollars for the current fiscal year, our present objective calls for war expenditures of nearly 53 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1943. And in addition, net outlays of Government corporations for war purposes are estimated at about 2 and 3 billion dollars for the current and the next fiscal year, respectively.

These huge expenditures for ships, planes, and other war equipment will require prompt conversion of a large portion of our industrial establishment to war production. These estimates reflect our determination to devote at least one-half of our national production to the war effort.

The agencies responsible for the administration of this vast program must make certain that every dollar is speedily converted into a maximum of war effort. We are determined to hold waste to a minimum.

The Civil Functions of Government

In a true sense, there are no longer nondefense expenditures. It is a part of our war effort to maintain civilian services which are essential to the basic needs of human life. In the same way it is necessary in wartime to conserve our natural resources and keep in repair our national plant. We cannot afford waste or destruction, for we must continue to think of the good of future generations of Americans. For example, we must maintain fire protection in our forests; and we must maintain control over destructive floods. In the preparation of the present Budget, expenditures not directly related to the war have been reduced to a minimum or reoriented to the war program.

We all know that the war will bring hardships and require adjustment. Assisting those who suffer in the process of transformation and taxing those who benefit from the war are integral parts of our national program.

It is estimated that expenditures for the major Federal assistance programs—farm aid, work relief, youth aid—can be reduced by 600 million dollars from the previous to the current fiscal year, and again by 860 million dollars from the current to the next fiscal year. These programs will require 1.4 billion dollars during the fiscal year 1943,

Digitized for FRASER
http://fraser.stlouisfed.org/
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

about one-half of the expenditures for these purposes during the fiscal year 1941.

Improved economic conditions during the current year have made possible the execution of economic and social programs with smaller funds than were originally estimated. By using methods of administrative budget control, 415 million dollars of appropriations for civil purposes have been placed in reserves.

Excluding debt charges and grants under the Social Security law, total expenditures for other than direct war purposes have been reduced by slightly more than 1 billion dollars in the next fiscal year.

Agricultural aid.—I propose to include contract authorizations in the Budget to assure the farmer a parity return on his 1942 crop, largely payable in the fiscal year 1944. I do not suggest a definite appropriation at this time because developments of farm income and farm prices are too uncertain. Agricultural incomes and prices have increased and we hope to limit the price rise of the products actually bought by the farmer. But if price developments should turn against the farmer, an appropriation will be needed to carry out the parity objective of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The remaining expenditures for the agricultural program are being brought into accord with the war effort. Food is an essential war material. I propose to continue the soil conservation and use program on a moderately reduced scale. Acreage control by cooperative efforts of farmer and Government was inaugurated in a period of overproduction in almost all lines of farming. Then its major objective was the curtailment of production to halt a catastrophic decline in farm prices. At present, although there is still excess production in some types of farming, serious shortages prevail in other types. The present program is designed to facilitate a balanced increase in production and to aid in controlling prices.

Work projects.—The average number of W. P. A. workers was two million in the fiscal year 1940, the year before the defense program started; the average has been cut to one million this year. With increasing employment a further considerable reduction will be possible. I believe it will be necessary to make some provision for work relief during the next year. I estimate tentatively that 465 million dollars will be needed for W. P. A., but I shall submit a specific request later in the year. Workers of certain types and in certain regions of the country probably will not all be absorbed by war industries. It is better to provide useful work for the unemployed on public projects than to lose their productive power through idleness. Wherever feasible they will be employed on war projects.

Material shortages are creating the problem of "priority unemployment." I hope the workers affected will be reemployed by expanding war industries before their unemployment compensation ceases. Some of the workers affected will not, however, be eligible for such compensation and may be in need of assistance.

Rather than rely on relief a determined effort should be made to speed up reemployment in defense plants. I have, therefore, instructed the Office of Production Management to join the procurement agencies in an effort to place contracts with those industries forced to cut their peacetime production. The ingenuity of American management has already adapted some industries to war production. Standardization and substitution are doing their part in maintaining production. Ever-increasing use of subcontracts, pooling of industrial resources, and wider distribution of contracts are of paramount importance for making the fullest use of our resources. The newly nationalized Employment Service will greatly help unemployed workers in obtaining employment.

Aids to youth.—Under war conditions there is need and opportunity for youth to serve in many ways. It is therefore possible to make a considerable reduction in the programs of the Civilian Conservation Corps and the National Youth Administration. The youth, too, will be aided by the United States Employment Service in finding employment opportunities.

Although I am estimating 100 million dollars for these two agencies, excluding 50 million dollars for defense training, it is probable that the total amount will not be needed. I am postponing until next spring presentation to the Congress of specific recommendations as to youth aid.

Public works program.—The public works program is being fully adjusted to the war effort. The general program of 578 million dollars includes those projects necessary for increasing production of hydroelectric power, for flood control, and for river and harbor work related to military needs. Federal aid for highways will be expended only for construction essential for strategic purposes. Other highway projects will be deferred until the post-war period. For all other Federal construction I am restricting expenditures to those active projects which cannot be discontinued without endangering the structural work now in progress.

Civil departments and agencies.—The work of the civil departments and agencies is undergoing thorough reorientation. Established agencies will be used to the greatest possible extent for defense services. Many agencies have already made such readjustment. All civil activities of the Government are being focussed on the war program.

Federal grants and debt service.—A few categories of civil expenditures show an increase. Under existing legislation Federal grants to match the appropriations for public assistance made by the individual States will increase by 73 million dollars. I favor an amendment to the Social Security Act which would modify matching grants to accord with the needs of the various States. Such legislation would probably not affect expenditures substantially during the next fiscal year.

Because of heavy Federal borrowing, interest charges are expected to increase by 139 million dollars in the current fiscal year, and by another 500 million dollars in the fiscal year 1943. Debt service is, of course, affected by war spending.

COORDINATION OF FISCAL POLICIES

The fiscal policy of the Federal Government, especially with respect to public works, is being reinforced by that of State and local governments. Executive committees of the Council of State Governments and the Governors' Conference have issued excellent suggestions for harmonizing various aspects of State and local fiscal policy with national objectives. These governments are readjusting many of their services so as to expedite the war program. Many are making flexible plans for the post-war readjustment and some are accumulating financial reserves for that purpose. The larger the scale of our war effort, the more important it becomes to provide a reservoir of post-war work by business and by Federal, State, and local governments.

FINANCING THE WAR

Determination, skill, and matériel are three great necessities for victory. Methods of financing may impair or strengthen these essentials. Sound fiscal policies are those which will help win the war. A fair distribution of the war burden is necessary for national unity. A balanced financial program will stimulate the productivity of the Nation and assure maximum output of war equipment.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

With total war expenditures, including net outlays of Government corporations, estimated at 26 billion dollars for the current fiscal year and almost 56 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1943, war finance is a task of tremendous magnitude requiring a concerted program of action.

RECEIPTS UNDER PRESENT LEGISLATION

Total receipts from existing tax legislation will triple under the defense and war programs. They are expected to increase from 6 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1940 to 18 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1943. This increase is due partly to the expansion of economic activities and partly to tax legislation enacted during the last 2 years. As we approach full use of our resources, further increases in revenue next year must come predominantly from new tax measures rather than from a greater tempo of economic activity. Taxes on incomes, estates, and corporate profits are showing the greatest increase. Yields from employment taxes are increasing half as fast; and the yields from excise taxes are increasing more slowly; customs are falling off. On the whole, our tax system has become more progressive since the defense effort started.

DEFICITS UNDER PRESENT LAWS

The estimate of deficits must be tentative and subject to later revision. The probable net outlay of the Budget and Government corporations, excluding revenues from any new taxes, will be 20.9 billion dollars for the current fiscal year, and 45.4 billion dollars for the fiscal year 1943. Borrowing from trust funds will reduce the amounts which must be raised by taxation and borrowing from the public by about 2 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1942 and 2.8 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1943.

In estimating expenditures and receipts, only a moderate rise in prices has been assumed. Since expenditures are affected by rising prices more rapidly than are revenues, a greater price increase would further increase the deficit.

THE NEED FOR ADDITIONAL TAXES

In view of the tremendous deficits, I reemphasize my request of last year that war expenditures be financed as far as possible by

http://fraser.stlouisfed.org/
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

taxation. When so many Americans are contributing all their energies and even their lives to the Nation's great task, I am confident that all Americans will be proud to contribute their utmost in taxes. Until this job is done, until this war is won, we will not talk of burdens.

I believe that 7 billion dollars in additional taxes should be collected during the fiscal year 1943. Under new legislation proposed later in this Message, social security trust funds will increase by 2 billion dollars. Thus new means of financing would provide a total of 9 billion dollars in the fiscal year 1943.

Specific proposals to accomplish this end will be transmitted in the near future. In this Message I shall limit my recommendations on war finance to the broad outline of a program.

Tax programs too often follow the line of least resistance. The present task definitely requires enactment of a well-balanced program which takes account of revenue requirements, equity, and economic necessities.

There are those who suggest that the policy of progressive taxation should be abandoned for the duration of the war because these taxes do not curtail consumers' demand. The emergency does require measures of a restrictive nature which impose sacrifices on all of us. But such sacrifices are themselves the most compelling argument for making progressive taxes more effective. The anti-inflationary aspect of taxation should supplement, not supplant, its revenue and equity aspects.

PROGRESSIVE TAXES

Progressive taxes are the backbone of the Federal tax system. In recent years much progress has been made in perfecting income, estate, gift, and profit taxation but numerous loopholes still exist. Because some taxpayers use them to avoid taxes, other taxpayers must pay more. The higher the tax rates the more urgent it becomes to close the loopholes. Exemptions in estate and gift taxation should be lowered. The privileged treatment given certain types of business in corporate income taxation should be reexamined.

It seems right and just that no further tax-exempt bonds should be issued. We no longer issue United States tax-exempt bonds and it is my personal belief that the income from State, municipal, and authority bonds is taxable under the income-tax amendment to the Constitution. As a matter of equity I recommend legislation to tax all future issues of this character.

Digitized for FRASER
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

Excessive profits undermine unity and should be recaptured. The fact that a corporation had large profits before the defense program started is no reason to exempt them now. Unreasonable profits are not necessary to obtain maximum production and economical management. Under war conditions the country cannot tolerate undue profits.

Our tax laws contain various technical inequities and discriminations. With taxes at wartime levels, it is more urgent than ever to eliminate these defects in our tax system.

ANTI-INFLATIONARY TAXES

I stated last year in the Budget Message that extraordinary tax measures may be needed to "aid in avoiding inflationary price rises which may occur when full capacity is approached." The time for such measures has come. A well-balanced tax program must include measures which combat inflation. Such measures should absorb some of the additional purchasing power of consumers and some of the additional funds which accrue to business from increased consumer spending.

A number of tax measures have been suggested for that purpose, such as income taxes collected at the source, pay-roll taxes, and excise taxes. I urge the Congress to give all these proposals careful consideration. Any tax is better than an uncontrolled price rise.

Taxes of an anti-inflationary character at excessive rates spell hardship in individual cases and may have undesirable economic repercussions. These can be mitigated by timely adoption of a variety of measures, each involving a moderate rate of taxation.

Any such tax should be considered an emergency measure. It may help combat inflation; its repeal in a post-war period may help restore an increased flow of consumers' purchasing power.

Excise taxes.—All through the years of the depression I opposed general excise and sales taxes and I am as convinced as ever that they have no permanent place in the Federal tax system. In the face of the present financial and economic situation, however, we may later be compelled to reconsider the temporary necessity of such measures.

Selective excise taxes are frequently useful for curtailing the demand for consumers' goods, especially luxuries and semiluxuries. They should be utilized when manufacture of the products competes with the war effort.

Digitized for FRASER
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

Pay-roll taxes and the social security program.—I oppose the use of pay-roll taxes as a measure of war finance unless the worker is given his full money's worth in increased social security. From the inception of the social security program in 1935 it has been planned to increase the number of persons covered and to provide protection against hazards not initially included. By expanding the program now, we advance the organic development of our social security system and at the same time contribute to the anti-inflationary program.

I recommend an increase in the coverage of old-age and survivors' insurance, addition of permanent and temporary disability payments and hospitalization payments beyond the present benefit programs, and liberalization and expansion of unemployment compensation in a uniform national system. I suggest that collection of additional contributions be started as soon as possible, to be followed 1 year later by the operation of the new benefit plans.

Additional employer and employee contributions will cover increased disbursements over a long period of time. Increased contributions would result in reserves of several billion dollars for post-war contingencies. The present accumulation of these contributions would absorb excess purchasing power. Investment of the additional reserves in bonds of the United States Government would assist in financing the war.

The existing administrative machinery for collecting pay-roll taxes can function immediately. For this reason congressional consideration might be given to immediate enactment of this proposal, while other necessary measures are being perfected.

I estimate that the social security trust funds would be increased through the proposed legislation by 2 billion dollars during the fiscal year 1943.

FLEXIBILITY IN THE TAX SYSTEM

Our fiscal situation makes imperative the greatest possible flexibility in our tax system. The Congress should consider the desirability of tax legislation which makes possible quick adjustment in the timing of tax rates and collections during an emergency period.

BORROWING AND THE MENACE OF INFLATION

The war program requires not only substantially increased taxes but also greatly increased borrowing. After adjusting for additional tax collections and additional accumulation in social security trust funds, borrowing from the public in the current and the next fiscal year would be nearly 19 billion dollars and 34 billion dollars, respectively. The adjustments are indicated in the preceding table.

http://fraser.stlouisfed.org/
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

Much smaller deficits during the fiscal year 1941 were associated with a considerable increase in prices. Part of this increase was a recovery from depression lows. A moderate price rise, accompanied by an adjustment of wage rates, probably facilitated the increase in production and the defense effort. Another part of the price rise, however, was undesirable and must be attributed to the delays in enacting adequate measures of price control.

With expenditures and deficits multiplied, the threat of inflation will apparently be much greater. There is, however, a significant difference between conditions as they were in the fiscal year 1941 and those prevailing under a full war program. Last year, defense expenditures so stimulated private capital outlays that intensified use of private funds and private credit added to the inflationary pressure created by public spending.

Under a full war program, however, most of the increase in expenditures will replace private capital outlays rather than add to them. Allocations and priorities, necessitated by shortages of material, are now in operation; they curtail private outlays for consumers' durable goods, private and public construction, expansion and even replacements in nondefense plant and equipment. These drastic curtailments of nondefense expenditures add, therefore, to the private funds available for noninflationary financing of the Government deficit.

This factor will contribute substantially to financing the tremendous war effort without disruptive price rises and without necessitating a departure from our low-interest-rate policy. The remaining inflationary pressure will be large but manageable. It will be within our power to control it if we adopt a comprehensive program of additional anti-inflationary measures.

A COMPREHENSIVE ANTI-INFLATIONARY PROGRAM

A great variety of measures is necessary in order to shift labor, materials, and facilities from the production of civilian articles to the production of weapons and other war supplies. Taxes can aid in speeding these shifts by cutting nonessential civilian spending. Our resources are such that even with the projected huge war expenditures

http://fraser.stlouisfed.org/
Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

we can maintain a standard of living more than adequate to support the health and productivity of our people. But we must forego many conveniences and luxuries.

The system of allocations—rationing on the business level—should be extended and made fully effective, especially with relation to inventory control.

I do not at present propose general consumer ration cards. There are not as yet scarcities in the necessities of life which make such a step imperative. Consumers' rationing has been introduced, however, in specific commodities for which scarcities have developed. We shall profit by this experience if a more general system of rationing ever becomes necessary.

I appeal for the voluntary cooperation of the consumer in our national effort. Restraint in consumption, especially of scarce products, may make necessary fewer compulsory measures. Hoarding should be encouraged in only one field, that of defense savings bonds. Economies in consumption and the purchase of defense savings bonds will facilitate financing war costs and the shift from a peace to a war economy.

An integrated program, including direct price controls, a flexible tax policy, allocations, rationing, and credit controls, together with producers' and consumers' cooperation will enable us to finance the war effort without danger of inflation. This is a difficult task. But it must be done and it can be done.

The Increase in the Federal Debt

On the basis of tentative Budget estimates, including new taxes, the Federal debt will increase from 43 billion dollars in June 1940, when the defense program began, to 110 billion dollars 3 years later. This increase in Federal indebtedness covers also the future capital demands of Government corporations. About 2 billion dollars of this increase will result from the redemption of notes of Government corporations guaranteed by the Federal Government.

These debt levels require an increase in the annual interest from 1 billion dollars in 1940 to above 2.5 billion dollars at the end of fiscal year 1943. Such an increase in interest requirements will prevent us for some time after the war from lowering taxes to the extent otherwise possible. The import of this fact will depend greatly on economic conditions in the post-war period.

Paying 2.5 billion dollars out of an extremely low national income would impose an excessive burden on taxpayers while the same payment out of a 100-billion-dollar national income, after reduction of armament expenditures, may still permit substantial tax reductions in the post-war period.

If we contract a heavy debt at relatively high prices and must pay service charges in a period of deflated prices, we shall be forced to impose excessive taxes. Our capacity to carry a large debt in a post-war period without undue hardship depends mainly on our ability to maintain a high level of employment and income.

I am confident that by prompt action we shall control the price development now and that we shall prevent the recurrence of a deep depression in the post-war period. There need be no fiscal barriers to our war effort and to victory.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

NARRATIVE SYNOPSIS SUPPORTING REVENUE ESTIMATES

The estimates of the revenues of the Federal Government are prepared in the Treasury Department in December of each year for the current fiscal year and for the fiscal year next ensuing.

Inasmuch as the tax revenue from practically every major source is directly dependent, although in varying degree, upon business conditions during the period in respect of which the taxes are levied, it is necessary to forecast the general business situation for a period ending approximately 18 months later. This forecast is based upon the analysis of a wide variety of financial and other economic data and includes a forecast of the direction and the magnitude of the movements of industrial production, profits, security and commodity prices, employment, pay rolls, and other components of business activity. In view of the well-recognized uncertainty involved in forecasting the various phases of business activity, accentuated this year by the dislocations of industry and profits caused by the shifting from a peacetime to a wartime economy with its attendant allocations, price, and other control measures, such forecasts, and the concomitant estimates of future revenues, may be revised from time to time to take account of changed conditions.

Upon these business forecasts depend the estimates of the aggregate amounts of corporation and individual incomes as well as the distribution of such incomes among various income classes, and the volume of consumption of commodities upon which taxes are levied. Consideration must be given to the fact that changes in the various indicators of business activity are not reflected immediately or in direct proportion in the various sources of revenue. Thus, in periods of rising business activity profits and taxable incomes usually rise more than proportionately to the increase in the volume of business because of the relative inflexibility of certain costs. In addition, consideration is given to the fact that the increase in the amount of income-tax collections which will result from a given increase in individual incomes is accentuated under a progressive-rate schedule because not only is the individual taxpayer's income greater but also the taxpayer pays a larger percentage of the higher income as income tax.

Changes in business conditions, in the amounts of income, and in the volume of consumption and importation of commodities are reflected more immediately in the receipts from some taxes than from others because of the variation in the method of collection of the taxes. For example, stamp taxes are collected prior to the ultimate sale of taxed articles while many of the miscellaneous internal-revenue taxes are collected each month on the tax liabilities of the previous month. However, collections from taxes such as the estate and gift taxes and the tax under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act, formerly title IX of the Social Security Act, are made upon liabilities of a much earlier period and therefore do not respond as promptly to changes in general business conditions.

