EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

From 1934 to 1941 the postal revenues increased 38.5 percent, or from $586,000,000 to $812,800,000, which is an all-time high record for the Post Office Department. For the fiscal year 1942 the revenues are estimated at $860,000,000 which is an increase of approximately 6 percent over 1941. For 1943 the revenues are estimated at $907,000,000 which is approximately 5.5 percent over the estimate of $860,000,000 for 1942. These estimates of postal revenue for the fiscal years 1942 and 1943 are predicated on the continuation of the present uptrend in postal business through the fiscal year 1943.

The expenditures of the Post Office Department, authorized by the appropriations made for such purposes, are met from postal revenues to the extent that such revenues are available and any excess of expenditures over such revenues is paid from the general fund of the Treasury. Expenditures for postal operations since 1934, like the revenues, have also shown a gradual increase. Expenditures for the fiscal year 1934 were $630,000,000 and for the fiscal year 1941, $839,800,000, an increase of 33.17 percent in expenditures compared with an increase of 38.5 percent in revenue for the same period.

A comparison of expenditures for postal operations of $839,800,000 for the fiscal year 1941 with revenues of $812,800,000 for the same period indicates a gross postal deficit of $27,000,000 chargeable to the general fund of the Treasury. Due to a greater increase in the volume of mail than was anticipated at the time of the preparation of the 1942 Budget, it is now estimated that supplemental appropriations aggregating approximately $30,000,000 will be required for the fiscal year 1942. This sum added to existing appropriations of $844,900,000 indicates that the total appropriations required will amount to $874,900,000 which, compared with estimated revenues of $860,000,000, would indicate appropriations in excess of revenues of $14,900,000. For the fiscal year 1943 the estimates of appropriations aggregate $906,151,991, compared with estimated revenues of $907,000,000. Should these estimates prove correct, the postal budget would be brought into balance for the first time in many years.

The estimates of appropriation for the Post Office Department in Washington for 1943 are $481,401 in excess of the 1942 appropriations. This increase provides for expansion of service in several bureaus of the Department, the establishment of a budget and administrative planning unit, and for automatic promotions under Public Law 200, Seventy-seventh Congress, first session.

The estimates of appropriation for the field service of the Chief Inspector's Office for 1943 are $758,145 in excess of the 1942 appropriations. This increase is necessary to provide additional inspectors incident to war activities, additional clerical personnel incident to expansion of the force of inspectors, and the transfer of employees, who have for some time been detailed to division headquarters of the inspection service, from the appropriation, "Clerks, first- and second-class post offices," to "Post office inspectors, clerks, division headquarters."

Increase in postal revenues reflects an increase in the volume of mail to be handled and transported, which in turn requires additional expenditures for personnel, transportation and other facilities. The estimates of appropriation for the first assistant's bureau show an increase for 1943 of $14,527,000 over the estimated requirements for 1942, which assumes that supplemental appropriations of $17,250,000 will be needed for 1942. Practically all funds under this bureau are required for salaries of postmasters and post office employees.

For the Second Assistant's bureau, the 1943 estimates of appropriation are $11,500,000 in excess of the estimated requirements for 1942, assuming that additional funds of $12,500,000 will be provided by supplemental appropriations. The bureau of the Second Assistant is charged with the supervision of the transportation of the mails. The largest single item of increase pertains to railroad transportation of mail. The increase in volume of mail requires additional transportation facilities and personnel to move the mails by railroad, aircraft, steamship, and by the rural-route and star-route systems.

The responsibility of providing stamps and stamped paper is charged to the Third Assistant's bureau. The increase in the estimate of appropriation for 1943 over the 1942 appropriation is $495,000. This increase results from the increase in prices or increase in quantities of stamps, stamped paper, and postal cards required to supply the public demand.

The bureau of the Fourth Assistant is charged with the operation and maintenance of public buildings, the furnishing of equipment and supplies, and the administration of the Vehicle Service. The 1943 estimates of appropriation are $3,769,750 in excess of the 1942 appropriations. The increase in these estimates over 1942 is predicated on greater demand for, and increased cost of, equipment and supplies.

| Gross excess of postal revenues over appropriations | [2] 15,081,968 | 848,009 | +14,233,959 |

[1] In addition, it is now estimated that supplemental appropriations of approximately $30,000,000 will be required for the fiscal year 1942, which would increase the annual appropriations required to $874,918,032.

[2] The estimated supplemental appropriations of $30,000,000 would change the stated surplus of $15,081,968 to a deficit of $14,918,032.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The 12 district banks for cooperatives and the Central Bank for Cooperatives (Washington, D. C.) were organized to make credit available to farmers' cooperative associations on a business basis and were chartered by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration pursuant to the provisions of the Farm Credit Act of 1933. The banks were organized and began to function in the year 1933. Their charters provide for continued existence until dissolved by law.

