AMOUNTS AVAILABLE FOR OBLIGATION

Reappropriation of prior year balance (obligations incurred)—1955, $400,000,000.

ANALYSIS OF TRANSFERS TO REVOLVING FUND

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund, initially established in 1893, finances the procurement of stocks of general stores material, vehicular equipment repair parts, special ship electrical fittings, clothing, ship's and commissary store stock, medical and dental material, blood and related items, provisions supplies, electronic items, fuels, and certain ship repair parts. Income is derived from sales to authorized purchasers (5 U. S. C. 172d).

Included are worldwide depot and, in general, station stocks; also mobilization reserves of essential items which cannot be immediately procured in the event of an emergency.

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAM

The value of inventories capitalized (schedule B–1) is estimated to increase $867.3 million from July 1, 1955, through June 30, 1957. Of this total $115.4 million was capitalized during 1955 and $15 million (net) in 1956. An additional $736.9 million is to be capitalized in 1957.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

Funds applied to finance operations were less than amounts provided by operations by $157.6 million in 1955. Due to the continuing availability of items of stocks in long supply which are not required to be replaced when sold, it is estimated that funds provided by operations will exceed funds applied to finance operations by $115 million in 1956 and by $200 million in 1957.

Repayments of excess cash were made to the Treasury in the amounts of $200 million in 1955, and $429 million in 1956 and it is estimated that an additional $200 million will be available for transfer to other accounts in 1957.

OPERATING RESULTS

Sales income increase in 1957 is attributable to extension of the fund to include additional automotive repair parts, electronic items and ship repair parts and because of the inclusion of categories of submarine repair parts and photographic material not previously financed by the fund.

FINANCIAL CONDITION

After the transfer of $200 million to other accounts, which is to be proposed to cover the cost of legislation being recommended, the Government investment in the fund as of June 30, 1957, is estimated at $2,483.5 million, consisting of $806.6 million of appropriated and reappropriated money, $1,576 million of net capitalized inventories and $100.9 million of retained earnings.

DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE

Air Force Industrial Fund

AMOUNTS AVAILABLE FOR OBLIGATION

Reappropriation of prior year balance (5 U. S. C. 172)—1955, $160,000,000.

ANALYSIS OF TRANSFERS TO REVOLVING FUND

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund finances industrial and commercial type activities on a reimbursable basis (5 U. S. C. 172d). The activities now financed include the Air Force printing service, comprised of 8 plants, and the Air Force laundry and dry-cleaning service, consisting of plants at 50 installations worldwide.

Income and expenses increase after 1955 because, beginning in 1956, laundry and dry-cleaning plants have been financed under the fund. In laundry and dry-cleaning overseas operations, about $378,000 equivalent in labor is expected to be provided from deutschemark support during fiscal year 1956. An equivalent amount will be credited to miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury and is therefore excluded from 1956 sales.

It is planned to finance under this fund, beginning in 1957, the Military Air Transport Service and eight aircraft and component overhaul and rebuild centers. The latter are located at Oklahoma City, Okla., San Antonio, Tex., Sacramento, Calif., San Bernardino, Calif., Mobile, Ala., Macon, Ga., Middletown, Pa., and Ogden, Utah. The annual volume of business of these activities is estimated at $820 million, and the working capital requirements are estimated at $155 million. Transfers of $110 million from the Army industrial fund, and $40 million from the Navy industrial fund, are being proposed to increase the fund to meet these requirements. Since preparatory work for installation of industrial fund financing at these activities has not been completed, it has been found impracticable to include estimates reflecting the anticipated operations of these activities in the financial statements.

In 1956, $155 million was withdrawn from the fund and returned to the Treasury (69 Stat. 314). The investment of the Government as of June 30, 1957, is estimated to be $156,363,780, comprised of reappropriations and transfers of $156 million, net capitalized assets of $312,820 and retained earnings of $50,960.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Air Force management fund was created to facilitate the conduct of operations which are financed by two or more appropriations (5 U. S. C. 172e). The corpus of the fund consists of $1 million. During fiscal year 1957 it is anticipated that the classified project will be the only activity financed through this fund.