The lag between the time income is received by taxpayers and the time of receipt of income taxes based upon such incomes is particularly important in its effect upon total tax receipts in any given year. Thus, in general, the changes in incomes in the calendar year 1941 will not be reflected in income-tax receipts until the income-tax returns are filed on or before March 15, 1942. Because of the privilege of making quarterly installment payments of these tax liabilities, the collections will be received throughout the calendar year 1942, thus falling into the receipts of the fiscal years 1942 and 1943. Hence the estimated current income-tax receipts, both corporation and individual, for the fiscal year 1942 are made up partly from payments on calendar year 1940 incomes and partly from payments on calendar year 1941 incomes. Similarly, fiscal year 1943 estimates of income-tax receipts include payments based upon the incomes of each of the calendar years 1941 and 1942.

In presenting the revenue estimates in the foregoing statement an adjustment has been made in total receipts to reflect the changes brought about by the 1939 amendments to the Social Security Act. There has been created on the books of the Treasury the "Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund," to which was transferred on January 1, 1940, the amount standing to the credit of the old-age reserve account. For the fiscal year 1941 and each subsequent fiscal year there is appropriated to the fund an amount equivalent to 100 percent of the taxes received under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act, with the proviso that the estimated administrative expenses of the Treasury and the Social Security Board with respect to the collection of taxes and the payments from the fund shall be repaid to the Treasury. In order to show the amount of revenue applicable to the general expenditures of the Government there has been deducted from total receipts a sum equivalent to the net appropriation to the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund. The detailed analysis set forth below is based on total revenues and receipts and not on the net amount after adjustment.

Total Revenues and Receipts

Total revenues and receipts, general and special accounts, are estimated (on the daily Treasury statement basis, unrevised) in the amounts of $12,816 millions for the fiscal year 1942 and $17,852 millions for the fiscal year 1943. The estimated amount of total receipts in the fiscal year 1942 represents an increase of $4,548 millions over total receipts of $8,269 millions in the fiscal year 1941, while the estimated amount of total receipts in the fiscal year 1943 represents an increase of $5,036 millions over the estimated total receipts for the fiscal year 1942.

The following table shows the percentage distribution of the classified sources of revenue, of the actual receipts for the fiscal years 1940 and 1941, and of the estimated receipts for the fiscal years 1942 and 1943:

actual receipts in the fiscal year 1941 are shown in Statement No. 1, page A3. All year-to-year differences and percentages appearing in the text are based on the figures in this detailed table.

FISCAL YEAR 1942

Total receipts in general and special accounts in the fiscal year 1942 are estimated at $12,816 millions, an increase of $4,548 millions over actual total receipts of $8,269 millions in the fiscal year 1941. Net receipts—total receipts less the net appropriation for the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund—are estimated at $11,944 millions. This is an increase of $4,337 millions or 57.0 percent over actual net receipts of the previous fiscal year.

Great expansion of incomes and business activity and extensive tax legislation which resulted in the introduction of new taxes as well as substantial increases in tax rates were responsible for the large increase in receipts of the fiscal year 1942 over the fiscal year 1941. Collections in the fiscal year 1942 are affected by the two revenue acts of 1940 and the Revenue Act of 1941 as well as by other less important revenue legislation. Because of the statutory lag in collection of taxes, receipts in the fiscal year 1942 do not represent the full effect of legislation in the calendar years 1940 and 1941. This is particularly true of current income taxes.

The sources of the revenues estimated for the fiscal year 1942 as compared with actual receipts for the fiscal year 1941 may be broadly summarized as follows:

Total receipts by sources of revenue

[In millions of dollars]

| General and special accounts | Estimated, 1942 | Actual, 1941 |
|---|---|---|
| Income taxes | 7,147.0 | 3,469.6 |
| Miscellaneous internal revenue taxes | 3,863.0 | 2,966.9 |
| Employment taxes | 1,188.7 | 925.2 |
| Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act | 8.5 | 6.8 |
| Customs | 368.0 | 391.9 |
| Miscellaneous revenues and receipts | 240.9 | 508.2 |
| Total | 12,816.1 | 8,268.5 |

Income taxes.—Total income taxes in the fiscal year 1942 are estimated at $7,147 millions. If this amount is realized, the fiscal year 1942 receipts will exceed by a considerable margin the collections of any previous fiscal year, being $3,202 millions or 81.2 percent greater than receipts of the previous record year, the fiscal year 1920. No detailed break-down of income-tax receipts is available for all fiscal years. However, such data as are available indicate that record-breaking levels should be reached in receipts for the fiscal year 1942 for both the current corporation and individual income taxes.

Total income tax receipts estimated for the fiscal year 1942 exceed actual collections of the previous year, which amounted to $3,470 millions, by $3,677 millions or 106.0 percent. This is attributable to an increase in income levels, a broadening of the income-tax base by legislation, and to upward revision in tax rates.

Current corporation income-tax collections, normal tax and surtax, are estimated to amount to $2,509 millions in the fiscal year 1942, and represent an increase of $860 millions or 52.2 percent over actual fiscal year 1941 receipts of $1,649 millions. Receipts in the fiscal year 1942 represent liabilities of the calendar years 1940 and 1941, whereas the fiscal year 1941 receipts reflect liabilities of the calendar years 1939 and 1940. While collections of calendar-year liabilities are not divided evenly between the two fiscal years affected, the proportions are such that for the purpose of simplifying the explanation of results, the calendar year common to both may be eliminated in comparing receipts of two fiscal years. Thus, in comparing fiscal years 1942 and 1941, the calendar year 1940 may be disregarded and the increase in receipts of the fiscal year 1942 over those of the fiscal year 1941 attributed almost entirely to the increase in estimated income levels in the calendar year 1941 and higher tax rates under the Revenue Act of 1941 as compared with incomes and tax rates existing in the calendar year 1939. However, only part of the full calendar year 1941 increase in liabilities, roughly 50 percent, is reflected in the fiscal year 1942 receipts.

In the calendar year 1939, corporations with net incomes of over $25,000 were taxed at rates which varied between 16½ percent and 19 percent depending on dividends paid. In 1941, the normal tax rate is 24 percent for this group. In addition, a corporation surtax is imposed at 6 percent for the first $25,000 of net income and 7 percent on the excess. For corporations with net incomes of $25,000 or less, the graduated rates of 12½ percent, 14 percent, and 16 percent existing in 1939 were increased to 15 percent, 17 percent, and 19 percent in the calendar year 1941 and the corporation surtax added. The potential effect of the substantially higher tax rates and income base in 1941 as compared with 1939 is offset to some extent by the 2-year operating loss carry-over allowed in 1941—none in 1939—and the deduction of the excess-profits tax in computing normal tax and surtax net income in 1941.

Corporation excess-profits tax receipts are estimated to amount to $1,234 millions in the fiscal year 1942 and represent an increase of $1,070 millions or 651.0 percent over receipts in the fiscal year 1941 of $164 millions. As excess-profits tax receipts are collected in the same manner as current corporation income taxes, a comparison of calendar years 1939 and 1941 explains in the main the increase in the fiscal year 1942 receipts over the fiscal year 1941. No excess-profits tax as the term is now used applied in 1939. The excess-profits tax effective in the calendar year 1941 was instituted by the Second Revenue Act of 1940 and was revised by the excess-profits tax amendments of 1941 and by the Revenue Act of 1941. At present corporations are subject to excess-profits tax rates varying from 35 percent on adjusted excess-profits net income of $20,000 or less to 60 percent on adjusted excess-profits net income in excess of $500,000. Adjusted excess-profits net income is determined by the difference between earnings in the taxable year and the excess-profits credit computed under either the average earnings or the invested capital methods. Under the former, corporations are allowed a credit of 95 percent of the average net income of the base period 1936–1939, inclusive. Under the invested capital method, the credit is 8 percent on invested capital not in excess of $5 millions and 7 percent on the excess over $5 millions. Under either method a specific exemption of $5,000 and a 2-year carry-over of unused excess-profits credit of previous years are allowed. Under the 1941 Revenue Act, the excess-profits tax is computed first and allowed as a deduction for normal tax and surtax. Except for the excess-profits liability itself, the net income bases of the excess-profits tax and the normal tax are essentially the same although significant differences are possible under certain circumstances.

The declared value excess-profits tax has been in effect since 1933, but prior to 1940 was known as the excess-profits tax. Receipts from this source are estimated at $24 millions, a decrease of $4 millions or 14.5 percent as compared with the fiscal year 1941, despite the increase in rates and higher income levels of the calendar year 1941 as compared with the calendar year 1939.

For the declared value excess-profits tax, taxable excess profits are those earnings in excess of 10 percent of the capital-stock valuation which is declared by corporations in filing their capital-stock-tax returns. Ordinarily capital-stock returns must be filed on July 31. However, the Revenue Act of 1941, which increased the capital-stock-tax rate from $1.10 to $1.25 for each $1,000 of such valuation, was not approved until September 20, 1941, and corporations were allowed to defer the filing date for capital stock returns to October 29. In 1941, corporations, in setting capital-stock value so as to avoid declared value excess-profits tax liabilities for the calendar year 1941 earnings, had 3 months more known earnings than would have been the case without the extension in the time of filing the capital-stock returns. The consequent increase in accuracy of net income estimates, despite a substantial increase in income levels in 1941, should reduce the declared value excess-profits tax liability in 1941 as compared with 1939 when the capital-stock returns had to be filed August 31.

Some portion of the decrease in the fiscal year 1942 receipts is attributable to the suspension of the profit limiting provisions of the Vinson Act and of certain provisions of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, during the applicable period of the excess-profits tax. Collections from these sources are included as part of the declared value excess profits.

Unjust enrichment taxes, which are back taxes principally based on liabilities incurred in the calendar year 1936, are estimated to decrease from $9 millions in the fiscal year 1941 to $5 millions as the outstanding claims for these taxes have been decreased by collections.

Current individual income-tax receipts for the fiscal year 1942, estimated at $3,070 millions, are $1,756 millions or 133.6 percent in excess of actual fiscal year 1941 receipts amounting to $1,314 millions. As is true for corporation income taxes, individual income-tax receipts for the fiscal year 1942 arise from liabilities of the calendar years 1940 and 1941, while the fiscal year 1941 receipts reflect the calendar years 1939 and 1940. In comparing individual income-tax receipts by fiscal years, the elimination of the yield from the common year 1940 from the explanation of results is not as valid as it is for corporation income-tax receipts because of the much greater proportion of full-paid individual as compared with corporation income-tax liabilities in March of the near fiscal year. Nevertheless, the oversimplification of the explanation is substantially correct as the greater proportion of the increase in the fiscal year 1942 over the fiscal year 1941 is due to higher income levels and tax rates and broader tax base in the calendar year 1941 as compared with the calendar year 1939.

The 1939 personal exemptions of $2,500 for married individuals and $1,000 for single persons were reduced to $1,500 and $750, respectively, in 1941. The dependent credit of $400 for the first dependent was eliminated for persons who are made heads of families only because of such dependents. Surtax rates were increased throughout the entire schedule, the greatest increase being made in the low and middle income groups. Not only were the surtax rates increased but the exemption therefrom of the first $4,000 of surtax net income was eliminated. A simplified income-tax form was adopted for persons with gross income of $3,000 or less wholly from certain specified sources, the use of such abbreviated form or the regular income-tax form being optional with the taxpayer. In effect, the normal tax was increased by the defense tax of the Revenue Act of 1940. The defense tax as such was eliminated by the Revenue Act of 1941 and was integrated into the surtax rate structure. The combined effect of reduced personal exemptions, the elimination of exempted surtax net income, and the increase in surtax rates results in increases in tax liabilities of all classes.

Because of the great increase in the calendar year 1941 liabilities it is expected that the percent of total liabilities which has been received in full in March of previous collection years will be decreased in March 1942. The effect of increased calendar year 1941 liabilities on fiscal year 1942 collections is therefore somewhat less than would be true if the full-paid proportion were unchanged.

Total back corporation and individual income tax receipts, which are not affected by most recent changes in incomes and tax rates, are estimated at $305 millions in the fiscal year 1942.

Miscellaneous internal revenue.—Miscellaneous internal revenue in the fiscal year 1942 is estimated at $3,863 millions, an increase of $896 millions over receipts of the previous fiscal year. Except for receipts from the capital-stock tax, estate tax, and gift tax, which are estimated to aggregate $742 millions, miscellaneous internal revenue is derived from levies incident to the sales of goods or services. Ordinarily receipts from these sources are principally dependent upon consumer purchasing power. However, in the fiscal year 1942, curtailment of production of goods for civilian consumption is necessitated by defense and war activity. Receipts of certain taxes are expected either to increase less than the estimated income levels of the fiscal year 1942 warrant, or to decrease. This is particularly true of taxes based on the sale of durable consumer's goods. Nevertheless, because of the increases in receipts from taxes unaffected by military production, because of increases in tax rates, and because of the introduction of new taxes, miscellaneous internal revenue other than collections from the capital stock, estate, and gift taxes is estimated to increase from $2,381 millions in the fiscal year 1941 to $3,121 millions in the fiscal year 1942. This is an increase of $740 millions, or 31.1 percent.

Capital-stock tax receipts are estimated at $232 millions in the fiscal year 1942 as compared with $167 millions in the fiscal year 1941. The increase of $65 millions or 39.2 percent results from the increase in tax rate from $1.10 to $1.25 per $1,000 of valuation and the higher income levels of the calendar year 1941 as compared with the calendar year 1940 and to the fact that the capital-stock declaration made in the fiscal year 1942 had to be made large enough to cover insurance against the declared value excess-profits tax for 3 years following the capital-stock valuation.

Estate-tax receipts are estimated at $360 millions, an increase of $5 millions over actual receipts of the fiscal year 1941. This increase is small, in spite of the 10 percent tax rate increase of the Revenue Act of 1940, which is partially reflected in the fiscal year 1942 receipts, because the fiscal year 1941 receipts included the taxes on two exceptionally large estates. The rate increases of the Revenue Act of 1941 are substantially ineffective with respect to the fiscal year 1942 collections because of the 15-month statutory lag permissible in the filing of estate-tax returns.

Gift-tax receipts, estimated in the fiscal year 1942 at $150 millions, are $98 millions or 189.2 percent in excess of actual receipts of the preceding year. Although the higher estate-tax rates contained in the Revenue Act of 1941 became applicable to the estates of decedents dying after September 20, 1941, the increase in the gift-tax rates contained in the Revenue Act of 1941 was not effective on gifts made prior to January 1, 1942. Thus there was a special tax-saving incentive to make gifts during the latter months of the calendar year 1941 not only to reduce an augmented estate-tax liability but also to break up estates so that the income therefrom in subsequent years would not be subject to as high bracket rates under the increased individual surtax rates of the Revenue Act of 1941.

Total liquor-tax receipts are estimated to aggregate $1,095 millions in the fiscal year 1942 and represent an increase of $277 millions or 33.8 percent over receipts of the previous fiscal year. Receipts from taxes on distilled spirits and fermented malt liquors account for $993 millions or 90.7 percent of the total 1942 receipts and for $248 millions or 89.6 percent of the increase.

The excise-tax receipts from distilled spirits are estimated to increase $212 millions or 49.4 percent to $640 millions in the fiscal year 1942. This increase is due to the estimated rise in consumer income and to the increases in the tax rates on distilled spirits from $3 a gallon to $4 a gallon and on brandy from $2.75 a gallon to $4 a gallon. Only 9 months' collections in the fiscal year 1942 are at these new rates. The effect of the increase in rates is lessened by the forward buying which took place in the first few months of the fiscal year in anticipation of the augmented rates.

Receipts from the tax on fermented malt liquors are estimated at $353 millions in the fiscal year 1942, an increase of $36 millions or 11.5 percent over the actual fiscal year 1941 receipts. This increase is due principally to increases in income levels. The excise tax on wines is estimated to increase 139.9 percent to $27 millions mainly because of rate increases of the Revenue Act of 1941. Nonrecurring floor-stock collections from distilled spirits and wines in the fiscal year 1942 are estimated at $33 millions.

Total receipts from tobacco taxes are estimated at $772 millions in the fiscal year 1942, an increase of $79 millions or 11.4 percent over actual receipts of the fiscal year 1941. Each of the specific sources contributed to this increase but the bulk of collections is accounted for by the tax on small cigarettes, estimated at $694 millions in the fiscal year 1942. No increase in tax rates is effective in the fiscal year 1942, the increase in receipts being due principally to increases in consumer income.

Collections of stamp taxes on issues of securities, bond transfers, stock transfers, etc., and on playing cards and silver bullion sales or transfers are estimated to amount to $43 millions in the fiscal year 1942, an increase of $4 millions or 9.9 percent. In this category, only the tax rate on playing cards, increased from 11 cents to 13 cents a pack, was changed by the Revenue Act of 1941.

The broad class group, manufacturers' excise taxes, includes the majority of the specific sources of taxation that will be affected most by conversion of production to military requirements. Despite the estimated decline of some tax bases in the face of rising purchasing power, total receipts of the group are estimated to increase $110 millions or 18.0 percent to $721 millions in the fiscal year 1942. This increase is achieved by substantial upward revision of tax rates and by the introduction of new sources of revenue.

The largest receipts from any single tax classified in this category are produced by the 1½ cents per gallon tax on gasoline. In the fiscal year 1942, this tax is expected to yield $373 millions, an increase of $29 millions or 8.6 percent due primarily to increases in income levels. The tax rate on gasoline was raised from 1 cent to 1½ cents by the Revenue Act of 1940, effective July 1, 1940. This rate was unchanged by the Revenue Act of 1941. However, because of the collection lag, only 11 months of the fiscal year 1941 receipts are affected by the 1½-cent rate, whereas the fiscal year 1942 receipts represent a full year's collection at the increased rates.

The receipts from the tax on lubricating oils are estimated to increase $6 millions or 15.1 percent to $44 millions in the fiscal year 1942. The tax on electrical energy is estimated to yield $51 millions in the fiscal year 1942 as compared with actual receipts of $47 millions in the fiscal year 1941. The tax on firearms, shells, pistols, and revolvers is estimated to yield $4 millions in the fiscal year 1942. No change was made in the rate of tax or the tax base of these four tax categories in the Revenue Act of 1941. For all other specific sources in the manufacturers' excise-tax group, changes were made both in rates and scope of the taxes and many new taxes were introduced.

Tax rates on the automobile and related industries were doubled by the Revenue Act of 1941, affecting 8 months' tax collections in the fiscal year 1942. The rate was increased on passenger automobiles and motorcycles to 7 percent, on automobile trucks, busses, and trailers to 5 percent, on parts and accessories for automobiles to 5 percent, and on tires and inner tubes to 5 cents and 9 cents per pound, respectively. Some adjustment was made in classification under these titles. Bus chassis and bodies and truck and bus trailers, formerly taxed at the same rate as passenger automobiles and motorcycles, are now taxable at the rate applicable to trucks. The base of the automobile taxes was expanded to include certain types of trailers formerly exempt. Automobile radios, previously taxable under automobile parts and accessories, were shifted to the radio receiving set classification. Substantially larger consumer income combined with doubling the tax rate would imply relatively large increases in tax yields under ordinary circumstances. However, the automobile industry is one of the first to feel the impact of war. There are striking differences in the effect of military necessities on each of the automobile taxes. The receipts of the tax on parts and accessories show slight curtailment of civilian production. In the fiscal year 1942 receipts are estimated at $27 millions, an increase of 102.5 percent over actual receipts of the fiscal year 1941. Collections of the tax on trucks and busses are estimated to increase 54.5 percent to $17 millions in the fiscal year 1942. A substantial cut in the production of passenger automobiles is indicated by collections of $86 millions in the fiscal year 1942, only 5.4 percent more than the collections in the fiscal year 1941 when automobile prices were lower. The most drastic reduction is in production of tires and tubes for civilian consumption. Receipts from the taxes on these articles are estimated at $41 millions in the fiscal year 1942, a decrease of $10 millions or 20.3 percent. As the Nation continues in its progress toward a full wartime economy, it is to be expected that production of these items for civilian use will be reduced still further.