The initial capital of the banks was subscribed by the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration from funds available in the revolving fund established under the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1929. The Government's investment in the capital stock of these banks, subscribed from this fund, amounted to $89,000,000 on June 30, 1941, and the capital stock and guaranty fund subscribed by borrowing cooperative associations amounted to $3,790,100 on the same date. The amount of the Government-owned capital as of June 30, 1941, reflected the repayment of $60,000,000 during the fiscal year ended that date to the revolving fund in the Treasury. Due to the need for capital funds to meet increased requirements for lending purposes, it is contemplated a substantial portion of this amount will be paid in to the banks during the ensuing year.

The banks for cooperatives obtain a portion of their funds for lending purposes by discounting certain of their paper with the Federal intermediate credit banks. The Central Bank for Cooperatives may issue debentures but has never availed itself of the authority.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing of these banks are shown in detail in the statement above.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Electric Home and Farm Authority was incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia August 1, 1935, with a capitalization of $850,000 to succeed Electric Home and Farm Authority, Incorporated, a Delaware corporation. By Executive Order No. 7139, dated August 12, 1935, the Electric Home and Farm Authority was designated an agency of the United States. The act approved June 10, 1941 (Public Law 108, 77th Cong.), continues the Authority as an agency of the United States until January 22, 1947, or such earlier date as the President may fix by Executive order. ### EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation was organized under the act of February 16, 1938, for the purpose of promoting the national welfare by alleviating the economic distress caused by wheat crop failures due to drought and other causes, by maintaining the purchasing power of farmers, and by providing for stable supplies of wheat for domestic consumption and the orderly flow thereof in interstate commerce.

Public Law 118, Seventy-seventh Congress, approved June 21, 1941, authorized the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to insure producers of cotton, commencing with the cotton crop planted for harvest in 1942. Also, the act authorized the Corporation to accept in payment of premiums, notes payable in the commodity insured, or the cash equivalent, and to purchase for insurance reserve purposes the quantity of the commodity represented by any of such notes not paid at maturity. The premium notes for insuring the 1942 crops will mature approximately at the time of harvest; the maturity dates range, in the case of wheat, from July 10 to August 29, 1942, and, in the case of cotton, from August 1 to October 25, 1942. It is anticipated, therefore, that only a small portion of premiums earned on the 1942 crops of wheat and cotton will be collected during the fiscal year 1942.

The Federal Crop Insurance Act provided that the Corporation should have an authorized capital stock of $100,000,000, to be subscribed by the United States of America. As of June 30, 1941, $40,000,000 had been made available to the Secretary of the Treasury for purchase of capital stock of the Corporation, and of this amount $14,000,000 had been requisitioned, leaving $26,000,000 on the books of the Treasury which may be requisitioned by the Corporation for payment of future losses.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Agricultural Credit Act of 1923 (title II of the Federal Farm Loan Act) provided for the establishment of 12 Federal intermediate credit banks. The 12 banks were chartered by the Federal Farm Loan Board during 1923, their term of existence being unlimited.

The authority for supervision of the various Federal intermediate credit banks was transferred to the Farm Credit Administration on May 27, 1933, in conformity with the provisions of Executive Order No. 6084 of March 27, 1933.

The original capital stock of the Federal intermediate credit banks in the amount of $5,000,000 each was subscribed and paid for by the Secretary of the Treasury on behalf of the United States. By an act approved January 31, 1934, an additional sum of $40,000,000 was provided, to be allocated to the capital stock and paid-in surplus of any banks. Late in 1940 pursuant to the President's Budget message of January 3, 1940, the banks returned $40,000,000 to the revolving fund in the Treasury, the proceeds of such repayments being held as a fund available for resubscription, if necessary. Thus, on June 30, 1941, the total capital in the banks amounted to $60,000,000.

The Federal intermediate credit banks have authority, subject to the approval of the Farm Credit Administration, to borrow money from any source and to issue and sell collateral trust debentures or other similar obligations, subject to the general limitation that the aggregate amount of such outstanding debentures and similar obligations issued individually by any bank, together with the amount of consolidated debentures issued for its benefit and account, shall not exceed 10 times the surplus and paid-in capital of such bank. As of June 30, 1941, the banks reported total debentures outstanding aggregating $234,665,000.

The Federal intermediate credit banks pay annually to the United States Treasury a franchise tax equivalent to 25 percent of the amount of earnings remaining after absorption of losses and provision for estimated losses, the elimination of any impairment of paid-in capital, and the creation of necessary reserves.