AMOUNTS AVAILABLE FOR OBLIGATION

Reappropriation of prior year balance (obligations incurred)—1955, $340,000,000.

ANALYSIS OF TRANFERS TO REVOLVING FUND

Obligations incurred during the year (total transfers to revolving fund out of current authorization)—1955. $340,000,000.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund finances the procurement and stockage of all depot and base stocks of common-use items of individual clothing; aviation fuels and lubricants; medical and dental supplies and equipment; subsistence for issue and resale; uniforms, classroom and sundry items required by Air Force Academy cadets; and certain centrally procured consumable general supplies. The latter category is carried only in depot storage locations within continental United States. Income is derived from sales of materiel to authorized purchasers (5 U. S. C. 172d). The fund also maintains mobilization reserves of essential items.

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAM

During 1957, it is planned to expand the fund to include oversea depot stocks of general supplies. Estimates are not included in the financial statements because the value of inventories involved is not available and a firm schedule of capitalization has not been established. Consideration also is being given to the expansion of the fund to include stocks of general supplies maintained at base level.

The value of inventories is estimated at $900 million as of June 30, 1957, an increase of $352.5 million over 1955, but $44.1 million less than 1956. The increase is primarily due to inclusion in the fund in 1956 of inventories of subsistence, cadet store stocks, and centrally procured consumable general supplies. Reductions in 1957 are planned in the clothing, medical-dental, and general supply categories, which will finance increases in the aviation fuels and subsistence categories. The $44.1 million net decrease will provide $35.3 million additional working capital and absorb the operating loss of $8.8 million.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

Funds applied to operations were less than the amounts provided by operations, by $81 million in 1955 (statement A). Due to continuing availability of some stocks in long supply which are not required to be replaced when sold, it is estimated that the funds provided by operations will exceed funds applied to operations by $103 million in 1956 and by $25 million in 1957.

Early in 1955, $25 million was returned to the Treasury. Later in 1955, $340 million was reappropriated to provide capital for bringing additional common-use stocks into the fund. Through improved collection procedures put into effect during 1955, sufficient funds were accumulated to provide for stocks of items included in the fund at that time as well as to cover requirements resulting from the inclusion of additional categories of materials to be taken under the fund at the start of 1956. As a result, $300 million was returned to the Treasury in 1956.

FINANCIAL CONDITION

Investment of the Government as of June 30, 1957 is estimated to be $1,302.9 million, consisting of net cash investment of $271.3 million, net capitalized inventories of $1,126.4 million, less a deficit of $94.8 million. The deficit represents accumulated losses due to (1) markdowns because of lower market prices prevailing since the end of the Korean emergency (when initially capitalized) and (2) losses sustained in disposing of excess and surplus stocks.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Procurement of headstones.—The procurement of headstones for the 3 fiscal years is shown in the table below. The increased purchases in 1957 result from an estimated carryover of 17,355 applications for headstones and markers from 1956 because of decreased funds and the normal increase in applications.

4. Maintenance and operation.—Provision is made for operating and maintaining the national cemetery system consisting of 122 installations, including 85 national cemeteries, 23 soldiers' lots, 5 Confederate cemeteries, 2 Confederate plots, 2 Confederate monument sites, 3 national monument sites, 1 memorial park and Government-owned burial lots in the Washington parish burial ground, all in the continental United States, its Territories, and possessions. There will be 1,918 developed acres in the national cemetery system in 1957. On June 30, 1955, there were 667,745 used grave sites and 316,740 grave sites developed and available for burials. It is estimated that 21,710 burials will be made in 1956 and 23,449 in 1957, compared to 20,895 burials in 1955.