Many new taxes based on manufacturers' sales were introduced by the Revenue Act of 1941. These new taxes and their estimated yield in the fiscal year 1942 are: Rubber articles—articles of which rubber is the component material of chief weight—$8 millions; electric, gas, and oil appliances, $7 millions; electric-light bulbs, $2 millions; electric signs, $2 millions; washing machines—commercial—$0.2 million; business and store machines, $5 millions; photographic apparatus, $6 millions; optical equipment, $0.3 million; luggage, $3 millions; sporting goods, $6 millions. Only 8 months' collections will be received in the fiscal year 1942 from these taxes. The rate in each case is 10 percent, with the exception of the tax on electric-light bulbs, where the rate is 5 percent. Although these taxes are designated as new taxes, actually most of them were in effect before but had been repealed. There were back tax collections from certain of these repealed taxes in the fiscal year 1941. The potential revenue yield of certain of these new taxes, particularly those on rubber articles and business and store machines, is limited by curtailed production for civilian uses.

The Revenue Act of 1940 taxed parts for radio sets at 5½ percent. The 1941 act increased the rate from 5½ percent to 10 percent, revised the base to include completed sets, and extended the coverage to include phonographs, phonograph records, and musical instruments. Receipts are estimated at $13 millions in the fiscal year 1942, an increase of 90.3 percent over the fiscal year 1941 actual receipts.

Under the Revenue Act of 1941, the scope of the tax applicable on household-type refrigerators was broadened to include all types of refrigerators, refrigerating apparatus, and air conditioners. At the same time, the rate was increased from 5½ to 10 percent. Despite the expanded base and higher rate, receipts from this source are estimated to increase only $1 million or 5.4 percent from the fiscal year 1941 to the fiscal year 1942 because of allocations and enforced curtailment of production. Total receipts in the fiscal year 1942 are estimated at $14 millions.

Immediately prior to the Revenue Act of 1940, only fancy wooden matches were taxed, the rate being 5½ cents per 1,000 matches. The Revenue Act of 1941 also taxes all other types of matches at 2 cents per 1,000 matches. The fiscal year 1942 receipts from this source are estimated at $5 millions as compared with $0.1 million in the fiscal year 1941.

Retailers' excise taxes at the rate of 10 percent on the retail price of jewelry, furs, and toilet preparations were introduced by the Revenue Act of 1941. In the 8 months of the fiscal year 1942, in which collections from this group will be made, receipts are estimated to be $73 millions. The tax on jewelry accounts for almost half of this total. Toilet preparations were taxable on a producers' price level at the rate of 11 percent in the period immediately prior to the effective date of the Revenue Act of 1941, October 1, 1941.

Receipts from the miscellaneous tax group under miscellaneous internal revenue are estimated at $417 millions in the fiscal year 1942, compared with actual receipts of $220 millions in the fiscal year 1941. This is an increase of $197 millions or 89.9 percent. Receipts in this group are not affected to any great extent by direct governmental action, the increase in the fiscal year 1942 reflecting the effect of increased consumer income, higher tax rates, and broadened tax bases.

Of the 14 specific sources of tax collections shown in this group, 5 are unaffected by revisions made by the Revenue Act of 1941. They are the tax on transportation of oil by pipe line, the tax on coconut and other vegetable oils processed, special taxes on oleomargarine, adulterated butter, etc., the bituminous coal tax, and the sugar tax. Of these, only the tax on sugar is an important revenue producer. Receipts from this source are estimated at $72 millions in the fiscal year 1942, a decrease, because of disruption of transportation facilities, of $3 millions from actual receipts of $75 millions in the fiscal year 1941.

New tax sources include taxes on local telephone bills, transportation of persons, the use of motor vehicles and boats, coin-operated amusement and gaming devices, and bowling alleys and billiard and pool tables.

The 1941 Revenue Act imposes a tax of 6 percent on the amount paid by subscribers for local telephone service. Taxes for approximately 8 months' liabilities are expected to amount to $36 millions in the fiscal year 1942. A tax of 5 percent is imposed on the amount paid for transportation of persons. The tax does not apply to amounts of less than 36 cents, to commutation or season tickets covering single trips of less than 30 miles, or to commutation tickets of 1 month or less. Exemption from the transportation tax applies to the military personnel of the United States when traveling under special tariffs extended by transportation companies to members of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard when on official leave, furlough, or pass. Due to administrative procedure, only 5 months' collections are expected in the fiscal year 1942. Receipts in that year are estimated at $21 millions. The same act imposes effective February 1, 1942, a tax of $5 per year on the use of each motor vehicle and taxes at rates graduated by length from $5 to $200 per year on the use of boats. Five-twelfths of the full rate is estimated to account for collections of $70 millions in the fiscal year 1942. New taxes are imposed on the use of coin-operated amusement or gaming devices. For each such machine of the so-called "pinball" type, the rate is $10 per year. If it is of the "slot-machine" type, the rate is $50 per year. Only three-fourths of the full year liability is applicable in the fiscal year 1942. Receipts in that year are estimated at $4 millions. The tax of $10 per year on each bowling alley or billiard or pool table is expected to yield $1 million in the partial period covered in the fiscal year 1942.

The tax on telephone, telegraph, radio, and cable facilities, leased wires, etc., was revised both as to base and tax rate by the Revenue Act of 1941. The tax on telephone messages or conversations was extended to include messages for which the charge is more than 24 cents. Previously all charges of less than 50 cents were exempt from the tax. In addition, the rate was changed to 5 cents for each 50 cents or fraction thereof of the amount paid. Previously the maximum tax was 20 cents. Prior to the Revenue Act of 1941 telegraph dispatches and messages were taxed at 5 percent of the amount charged and on cable and radio dispatches the tax was 10 cents per message. This was revised to make all telegraph, cable, or radio dispatches or messages subject to a tax of 10 percent of the amount of the charge. The 5-percent rate on amounts paid for leased wires and on talking circuit special services was increased to 10 percent and the coverage of the tax was extended to include teletypewriter services. A tax of 5 percent is levied on payments made for certain other wire and equipment services previously exempt from tax. Receipts from these sources are estimated at $44 millions in the fiscal year 1942 and represent an increase of $17 millions or 62.5 percent as compared with actual receipts of $27 millions in the fiscal year 1941. Approximately 8 months' collections at the new rates are expected in the fiscal year 1942.

The 1940 act exemptions from the admissions tax, applying both to price of admission and types of entertainment, were eliminated by the Revenue Act of 1941. Previously, admissions of 20 cents or less were not subject to tax and, regardless of price of admission, exemptions applied to certain religious, educational, and charitable entertainments. Except for the exemption of admissions of less than 10 cents paid by children under 12 years of age, such types of exemptions were eliminated by the Revenue Act of 1941. Persons admitted free or at reduced rates are subject to tax at the rate applicable to persons charged the regular admission cost. Under the Revenue Act of 1940, this did not apply to bona fide employees, municipal officers on official business, or children under 12 years of age. The Revenue Act of 1941 extended this provision also to limit to a fractional part of the price actually paid for admission the tax paid by members of the military or naval forces of the United States when in uniform or members of the Civilian Conservation Corps when in uniform. The rate of 1 cent per 10 cents of the admission charge was unchanged. The receipts from the admissions tax are also affected by the elimination of certain exemptions from the tax on cabarets and roof gardens. The rate of tax was changed from 2 cents for each 10 cents on the taxable portion under the Revenue Act of 1940 to a flat 5 percent of all amounts paid. Receipts from the admissions tax are estimated at $123 millions in the fiscal year 1942. This is an increase of $52 millions or 72.8 percent over actual receipts in the fiscal year 1941. About 8 months' collections at the new rates are estimated for the fiscal year 1942.

The revenue from the tax on club dues and initiation fees was increased by the reduction of the $25 exemption on dues or membership fees to $10. The tax on initiation fees now applies if the dues or membership fees are in excess of $10, whereas the tax did not previously apply if the membership fees were less than $25. The term "dues" was broadened to include any assessment or charge made for social or recreational privileges for any period of more than 6 days. Receipts from the tax on club dues and initiation fees are estimated at $10 millions for the fiscal year 1942. This is an increase of $3 millions or 50.4 percent over actual receipts of the fiscal year 1941.

The only change made in the tax on leases of safe-deposit boxes was to increase the rate from 11 percent to 20 percent. The fiscal year 1942 receipts, which include about 8 months' collections at this increased rate, are estimated at $4 millions. This is an increase of 67.0 percent over actual receipts of $2 millions in the fiscal year 1941.

Changes in estimated collections from principal sources of miscellaneous internal revenue in the fiscal year 1942 as compared with actual collections in the fiscal year 1941 are summarized in the following table:

Collections of miscellaneous internal revenue by principal sources

[In millions of dollars]

| Source | Collection basis | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| | Estimated, 1942 | Actual, 1941 | Increase, 1942 over 1941 |
| Capital-stock tax | 232.0 | 166.7 | 65.3 |

| Gift tax | 150.0 | 51.9 | 98.1 |
| Liquor taxes | 1,095.0 | 818.5 | 276.5 |
| Tobacco taxes | 772.1 | 693.2 | 79.0 |
| Stamp taxes | 42.9 | 39.1 | 3.9 |
| Manufacturers' excise taxes | 720.8 | 610.6 | 110.2 |
| Retailers' excise taxes | 73.2 | | 73.2 |
| Miscellaneous taxes | 416.9 | 219.5 | 197.4 |
| Total, miscellaneous internal revenue | 3,863.0 | 2,954.6 | 908.4 |

Employment taxes.—Total employment taxes are estimated at $1,189 millions, an increase of $264 millions or 28.5 percent over actual receipts of $925 millions in the fiscal year 1941.

There has been no change in the rates or coverage of these taxes since the Social Security Act amendments of 1939, approved August 10, 1939. These amendments are fully reflected in the receipts both of the fiscal year 1941 and the fiscal year 1942. Therefore the estimated increase of receipts results entirely from a higher level of pay rolls.

Receipts under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act are estimated at $900 millions as compared with $691 millions in the fiscal year 1941, an increase of $210 millions, or 30.4 percent.

Receipts under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act are estimated at $118 millions as compared with actual receipts of $98 millions in the fiscal year 1941. The increase of $20 millions or 20.4 percent is less than the percentage increase under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act principally because of a difference in the months in which the respective tax liabilities were accrued. Receipts measured by compensation taxable under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act in any calendar year are received throughout the subsequent calendar year, whereas the lag in the time of collecting the liabilities accruing under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act is only three months.

Receipts under the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 are estimated at $171 millions as compared with actual receipts in the fiscal year 1941 of $137 millions, an increase of $34 millions or 24.7 percent. The increase is partly the result of an increase in work hours expected to result from the increase of industrial activity, and is partly the result of two wage-rate increases for railway labor approved by the President's Emergency Board, appointed September 10, 1941, under section 10 of the Railway Labor Act. The first increase, effective September 1, 1941, is in accordance with the original recommendation of the same board, and the second increase, effective December 1, 1941, is somewhat greater. Average railway wage rates, except for such negotiated changes, are relatively stable, so that ordinarily the fluctuation of receipts under the Carriers Taxing Act is less than under either the Federal Unemployment Tax Act or the Federal Insurance Contributions Act.

Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act.—Receipts under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act are estimated at $9 millions, an increase of $2 millions over the fiscal year 1941 actual receipts of $7 millions.

Customs.—Customs receipts, including any import tax "levied, assessed, collected, and paid in the same manner as a duty imposed by the Tariff Act of 1930 and * * * treated as a duty" are estimated at $368 millions, a decline of $24 millions from actual receipts of $392 millions in the fiscal year 1941.

Since 1939, customs receipts have depended less upon business conditions and more upon the freedom of sources, the availability of shipping, and the need for materials for defense production. The existence of a state of war between the United States and the Axis Powers will result in the partial closing of some sources previously open and the imposition of losses and further restrictions upon available shipping. Also, the recent trade agreement with Argentina, effective November 15, 1941, while less important than the recent world-wide spread of war, will result in some reduction of customs receipts. Except for these two new factors, an increase of receipts would have been expected.

Miscellaneous revenues and receipts.—Miscellaneous revenues and receipts in the fiscal year 1942 are estimated at $241 millions. This is a decrease of $267 millions or 52.6 percent as compared with actual receipts in the fiscal year 1941 of $508 millions. The receipts in the fiscal year 1941 were unusually large because of large repayments of capital funds by Government corporations.

FISCAL YEAR 1943

Total receipts in general and special accounts in the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $17,852 millions, an increase of $5,036 millions as compared with estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942. Each of the major sources of revenue contributes to this increase although there are certain exceptions, notably the gift tax, where special incentives existing in the previous year no longer prevail; manufacturers' excise taxes, where the transfer from a peacetime to a wartime economy affects certain of the manufacturers' excise-tax bases through allocations and other restrictions; and customs, where the effect of the entrance of the United States into the World War is reflected for the first time in a full year's collections of customs receipts. Of the increase of $5,036 millions in the fiscal year 1943 estimated receipts over those estimated for the fiscal year 1942, $4,169 millions are estimated to come from the income taxes and $550 millions from the employment taxes.

Estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1942 are broadly summarized as follows:

Total receipts by sources of revenue

[In millions of dollars]

| General and special accounts | Estimated, 1943 | Estimated, 1942 |
|---|---|---|
| Income taxes | 11,316.0 | 7,147.0 |
| Miscellaneous internal-revenue taxes | 4,206.5 | 3,863.0 |
| Employment taxes | 1,738.9 | 1,188.7 |
| Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act | 9.5 | 8.5 |
| Customs | 297.0 | 368.0 |
| Miscellaneous revenues and receipts | 284.2 | 240.9 |
| Total | 17,852.1 | 12,816.1 |

Income taxes.—In the fiscal year 1943, the first full year of collections under the Revenue Act of 1941, income-tax receipts are estimated to aggregate $11,316 millions. If realized, this amount will represent a second successive record-breaking year. Available data indicate that each of the important sources of income-tax revenue in the fiscal year 1943 will be considerably in excess of receipts in any previous year, estimated or actual.

The 1943 total exceeds by $4,169 millions or 58.3 percent estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942, which are estimated at $7,147 millions. As is the case in the comparison of receipts in the fiscal years 1942 and 1941, the increase of receipts in the fiscal year 1943 over those of the fiscal year 1942 is due chiefly to a combination of higher income levels and increased tax rates. As collections arising from liabilities of the calendar year 1940 are common to both the fiscal years 1942 and 1941, the increase in income tax receipts in the fiscal year 1942 over those of the fiscal year 1941 was explained by comparison of relative tax rates and income levels in the calendar years 1941 and 1939. The calendar year 1941 receipts are common to both the fiscal years 1943 and 1942. Most of the increase in receipts in the fiscal year 1943 over those of the fiscal year 1942 is due to tax rates and income levels in the calendar year 1942 as compared with those in the calendar year 1940. This is true for the current income taxes—corporation and individual—for the excess-profits tax, and for the declared value excess-profits tax.

Current corporation income tax receipts are estimated at $3,462 millions in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with $2,509 millions in the fiscal year 1942. This is an increase of $953 millions or 38.0 percent. There is no difference of any consequence in the normal tax rates of the 1940 Revenue Acts, applicable to the calendar year 1940 incomes, and in the normal tax rates of the Revenue Act of 1941, in effect in the calendar year 1942. The flat rate of 22.1 percent and the defense-tax rate of 1.9 percent effective in 1940 on corporations with net income in excess of $25,000 were integrated into a single rate of 24 percent in the Revenue Act of 1941. The integration of the normal and defense tax rates for corporations with net incomes of $25,000 or less resulted in small increases in the graduated rates applicable to these corporations.

Under the Revenue Act of 1941, corporations are subject to a surtax of 6 percent on net income of $25,000 or less and 7 percent on the excess over $25,000. Surtax net income differs from normal tax net income by the inclusion of interest on certain Government securities. No such surtax was in effect in the calendar year 1940.

Under the revenue acts of 1940, the normal tax was allowed as a deduction for the excess-profits tax calculation. Under the Revenue Act of 1941, the excess-profits tax is computed first and allowed as a deduction for normal tax and surtax purposes. If there had been no increase in income levels in the calendar year 1942 as compared with the calendar year 1940, the base of the current corporation income tax would be less in 1942 because of the reversal in the precedence of deductions. However, estimated income levels in 1942 as compared with those of 1940 are sufficiently large to more than offset the excess-profits deduction. The increase in the fiscal year 1943 corporation income tax receipts is therefore due to an increase in the tax base in the calendar year 1942 as compared with that of the calendar year 1940 and the introduction of the corporation surtax by the Revenue Act of 1941 effective in the calendar year 1941 and succeeding years.

Because of its nature the excess-profits tax accentuates any change in income levels. The considerable increase in income levels estimated for the calendar year 1942 as compared with the calendar year 1940, the higher rates and augmented tax base of the Revenue Act of 1941 result in an expectation of excess-profits tax receipts increasing 118.1 percent in the fiscal year 1943 over estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942. In absolute amounts, collections are estimated at $2,691 millions in the fiscal year 1943, an increase of $1,457 millions over the fiscal year 1942.

As compared with the law in effect in the calendar year 1940, the Revenue Act of 1941, effective in the calendar year 1942, broadened the excess-profits tax base principally by two changes. Prior to the Revenue Act of 1941 the normal tax was allowed as a deduction in computing excess-profits net income. Under the 1941 act the excess-profits tax is calculated first and allowed as a deduction for normal and surtax computation. The increase in excess-profits tax collections resulting from this reversal in the precedence of deductions, which affects all corporations subject to the excess-profits tax, is offset to some extent by a reduction in the tax base of the normal tax and surtax. The tax base of corporations using the invested-capital method in computing their excess-profits credit was increased by the reduction of the credit on invested capital in excess of $5 millions from 8 percent to 7 percent. In addition to these base broadening changes the yield of the excess-profits tax was enhanced by increasing the graduated rates by 10 percentage points in each tax bracket.

Declared value excess-profits tax collections are estimated at $51 millions in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with estimated receipts of $24 millions in the fiscal year 1942. A considerable portion of this increase is due to the peculiar nature of the declared value excess-profits tax. The calendar year 1940 liabilities of the tax arose from the excess of corporate earnings over 10 percent of an optional capital stock upward revaluation made July 31, 1940, the magnitude of the tax depending on the accuracy with which corporations could estimate earnings for the corporation's fiscal year, which in most cases is the calendar year.