The principal function of the Federal intermediate credit banks is to supply funds by way of discounts and loans to lending institutions for short- and intermediate-term agricultural loans.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing the Federal intermediate credit banks are shown in detail in the statement above.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Title I of the Farm Credit Act of 1933 authorized and directed the Governor of the Farm Credit Administration to organize and charter 12 production credit corporations, one to be established in each city in which a Federal land bank was located.

All of the capital in the production credit corporations is owned by the United States Government, and the initial subscription was $120,000,000. Late in 1940, pursuant to the President's Budget message of January 3, 1940, the production credit corporations returned $15,000,000 of this capital to a revolving fund in the Treasury, such repayments to be held available for resubscription, if necessary. Thus, as of June 30, 1941, the amount of capital in the corporations was $105,000,000. Since that time, however, it has become necessary to subscribe for additional capital funds and the paid-in capital of the corporations was increased $15,000,000 in September 1941.

The principal function of the production credit corporations is to organize, provide capital for and supervise local production credit associations which make short-term agricultural loans to their members. As of June 30, 1941, the 12 corporations were supervising the operations of 538 production credit associations, serving farmers in every rural county in the United States, and owned about 78 percent of the total outstanding stock of the associations.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing are shown in detail in the statement above.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was created as a body corporate by the act approved January 22, 1932, for the purpose of providing funds, through loans to be made by the Corporation, to counteract the then-existing restriction of private credit. The enactment creating the Corporation authorized it to extend financial assistance to banks and other financial institutions and to various classes of borrowers for agricultural, commercial and industrial purposes. The scope of the Corporation's lending function has been expanded from time to time by subsequent legislation. The succession of the Corporation was originally established at 10 years but has been extended by subsequent legislation to January 22, 1947. The capital stock of the Corporation was originally established at $500,000,000, the stock being subscribed for by the Secretary of the Treasury from the proceeds of an appropriation authorized by the act creating the Corporation. The act approved June 25, 1940, authorized the Corporation to retire part of its capital stock, to pay dividends thereon and to purchase the stock of any Federal home-loan bank held by the Treasury, the amount to be paid to the Treasury for any or all such purposes not to exceed $300,000,000. Pursuant to this act and the President's Budget message of January 3, 1940, relative to excess capital funds of corporations, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation reduced its capital stock to $325,000,000, returning $175,000,000 to the Treasury.

The Corporation was also authorized by the act of its creation to issue a limited amount of notes, debentures or other obligations, which authority has been variously increased and decreased by subsequent legislation. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to purchase such obligations of the Corporation.

The financing operations of the Corporation are carried out in one of three ways. First, the Corporation is authorized, in its discretion to make various classes of loans and to purchase various types of preferred stock. Second, the Corporation, upon the direction of Congress, is required to provide funds to certain agencies of the Government for the financing of various programs which such agencies are authorized to undertake. Third, the Corporation is authorized, in its discretion, to make loans to subsidiary corporations which, under various amendments of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, it is authorized to establish or create. These various types of operations are indicated in the Corporation's annexed budget as set forth in the foregoing table.

The direct operations of the Corporation include loans to banks, railroads, business enterprises, mining interests, public agencies, agricultural marketing organizations, etc., and purchases of stock in banks, insurance companies, mortgage corporations, and corporations engaged in defense activities, as well as the administrative expenses incurred in connection with the operations of the Corporation. Direct receipts include repayments of principal and interest in connection with the foregoing loans and the proceeds accruing from the sale or redemption of obligations purchased.

Funds allocated at the direction, or upon the authorization, of Congress have been employed to purchase the capital stock of the Disaster Loan Corporation, regional agricultural credit corporations, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, the Federal home-loan banks, the Export-Import Bank of Washington, the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation, The RFC Mortgage Company, the Federal National Mortgage Association, and the following Corporations created by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation pursuant to section 5d of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act, as amended: The Defense Plant Corporation, the Defense Supplies Corporation, the Rubber Reserve Company, and Metals Reserve Company. Funds of the Corporation have also been supplied, other than through capital stock subscriptions, to the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, Farm Credit Administration, Federal Housing Administration, Commodity Credit Corporation, the Rural Electrification Administration, the Defense Homes Corporation, and the Corporations created by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation pursuant to the said section 5d, and used for the purchase of securities from the Federal Emergency Administrator of Public Works and for transfer to the appropriation made by the Emergency Relief Act of 1935. Obligations of the Corporation have been canceled pursuant to the act approved February 24, 1938, in an amount equivalent to most of the funds so provided.