RIVERS AND HARBORS AND FLOOD CONTROL

The Corps of Engineers improves and maintains rivers and harbors throughout the continental United States, Puerto Rico, Alaska, the Virgin Islands, and the Hawaiian Islands in the interests of navigation, control of floods, related hydroelectric power development, and allied water uses, including the protection and preservation of navigable waters.

The total appropriation recommended amounts to $584 million, representing an increase of $23.1 million compared with the amount appropriated for 1956 and an increase of $140.3 million compared with the appropriation for 1955. The appropriation recommended contemplates an economic rate of progress on all projects and activities and the adherence to completion schedules for all multiple purpose projects including power developments. In addition, the appropriation provides for the initiation and resumption of a number of projects or project modifications. Approximately 80 percent of the recommended appropriations will be applied to construction and 17 percent to operation and maintenance activities.

The following appropriations shall be expended under the direction of the Secretary of the Army and the supervision of tne Chief of Engineers for authorized civil functions of the Department of the Army pertaining to rivers and harbors, flood control, beach erosion, and related purposes:

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Examinations and surveys.—Preliminary examinations and surveys for navigation and flood-control improvements are made to determine the need and economic justification of the proposed improvements. These studies are made in cooperation with appropriate Federal and State agencies and will be restricted to a limited number of high-priority investigations, including surveys of Northeastern river basins affected by the hurricane flood of August 1955, to determine the advisability of further improvement for flood control and allied purposes.

In addition, cooperative beach erosion investigations are conducted at specific localities. The costs of these investigations are shared equally by the Federal Government and by State and local agencies.

Special studies are made in cooperation with State and other Federal agencies in the interest of navigation, flood control, power, and related purposes. Included in this activity are the Columbia, Ohio, and Delaware River reviews, San Francisco Bay and Great Lakes Harbors surveys, Watershed Protection Act studies, and hurricane studies. Supplementals for 1956 and 1957 are proposed for later transmission, and appear at the end of this chapter.

[1] Number of reports opposite "completed" are those acted upon by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors or the Beach Erosion Board.

2. Collection and study of basic data.—Funds are made available to the Weather Bureau for hydrometeorological studies and for the hydrologic network of precipitation stations and to the Geological Survey for installation, operation, and maintenance of stream gaging stations. Funds are also made available to the Fish and Wildlife Service for preauthorization studies of the effect of proposed flood control and river and harbor projects upon fish and wildlife.

3. Research and development.—General beach erosion development studies dealing with physical phenomena, techniques, basic principles, and remedial or control measures related to shore protection and improvement are made and the results are disseminated to other Federal, State, and local agencies and individuals having need for this information.

Hydrologic studies including storm studies, flood investigations, sedimentation studies, and international water studies are made and stream flow and rainfall data stations are operated to provide information for use in future design and operation of water-control projects.

Engineering investigations are made to assist in the solution of unsolved or incompletely solved problems. The solutions are widely applicable to the design, construction, and operation and maintenance of civil works projects. The amount recommended will be applied to 66 individual investigations and will provide for operation of the research center at the Waterways Experiment Station, Vicksburg, Miss.

The sum of $400,000 is recommended to continue construction and adjustment of the Mississippi Basin model at the Waterways Experiment Station at Vicksburg, Miss. The original and primary purpose of the model was to develop plans for the coordinated operation of the reservoir system in the Mississippi Basin. This purpose has been expanded to include investigations for planning, design, and coordinated operation of all flood-control works in the basin.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The appropriation recommended for this activity amounts to $422.7 million and represents an increase of $16 million compared with the amount appropriated for 1956 and an increase of $116.3 million compared with the appropriation for 1955. Seventy-two new projects or project modifications are proposed for initiation.

The monetary authorization available for appropriation after 1956 for projects in the construction, general program, amounts to $4,123.2 million. The status of the active program on June 30, 1955, is shown in the following table. The number and total cost of projects shown as "balance authorized" includes a number of projects which are parts of approved comprehensive basin plans but for which monetary authorization for construction is not yet available.