As calendar year 1942 declared value excess-profits tax liabilities are based on a capital stock valuation made October 29, 1941, which valuation must stand for 3 years, corporations had to estimate their net incomes for the entire calendar year 1942. Because of this difference in the length of period estimated, it is believed that corporations were not able to estimate their earnings as accurately so far in advance and the excess profits under the declared value excess-profits tax will be greater in the calendar year 1942 than in the calendar year 1940, particularly because of the substantial increase in incomes estimated for the calendar year 1942 as compared with 1940. In contrast to all other current income taxes, no part of the increase is due to an increase in tax rates.

Receipts from the unjust enrichment tax are estimated at $4 millions, a decrease of $1 million from the $5 millions estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942, reflecting the decrease in the back tax liabilities from this source as outstanding cases are settled.

Current individual income tax receipts are estimated at $4,793 millions. This is an increase of $1,723 millions or 56.1 percent over estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942. This increase is due primarily to the increase in income levels, the increases in tax rates, and the broadening of the income tax base of the calendar year 1942 as compared with the calendar year 1940.

The dependent credit of $400 for the first dependent was eliminated for persons who are made heads of families only because of such dependents. Surtax rates were increased throughout the entire schedule, the greatest increase being made in the low and middle income groups. Not only were the surtax rates increased but the exemption therefrom of the first $4,000 of surtax net income was eliminated. A simplified income-tax form was adopted for persons with gross income of $3,000 or less wholly from certain specified sources, the use of such abbreviated form or the regular income-tax form being optional with the taxpayer. In effect, the normal tax was increased by the defense tax of the Revenue Act of 1940. The defense tax as such was eliminated by the Revenue Act of 1941 and was integrated into the surtax rate structure. The combined effect of reduced personal exemptions, the elimination of exempted surtax net income, and the increase in surtax rates results in increases in tax liabilities of all classes.

Back income taxes, which are relatively stable as they represent delinquent collections of liabilities of many tax years, are estimated to increase to $315 millions from estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1942 of $305 millions.

Miscellaneous internal revenue.—Capital-stock-tax collections in the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $240 millions, an increase of $8 millions or 3.2 percent over estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942. Collections of this tax in the fiscal year 1943 represent liabilities of the year ended June 30, 1942. No new declaration is allowed for this year, the increase in receipts being attributable to the valuation as of June 30, 1941, adjusted to some extent as provided by law.

Estate-tax collections for the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $500 millions and represent an increase of $140 millions or 38.9 percent over estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942. The increase in the fiscal year 1943 is due to a combination of expected higher property values of estates on which the fiscal year 1943 collections are based and to the higher rates of the Revenue Act of 1941 effective September 20, 1941. Because of the 15 months' permissible lag in filing estate-tax returns, the fiscal year 1943 is the first year in which the bulk of collections will be based upon the rates specified by the Revenue Act of 1941.

Gift-tax receipts are estimated at $31 millions, a decrease of $119 millions or 79.5 percent from the estimated receipts of the previous fiscal year reflecting the removal of the special incentives for making gifts which existed during the first half of the fiscal year 1942, although the increased gift-tax rates included in the Revenue Act of 1941 will be applicable to gifts on which the fiscal year 1943 collections will be made.

Total liquor-tax receipts in the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $1,196 millions and represent an increase of $101 millions or 9.2 percent over estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942. The yield of the tax on distilled spirits is expected to increase $106 millions or 16.6 percent to $746 millions in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with the receipts in the fiscal year 1942, reflecting increased consumer income and the full year effect of the $4 tax rate of the Revenue Act of 1941, which was operative for only 9 months in the fiscal year 1942. Receipts from the excise tax on wines, which increased $10 millions or 35.0 percent to $37 millions, reflect the same factors—increased levels of income and higher tax rates. The rectification tax receipts are expected to decrease $3 millions to $14 millions in the fiscal year 1943 as a result of a scarcity of ethyl alcohol for rectification purposes. The floor stocks taxes levied by the Revenue Act of 1941 on liquor were nonrecurring and show a decrease of $28 millions in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with those estimated to be collected in the fiscal year 1942.

Receipts of total tobacco taxes are estimated at $841 millions in the fiscal year 1943 and represent an increase of $69 millions or 9.0 percent over estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942. This increase may be ascribed principally to increased consumer income. The revenue from small cigarettes, which constitutes the bulk of the tobacco-tax receipts, is expected to increase $70 millions in the fiscal year 1943, total receipts being estimated at $763 millions. Despite the increase in consumer income, the tax receipts from tobacco (chewing and smoking) are expected to decrease in the fiscal year 1943 because of an expected transfer of consumer expenditures from chewing and smoking tobacco to cigarettes.

Total stamp-tax receipts are estimated in the fiscal year 1943 at $45 millions, an increase of $2 millions or 4.9 percent over the estimated total in the fiscal year 1942. Minor increases in the tax on issues of securities, bond transfers, and deeds of conveyance, and the tax on stock transfers are responsible for this increase.

There is considerable variation in the receipts from individual sources of manufacturers' excise taxes in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with 1942. The range of the change varies from a decrease of 90.8 percent in collections of the tax on passenger automobiles and motorcycles to an increase of 103.4 percent in the tax on sporting goods. The increase or decrease of other taxes in this group varies the entire length of this range. This variation is caused by the limitation through allocations and controls of the effect of higher consumer income on consumption of taxable products in some cases and the partially offsetting effect of the increased tax rates. The net result of these conflicting forces is an estimated decrease in manufacturers' excise tax receipts from the estimated 1942 level to $637 millions in the fiscal year 1943. This is a drop of $84 millions or 11.6 percent. The gasoline tax receipts are expected to increase in the fiscal year 1943 to $385 millions an increase of 3.5 percent. The tax receipts from lubricating oils are expected to increase in the fiscal year 1943 by $1 million or 2.3 percent.

With the exception of the tax on parts and accessories for automobiles, tax receipts based on civilian sales of the automobile and related industries show the marked effect of military allocations. The tax receipts from passenger automobiles and motorcycles are estimated at $8 millions, a decrease of $78 millions or 90.8 percent from estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942. The tax receipts from automobile trucks, busses, and trailers are affected to a lesser degree by allocations, the decrease in receipts being only $2 millions or 12.0 percent. The tax receipts from tires and inner tubes are expected to decrease to $20 millions, half of the estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942 and 60.0 percent less than actual receipts for the fiscal year 1941. The tax receipts of parts and accessories for automobiles are the only ones of this particular group which increase, the fiscal year 1943 receipts being estimated at $31 millions—$4 millions in excess of estimated receipts for the fiscal year 1942. In evaluating the effect of curtailed production, it should be noted that estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1943 represent a full year's collections under the rates of the Revenue Act of 1941, which are double those previously in effect. The fiscal year 1942 reflects only 8 months of these collections.

Several of the other manufacturers' excise taxes show the effect of curtailment of production for civilian consumption. Estimated receipts of these taxes, other things being equal, should have been significantly larger in 1943 than in 1942, as 1943 reflects collections of 12 months' liabilities, whereas the fiscal year 1942 shows only 8 months' collections at the rates specified by the Revenue Act of 1941. Among these excise taxes are the tax on rubber articles, the receipts from which show a decrease of 27.2 percent; electric, gas, and oil appliances, an increase of only 3.1 percent; radio receiving sets, phonographs, phonograph records, and musical instruments, a decrease of 8.3 percent; refrigerators, refrigerating apparatus, and air conditioners, a decrease of 59.3 percent; business and store machines, a decrease of 13.2 percent. The yield from the tax on firearms, shells, pistols, and revolvers shows no change in the fiscal year 1943; the rate of tax was unaffected by the Revenue Act of 1941. By comparison, taxes which are relatively unaffected by military requirements show very large increases. The tax receipts from electric-light bulbs are estimated to increase $2 millions or 66.7 percent, photographic apparatus $5 millions or 83.6 percent, matches $3 millions or 60.8 percent, luggage $2 millions or 60.7 percent, and sporting goods $6 millions or 103.4 percent.

Total retailers' excise taxes which will be in force for all 12 months of 1943 are estimated to yield $135 millions, an increase of $62 millions or 84.6 percent over estimated receipts in the fiscal year 1942, which represent only 8 months' collections and are estimated to be $73 millions. Each of the three sources, namely, jewelry, cosmetics, and furs, contributes to this increase.

None of the specific sources of miscellaneous tax receipts is expected to be affected to any extent by military requirements in the fiscal year 1943. As a result of increased income levels and the longer effective period of the increased tax rates and augmented tax bases of the Revenue Act of 1941, receipts from this group are estimated at $582 millions. This is an increase of $165 millions over estimated 1942 receipts of $417 millions. The tax on the use of motor vehicles and boats is responsible for the major portion of this increase. In the fiscal year 1943 this use tax will be based on the full 12 months' period, whereas in 1942 the liabilities are based on five-twelfths of the total year. Fiscal year 1943 receipts are estimated at $162 millions as compared with estimated fiscal year 1942 receipts of $70 millions. Significant increases are also expected from the tax on telephone bills, the receipts estimated to increase $20 millions or 56.4 percent, and from the tax on transportation of persons, the receipts estimated to increase $17 millions or 82.7 percent. The increase in the tax receipts from admissions is estimated at $37 millions or 30.2 percent. Total receipts from the admissions tax in the fiscal year are estimated at $160 millions.

Changes in estimated collections from principal sources of miscellaneous internal revenue in the fiscal year 1943 as compared with the estimates for the fiscal year 1942 are summarized in the following table:

Collections of miscellaneous internal revenue by principal sources

[In millions of dollars]

| Miscellaneous taxes | 581.9 | 416.9 | +165.0 |
| Total, miscellaneous internal revenue | 4,206.5 | 3,863.0 | +343.5 |

Employment taxes.—Total employment taxes are estimated at $1,739 millions, an increase of $550 millions or 46.3 percent over estimated receipts of $1,189 millions in the fiscal year 1942. There is no change in the coverage of these taxes, so that the estimated increase results partly from a higher level of pay rolls and partly from increased tax rates as of January 1, 1943, affecting receipts of 3 months' liabilities in the fiscal year 1943 under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act and under the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937.

Receipts under the Federal Insurance Contributions Act are estimated at $1,394 millions, an increase of $494 millions or 54.8 percent over estimated receipts of $900 millions in the fiscal year 1942. The tax rate is to increase from 1 percent to 2 percent on both employer and employee (total from 2 to 4 percent) beginning with taxable compensation of the calendar year 1943. The increased tax rates will affect 3 months of tax liability, January–March 1943 (collections April–June 1943), and the additional receipts in this account are estimated at $295 millions.

Receipts under the Federal Unemployment Tax Act are estimated at $150 millions, an increase of $33 millions or 27.9 percent over estimated receipts of $118 millions in the fiscal year 1942. The tax rate is unchanged at 3 percent of taxable wages with credits to the taxpayer for taxes paid to the States not to exceed 90 percent of the tax, so that the increase of receipts primarily is due to increased pay rolls.

Receipts under the Carriers Taxing Act of 1937 are estimated at $194 millions, an increase of $24 millions or 13.9 percent over estimated receipts of $171 millions in the fiscal year 1942. The increase is the result both of an increase in work hours expected to result from a continued increase of industrial activity and of the increased wage rates for railway labor. For the first time the increased wage rates are effective for the entire year in the fiscal year 1943.

Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act.—Receipts under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act are estimated at $10 millions, an increase of $1 million over estimated receipts of $9 millions in the fiscal year 1942.

Customs.—Customs receipts are expected further to decline to $297 millions from estimated receipts of $368 millions in the fiscal year 1942. The additional closure of sources and restrictions upon shipping caused by the recent spread of the war will lower customs receipts throughout the fiscal year 1943 whereas only a part of the fiscal year 1942 is affected.

Miscellaneous revenues and receipts.—Miscellaneous revenues and receipts in the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $284 millions and represent an increase of $43 millions or 18.0 percent over estimated receipts of the fiscal year 1942.

DETAILED COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF APPROPRIATIONS AND EXPENDITURES

GENERAL AND SPECIAL ACCOUNTS

Narrative Synopsis of Appropriation Estimates

Digitized for FRASER

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

EXPLANATORY NOTE TO STATEMENT NO. 2

The following statement presents in three parallel columns the appropriation estimates for the fiscal year 1943 and the actual appropriations for 1942 and 1941. Adjacent to these columns are three additional columns showing the estimated expenditures for 1943 and 1942 and the actual expenditures for 1941. To avoid confusion in comparing the figures in these six columns the basis upon which the figures are presented should be explained.

With respect to the first-mentioned three columns of figures, the 1941 and 1942 columns carry the appropriations which have already been made by Congress for the various departments, bureaus, establishments, and agencies of the Government for these fiscal years. The 1943 column presents the amounts for these organization units which the President is recommending to the Congress for appropriation for the fiscal year 1943.

The appropriations, it will be observed, are of two general types—annual and permanent. The annual appropriations, ordinarily found in the departmental supply bills, are voted each year by the Congress. They are usually definite and specific as to amounts. They may be obligated only during the year to which they relate, but remain available for payment of unliquidated obligations for 2 years thereafter before any unused balance is covered into the surplus fund of the Treasury. The permanent appropriations are automatically renewed each year over a period of time by virtue of permanent legislation, without annual action by the Congress. Such appropriations may be either specific or indefinite as to amounts. An example of the latter is the indefinite appropriation to cover the interest on the public debt. This type of appropriation, while sometimes difficult to ascertain as to amount, does not preclude an estimated figure for use in the Budget. The Congress makes some appropriations available until expended, or until the object for which they are made is accomplished. These appropriations are without a definite time limit and may, therefore, be called "no-year" appropriations. They are generally for the construction of public works projects.

Turning to the three columns under the caption "Expenditures," the column for 1941 shows the actual expenditure figures for that fiscal year. These figures, usually on a checks-issued basis, are adjusted at appropriate totals to the cash (checks-paid) basis, as shown on the daily Treasury statement. The totals, therefore, are on an actual cash basis. The columns for 1942 and 1943 show the estimated expenditures for these fiscal years on a cash basis. The figures in these three columns are those carried in totals to the General Budget Summary and supporting schedules. Hence, the Budget is, in effect, on a cash basis with respect to expenditures, as well as with respect to receipts.

NARRATIVE SYNOPSIS OF APPROPRIATION ESTIMATES

The synopsis of appropriation estimates has been prepared for the purpose of setting forth in summary the 1943 appropriation estimates and the comparison of such estimates with the appropriations for the fiscal year 1942 together with brief explanations of the major items of increase or decrease. More detailed information concerning each estimate will be found in the section of this Budget entitled "Estimates of Appropriations in Detail."

WITHIN-GRADE PROMOTIONS

Prior to August 1, 1941, within-grade promotions for persons under the Classification Act were not based upon any uniform policy or in accordance with any standard of procedure of equity and justice as between employees in the same agency or as between employees in different agencies. This situation was corrected by Public Law 200, approved August 1, 1941, which established an orderly and systematic method of within-grade promotions for personnel falling within the purview of the Classification Act. Its scope was further extended by Executive Order No. 8842, dated August 1, 1941, to employees whose salaries are classified under the schedules prescribed by Executive Order No. 6746 of June 21, 1934.

It is estimated that during the fiscal year 1942 a total of 223,332 employees will receive within-grade advancements. Of this number, it is estimated that 59,234 are in the District of Columbia and 164,098 are in the field. It is also estimated that 65 percent of those receiving increases under the new law will be in salary grades of $2,000 or less. Provision is made in the Budget estimates for 1943 for funds required in that fiscal year to care for promotions made during the fiscal year 1942, as well as additional promotions that under the law will accrue during the fiscal year 1943. The amounts required will be found under the detailed estimates of appropriation

LEGISLATIVE ESTABLISHMENT

The estimates of appropriations for the legislative establishment for the fiscal year 1943 total $27,776,047, a net increase of $2,434,024 over the appropriations for the fiscal year 1942.

Senate

The estimate of $4,361,404 for the United States Senate shows a net decrease of $30,500, composed of $30,000 in nonrecurring items and $500 for committee employees.

House of Representatives

For the House of Representatives the estimate is $9,256,618, a net decrease of $168,700 as compared with appropriations for the fiscal year 1942. Nonrecurring items include $50,000 for payments to dependents of deceased Congressmen. The reduction of $129,600 for contingent expenses is offset by an increase of $10,900 for salaries of officers and employees.

Legislative miscellaneous

The miscellaneous legislative group, for which the estimate is $262,940, includes the Capitol Police force, the Joint Committee on Printing, the Office of Legislative Counsel, and the cost of preparing appropriation statements. For the fiscal year 1942 there is included in the group the Committee to Investigate Federal Expenditures, for which $10,000 was appropriated. This nonrecurring item is offset by an increase of $1,450 for the Office of Legislative Counsel, making a net decrease of $8,550 from the 1942 appropriation.

Architect of the Capitol

The estimates for the Architect of the Capitol, $2,535,862, are $106,704 in excess of the appropriations for the fiscal year 1942. These increases include $3,787 for salaries for the Architect's office, and repairs, maintenance, and improvements as follows: Legislative garage, $180; Capitol power plant, $222,325; Library of Congress, $131,821. These increases were partially offset by the following decreases in maintenance costs: Capitol Building and grounds, $47,270; Senate Office Building, $68,699; House Office Building, $132,440; and Senate folding room, $3,000.

Botanic Garden

JUDICIAL ESTABLISHMENT

The estimates for the judicial establishment for the fiscal year 1943, exclusive of trust accounts, amount to $12,748,287, an increase of $379,632 over 1942 appropriations. This increase is to provide for anticipated expansion in the business of the United States courts, extension of the Federal probation system, within-grade promotions authorized by Public Law 200, and reclassification of certain positions.

The estimates for the Supreme Court of the United States involve an increase of $12,153 for salaries of employees of the Court, printing and binding, and care of the Supreme Court Building and grounds, and a decrease of $50,000 for a nonrecurring item for preparation of rules for criminal proceedings, resulting in a net decrease of $37,847.

For the remainder of the judicial establishment, exclusive of the Administrative Office of the United States Courts, there is a net increase of $385,761, involving increases of $10,600 for repairs and improvements to the District Court Building for the District of Columbia, $27,082 for salaries and expenses of the Court of Claims,

The estimates for the Administrative Office of the United States Courts provide for increases of $28,578 for salaries and $3,140 for contingent expenses, a total increase of $31,718.

The estimates for the judicial establishment have been included in the Budget as submitted to the Bureau of the Budget without revision, pursuant to section 201 (a) of the Budget and Accounting Act and the act of August 7, 1939, providing for the administration of the United States courts.

Executive Office of the President

The White House

For the White House office, there is a net decrease of $3,750 in 1943. This consists of an increase of $1,350 for personal services, offset by a decrease of $5,100 in the appropriation for the Executive Mansion and grounds.

Bureau of the Budget

For regular activities of the Bureau of the Budget, the estimates show an increase of $387,000 above the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942. This increase is requested to strengthen still further the staff of the Bureau engaged in the consideration of estimates, in problems of administrative management, in the study of fiscal policies and programs, and in the coordination of statistical activities. For national defense activities there is an increase of $280,000 above the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942, to carry on the inspection of defense construction projects and to conduct many special studies dealing with the organization and operation of defense agencies.