The act approved February 24, 1938, authorized and directed the Secretary of the Treasury to cancel the obligations of the Corporation in an amount equal to the investments or advances of the Corporation made at the direction of Congress to various agencies of the Government, including such advances for relief purposes. The act provides also for the cancelation of obligations as respects future disbursements which may be made within the same categories. The act approved March 28, 1941, directing the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to make funds available for the defense housing insurance fund also provides for the cancelation of obligations in an amount equivalent to the funds made available for such purpose. Under the authority of the first-mentioned act, obligations totaling approximately $2,737,699,131 had been canceled as of November 30, 1941, and under the last-mentioned act obligations totaling $5,000,000 had been canceled as of November 30, 1941.

Reorganization Plan No. I, promulgated by the President pursuant to the Reorganization Act of 1939, provides that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall be grouped under the Federal Loan Agency and subject to the supervision of the Federal Loan Administrator.

The receipts and expenditures and means of financing the Corporation are set forth in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

By authority granted in section 201 (e) of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1932, approved July 21, 1932, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation created 12 regional agricultural credit corporations to make short-term loans direct to farmers and stockmen in the United States.

The stock of these corporations was subscribed and paid for by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation out of the unexpended balance of the amounts allocated and made available to the Secretary of Agriculture under section 2 of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation acts. All of the stock is now held by the Secretary of the Treasury for and on behalf of the United States. Of the total original capital of $44,500,000, the corporations have returned to a revolving fund set up under section 84 of the Farm Credit Act of 1933 the sum of $39,500,000, leaving outstanding stock in the amount of $5,000,000.

On May 27, 1933, the functions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation relating to the affairs of the regional agricultural credit corporations were transferred to the Farm Credit Administration.

Since May 1, 1934, the regional agricultural credit corporations have been in process of orderly liquidation, the short-term credit needs of agriculture being provided for by other permanent organizations administered by the Farm Credit Administration. In accordance with authority granted by the Farm Credit Act of 1937, the Farm Credit Administration has effected the consolidation or merger of various of the corporations so that on June 30, 1941, there were only three in existence. In addition, there was a branch office at Wenatchee, Wash., which was established late in 1940 for the purpose of extending credit to apple growers in that area. The severe economic distress faced by the apple industry in the Pacific Northwest as the result of the closing down of export markets and other factors had created a most urgent need for credit which it was believed could best be met by the regional agricultural credit corporations.

The receipts and expenditures of the regional agricultural credit corporations are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The United States Housing Authority was originally created as a body corporate of perpetual duration in the Department of the Interior by the United States Housing Act of 1937, approved September 1, 1937 (50 Stat. 888), to "provide financial assistance to the States and political subdivisions thereof for the elimination of unsafe and insanitary housing conditions, for the eradication of slums, for the provision of decent, safe, and sanitary dwellings for families of low income, for the reduction of unemployment, and the stimulation of business activity * * *." This act was further amended by the United States Housing Act amendment of 1938, approved June 21, 1938 (52 Stat. 820). The United States Housing Authority, under Reorganization Plan No. 1, effective July 1, 1939, was transferred from the Department of the Interior to the newly created Federal Works Agency. The United States Housing Authority was authorized to engage in defense housing activities under title II of Public, No. 671, Seventy-sixth Congress, chapter 440, third session, H. R. 9822, approved June 28, 1940.

The Authority has a capital stock of $1,000,000 subscribed by the United States and is authorized to issue obligations guaranteed by the United States in an amount not to exceed $800,000,000 and to make contributions in an amount not to exceed $28,000,000 per annum.

The receipts, expenditures, and means of financing of the Authority (other than expenditures incurred in connection with the completion of the transferred Public Works Administration Housing Division projects) are shown in detail in the foregoing statement.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

As shown on the summary statement presented herewith, an appropriation of $136,100,000 is requested for the fiscal year 1943. Of this amount, approximately $88,500,000 will be required to complete the emergency power-supply facilities started in prior years. In addition to this $88,500,000, a considerable proportion of the balance is directly related to the defense emergency. For example, the schedules for the completion of the Kentucky and Fort Loudoun projects have been moved forward a year to assure increased power supply for defense industries. Also, the expansion in phosphorus-producing capacity provided in the estimates for fertilizer plant is necessitated by the emergency, as more than half of the Nation's existing capacity is needed for military purposes and the balance for producing concentrated phosphates for shipments to the nations resisting aggression. The development activities program has also been substantially revised to meet emergency needs, and the estimates under general assets include provision of service facilities necessitated by the expansion of emergency activities. In addition to the work contemplated by the estimates presented herewith, the Authority is also engaged in modernizing Nitrate Plant No. 2 at Muscle Shoals for the War Department and is aiding the Federal Works Agency in the construction of defense housing in the area. The estimates are described in some detail in the following paragraphs.