National Resources Planning Board

For regular activities of the National Resources Planning Board the estimate of $708,845 is $7,455 greater than the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942, the increase representing within-grade promotions. For the planning activities of the Board in the interest of national defense the estimates show an increase of $300,705 above the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942. This will provide personnel and other expenses for continuance of studies begun during the fiscal years 1941 and 1942, for additional studies undertaken at the request of the President, and for preparation of advance plans for defense and post-defense situations, in cooperation with Federal agencies and with State, regional, and local planning agencies.

Office for Emergency Management

Appropriations of $121,513,012 for the fiscal year 1942 were made for the various agencies within the framework of the Office for Emergency Management.

The funds provided have been made available in three appropriation acts on the basis of need as the defense program assumed broader horizons. The Second Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1941, provided $36,500,000; an additional $10,000,000 was provided by the Second Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942; and $75,013,012 was made available by the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942.

In addition to the cash appropriations above, an amount of $3,000,000 was provided by the Second Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1941, for contract authorization for the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs.

The existing state of war will result in considerable expansion of the present functions of the Office for Emergency Management, which at this time cannot be projected into the fiscal year 1943. An estimate of the 1943 requirements will be transmitted to Congress before the close of the current fiscal year.

Office of Government Reports

For regular activities of the Office of Government Reports the estimates show an increase of $406,270 above the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942, to enable the Office of Government Reports to maintain offices in 48 States instead of the present 32 States and to provide adequate staff in Washington and the field to handle the activities related to the national defense.

Emergency funds appropriated to the President

The estimates submitted for the fiscal year 1943 include $25,000,000 to liquidate contract authorizations under the emergency funds granted to the President in the Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1942, and provisions that the unobligated portion of said contract authorization, together with any unobligated balance of the appropriation of $100,000,000 under this head for the fiscal year 1942, be continued available until June 30, 1943. It is to be noted that the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, approved December 17, 1941, contained an additional appropriation of $100,000,000 under this head for 1942, to remain available until June 30, 1943.

Independent Establishments

American Battle Monuments Commission

The estimate of $50,000 for the American Battle Monuments Commission is $84,250 less than the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942. The reduction is due to the temporary discontinuance of the service in Europe.

Board of Tax Appeals

The appropriation estimates of the Board of Tax Appeals for 1943 total $582,037, which is an increase of $23,037 over 1942. This increase includes $16,500 for personal services, $3,500 for travel expenses, supplies, tax-reporting services, and contract stenographic services, and $3,637 for within-grade promotions.

Board of Investigation and Research—Transportation

No estimate is provided for the Board in the Budget for 1943.

An appropriation of $100,000 was made in the First Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, to inaugurate the work of the Board during the fiscal year 1942. Subsequently, an additional $246,500 was appropriated in the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, for the completion of certain directive studies, to remain available during the fiscal year 1943 through September 18, 1942, when the Board's tenure will have expired unless extended by Presidential proclamation.

Canal Zone Biological Area

The act of July 2, 1940 (54 Stat. 724), established the Canal Zone biological area on Barro Colorado Island in Gatun Lake, C. Z., for preservation and equipment of the area for scientific observations and investigations, and authorized an annual appropriation of not to exceed $10,000 as the Federal share in the expenses of the project. The estimate of $10,000 for the fiscal year 1943 is for the purpose of carrying out the intent of the authorization act.

Civil Service Commission

The estimates of $120,346,925 for the Commission are $5,187,903 more than the appropriations made for the fiscal year 1942. Of this increase $4,346,438 is chargeable to the civil-service retirement and disability fund in accordance with the recommendations contained in the twentieth annual report of the Board of Actuaries, which report was transmitted to the Congress on June 16, 1941. Other increases are $435,017 for salaries and expenses and $13,100 for printing and binding, to provide on a full-year basis for the expansion of activities because of the increased work devolving on the Commission under the Ramspeck Act of November 26, 1940, and the Executive Order, No. 8743, of April 23, 1941, which created the Board of Legal Examiners in the Commission to provide for the development of a merit system for the recruitment, selection, appointment, promotion, and transfer of attorneys in the classified civil service; $75,000 for activities in connection with the prevention of pernicious political activities; and $1,099,908 in the appropriation for national-defense activities because of the increasing placements anticipated in the defense agencies of the Federal Government during 1943.

The above increases are offset by a decrease of $781,560, due to the nonrecurring 1942 appropriation for extension of the civil service under title I of the Ramspeck Act. The 1942 appropriation for this purpose is available through the fiscal year 1943.

Council of National Defense

In the Budget for the fiscal year 1942, an estimate of $17,850,000 was included for the Council of National Defense. Because of the rapid changes in the defense program, funds for the fiscal year 1942 were provided to the Office for Emergency Management, instead of the Council of National Defense, in the Second Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1941, and subsequent appropriation acts. For details of funds available to the Council of National Defense in the fiscal year 1941, see Office for Emergency Management.

Employees' Compensation Commission

The estimates for the Employees' Compensation Commission for the fiscal year 1943 aggregate $10,989,705, exclusive of appropriations from special funds and trust accounts, an increase of $1,982,152 over the 1942 appropriations for the same purposes. Included in the increase is $228,652 additional for salaries and expenses of the Commission and $1,250,000 additional for the regular employees' compensation payments and benefits. Both of these unusual increases are necessary because of the greatly expanded enrollment of Federal employees under the national defense program. There is also an increase of $3,500 for printing and binding.

The appropriation for compensation benefits and administrative expenses pertaining thereto, under the title "Employees' compensation fund, emergency relief," shows an increase of $500,000, in addition to which the unexpended balance of previous appropriations estimated at $1,592,090 is continued available for the fiscal year 1943.

Under the special fund appropriations for the employees' compensation fund, civil works, the appropriation provided, $137,000, is $38,000 less than the amount appropriated for 1942.

The 1943 estimate of $535,000 for the employees' compensation fund, emergency conservation work, is $140,000 less than provided for 1942.

There is a small increase of $500 indicated in the trust account for relief and rehabilitation, longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act.

Federal Communications Commission

The estimates of $4,991,219 for the Commission are $77,510 below the amounts appropriated for the fiscal year 1942. The decrease consists of a reduction of $15,229 in the appropriation for salaries and expenses for the regular work of the Commission under the Communications Act of 1934, $61,381 in the national defense activities due to nonrecurring items of expenditure, and $900 for printing and binding.

Federal Power Commission

The total recommended for the Federal Power Commission is $3,067,520, an increase of $285,520 over the amount appropriated for the fiscal year 1942. The increase in the appropriation for salaries and expenses is occasioned by an allowance of $24,600 to cover additional pay-roll commitments through the reclassification of a number of employees of the Commission. The remainder of the increase is to permit compliance with the act authorizing within-grade promotions. The small increase in the item for flood-control surveys is solely for within-grade promotions.

For national defense activities of the Commission $519,255 is recommended, an increase of $234,255 over the 1942 appropriation. This increase is to permit employment on a full-year basis of personnel provided for through a supplemental appropriation of $135,000 for the fiscal year 1942 on a part-time basis.

Federal Trade Commission

The estimates for the Commission total $2,302,474 which is a decrease of $57,526 below the amounts appropriated for the fiscal year 1942. Decreases of $75,000 in the salaries and expenses appropriation because of the completion of an investigation by the Commission on production cost accounting methods and $9,750 in the printing and binding appropriation, are offset by an increase in the amount of $27,224 for administrative within-grade promotions.

Foreign Service Pay Adjustment

The estimate for the fiscal year 1943 of $1,350,000 is an increase of $375,000 over the appropriation for the fiscal year 1942. This is brought about by reason of increases in the assignment of personnel to foreign countries whose currency has appreciated in relation to the American dollar.

General Accounting Office

The total of the annual estimates for the General Accounting Office for 1943 is $16,936,490, a net increase of $4,586,863. Increases totaling $5,917,371 are required

Interstate Commerce Commission

The estimates for the Commission, which amount to $9,557,809, exclusive of trust accounts, provide for an increase of $235,059 over the appropriations for the fiscal year 1942. Increases provided are: $5,900 to provide for additional inspectors for signal safety systems; $2,500 for the Bureau of Valuation for the rental of field office space occasioned by giving up office space to other offices of the Federal Government; $128,165 for the Commission's emergency work in preventing car shortages in connection with national defense exigencies, the latter fund to become immediately available; and $130,294 for administrative within-grade promotions which is properly allocated to the various bureaus of the Commission. These increases are offset by decreases of $800 in printing and binding and $31,000 under the Bureau of Motor Carriers, the latter being occasioned by nonrecurring items of expenditure.

Maritime Labor Board

No estimate is submitted for 1943 for the Maritime Labor Board. The Board was established for a period of 3 years expiring June 22, 1941. The act of June 23, 1941, extended the Board for 1 year, and $30,000 was appropriated by the First Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, "to be used for winding up and terminating the affairs of the Board."

National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics

The estimate for the general administrative expenses of the Committee, amounting to $9,018,328, represents an increase of $2,797,863 over the appropriations for 1942. This will permit the necessary testing of the new military aircraft in accordance with the planned schedules of the military services.

National Archives

Estimates totaling $1,146,725, a net increase of $68,503 over the appropriations for the current fiscal year, are submitted. Additional personnel, supplies, and equipment to enable the agency to care for increased accessions and provide adequate service, particularly with reference to World War period material in great demand by defense agencies, are included in the gross increases of $95,838 which are offset by $27,335 in nonrecurring items.

These loan contracts cover 9 projects, 7 for Negro, and 2 for white occupancy, and will provide in all more than 2,700 new dwelling units.

The Authority will continue its management of completed projects, receipts from which in 1943 are expected to total some $700,000. The provisions of title I, and the provisions of title II relating to the insurance of mortgages on existing structures which would have expired on June 30, 1941, were extended to June 30, 1943, and June 30, 1944, respectively.

acquired through foreclosure. During the fiscal year 1941 there was a substantial reduction in the number of properties on hand, together with a downward trend in the number of foreclosures and an improvement in the condition of outstanding accounts. This trend is continuing in the current fiscal year and is expected to continue through 1943.

Reconstruction Finance Corporation

The estimate of $10,335,292 for the administrative expenses of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and The RFC Mortgage Company for the fiscal year 1943 is $444,612 in excess of that made available in 1942.

The estimate of $1,047,800 for printing and binding is for all requirements of the constituent parts of the Agency for this purpose except the Civilian Conservation Corps, the eleemosynary institutions, and for defense purposes. It consists of $1,000,000 appropriated to this appropriation title in 1942, plus $71,750 appropriated to organizations in the Agency in 1942 and transferred to this appropriation in 1943, minus a net decrease of $23,950. This net decrease comprises increases of $2,320 for the Office of the Administrator, of $8,500 for the Office of Education, of $5,500 for the Food and Drug Administration, of $42,903 for the Public Health Service, and $990 for St. Elizabeths Hospital; and a decrease of $84,163 for the Social Security Board.

For the Columbia Institution for the Deaf the estimate of $168,000 represents an increase of $26,000 to provide for: One new instructor at $2,000, salary increases amounting to $2,100, the purchase of $4,000 worth of new textbooks, new boilers at $14,000, and $3,900 required owing to increased prices of food and supplies.

The estimate of $2,482,980 for the Food and Drug Administration represents an increase of $41,065 for salary increases under the Ramspeck Act.

The estimates for Freedmen's Hospital amount to $754,310, an increase of $47,305 over the 1942 appropriations. This increased amount is necessary to permit the full utilization of the bed capacity of this institution to meet growing needs. For "Salaries," the increase of $46,195 will provide for the full year staffing of all units of the hospital together with certain adjustments in the salaries of existing personnel, including promotions. For "Miscellaneous expenses," a net increase of only $1,110 over the 1942 appropriation is made possible by the curtailment of expenditures in other categories to offset necessary increases to meet rising costs of commodities.

The estimate of $764,000 for Howard University shows a decrease of $21,600 because of nonrecurring items.

The estimate of $170,530,300 for the Office of Education represents an increase of $42,723,585 of which $42,318,000 is for defense training and $405,584 is for regular activities including grants to the States. The net increase for regular activities is composed of increases of $16,762 for salaries for the Office of Education, $770 for general expenses, $27,560 for the creation of a Forum Advisory Service, $300,000 for further development of vocational education, $150,000 for grants to States for cooperative rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry, a decrease of $600 for cooperative vocational rehabilitation, District of Columbia, and apparent decreases of $60,748 for salaries and expenses, vocational education, and $18,160 for salaries and expenses, vocational rehabilitation. These latter two decreases are made up of decreases amounting to $65,100 and $19,050, respectively, for traveling expenses and for printing and binding appropriated for in 1942 in these appropriations but now provided for in central appropriations, and of increases for salary adjustments amounting to $4,352 and $890, respectively. A further decrease of $10,000 results from expiration of the appropriation for study of higher education of Negroes.

The $42,318,000 net increase for defense training comprises increases of $41,600,000 for vocational courses of less than college grade, $12,500,000 for short courses of college grade, and $218,000 for salaries and expenses in connection with this work, offset by decreases of $2,000,000 for the acquisition of equipment and of $10,000,000 for vocational courses for young people employed on regular work projects of the National Youth Administration.

The estimate of $41,147,220 for the Public Health Service represents a net increase of $3,595,762 over the total of the amounts appropriated for 1942. Defense activities account for $1,289,000 of the increase and regular activities for $2,306,762.

Estimates of appropriations for the Public Health Service for 1943 have been placed, so far as basic law will permit, on a functional basis. In doing this the following appropriation titles have been abandoned: "Pay of acting assistant surgeons," "Pay of other employees," "Control of biologic products," and "Maintenance, National Institute of Health." A new appropriation, "Salaries and expenses, National Institute of Health," has been introduced. Numerous transfers have been made among the remaining and new appropriations. Comments following regarding changes between the 1942 and 1943 amounts are on the basis of adjusted 1942 figures.

The net increase for regular activities is made up of the following increases: $88,331 for salaries, Office of the Surgeon General; $49,800 for miscellaneous expenses; $90,890 for pay, etc., commissioned officers, including $49,379 for within-grade promotions, $19,405 for waiting orders pay, $9,474 for 3 commissioned officers, State Relations Division, and $12,632 for 4 assistant dental surgeons for service to increased Coast Guard personnel; $585,761 for pay of personnel and maintenance of hospitals; $18,384 for foreign quarantine service; $1,929,743 for expenses, Division of Venereal Diseases; and $231,020 for salaries and expenses, National Institute of Health. This total increase is partially offset by the following decreases: $181,799 for preventing the spread of epidemic diseases; $1,000 for interstate quarantine service; $227,286 for expenses, Division of Mental Hygiene, made possible by the decline in illegal narcotic drug traffic; $246,606 for disease and sanitation investigations; and $30,476 for maintenance, National Cancer Institute.

The increase for defense activity comprises $489,000 for emergency health and sanitation activities and $800,000 for nurse training.

The estimate of $1,418,300 for St. Elizabeths Hospital represents an increase of $135,695 over the appropriations for 1942. The increase is to provide for additional patient load.

The estimates for the Social Security Board for 1943 amount to $529,207,270, a net increase of $83,439,825 over the appropriation for 1942. Regular activities account for $82,484,600 of this increase, and defense activities for $955,225. Grants to States account for $81,710,000 of the increase for regular activities, leaving $774,600 for salaries and expenses.

The net increase for regular activities is made up of the following increases: $650,000 for salaries for the Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors' Insurance; an apparent increase of $163,560 for salaries, Bureau of Public Assistance, which after adjustment for transfers and for promotion allowances results in a net increase of $9,087; $59,000,000 for grants to the States for old-age assistance; $12,000,000 for grants to the States for aid to dependent children; $11,000,000 for grants to the States for unemployment compensation administration; $16,740 for salaries, Bureau of Employment Security; and $63,500 for miscellaneous expenses. Offsetting these increases are an apparent decrease of $119,200 for salaries, offices of the Board, which after adjustment for transfers resolves to a net increase of $51,893; and a decrease of $290,000 for grants to the States for aid to the blind.

The increase for defense activities consists of one item, $955,225 for selecting, testing, and placement, defense workers.

Trust accounts.—The 1943 estimates totaling $354,800 represent a net decrease of $20,025,781 from 1942. Elimination of trust accounts for the Civilian Conservation Corps accounts for a decrease of $20,030,000. Decreases of $13,781 are estimated in Public Health Service trust accounts, and $14,851 in the National Institute of Health gift fund, partially offset by an increase of $1,070 in personal funds and earnings of inmates of narcotic farms. A net increase of $18,000 is estimated for St. Elizabeths Hospital trust accounts, consisting of an increase of $23,000 in personal funds of patients, offset by a decrease of $5,000 in pension money.

FEDERAL WORKS AGENCY

Exclusive of items in the General Public Works Program, the 1943 estimates for the Federal Works Agency provide for the Office of the Administrator $350,000, an increase of $38,000 over the amount appropriated in 1942. This increase provides for within-grade promotions, under the provisions of Public Law 200 and Executive Order No. 8842, $2,000; for transfers from constituent agencies, $10,000; for public works planning, $11,000; and to strengthen the organization and provide necessary additional funds for other obligations in 1943, approximately $15,000.

For the Public Buildings Administration, $25,504,410 is recommended, a net increase of $2,301,405 over 1942 appropriations. Within-grade promotions under the provisions of Public Law 200 and Executive Order No. 8842 will require $333,750 of the proposed increase. An increase of $352,920 in general administrative expenses has been recommended to provide an organization that can adequately perform the required inspection of public buildings during a period when new construction and major repairs have been reduced to a minimum. An increase of $1,719,100 is recommended for rent, operation, maintenance, repair, and protection of rented or Federal-owned space inside the District of Columbia, and $84,635 for operation, protection, and maintenance of space outside the District of Columbia. There is an additional increase of $218,000 recommended to meet additional labor costs and $50,000 for decoration of buildings outside the District of Columbia, offset by a decrease of $457,000 for major repairs.

An amount of $75,000 is recommended for administrative expenses of the Public Works Administration from funds available to the Administration. This is a decrease of $545,000 under 1942. The work of this agency should be completed by the end of the fiscal year 1943.

For the United States Housing Authority $4,568,430 is provided from funds of the Authority for administrative expenses. This is an increase of $198,430 over 1942. Of this increase $71,430 will be required for within-grade promotions and $127,000 is for additional administrative expenses due to an increased program. For annual contributions $17,000,000 is provided from Treasury funds. It is estimated that a balance of $2,000,000 of the 1942 appropriation will be available for annual contribution payments expected to reach $19,000,000 in 1943.

No defense estimate for the Public Roads Administration was provided in 1943. In 1942 $5,000,000 was appropriated for flight strips and $74,600,000 for access roads. In addition, a contract authorization of $50,000,000 was granted for access roads for which no 1943 estimate is submitted.

VETERANS' ADMINISTRATION

The estimates for the Veterans' Administration, exclusive of trust funds and construction projects included in the General Public Works Program, amount to $596,- 638,088, a decrease of $9,197,199 from appropriations for the fiscal year 1942.

An amount of $110,909,088, representing an increase of $5,540,051 over appropriations for the fiscal year 1942, has been included under "Salaries and expenses" to provide for all expenses of administering and operating the central office in Washington, regional offices, hospital and domiciliary facilities, and other field activities of the Veterans' Administration. This increase has been found necessary to care for an increased number of beneficiaries in veterans' facilities, to meet the rising cost of commodities, to permit adjustments in salaries and within-grade promotions of employees, and to provide for additional insurance activities in connection with the expansion of the armed forces.

For "Printing and binding," "Army and Navy pensions," and "Military and naval insurance" decreases from the 1942 appropriations in the amount of $6,250, $8,597,000, and $3,419,000, respectively, are reflected in these estimates. No amounts are included for "Adjusted-service and dependent pay" and "Adjusted-service certificate appropriated fund," as funds now available for these purposes will be sufficient to meet the obligations arising in the fiscal year 1943. This represents further decreases from appropriations for 1942 amounting to $10,485,000. An increase of $7,770,000 for "National Service Life Insurance" is necessary to meet the additional obligations arising from the extra hazards of military or naval service.

Under trust funds, there is an increase of $14,560,000, due to increased activities under the "National Service Life Insurance trust fund." The obligations anticipated under other trust accounts reflect decreases amounting to $539,000.

General Public Works Program

The estimates for the General Public Works Program for 1943 total $511,646,875, a decrease of $204,742,565 from 1942 appropriations. The estimate for contract authorizations in 1943 is $671,000, a decrease of $26,786,500 from the 1942 authorizations. While the General Public Works Program excludes items directly connected with the military part of the national defense program, the great preponderance of the items included are recommended as essential to the national defense program, such as power facilities and defense connected highways. Estimates for military connected items of the national defense program such as construction of naval vessels, military posts, etc., are provided elsewhere in the Budget.

National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Public Works

The estimate totaling $6,000,000 recommended for 1943 includes $3,000,000 for continuing the construction of the Ames Aeronautical Laboratory authorized in the Third Deficiency Act, fiscal year 1939; and $3,000,000 for the continued construction of the Aircraft Engine Research Laboratory at Cleveland, Ohio, which was authorized in the First Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1941.

Tennessee Valley Authority, Public Works

There is included in the 1943 Budget $136,100,000 under the above heading, or $30,700,000 less than 1942 appropriations. The 1943 estimate is required to carry forward the national defense power programs and to accelerate the construction of projects under the normal program in order to meet as quickly as possible power demands. A relatively small amount of the funds for 1943 will be used for nondefense purposes, and these have been limited to the minimum necessary to preserve the results of previous investments.

The financing of the Authority's program is not limited to annual appropriations. Other funds are derived from power revenues, the sale of fertilizer, proceeds of bond sales, reappropriated balances of earlier appropriations, and miscellaneous receipts. A more extended statement of the Authority's operations and means of financing appears in the Annexed Budget.

Federal Works Agency, Public Works

The estimates for 1943 for public works under the Federal Works Agency total $91,000,000, a reduction of $69,720,000 under 1942. Included in the 1943 estimates is $88,500,000 for the Public Roads Administration, a net decrease of $37,500,000 from 1942. This decrease results from an effort to restrict so far as possible the construction of highways to those immediately essential to the national defense. The following tabulation shows the amounts recommended for 1943 and the 1942 appropriations therefor:

| Classification | Appropriation, 1942 | Amount included in 1943 Budget |
|---|---|---|
| Federal-aid highway system | $100,000,000 | $60,000,000 |
| Federal-aid secondary or feeder roads | 15,000,000 | 6,000,000 |
| Elimination of grade crossings | 10,000,000 | 22,000,000 |
| Public-lands highways | 1,000,000 | 500,000 |
| Total | 126,000,000 | 88,500,000 |

An item of $2,500,000 is included for the Public Buildings Administration, a decrease of $32,220,000 from 1942. The decrease is accounted for mainly by supplemental appropriations in 1942 for public buildings to supply office space required in connection with defense activities. The $2,500,000 for 1943 includes $2,000,000 for continuation of the acquisition of site and construction of a building for the General Accounting Office, and $500,000 for a site for the Army Medical Library and Museum.

It is estimated that the $2,000,000 for the General Accounting Office will substantially complete this building. Under a limit of cost of $9,850,000, a total of $6,992,000 has been appropriated. The $500,000 for the Army Medical Library and Museum is under a limit of cost of $4,750,000 for a site and construction of a building.

Veterans' Administration, Public Works

The amount included for hospital and domiciliary facilities is $4,557,000, an increase of $1,057,000 over 1942 appropriations. This estimate provides funds for a new facility in the Pennsylvania area; additional beds at Marion, Ill., and Dearborn, Mich.; plans and preparation of a site for a new facility at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; and such major reconditioning, replacements, and alterations as are necessary at existing facilities.

Department of Agriculture, Public Works

The only item in the Department of Agriculture appropriation estimates for public works is $6,500,000 for national forest roads and trails, a decrease of $3,490,165 under 1942, accounted for by a proposed curtailment in the construction program. This estimate will leave an unappropriated balance of $4,519,835 in the 1942 authorization of $10,000,000, provided in the act of September 5, 1940.

Department of the Interior, Public Works

The estimates for 1943 for public works under the Department of the Interior aggregate $116,346,875, a decrease of $51,971,530 below the 1942 appropriations. All items in the public-works program have been studied closely and the recommendations made are principally for projects which have a definite national defense significance in furnishing additional electric power, completion of high priority projects under way, or meeting obligations of the current fiscal year in 1943.

Public-works items of the Department compared with the 1942 appropriations and the estimates for 1943 are listed below:

| Bureau | 1942 | 1943 |
|---|---|---|
| Bonneville Power Administration | $52,858,500 | $22,750,000 |
| Bureau of Indian Affairs | 6,446,905 | 2,102,275 |
| Bureau of Reclamation | 99,667,000 | 90,885,000 |
| National Park Service | 9,346,000 | 609,600 |
| Total | 168,318,405 | 116,346,875 |

The amount recommended for the Bonneville Power Administration is necessary for the continuation of construction of transmission facilities required for serving existing and prospective national defense industries. The original appropriation for 1942 under this item has been augmented by two supplemental appropriations during the current fiscal year to meet the growing demands for power in this area and to provide for the placing of orders for equipment and materials which require a long period of time for their manufacture, delivery, and installation.

The amount recommended for the Bureau of Indian Affairs is $2,102,275, a net decrease of $4,344,630 below the 1942 appropriation. The principal decrease of $1,398,950 is in the item for the construction of irrigation systems on Indian reservations, the large items of decrease being for the Colorado River project, Arizona; Flathead project, Montana; and Navajo, Arizona and New Mexico projects where funds are provided only for completing contract requirements for construction now under way.

For the construction or major repairs of buildings and utilities there is a decrease of $1,510,180. The amount recommended, $393,275, is for the most urgent and essential items of construction and repair, including final payment on the Tacoma, Wash., hospital and sanatorium.

A decrease of $1,250,000 is recommended for road construction on Indian reservations which leaves a balance of $1,200,000 for 1943. A larger amount for this item would normally be desirable since this type of work affords relief to Indians who otherwise would require gratuities or other means of support.

The estimates for the Bureau of Reclamation total $90,885,000, or $8,782,000 less than the total appropriation for 1942. The estimates contemplate an expenditure of $834,000 from the reclamation fund and $90,051,000 from the general fund of the Treasury. The amount recommended is for the continuation of construction on power projects essential to national defense, to meet obligations incurred during the current fiscal year and for completion of projects which are necessary in preventing losses of construction works already under way. The major expenditures contemplated are for the Central Valley project, California; Grand Coulee project, Washington; Boulder Dam project, Nevada; and Colorado-Big Thompson, Colorado; all of which are regarded urgent for preventing power deficiencies in the areas which they will serve. There are other items of increase or decrease, depending upon how essential are the requirements of the respective projects.

Work on the Central Valley project contemplates continuation of construction on the Shasta Dam which will be about 92 percent completed at the end of 1943. Work in the power plant will consist of placing penstocks and installing electrical machinery. It is expected that the first four 75,000 kilowatt generating units will be completed by the end of the calendar year 1943. Work will be continued on the Keswick Dam and power plant and the construction of transmission facilities will also be continued during the year. Work will begin on the construction of the Antioch steam plant. It is proposed to complete construction on the Friant Dam.

The work on the Grand Coulee Dam project consists primarily of the installation of additional generating capacity and power-plant construction for furnishing power to the Bonneville Power Administration. The work on the Boulder Canyon project is mainly for installing additional generating equipment to supply power for the new magnesium plant located in the vicinity of Las Vegas, Nev.

The estimate recommended for the National Park Service is $609,600, or $8,736,400 below the 1942 appropriations. The roads and trails item has been reduced from $3,000,000 to $200,000. New construction on the Blue Ridge, Natchez Trace, and George Washington Memorial Parkways has been reduced from $6,000,000 to $300,000, and the item for physical improvements has been reduced from $346,000 to $109,600. The amount recommended is considered essential for the most urgent items under the public works program.

Department of Justice, Public Works

The estimates for public works under the Department of Justice for the fiscal year 1943 total $390,000, an increase of $43,000 over appropriations for the fiscal year 1942.

The 1943 estimates include $90,000 for construction and repair at the United States Penitentiary, McNeil Island, Wash., of which $30,000 is for extension of existing facilities and $60,000 for continuing the development of the island area; and $300,000 for extension or improvement of existing facilities at other penal and correctional institutions.

Department of State, Public Works

The estimates of public works appropriations of the Department of State for the fiscal year 1943 amount to $1,273,000, a decrease of $598,500 from the 1942 appropriations.

The 1943 estimates provide $233,000 for public buildings for diplomatic and consular establishments abroad, a decrease of $217,000. The principal building projects to be constructed in 1943 will be located in the other American republics and Australia. The estimates provide $950,000 for continuing construction of the Lower Rio Grande flood-control project, the same amount that was appropriated for 1942. An estimate of $90,000 is included for the construction of the United States portion of the Douglas-Agua Prieta sanitation project at Douglas, Ariz.

War Department, Public Works

There is included a total of $149,480,000 for public works of the civil functions of the War Department, a net decrease of $43,281,925 from the 1942 appropriation. No amount is carried under this head for military activities for 1943 since military construction is currently limited to temporary structures directly connected with the immediate national defense program.

There is included in the amount for civil functions $20,629,000, a decrease of $7,239,600 in the amount of the 1942 appropriation, for the prosecution of works for improvement of rivers and harbors. The sum of $93,685,000, a net decrease of $5,095,000 from 1942 appropriations, is included for prosecuting work for flood control on various rivers and waterways authorized under the Flood Control Act of June 22, 1936, as amended and supplemented. This amount includes $500,000 for transfer to and expenditure by the Department of Agriculture for continuing preliminary examinations and surveys for run-off and water-flow retardation and soil-erosion prevention on the watersheds of flood-control projects. The net decrease reflects a decrease of $15,025,000 for general flood-control works exclusive of hydroelectric power projects related to the defense power program and an increase of $9,930,000 for the national defense hydroelectric power projects of the flood-control program.

In the total for War Department civil functions public works there are also included the sums of $30,000,000 for continuing flood-control work on the Mississippi River and tributaries, an increase of $8,000,000 over the 1942 appropriation; $1,000,000 for continuing flood-control work on the Sacramento River, Calif., an increase of $901,675 over the amount appropriated in 1942; and $4,166,000 for completing the construction of a powerhouse and installation of 10 hydroelectric generating units at Bonneville Dam, a decrease of $3,004,000 in the amount appropriated in 1942.

The net deviation in this entire category also reflects decreases of $1,845,000 for the hydroelectric plant at Fort Peck Dam, Mont., and $35,000,000 for an office building and appurtenances in Arlington County, Va.

Department of Agriculture

The estimates of direct appropriation for the Department of Agriculture for the fiscal year 1943, exclusive of public-works projects and trust accounts, amount to $811,223,924, a decrease of $376,222,849 from the 1942 direct appropriation. Reappropriations of unobligated balances under various appropriations and of collections of principal and interest on Farm Credit Administration loans are contemplated for 1943, and appropriation language submitted would give the Secretary contract authority for full parity payments. The principal items of increase and decrease are accounted for as follows:

The Offices of the Secretary, Solicitor, and Information, the Library, and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics are financed largely by transfers from other appropriations, supplemented by direct appropriations. In the 1942 appropriation act amounts of transfers to the Office of the Solicitor and to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics were restricted by appropriate language. In the 1943 Budget, restrictions of transfers have been extended to the Office of the Secretary, the Office of Information, and the Library. A total net increase of $384,512 for 1943 in direct appropriations for these five units is indicated, but this increase is offset by decreases in authorized transfers aggregating $1,353,605, or a net decrease in available funds for these units of the Department of $969,093. This amount is made up of decreases as follows: Office of the Secretary, $137,891; Office of the Solicitor, $315,609; Library, $2,385; Office of Information, $147,212; and Bureau of Agricultural Economics, $365,996.

Under the Office of Experiment Stations the decrease of $454,630 is comprised of a decrease in the subappropriation, "Title I, Bankhead-Jones Act," of $463,708 and increases of $1,968 for "Administration of grants to States and coordination of research," and $7,110 for "Insular experiment stations."

The special research fund was decreased by $56,300, the decrease being applied to the funds available to the Secretary for special research projects.

The net decrease of $355,698 in the Extension Service is accounted for by decreases of $352,000 in extension work, act of April 24, 1939, and $40,000 in extension information, and by increases of $28,000 for Puerto Rico, $32 for Alaska, and $8,270 for administrative promotions.

In the Bureau of Animal Industry, a decrease in the direct appropriation of $796,517 is indicated, but taking into consideration reappropriated balances, there is a net decrease of only $96,517 in available funds. Decreases in funds for various activities totaling $391,488, and increases of $30,073 for "Inspection and quarantine," $261,927 for "Meat inspection," $2,791 for "Virus-Serum Toxin Act," and $180 for "General administrative expenses" account for the net decrease of $96,517 in availability of funds.

Under the Bureau of Dairy Industry, there is a net increase of $26,280. This is accounted for principally by increases for dairy-herd improvement work and within-grade promotions.

For the Bureau of Plant Industry a decrease of $354,140 is accounted for by general reductions in amounts allowed for research activities.

The net decrease of $2,725,265 for the Forest Service is made up of decreases of $1,100,000 in emergency forest-fire control and $1,759,138 in forest-land acquisition (no provision being made for new purchases of land for this purpose), and increases of $75,000 for "Forest-fire cooperation" and $58,873 for "Salaries and expenses."

Administrative promotions account for the increase of $10,218 under the Bureau of Agricultural Chemistry and Engineering.

While $144,000 was provided for emergency dehydration investigations by the Second Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, no funds for this purpose were requested for 1943.

Under the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, research activities and general administrative expenses were curtailed to the extent of $247,955 and increases totaling $294,190 were allowed for control and regulatory work such as gypsy and browntail moth control, Dutch elm disease, and phony peach and peach mosaic eradication, barberry eradication, and foreign-plant quarantines, resulting in a net increase of $46,235 for the bureau.

An increase of $682,440 was allowed for white pine blister-rust control.

Under the Agricultural Marketing Service the net increase of $281,397 is composed of $77,664 for administrative promotions, $250,000 for gathering farm-labor statistics, and $63,121 for regulatory work required by law, offset by decreases in research and other bureau activities totaling $109,388.

The increase of $12,360 for the Bureau of Home Economics is made up of $8,955 for nutrition studies and $3,405 for administrative promotions.

In the estimate for the Soil Conservation Service there is a decrease of $3,094,905. For conservation and use of agricultural land resources, there is a decrease of $49,388,671. No appropriation estimate for parity payments has been included in the 1943 Budget, but appropriation language submitted would give the Secretary contract authority to make full parity payments.

The annual appropriation for the disposal of surplus commodities is eliminated for 1943. The resulting decrease of $125,150,000 is partially offset by an estimated increase of $34,270,411 in the permanent appropriation, "Exportation and domestic consumption of agricultural commodities", the purpose of the two appropriations being the same.

The increase of $703,300 for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is to cover expenses incident to the addition of cotton to the insurance program.

For the farm-tenancy loan program authorized by title I of the Bankhead-Jones Act, there is a decrease of $10,000,000 in the amount of loans authorized to be obtained from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and an increase of $11,352 in administrative promotions under the subappropriation "Salaries and expenses."

For liquidation and management of resettlement projects, the estimates provide a decrease of $247,453. A trust account for payments in lieu of taxes and for operation and maintenance of resettlement projects is available partly to offset this decrease.

There is a decrease of $1,956,837 in the appropriation estimate for land utilization and retirement of submarginal land by reason of the proposed curtailment in the land-acquisition program.

For loans, grants, and rural rehabilitation, the direct appropriation estimate is decreased by $13,680,443 and the authority to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is decreased by $45,000,000 due to improved economic conditions.

There is a decrease of $297,415 in the direct appropriation estimate for water facilities, arid and semiarid areas, but the decreased allowance will be supplemented by funds made available for rural rehabilitation.

The $1,000,000 for orchard rehabilitation, Department of Agriculture, provided by a supplemental appropriation act, was a special item in 1942 and no funds for this purpose were requested for 1943.

For the Rural Electrification Administration there are decreases of $248,577 in salaries and expenses and of $90,000,000 in authorized loans from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in view of the anticipated curtailment of rural electrification activities because of priorities on materials.

The appropriation estimate for Beltsville Research Center is increased by $7,990 to cover administrative promotions and necessary road-maintenance work.

While there is a decrease of $719,569 in the direct appropriation estimate for the Farm Credit Administration, there will be an actual increase in availability of funds for 1943 of $189,681, taking into consideration reappropriated balances and reimbursable funds.

Salaries and expenses of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation are increased by $700,000 for 1943, but such expenditures are appropriated from funds of the Corporation and do not involve funds of the Treasury.

Under the classification "Trust accounts" there is a net decrease of $51,609,339, principally accounted for by decreases in State Rural Rehabilitation Corporation funds under the Farm Security Administration, and in redemption of order stamps, Surplus Marketing Administration.

Department of Commerce

The total amount of the estimates for 1943, exclusive of trust funds, is $82,091,063. The amount is $177,593,115 less than the total of appropriations for the Department for the fiscal year 1942, exclusive of public works. The major items of decrease are in the estimates for the Office of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics and for the Bureau of the Census.

The net increase under the Office of the Secretary is $159,695. An increase of $27,695 in the salaries item is recommended for within-grade promotions and for additional employees in several units of the Secretary's office.

All expenses of the Bureau of the Census during the decennial census period ending December 31, 1942, are payable from the appropriation for expenses of the Sixteenth Census. The estimates contemplate resumption on January 1, 1943, of payment of contingent, traveling, and printing and binding expenses of the Bureau of the Census from general department appropriations for those purposes.

For traveling expenses of the Department, the major items of increase are $30,000 for travel of Census Bureau personnel during the last half-year, and $19,850 for travel of additional inspectors of the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation incidental to the expanded shipbuilding program.

The principal increases in the estimate for printing and binding are $60,000 for resumption of payment from this appropriation for such services for the Bureau of the Census in the last half-year, and $32,000 for the first year of a 5-year program for publication of a decennial climatic summary of the United States by the Weather Bureau.

A decrease of $30,000 is contemplated by the estimate for the National Inventors Council Service Staff, and a substantial saving is anticipated in the current-year appropriation for this staff.

For the Bureau of the Census, the amount recommended for expenses of the Sixteenth Census is $3,993,000 less than the current appropriation. The estimate contemplates completion of the decennial census by December 31, 1942, and therefore covers only the first 6 months of the fiscal year.