NAVIGATION, FLOOD CONTROL, AND POWER PROGRAM

Supporting Statement No. 1 presents the actual and estimated costs under the asset accounts of the navigation, flood control, and power program. The first section of that statement covers the construction of the major unified system projects. These projects include the 4 on the Hiwassee River and its tributaries approved as a part of the second supplemental defense power program, the Fontana, South Fork of the Holston, and Watauga projects as part of the third supplemental defense power program, 14 hydro generating units and 3 steam generating units at other plants as parts of the second and third supplementary programs, and extension of the Fort Loudoun Dam across the Little Tennessee River.

The schedule for the completion of the Kentucky Dam and Reservoir has been advanced to provide for all five generators to be in service in 1944 instead of in 1945. The estimates for the Pickwick Dam and Reservoir provide for part of the cost of a unit added under the third supplementary program, those for the Wilson Dam and Reservoir for part of the cost of four additional units added under the second and third supplementary programs, those for the Wheeler Dam and Reservoir for part of the cost of two additional units provided for by the third supplementary program, and those for the Guntersville Dam and Reservoir for part of the cost of one additional unit provided for by the third supplementary program.

The estimates for Hales Bar Dam and Reservoir additions provide for continuation of navigation improvements and leak stoppage. Those for the Chickamauga Dam and Reservoir provide for part of the cost of an additional generating unit provided for by the third supplementary program, and those for the Watts Bar Dam and Reservoir for completion of the project as originally planned and part of the cost of the addition of two more units under the second supplementary program. Those for the Fort Loudoun Dam and Reservoir provide for part of the cost of completing the project as originally planned plus two additional generating units and a diversion dam which will add the lower portion of the Little Tennessee River to the reservoir.

The estimates for the Hiwassee projects provide for completion of the Chatuge, Nottely, Ocoee No. 3 and Apalachia Dams, and part of the cost of an additional unit at the Hiwassee Dam. The Cherokee Dam and Reservoir will be virtually completed in 1942 at a saving of $3,000,000 under the original estimate. The estimates for the Fontana, South Fork of the Holston, and Watauga projects provide for continuation of these jobs, approved in the third supplementary program. The estimates for the Watts Bar Steam Plant include part of the cost of the fourth 60,000 kw unit, and those for the Sheffield Steam Plant provide for completion of the installation of an additional 40,000 kw unit, both provided for in the third supplementary program.

The estimates for investigations for future unified system projects are for continuation of activities which have heretofore enabled rapid and efficient expansion of construction to meet emergency power needs.

The item "Transmission and other electric plant" includes provision for necessary expansion of facilities for delivery of power to the Authority's customers; for interconnection of the existing system with facilities purchased from other utilities, with new projects being built to supply defense power, and with other utilities from which power for defense needs is being purchased or interchanged; and for the rehabilitation of purchased properties. The 1943 estimate of $25,076,000 includes $5,070,000 for construction of switchyards to serve the new generating capacity to be under construction in that year, $19,324,000 for expansion of the transmission system, and $682,000 for prorated departmental and general administration. The $19,324,000 includes $10,464,000 for construction of transmission facilities required for national defense and $8,860,000 for additions to provide for system reinforcement and load growth other than those required directly by large industrial customers with defense contracts. It is contemplated that the proceeds of bond issues will be entirely obligated in 1942, and none of the work to be done in 1943 will be financed from this source.

The estimates for 1943 include $215,000 for the provision of facilities to be transferred, in return for mortgage liens, to municipalities and cooperatives for extensions to their systems, and for repayments on such liens already outstanding of $162,000.

Power inventories will have to be increased by $66,000 in 1943, principally to provide the coal supply for the additional steam units, scheduled to go on the line in that year.

Supporting Statement No. 2 indicates that in 1943 the surplus before depreciation from navigation, flood-control, and power operations will reach $19,892,000, an amount nearly four times the net expense of all other operations of the Authority.

The estimate for 1943 for navigation and flood-control operations includes $110,000 for the study and development of river transportation and $8,000 representing the cost of power furnished to the Corps of Engineers, United States Army, for the operation of the locks at the various main river dams.

The estimated net income from power operations in 1943 will provide approximately as great a return on the investment in power facilities financed from appropriations as the 5 percent earned in 1941, after providing for depreciation and the allocated portion of common expense. The Authority's sales of power are at the point of exhausting the dependable supply, and the additional generating facilities scheduled for installation in 1942 and 1943 will all be needed to meet the expected demands of the area.

The estimated total revenues show an increase of 75 percent in 1943 over 1941. In order to guard against a dry year, allowances for unrealized revenues and increased production expenses of $2,000,000 are included in both 1942 and 1943.

It will be noted that although there will be several additional projects in operation in 1943, the estimate for common expense in that year is only 8 percent higher than in 1942.