An increase of $446,140 for age and citizenship certification results from consolidation of these two classes of certification, the cost of citizenship certification in the current year being borne by the appropriation for expenses of the Sixteenth Census.

A new item of appropriation for salaries and expenses of the Bureau of the Census, for which $1,067,000 is recommended for the last half-year, is for the regular current activities of the Bureau following completion of the Sixteenth Census, and a new item of $58,000 for licensed exports statistics is for special statistical tabulations for defense purposes.

For the Office of the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics, $49,191,401 is recommended. This represents a reduction from the total 1942 appropriation of $175,581,286, of which $159,593,050 is due to the omission of an estimate for the development of landing areas for national defense. Items of net increase consist of $656,684 to provide for an authorized reorganization and a consolidation of all aircraft activities within the Office of the Administrator; $2,888,978 for the maintenance of air-navigation facilities, such as teletype circuits, radio ranges and markers, field aids and lighting, and for expansion of both airway and airport traffic control; $146,158 for increased activity incident to the enforcement of safety regulations, and $89,904 for adequately operating the Washington National Airport. These increases are offset by decreases of $361,238 due to the completion of specific technical development projects; $14,186,325 in connection with the establishment of air-navigation facilities; $4,930,081 for curtailment of the civilian pilot-training program, and the above-mentioned $159,593,050 for the development of landing areas.

A net increase of $101,737 is recommended in the estimates for the Civil Aeronautics Board, principally to strengthen its safety activities.

Increases aggregating $221,145 are recommended for the Coast and Geodetic Survey. This amount consists of $29,000 for part-year operation of a new vessel to be completed within the year and for aerial photographic surveys; $4,705 for an additional field magnetic survey party; $30,000 for increased cost of vessel repairs; $5,000 for additional vessel crews; $22,000 for automatic pay increases of commissioned officers and to fill vacancies, $31,090 for additional office personnel for hydrographic chart revisions and for within-grade promotions, and $99,350 for additional personnel, chart paper and supplies, and an additional press for the revision of aeronautical maps. Against these increases are reductions of $479,000 for nonrecurring vessel construction and items of office expense in the 1942 appropriations, resulting in a net reduction of $257,955 for the Survey in 1943.

For the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation an increase of $144,175 is recommended for within-grade promotions and for full-year pay of additional field personnel for which provision was made for the last half of the current year by supplemental 1942 appropriation. This additional personnel is required in connection with the expanded shipbuilding program.

The estimates for the Patent Office contemplate an increase of $127,235, including $89,235 for full-year salaries of employees for the Patent Defense Committee, pursuant to Public Law 239, Seventy-seventh Congress, approved August 21, 1941, for whom provision was made for 7 months of the current year in the Second Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942, and for within-grade promotions; $25,000 for photolithographing and $13,000 for miscellaneous expenses.

Exclusive of increases for within-grade promotions, there is an aggregate increase of $223,820 in the estimates for the National Bureau of Standards. Of this amount $69,460 is for operation and administration including $30,000 for tool replacements, $109,400 is for increased testing incidental to defense activities, and $44,960 is for expansion of simplified practice and trade and export standards work for purposes of the defense program. Reductions amounting to $319,061 are recommended for purposes nonrecurring in 1943, of which the major item is $230,000 for construction of a station for broadcasting standard radio frequencies, resulting in a net decrease of $95,241 for this Bureau.

Increases recommended for the Weather Bureau aggregating $170,645 cover additional surface and upper air observations, primarily for military aviation weather services inaugurated during the current year in Alaska, the Caribbean area, and on the oceans.

Department of the Interior

The Budget estimates for the Department of the Interior, general and special accounts, for the fiscal year 1943, exclusive of items of public works, aggregate $71,297,366, a net decrease of $8,253,009 from 1942 appropriations. In the figure of $71,297,366 is $62,779,866 for annual appropriations, which is $8,003,009 below the annual appropriations for the current year. The amount for permanent appropriations is $8,517,500, a decrease of $250,000 under 1942. In addition, the estimates for 1943 under various trust accounts aggregate $6,802,071, an increase of $18,794 over the current year.

The estimates for the Department of the Interior carry a total of $571,290 for within-grade promotions authorized by the act of August 1, 1941. In the statements that follow references to the specific amounts for within-grade promotions in individual estimate items are omitted.

Annual appropriations.—For the immediate Office of the Secretary, $1,028,370 is recommended, a net increase of $63,800. Of this increase $31,320 is for strengthening the newly created Division of Power, $9,780 is for the reallocation of positions approved by the Civil Service Commission, and the remainder is required for additional personnel in several divisions of the office, and for within-grade promotions.

There is a decrease of $33,845 for the Division of Investigation as the result of the abolishment of nine positions aggregating $28,600 in salaries, plus travel allowance. This decrease is possible because of a reduced work load. The total amount recommended for this Division is $435,255.

For the Grazing Service $806,125 is recommended, an increase of $6,125. The removal of the headquarters of this Service to Salt Lake City, Utah, has made it necessary to rent quarters there. A small liaison office in the District of Columbia is being provided at a cost of $7,800. While the within-grade promotions and the establishment of the liaison office, together with a transfer of $2,000 from the Department contingent fund and the increased cost of the Salt Lake office, less a deduction of $18,450 on account of nonrecurring items, would require a net increase of $18,125, it is believed that this Service will be able to function efficiently within the amount of the estimate.

The difficulty of obtaining supplies and materials makes possible a reduction in 1943 of $150,000 below the 1942 appropriation of $250,000 in the Grazing Service item for range improvements.

A reduction of $60,000 under the 1942 appropriation of $75,000 is recommended for "Leasing of grazing lands (receipt limitation)" authorized by the Pierce Act of June 23, 1938, as a result of smaller acreage being available for lease of other than federally owned lands within grazing districts, originally estimated by the Service.

A decrease of $212,220 below the 1942 appropriation of $247,500 is recommended for the Petroleum Conservation Division due to the expiration of the Connally Hot Oil Act on June 30, 1942. An amount of $35,280 is recommended for the expenses of the Division in cooperating with the oil- and gas-producing States in the prevention of waste in oil and gas production and in the adoption of uniform oil conservation laws and regulations.

Because of the expiration of the Bituminous Coal Act of 1937, on April 25, 1941, no estimate was submitted in the regular Budget estimates for 1942 for the Bituminous Coal Division. This act was extended by the act of April 11, 1941 (Public Law 34), for a period of 2 years from April 26, 1941, and $3,200,000 was appropriated in the regular Interior Department Appropriation Act, 1942. An estimate of $2,620,500 is included for 1943 for this agency. The 1943 estimates are approximately the same as the appropriation for the Division for the current fiscal year, prorated on a 10-month basis, for the reason that the act expires on April 25, 1943.

A decrease of $678,700 below the 1942 appropriation of $2,178,700 is recommended for soil and moisture conservation operations on lands under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior. This reduction will be accomplished through the curtailment of the program during the present emergency.

The estimate for contingent expenses of the Department reflect a reduction of $10,000 under the 1942 appropriation of $160,000. This reduction is accounted for largely through the elimination of nonrecurring equipment items.

A net increase of $12,265 over the 1942 appropriation of $329,735 is recommended for printing and binding. This increase is due principally to the transfer to this estimate of $25,000 carried in 1942 under the Bureau of Mines. During the emergency period there will be need for less printing by the National Park Service and the Fish and Wildlife Service, and the estimates reflect savings in this respect. Provision is made, however, for beginning the standardization and coordination of the printing of forms used by the various bureaus and offices of the Department. It is expected that through the elimination of duplication and the reduction of large stocks of similar forms maintained for the different bureaus substantial economies will be possible in the printing bill of the Department in the future.

For the General Land Office there is a net decrease of $289,410 under the 1942 appropriation of $2,259,800. The principal item of decrease is in the estimate for surveying the public lands. It is recommended that a reduction of $250,000 be made in this item under the 1942 appropriation of $900,000, since it is believed that this activity can be curtailed during the present emergency. The amount remaining will permit the survey of areas that may be required for defense purposes. The other items of decrease are for transcribing records, $10,000; binding records, $10,000; and nonrecurring and other miscellaneous items under several other appropriations. Under normal conditions a new edition of the map of the United States would be printed during the fiscal year 1943. It is believed that this can be deferred for the present.

The total estimate for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, exclusive of trust funds and public-works projects, is $26,714,236, a net decrease of $569,132 below the appropriations for the current fiscal year.

Exclusive of funds for within-grade promotions no major increases are provided for the Bureau of Indian Affairs. For the office of the Commissioner five new positions with salaries aggregating $7,380 are provided in addition to one position with a salary of $1,800 transferred from the appropriation for salaries, Office of the Secretary.

For the acquisition of land for Indian use there is a decrease of $160,000. The amount recommended, $165,000, is to meet obligations incurred during the present year under a contractual authority carried in the 1942 appropriation act.

There is eliminated from the Budget $40,800 for obtaining employment for Indians. It has been determined that this activity can be suspended during the emergency, but Indian superintendents and other employees will continue to assist Indians, whenever possible, in obtaining employment.

Under the heading of "Agriculture and stock raising among Indians" it is proposed to eliminate $15,000 of the expense in connection with the operation of experiment stations on Indian reservations and $5,000 for expenses of Indian fairs. These decreases are offset by allowances for several new positions and within-grade promotions. The 1943 estimate carries an increase of $14,235 above the 1942 appropriation of $712,000.

There is a reduction of $15,000 in the amount to be made available for loans to Indians ineligible to participate in the revolving loan fund established pursuant to the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934, and there is a reduction of $100,000 in the amount to be added to the capital of the latter fund. The 1942 appropriations for these purposes were $150,000 and $250,000, respectively.

A new item of $22,500 is provided for the expenses of the National Indian Institute. During 1942 the Institute, established pursuant to article 10 of the conference creating the Inter-American Indian Institute, ratified by this country on June 7, 1941, has been financed through the allocation of funds for the coordination of activities between the American republics.

In connection with the estimates for Indian education in the States, a reduction of approximately $330,000 will be possible through savings accruing by closing four nonreservation boarding schools and one reservation boarding school, and by numerous readjustments in the educational program. The nonreservation schools to be closed are Pierre, S. Dak., and Euchee, Eufaula, and Wheelock, in Oklahoma. The nonreservation school is located at Fort Wingate, N. Mex. Adjustments are proposed in the program of the Indian Service so that educational facilities will not be denied any Indian children currently accommodated in these institutions. A portion of this saving is offset by increases required for additional pupils in some schools and the amount necessary for within-grade promotions. The total appropriation for 1942 is $9,430,630 as compared with $9,166,415 estimated for 1943.

There is an increase of $34,470 over the 1942 appropriation of $1,098,475 for the education of natives in Alaska, caused principally by the necessity for paying commercial freight on supplies and materials required in the Territory. These costs were considerably less when the Indian Service was operating its two vessels. The largest of these vessels has been requisitioned by the Coast Guard and the other is of such small capacity that it cannot handle all of the transportation.

For conservation of health among Indians there is a net increase of $157,570 over the 1942 appropriation of $5,918,320. It is proposed to close several Indian hospitals, either because of poor patronage or unsatisfactory accommodations. The closing of these facilities, however, will not deny Indians necessary hospitalization inasmuch as areas involved are served by good highways permitting the quick transportation of Indian patients to other institutions. The savings accruing through the closing of these institutions is offset by an increase of $150,000 for personnel, equipment, and initial inventory for operation of the new hospital now under construction at Tacoma, Wash. Some funds are also provided for strengthening the administrative organization in some of the larger hospitals where nurses and physicians are now required to perform a large amount of clerical work.

There is a decrease of $50,000 under the 1942 appropriation of $1,150,000 for the support and rehabilitation of needy Indians. This reduction contemplates a curtailment in the construction portion of this activity.

There is a reduction of $25,000 in the amount estimated as being necessary to make payments to the Indians of the Sioux reservations under provisions of old treaties. The 1942 appropriation for this purpose is $225,000.

In general, the estimates for the Indian Service carry no increase on account of rising costs of food, clothing, and other commodities.

For the Bureau of Reclamation a net increase of $132,050 over the 1942 appropriation of $934,600 is recommended for the operation and maintenance of existing irrigation systems paid from the reclamation fund. These increases are distributed as follows: $5,000 for operation and maintenance of the new Pine River project, Colorado; $31,000 for the Boise project, Idaho, to be used for repairs to the Black Canyon Dam power plant and for the purchase of special equipment; $2,400 for the Minidoka project, Idaho, for repairs to the American Falls Dam; $34,000 for the Owyhee project, Oregon, for making repairs in the main north canal, lining of canals and the purchase of equipment; $45,000 for the Klamath project, Oregon-California, for the operation and maintenance of the new Modoc unit; $8,000 for replacing siphons on the Tieton division of this project and contributions to the CCC program; $6,000 for the Kendrick project, Wyoming, for maintenance of new drains and improvements to canals, and $19,400 for operation and maintenance administration. There are offsetting decreases of $3,000 for salaries and expenses, which covers the salaries of two positions transferred to the Office of the Secretary; $750 for the Yuma project, Arizona-California; and $15,000 for the Rio Grande project, New Mexico-Texas. Other items for the Bureau of Reclamation will be found under the General Public Works Program.

For the Geological Survey a net decrease of $1,244,980 under the 1942 appropriation of $4,997,880 is recommended. There is a reduction of $1,258,235 in the amount recommended in this estimate for the topographic mapping program. It is proposed to augment this appropriation in 1943 by a transfer of funds from the War Department for the mapping of strategic areas. The 1942 appropriation is $1,962,500. There is a decrease of $17,370 for stream gaging. An increase of $26,300 is provided for printing and binding, and $10,000 for strengthening the water and power division in the classification of lands unit.

For the Bureau of Mines a net decrease of $2,049,880 under the appropriation of $8,390,370 for 1942 is recommended. This decrease is due mainly to nonrecurring items in connection with helium investigations and plant construction and equipment amounting to $1,600,000. Reductions are also recommended of $322,235 for investigation of domestic sources of mineral supply; $160,000 for investigation of raw material resources for western steel production; $77,400 for investigation and research on processes for production of potassium carbonate and sodium carbonate from trona and wyomingite rock, and $46,715 in the appropriation for mineral mining investigations. Against the items of decrease are several offsetting increases, the principal items of which are for coal-mine inspections and investigations $61,000, for placing this activity on a full-year basis; and $85,000 for bauxite and alunite ores investigations.

The 1943 estimates for the National Park Service, exclusive of items in the General Public Works Program, show a net decrease of $410,120 under the 1942 appropriations of $5,263,775. This reduction has been made possible by deferring the purchase of equipment, eliminating seasonal employees, providing for the minimum of supplies and materials, and reducing the maintenance costs of improvements and utilities to bare necessities. Savings are contemplated in operating expenses for all areas under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service.

There is a net decrease of $1,712,140 under the 1942 appropriations of $9,583,915 for the Fish and Wildlife Service. This decrease is accounted for through nonrecurring items, discontinuance of certain activities and a general over-all reduction in the program of this agency. The principal items of decrease are: $290,000 for the Alaska fur-seal investigation, which has been discontinued as a result of the war with Japan; $292,820 for the maintenance of mammal and bird reservations; $158,840 for propagation of food fishes; $65,000 for restoration of the lower Klamath migratory water-fowl refuge; $184,300 for control of predatory animals and injurious rodents; $38,500 for construction of fish screens; $25,000 as a result of the completion of the Alaska crab investigation; $89,255 for inquiry respecting food fishes, and other small reductions in miscellaneous items. There is an increase of $31,700 for Alaska fisheries necessary for more adequate enforcement of rules and regulations for the protection of Alaska fisheries.

The estimates for Government in the Territories show a net decrease of $117,650 exclusive of the Alaska Railroad and special accounts. This decrease is principally due to a comparison in the amounts appropriated for construction of the Palmer-Richardson Road in Alaska of $500,000 in the current fiscal year, and an estimated amount of $300,000 for 1943, a net decrease of $200,000. Other items of decrease are in the Virgin Islands, $15,000 for defraying deficits of the municipal treasuries of St. Thomas and St. John; $7,910 in the appropriation for the agricultural experiment station and vocational school; $2,825 for salaries and expenses, Government of the Virgin Islands, and $5,000 for a survey of public works needs as a nonrecurring item. The items of increase offsetting these decreases are $50,000 for legislative expenses for the Territory of Alaska and $47,000 likewise for legislative expenses for the Territory of Hawaii, which amounts are biennial appropriations; $24,900 for the construction and maintenance of roads, bridges and trails in Alaska, largely as a result of Army and Navy bases established in the Territory; $10,000 for defraying the deficit for the municipality of St. Croix in the Virgin Islands, and $595 for contingent expenses in the Territory of Alaska.

Department of Justice

Estimates for the Department of Justice for the fiscal year 1943, exclusive of items in the General Public Works Program and trust accounts, amount to $80,863,269, which constitute a net increase of $7,062,169 when compared with total appropriations of $73,801,100 for the fiscal year 1942. The net increase is composed of a gross increase of $8,015,452, offset by decreases amounting to $953,283. The additional work devolving upon the Department from the national defense program, realignment of certain functions, and recent legislative enactments, including the requirement for administrative within-grade promotions, are reflected throughout the estimates.

For the Federal Bureau of Investigation the estimates include an increase of $3,886,787 over appropriations for the current fiscal year to provide for additional special agents, fingerprint classifiers, clerical employees, and miscellaneous expenses. Investigations and other matters pertaining to national defense are multiplying with such rapidity that it is anticipated a supplemental appropriation will be required to permit employment during the fiscal year 1942 of the additional personnel contemplated by these estimates.

The increase of $2,561,625 for the Immigration and Naturalization Service will provide funds for the additional activities directly resulting from the present national emergency. The necessity of providing and maintaining detention camps for alien seamen, and of augmenting the force of immigrant inspectors and border patrol officers to enforce regulations prescribed pursuant to the act of June 21, 1941, account for the major portion of this increase. The balance of the increase will provide funds for additional personnel for the Service in Washington and for naturalization work in the field, with necessary expenses incident thereto, and statutory promotions for immigrant inspectors.

The increase for penal and correctional institutions, amounting to $692,487, results principally from the advance in commodity prices, which directly affect per capita operating costs. Provision is also made for some additional personnel and certain necessary repairs essential to the maintenance of the institutions.

The estimate for the Lands Division, which reflects an increase of $268,065, is predicated on full-year operation during the fiscal year 1943 at the level made possible by the regular appropriation for the fiscal year 1942 and the appropriation supplemental thereto contained in the Third Supplemental National Defense Appropriation Act, 1942.

The remainder of the increase will provide additional personnel and operating expenses, as indicated in the estimates for the offices of the Attorney General, the Solicitor General, the Assistant Solicitor General, the Criminal Division, the Claims Division, the Bureau of Prisons, the Customs Division, the Personnel Division, the Special National Defense Unit, and in contingent expenses, travel expenses, and printing and binding.

Offsetting the gross increases indicated above are decreases amounting to $953,283 in the estimates for the Office of the Pardon Attorney, the Antitrust Division, miscellaneous field salaries and expenses, district attorneys, marshals, witnesses, and support of prisoners.

Department of Labor

The estimates of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year 1943 total $25,640,567, which, compared with appropriations for the fiscal year 1942, show a net increase of $1,308,827. This increase includes $180,634, representing the net cost in 1943 of promotions under Public Law 200, Seventy-seventh Congress, first session.