FERTILIZER PROGRAM

The increase in the estimates for asset accounts under the fertilizer program for 1943 over 1942 is more than accounted for by inclusion of $3,000,000 to start construction of a Gulf coast plant to manufacture calcium metaphosphate.

The first item under these accounts provides for purchases of phosphate-bearing land and mining rights therein as tracts are discovered which warrant acquisition. During 1942 and 1943 it is planned to purchase reserves to replace sales made in 1940 to the Monsanto Chemical Co.

The item "Plant and equipment" includes provision for a fused-rock furnace, a potassium metaphosphate furnace, completion of a washing and agglomerating plant, a flotation plant, and miscellaneous improvements in 1943, in addition to the new Gulf coast plant.

The increase in fertilizer inventories in 1943 of $316,000 is occasioned by the increase in plant capacity arising from the scheduled completion of a new calcium metaphosphate furnace in 1942 and by the necessity of stocking larger reserves of raw materials to insure continuous operation of the plant.

The increase in the net expense of fertilizer operations in 1943 is accounted for by the continued expansion of the test-demonstration program on a Nation-wide basis and by a small expansion of the small-scale research activities which have formed the basis for the past development of this program. This expansion will enable some initial studies to be made on nitrogen compound fertilizers.

The 1943 estimates for "Experimental large-scale production" will provide for the production of approximately 37,000 tons of phosphatic materials for the Authority's test-demonstration program. The remaining capacity, sufficient to produce 106,000 tons of superphosphate, will be reserved for the manufacture of fertilizers for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and Great Britain or for the production of elemental phosphorus for the War Department. The estimated net credit of $441,000 in 1943 will be more than sufficient to absorb the depreciation on fertilizer plant in service in that year.

The Authority's test demonstrations, conducted in experiment stations and under practical farming conditions, become the basis for improved farm-management programs and soil-conservation practices. The increase in the estimate for these activities in 1943 is accounted for by an increase in the amount for fertilizer of $33,000 and an increase in other expenses of $65,000, to be used principally for extension of cooperation with the States participating in the program.

"Controlled soil and fertilizer investigations" comprise a series of studies of the characteristics of new forms of fertilizers and their effects on plant life and animal nutrition. These investigations are accompanied by extensive fertilizer tests on varying types of farms, directed by personnel of the land-grant colleges. Use of the more highly concentrated calcium metaphosphate is increasing as the use of triple superphosphate decreases. It is anticipated that these test demonstrations will be initiated in eight new States in 1942 and several additional States in 1943. Of the estimate of $545,000 for test demonstrations in that year, about four-fifths is for reimbursement of the expense of cooperating institutions.

Soil inventory mapping had been completed by the end of 1941 in 41 counties covering 13,352,320 acres. Of the estimate of $111,000 for this item in 1943, $86,000 is for reimbursement of the expenses of the Bureau of Plant Industry and the land-grant colleges.

"Transportation studies relating to fertilizer distribution" comprise, for the most part, investigations of the most economical routing of fertilizers.

RELATED PROPERTY OPERATIONS PROGRAM

This program covers activities on its lands which are not directly related to the Authority's major objectives. Estimates for the assets used in this program are contained in the "General assets" section of the Budget.

The increase of $17,315 in the estimates for "Reservoir area operations" in 1943 is primarily accounted for by the increased expense of agricultural readjustment around reservoirs as the Cherokee, Watts Bar, and new Hiwassee projects are placed in operation. The estimate for development of recreational facilities for 1943 of $115,900 will provide such items as boat docks, swimming areas, and picnic and vacation parks where the greatest demand has arisen on recently completed reservoirs.

As is shown on Supporting Statement No. 5, the Authority expects to realize a small net income from the operation of recreational facilities in 1942 and 1943. The greater part of this income will be realized from operations in the Norris area.

Under "Reforestation and erosion control on reservoir lands" some 37,000 acres have been reforested to date and plans are made for the protection, management, and development of the 300,000 acres on the margins of the lakes which are in forest.

"Fish and game readjustment investigations" are directed toward the restocking of the lakes with fish which are suited to the new environment and the rehabilitation of native game resources interfered with by the impoundment of the reservoirs.

Operation of villages at completed projects will result, it is estimated, in 1943 in a net income before depreciation of $40,699, more than double the net income for 1942. The largest part of this increase will, it is anticipated, be derived from the villages in the Muscle Shoals area.

The estimates totaling $24,160 for maintenance of national defense properties provide for continuing routine repairs of Nitrate Plant No. 1 and the unused portion of Plant No. 2.

DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES PROGRAM

Through contributing to the improvement of the general economy of the region by the discovery and development of new uses for basic resources and methods for increasing income, this program has already proved its importance as a backlog to the area's ability to aid in national defense. The total estimate for 1943 is the same as the estimate for 1942.