Under the heading "Office of the Secretary" the estimates provide a total of $6,132,470, which includes in addition to salaries in the Secretary's office proper, provision for salaries and expenses, Office of the Solicitor, the Division of Labor Standards, the Conciliation Service, the Division of Public Contracts, liaison with the International Labor Organization, and expenses pertaining to the Department as a whole for contingencies, travel, and printing and binding.

In the Office of the Secretary proper, an increase of $24,125 is provided involving $17,760 for 12 new positions in the Publications and Supplies Division and other sections of the office, including 2 positions transferred from the Wage and Hour Division, and $6,365 for promotions under Public Law 200. There are decreases of $10,650 and $26,000, respectively, for contingent expenses and printing and binding, and an increase of $2,385 for traveling expenses.

In the Office of the Solicitor, the estimates carry an increase of $50,812 for salaries and expenses; $19,612 for two additional legal positions and for promotions under Public Law 200; and a new appropriation of $31,200 for necessary legal work in connection with determination of prevailing wages under the Davis-Bacon Act covering defense construction.

Estimates for the Division of Labor Standards total $1,510,966, representing an increase of $404,966 for salaries and expenses. The increase includes $8,966 for promotions under the appropriation, "Salaries and expenses," and $396,000 for expansion of the apprenticeship training program.

For Commissioners of Conciliation, there is an increase of $35,932 involving $8,397 under regular appropriation for salaries and expenses, and $27,535 in the appropriation for conciliation services in situations involving employment in industries under the national defense program.

The Division of Public Contracts shows an increase of $85,305, including $5,305 for regular salaries and expenses, and $80,000 in the appropriation covering contracts involving national defense production.

There is provided for the Bureau of Labor Statistics a total of $1,950,021, including $1,112,803 for the regular statistical work, and $837,218 for special studies under the national defense program. The increase of $32,213 under the regular salaries and expense appropriation provides, in addition to funds for promotions under Public Law 200, $13,000 for three administrative positions. The increase of $549,238 in the national defense appropriation, in addition to providing funds for continuing the study of post-defense problems and occupational-outlook surveys, contemplates carrying on an appropriation basis under the Department of Labor certain statistical studies required by national defense agencies and financed in 1942 through allotments or transfers from appropriations made to the Office for Emergency Management.

The estimates for the Children's Bureau aggregate $12,301,699, of which $11,200,000 is for grants-in-aid to States for maternal and child-health services, services for crippled children, and child-welfare services under title V of the Social Security Act. The amount for grants represents the total authorization and is the same as appropriated for 1942. An increase of $4,985 is provided for salaries, Children's Bureau, covering promotions under Public Law 200, $34,951 additional for enforcement of the child-labor provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act providing for 13 new positions and administrative promotions. In the appropriation for administration of the Social Security Act, as it pertains to the Children's Bureau, there is an increase of $43,483 which provides, in addition to funds for promotions, additional regional consultation services in the field of maternal and child health and child-welfare services, permitting the increase in the personnel by eight professional and three clerical positions.

For the Women's Bureau, an increase of $3,625 is provided for promotions under Public Law 200.

Under the Wage and Hour Division there is a net increase of $73,457 involving an increase of $93,957 in the appropriation for salaries for promotions under Public Law 200, and a decrease of $20,500 for miscellaneous expenses.

The estimates provide for the liquidation of existing contract authorizations and for personnel, supplies, and material required to carry on expanded operations for the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard during the fiscal year 1943.

Department of State

The estimates of the Department of State for the fiscal year 1943, exclusive of construction projects and trust accounts, amount to $26,159,480, a net increase of $3,229,798 over the comparable appropriations for the fiscal year 1942. This net increase is made up as follows: $1,497,095 for the Office of the Secretary of State; $600,000 for national defense activities; $54,700 for the Foreign Service; and $1,078,003 for international obligations, commissions, bureaus, etc.

The net increase of $1,497,095 in the estimates for the Office of the Secretary of State consists of $1,433,740 for personal services, $13,400 for contingent expenses, $49,100 for printing and binding, $655 for passport agencies, and $200 for collecting and editing official papers of territories of the United States.

The $600,000 net increase in national defense activities is to provide funds for an increased number of specialists and technical assistants in the Foreign Service necessary in connection with emergency problems caused by the war.

The net increase of $54,700 for the Foreign Service consists of increases in certain appropriations amounting to $114,200, which amount is offset by decreases in other appropriations amounting to $59,500. The principal items of increase are $66,100 for automatic promotions of Foreign Service officers as authorized by law; $30,000 for promotions of Foreign Service clerks; $9,000 to adjust salaries of certain miscellaneous employees more nearly in line with local wage standards; and $9,100 for the Foreign Service retirement and disability appropriated fund. The principal items of decrease are $38,000 and $13,000 for office and living quarters allowances and representation allowances, respectively. These decreases are made possible largely because several embassies and a large number of consulates in Axis-controlled countries have been closed.

The net increase of $1,078,003 in international obligations, commissions, bureaus, etc., is composed of increases in certain appropriations amounting to $1,165,023, offset by decreases in other appropriations amounting to $87,020. The principal items of increase are $41,800 for the International Boundary Commission, United States and Mexico, to provide largely for operation and maintenance of the Mesilla Valley Division of the Rio Grande Canalization project; and $1,119,200 for Cooperation With the American Republics to provide for rubber investigations and surveys of other noncompetitive plant resources, the development of vital statistics of the Western Hemisphere, radiosonde observation stations in Mexico, investigation of strategic and deficient minerals, translating and disseminating Government publications to the other American Republics, and travel grants for students, professors, and educational and artistic leaders who are citizens of the United States and the other American Republics. The principal items of decrease are $17,920 in contributions to international organizations located in Axis-controlled areas from whom satisfactory reports of activity are not being received; $11,600 for special and technical investigations by the International Joint Commission in the use of boundary waters between the United States and Canada; and $57,500 in appropriations for various international commissions, conferences, and miscellaneous items, which will not be required for the fiscal year 1943.

The expenditures from trust accounts for the fiscal year 1943 are estimated at $2,820,980, an increase of $4,100 over the fiscal year 1942.

Treasury Department

Executive Order 8929 of November 1, 1941, transferred the Coast Guard from the Treasury Department to the Navy Department and, therefore, the estimates for the Coast Guard have been included in the Navy Department chapter of the Budget.

The Division of Printing has been abolished and the bulk of its personnel and duties has been transferred to the Procurement Division, but five employees were transferred to the Office of the Chief Clerk, four to the Bureau of Internal Revenue and one to the Coast Guard. The entire appropriation for printing and binding is being administered by the Procurement Division, and the stationery appropriation has been divided among those bureaus and offices whose appropriations are available for other than personal services. The small balance of the stationery appropriation remaining for the benefit of those bureaus whose appropriations are available for personal services only is being administered by the Procurement Division.

Exclusive of trust funds, the Budget estimates for the Treasury Department, fiscal year 1943, provide for direct appropriations totaling $2,499,697,801, an increase of $390,222,836 over the comparable figure for 1942. The reappropriation of an unobligated balance is contemplated for 1943 in the amount of $8,829,376 which is a decrease of $29,730,000 from 1942. The total of the direct appropriations plus reappropriations available for 1943 represents, therefore, an increase of $360,492,836 over the amount available for the fiscal year 1942. The principal items of increase and decrease are accounted for as follows:

Annual appropriations.—The total of the 1943 annual appropriation estimates for the Treasury Department is $216,675,094, or $41,405,032 less than the comparable total for the fiscal year 1942. This net decrease results chiefly from nonrecurring items of $36,400,000 for payments to Federal Land Banks and the Federal Farm

Mortgage Corporation on account of reduction in the interest rate on mortgages, $6,005,000 for administrative costs in the Treasury Department growing out of the work relief and relief program, and $800,000 for reimbursement to carriers of deficits incurred while the railroads were under the control of the Government during the first World War. Offsetting these decreases are a number of relatively small items of increase, including a total of $1,723,991 for within-grade promotions.

The principal items of increase and decrease by bureaus and offices are as follows:

The estimates of the Office of the Secretary of the Treasury for 1943 total $5,283,805, a net decrease of $35,959,270. The decreases consist of $36,400,000 in the amounts for payment to the Federal Land Banks and the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, $800,000 for reimbursement to carriers of deficits during Federal control, and $26,640 in the appropriation for the immediate office of the Secretary. These decreases are offset in part by an increase of $1,265,075, including $18,150 for within-grade promotions, in the appropriation for Foreign Exchange Control, and an increase of $2,295 for within-grade promotions in the Office of the Secretary.

A net decrease of $37,120 is recommended for the Division of Research and Statistics. The discontinuance of certain statistics on foreign purchases makes possible a nonrecurring item of $50,000, which is offset in part by the allowance of $10,000 on account of additional work and $4,925 for within-grade promotions.

Appropriation estimates for the Office of the Chief Clerk amount to $505,410, which is a net decrease from the 1942 total of $49,210. This net decrease results from a decrease in the appropriation for contingent expenses of $66,430 and an increase in the chief clerk's salary appropriation of $17,220. No new positions have been allowed in the Office of the Chief Clerk, but the increase for personnel results from the transfer of four telephone operators to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the transfer of a total of 16 employees from the Bureau of the Public Debt and the Division of Printing to the Office of the Chief Clerk, and the allowance of $3,100 for within-grade promotions. The reduction of $66,430 for contingent expenses consists of nonrecurring items totaling $41,012 and a further net decrease of $25,418 which will reduce the amount that would be expended otherwise for the purchase of equipment.

The estimates for the Bureau of Accounts total $3,258,016, or a net reduction of $2,704,887 below the 1942 amount. Appropriations totaling $3,125,000 for administrative expenses, emergency relief, Bureau of Accounts, and Division of Disbursement are nonrecurring in 1943, and other decreases proposed by the Department are $5,000, under recoinage of minor coins, $75,000 under recoinage of silver coins, and $16,000 in the Division of Disbursement by reason of the transfer of the Coast Guard to the Navy.

Partially offsetting these decreases are increases of: $250,000 to make effective Executive Order No. 8512 which prescribes requirements with respect to budgetary administration and fiscal reporting, and Reorganization Plan III which established the Fiscal Service in the Treasury Department; $13,430 for contingent expenses, which amount is nonrecurring in the appropriation "Contingent Expenses, Treasury Department"; $2,080 for additional clerks; $2,600 for reallocations; $900 for stationery; $100,000 for the transportation of mutilated United States paper currency to Washington for redemption; $15,000 for refund of moneys erroneously received and covered into the Treasury; and $31,303 for within-grade promotions.

The total of the annual appropriation estimates for the Bureau of the Public Debt is $3,953,063, or an increase of $430,248 over 1942. An increase of $227,550 is recommended for additional personnel in the Bureau of the Public Debt to handle the anticipated increased volume of work in connection with the redemption of currency and defense savings bonds; an increase of $181,638 is required for the purchase of distinctive paper for United States currency; and $21,060 for within-grade promotions.

The annual estimates for the Office of the Treasurer of the United States for 1943 amount to $1,838,150, which is a decrease of $206,685. This net decrease results from nonrecurring items of $350,000 for administrative expenses, emergency relief, and $11,700 on account of work which will be financed with transferred funds in 1943 instead of from regular appropriations. These decreases are offset in part by increases of $135,000 for additional personnel required for the clearance of checks, the handling of collections and the redemption of defense savings bonds, $2,040 for reallocations, and $17,140 for within-grade promotions.

The total annual estimates of the Bureau of Internal Revenue for 1943 are $141,413,940, which represents a net decrease of $956,931. Decreases of $3,000,000 for refunding internal-revenue collections, $600,000 in the salaries and expenses appropriation for refunding processing and related taxes, and $1,350 for payment to Alaska for additional income tax of railroads, total $3,601,350. These decreases are offset in part by increases of $2,040,872 required for the collection of additional taxes imposed by the Revenue Act of 1941, and $603,547 for within-grade promotions. For the fiscal year 1943 no provision is made for the collection of the use tax on motor vehicles and boats.

The estimate for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for the fiscal year 1943 of $10,327,168 shows an increase of $273,668 over 1942. After making allowance for nonrecurring items totaling $1,007,266, the amount recommended for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing includes increases of $1,269,566 for the production of increased quantities of currency, revenue stamps, bonds, notes, checks, etc., and $11,368 for within-grade promotions.

The appropriation estimates of the Secret Service Division for 1943 total $1,348,663, which is a net decrease of $122,585. The nonrecurring item of $130,000 for administrative expenses, emergency relief, is offset in part by the allowance of $7,415 for within-grade promotions.

The estimates for the Bureau of the Mint for 1943 amount to $4,073,470, which is an increase of $550,795. This net increase represents the difference between nonrecurring items totaling $426,986 and increases totaling $977,781. The increases consist of $889,086 to provide for a substantial increase in the coinage program, $70,000 for the purchase of a few necessary items of mint machinery, $1,100 for the Office of the Director, $800 for the production of a medal which was authorized by Congress, and $16,795 for within-grade promotions.

The estimates for the Procurement Division for 1943 amount to $1,316,197, which is a reduction of $2,632,098 below 1942. This net reduction is due to nonrecurring items of $2,400,000 for administrative expenses, emergency relief, $128,052 in the salaries and expenses item, and $127,500 under printing and binding. These decreases are offset in part by increases of $12,524 for additional personnel, $4,000 for stationery supplies, and $6,930 for within-grade promotions.

Permanent Appropriations.—The estimates for permanent appropriations for 1943 total $2,283,022,707, which is an increase of $431,627,868. This increase consists of $425,000,000 for interest on the public debt, $1,601,673 for debt retirement, and $5,026,195 for expenses of loans under the Bureau of the Public Debt. The latter amount is required chiefly in connection with the sale of defense savings bonds and for the Defense Savings Staff engaged in promoting the sale of these bonds.

Trust Accounts.—The estimates of appropriations for trust accounts for 1943 total $3,044,921,652, an increase of $804,027,064. This increase includes $513,285,983 for payments from the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund, $290,733,481 for the investment and payments from the unemployment trust fund, $5,000 for the payment of unclaimed moneys, and $2,600 to cover the increased cost of services performed by the Bureau of Internal Revenue for the benefit of the Government of Puerto Rico.

War Department

Military activities.—For liquidation of obligations accruing under prior contract authorizations and for operating and maintenance expenses of the Military Establishment, on a prewar basis, the Budget for the fiscal year 1943 provides for appropriations totaling $6,378,801,675, exclusive of trust funds. No new contract authorizations are provided, the estimates having been prepared on a cash basis. Conditions having greatly changed since these estimates were prepared they will have to be materially supplemented as the fiscal year 1943 progresses.

Departmental activities.—The estimates of appropriations for departmental salaries, contingent expenses, and printing and binding total $9,290,072, but provision is made for supplementing the amounts for these purposes by allotments from field appropriations for military activities to meet additional needs.

Civil activities.—There is included a total of $39,095,590 for the civil activities of the War Department (exclusive of the Panama Canal, items under the General Public Works Program, and trust accounts) which is a net decrease of $7,127,920 from the amount appropriated in 1942. This net decrease is the result of an increase of $5,746 for Alaska Communications System necessitated largely to handle increased traffic, and of decreases, due to reduced requirements, of $6,100,040 for maintenance of river and harbor improvements, and of $1,033,626 for cemeterial expenses.

The amount included for the Panama Canal, $78,314,375, is an increase of $18,350,049 over the amount appropriated in 1942. This deviation consists of increases of $21,894,800 for the construction of additional facilities; $206,216 for the civil government; $21,777 for sanitation; and of a decrease of $3,772,744 in the requirements for maintenance and operation.

Trust accounts.—The amount included for trust accounts, $3,160,346, reflects a net decrease in 1943 of $2,349,230 due principally to a reduction in funds advanced for flood control.

Post Office Department

The Post Office Department estimates are included as an Annexed Budget, since the excess of expenditures over the postal revenues is paid from the general fund of the Treasury, and only the excess is carried to Statement No. 2 of the Budget for 1943 and to the General Budget Summary and supporting schedules.

It is estimated that the postal revenues for the fiscal year 1943 will amount to $907,000,000. The estimates of appropriations included in the Annexed Budget aggregate $906,151,991, which indicates a surplus of $848,009.

The details concerning the estimates for the Post Office Department will be found in the summary tables and explanatory statement under the Annexed Budget.

District of Columbia

The estimates of appropriations for the District of Columbia for the fiscal year 1943, together with prior-year appropriations, are to be found in an Annexed Budget. The net expenditures, to the extent that they affect the general fund of the Treasury, are carried to the General Budget Summary and supporting schedules. The appropriation requirements for 1943, insofar as they constitute a charge upon the United States Treasury, are estimated at $6,000,000, the same amount appropriated for 1942. The details of the requirements of the District of Columbia are to be found in the summary and supporting schedules of the Annexed Budget.

Printing and binding for Congress chargeable to the foregoing appropriation, when recommended to be done by the Committee on Printing of either House, shall be so recommended in a report containing an approximate estimate of the cost thereof, together with a statement from the Public Printer of estimated approximate cost of work previously ordered by Congress within the fiscal year for which this appropriation is made.

During the fiscal year [1942] 1943 any executive department or independent establishment of the Government ordering printing and binding from the Government Printing Office shall pay promptly by check to the Public Printer upon his written request, either in advance or upon completion of the work, all or part of the estimated or actual cost thereof, as the case may be, and bills rendered by the Public Printer in accordance herewith shall not be subject to audit or certification in advance of payment: Provided, That proper adjustments on the basis of the actual cost of delivered work paid for in advance shall be made monthly or quarterly and as may be agreed upon by the Public Printer and the department or establishment concerned. All sums paid to the Public Printer for work that he is authorized by law to do shall be deposited to the credit, on the books of the Treasury Department, of the appropriation made for the working capital of the Government Printing Office for the year in which the work is done, and be subject to requisition by the Public Printer.

All amounts in the Budget for the fiscal year [1943] 1944 for printing and binding for any department or establishment, so far as the Bureau of the Budget may deem practicable, shall be incorporated in a single item for printing and binding for such department or establishment and be eliminated as a part of any estimate for any other purpose. And if any amounts for printing and binding, including the total cost of work produced on the multilith, multigraph, and other similar equipment are included as a part of any estimates for any other purposes, such amounts shall be set forth in detail in a note immediately following the general estimate for printing and binding: Provided, That the foregoing requirements shall not apply to work to be executed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

No part of any money appropriated in this Act shall be paid to any person employed in the Government Printing Office while detailed for or performing service in the executive branch of the public service of the United States unless such detail be authorized by law (55 Stat. 463–464).

Sea Food Inspections, Food and Drug Administration—

Under authority of "An Act to amend section 10A of the Federal Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906, as amended", approved August 27, 1935 (21 U. S. C. 372a), the Federal Security Administrator provides inspection of sea food products upon the application of packers. This service is supported in part by the appropriation "Enforcement of the Sea Food Inspectors Act", Food and Drug Administration, and partly by fees charged the packers which are used to employ additional inspectors and for administrative, equipment, and maintenance costs necessary to provide an adequate and efficient inspection service. These unearned fees are covered into the Treasury as a special trust fund and are appropriated and made available for refunds (21 U. S. C. 372a).