Of the estimate of $250,000 for general mapping, shown as the first item on Supporting Statement No. 6, $242,000 is for the continuation of topographic mapping of the eastern section of the valley on a scale of 1:24,000. This work is performed in cooperation with the Geological Survey. By the end of 1943, aerial photographs will have been made of 22,100 square miles, and reproduced maps will be available for 11,500 square miles.

The increase of $58,000 in the estimates for 1943 for valley-wide forestry development and erosion control is accounted for by developments directed toward reducing the impact of post-emergency problems, and by increased activities in the denuded Ocoee No. 3 watershed. The greater part of the estimate of $125,000 for forestry resources surveys and management planning is to provide for forest-products utilization research, intended to be a basis on which new industries may be developed.

Forestry activities on private lands have so far resulted in the planting of about 90,000,000 trees. The increase in the estimate for this work in 1943 will enable the Authority to aid in the improvement of methods of management of the 6,000,000 acres of farm wood lots in the area. These activities also include erosion control in the badly eroded Copper Basin, which is part of the watershed of the Ocoee No. 3 project, and cooperation with other agencies in educational work in the field of forest protection.

The estimate for nursery operation is a net figure, after crediting the cost of trees used on the Authority's land. The two nurseries operated by the Authority have an annual productive capacity of 25,000,000 trees.

Under "Tree and tree crop research" 1,237 demonstrations have been started in 51 counties, designed to acquaint the public with improved plant materials, methods, and techniques.

The estimates for development of mineral resources reflect a concentration of effort on materials most important to national defense, such as olivine as a source of magnesium, alumina from clays, vermiculite, chromite, and manganese. It is hoped that a commercial scale alumina plant will be in operation in 1943, but pilot-plant operations and research should be continued in any event in order to perfect refinements in the process. The increase for other mineral research in 1943 is largely explained by the fact that in that year the investigations on certain other minerals should reach the pilot-plant stage. The estimate for research with the Bureau of Mines provides for cooperation at the Norris ceramic laboratory, transferred to the Bureau by the Authority.

The public health activities which comprise a part of this program contribute to the solution of the major health problems of the area and are conducted in close cooperation with other Federal, State, local, and private agencies.

The larger portion of the estimate for cooperative health work and public health studies is to provide for cooperation with State health departments in maintaining adequate measures in areas contiguous to the major unified system projects to safeguard the health of employees and to prevent exaggeration of local problems. The increase in 1943 is accounted for by the greater number of these projects.

Medical malariology and biological studies develop means for improving the practices used to combat malaria both in this area and elsewhere. Stream sanitation studies have assumed greater importance as the industrial development of the region is accelerated.

"Cooperative agricultural industries development" consists of the introduction of improved processing and marketing methods for crops which contribute the most to increased farm income and soil conservation. The processes being developed should serve to assist in the alleviation of post-emergency problems.

The Authority's interest in cooperative research, the first item in this section, arises from the many relationships between cooperative organizations and various phases of its programs. To the next item, "Development of new processes and markets for farm products," the Authority has assigned 10 employees, but 60 other persons are engaged in this work as members of the staffs of cooperating institutions. By 1943 the Authority's quick-freezing process will have reached the commercial stage, and income from it will offset any expense incurred. In that year emphasis will be given to vegetable-oil seed and livestock products.

Rural electrification education becomes increasingly important as power is made available to an ever-increasing number of farms in the area. The effectiveness of the last of the activities in this group, "Development of farm equipment," has been demonstrated by the installation by farmers, at their own expense, of equipment developed by the Authority, such as sweetpotato curing houses, walk-in refrigerators, irrigation systems, and hay driers.

The 1943 estimates for general activities for the development of the valley provide for continuation of studies and research concerned with the broad aspects of the proper use, conservation, and development of the region's resources, emphasizing the promotion of the general welfare of the area. The first of these activities listed on Supporting Statement No. 6, "Transportation and industrial economic studies," includes investigation of the industry of the area and its potential growth, particularly as related to water transportation and the utilization of electric power.

The second activity for which an estimate is presented for 1943 consists of cooperation with the Coordinator of Defense Housing, seeking to reconcile the emergency construction of dwellings with the long-range development of the area so that these dwellings will have the maximum permanent utility. Studies of local government emphasize investigations of changes in financial status and other problems resulting from the programs of the Authority, as well as the opportunities arising from them.

During the current year, community planning assistance will be rendered to 18 communities affected by the Authority's construction activities, and 5 other areas affected by other defense activities. Under the last item in this group, covering defense contract assistance, the Authority keeps posted as to the productive potentialities of plants in the area and aids in disseminating information on products not now made there.

GENERAL ASSET ACCOUNTS

The estimates for general asset accounts, Supporting Statement No. 7, total $2,975,000 for 1943. Of this total, $2,199,000 is for related property plant and equipment, and most of this amount is for service facilities urgently needed in the Muscle Shoals area. These facilities include road and railroad improvements, laboratories and other facilities for the chemical plant, and new warehouses, shops, docks, and a garage. The great expansion in operations occurring in this area has created serious congestion with respect to the makeshift service facilities now in existence, most of which were built over 20 years ago.

The road improvements are needed to handle traffic increases brought about by the defense activities in the area, to permit present roads near the munitions plant to be closed, and to replace a deteriorated overpass at the entrance to Reservation No. 2. A new main artery should be built to serve the chemical plant, garage, and harbor.

The principal railroad improvements would consist of new yards and other new trackage and adjustments to the present system. A new chemical building providing 90,000 square feet of space is needed for offices and laboratories to house increased personnel and to accommodate those being crowded out of space which is being given over to production.

Warehouses, shops, and docks are planned for erection on the shores of Fleet Harbor to provide facilities for power, reservoir, and property operations. The new garage is designed to replace an old structure which is now in an unsafe condition.

The estimates for Norris and other properties provide for minor and routine equipment replacements and plant alterations.

By 1943 additions to general equipment to serve the greatly enlarged construction activities will have been completed and funds will be required only for the purchase of replacements of worn-out units. A small reduction is anticipated in general inventories in 1943.

The 1942 estimate for the continuing fund and unallotted balance includes the $1,000,000 reserved for emergencies under section 26 of the Tennessee Valley Authority Act.

MAJOR DEFENSE SERVICES FOR OTHER FEDERAL AGENCIES

The Authority is constructing a synthetic ammonia plant and rehabilitating the ammonium nitrate section of Nitrate Plant No. 2 for the War Department. This work is estimated to cost $9,425,000. In 1943 these facilities are scheduled to produce 108,000 tons of ammonium nitrate at an estimated cost of $5,616,000.

The Authority has also constructed in the Muscle Shoals area 250 defense houses for the Federal Works Agency at a cost of $875,000, and the Authority will operate this housing for that agency. In addition, design and site acquisition services have been furnished other defense housing projects.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

The financial requirements of the District of Columbia for the fiscal year 1943 are summarized in the preceding statements. It will be noted from the Annexed Budget summary that the estimated revenues (general, special, and trust accounts) of the District for 1943 are expected to total $55,951,209, which, together with the Federal contribution of $6,000,000 and the total of the estimated unobligated balances (general, special, and trust accounts) of $2,743,896 carried over from the fiscal year 1942, will total $64,695,105. The obligations (general, special, and trust accounts) for 1943 are estimated at $61,361,589. It is expected that there will be a net surplus of $3,333,516 at the close of the fiscal year 1943 made up as follows: General revenue account, $820,595; highway-fund account, $1,382,037; and trust accounts, $1,130,884.

Revenues of the District of Columbia

Supporting Statement No. 1 shows the revenues of the District estimated for 1943, as allocated to the general, special, and trust accounts. The general-account revenues are discussed in detail immediately below. The revenue estimates under the highway fund are expected to show a substantial increase because of recent legislation which provides for a 1-cent increase in the tax on motor-vehicle fuel. The trust accounts for 1943 approximate those for 1942, excluding, of course, the Public Works Administration allocations of $1,388,710.

It will be observed that, under the general revenue account, by far the largest source of revenue for the District is the tax on real estate, estimated to yield $22,500,000 for 1943. This yield includes both current and back taxes, the levy being based on an assessed valuation of $1,290,000,000 at $1.75 per hundred. This valuation is an increase of $40,000,000 over the estimated valuation for 1942.

The tax on tangible personal property is expected to yield $1,850,000, including delinquency payments. This estimate is based on an assessment of $105,714,285 at $1.75 per hundred. The assessment is $17,214,285 in excess of the estimated assessment for 1942.

The tax on individual incomes is estimated at $2,000,000, while the tax on corporate incomes is estimated at $2,500,000.

TABLE NO. 5

Statement of balances of appropriations as of June 30, 1941 (exclusive of trust accounts), and of appropriations for the fiscal year 1942 (including permanent and indefinite appropriations), as of Nov. 1, 1941, reported by the Secretary of the Treasury

[This statement is included in the Budget only because of the requirements of the Budget and Accounting Act, 1921 (31 U. S. C. 11e). As budgetary information, the statement has little if any value, as it simply shows the balances of appropriations on the books of the Treasury, June 30, 1941, classified as between 1942 appropriations and those of prior years according to whether the funds were appropriated as "immediately available"]