[1] Includes projects essentially complete and/or in operation.
[2] Uncompleted projects in the active program for which construction funds have been appropriated. Includes 34 projects or project modifications having no funds presently available for expenditure.
[3] Includes authorized modifications of original projects.
[4] Excludes snagging and clearing and emergency flood-protection works.
[5] Includes $2,686,000 included in supplemental request for 1956 for projects in northeastern flood area.

1. Advance engineering and design.—This activity includes preparation of design studies to establish project features and cost estimates and contract plans. The recommended appropriation for this activity amounts to $5.4 million compared with an appropriation of $5.5 million in 1956 and $3.2 million in 1955. The funds requested will bring designs and plans for a number of projects to the stage where they will be ready for construction, and will permit planning on other needed projects and the continuation of restudy of deferred projects.

2. Navigation projects.—This activity includes improvement of channels and harbors for navigation by dredging; construction of breakwaters, jetties, dikes, locks, dams, and canals. The request of $100.8 million represents an increase of $20.9 million compared with the current fiscal year and an increase of $59.1 million compared with the preceding fiscal year.

With the requested amount, work will be continued on 35 channel and harbor projects, of which 14 will be completed, and on 8 lock, dam, and canal projects of which 1 will be completed. Construction will be initiated on 12 channel and harbor projects or project modifications as follows:

1. Ketchikan Harbor, Alaska.
2. Inland Waterway, Delaware River to Chesapeake Bay, Delaware and Maryland (Summit Bridge).
3. Intracoastal Waterway, Jacksonville to Miami, Fla. (Eau Gallie to Fort Pierce).
4. Savannah Harbor, Ga.[1]
5. Scarboro River, Maine.[1]
6. Fall River Harbor, Mass. (35-foot channel).
7. Delaware River, Philadelphia, Pa., to Trenton, N. J. (35-foot channel).
8. Oswego Harbor, N. Y.
9. Brazos Island Harbor, Tex.
10. Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway, Tex. (36-foot channel).
11. Thimble Shoal Channel, Va. (40-foot channel).[1]
12. Milwaukee Harbor, Wis. (Menominee and Kinnickinnic Rivers).[1]

[1] To be completed with funds recommended for 1957.

3. Alteration of bridges.—This activity includes the alteration of obstructive bridges over navigable waterways the costs of which are apportioned between the United States and the bridge owners.

The $6.7 million requested for this activity represents an increase of $3.2 million compared with the current fiscal year. The recommended amount will finance the Federal share of the 1957 cost of the alteration of five bridges. Construction will be initiated on the Houghton-Hancock Bridge across the Keweenaw Waterway between Houghton and Hancock, Mich., and financing the Federal share of the Corpus Christi, Tex., bridge will be completed.

4. Beach erosion control projects.—This activity includes construction for the improvement and protection against erosion by waves and currents of the shores of the United States that are owned by States, municipalities, or other political subdivisions. The Federal Government is authorized to contribute not to exceed one-third of the total cost toward the construction of such works.

The requested amount of $0.6 million will provide Federal funds to initiate the project at Revere Beach, Mass.; reimburse local interests for the Federal share of the 1957 construction cost of the project at Atlantic City, N. J.; and provide the Federal funds necessary to complete the project at Presque Isle Peninsula, Pa.

5. Flood control projects.—This activity includes local protection projects and flood control reservoirs without power installations. Local protection projects consist of channel improvements, levees, and floodwalls. Provision is made for emergency bank protection, for the removal of accumulated snags and other debris, and the clearing and straightening of channels in navigable streams and tributaries when such work is necessary in the interest of flood control, and for the construction of small flood-control projects not specifically authorized by Congress.

The requested appropriation of $138.2 million for flood control projects represents an increase of $38.6 million compared with 1956, and an increase of $81.5 million compared with 1955. Construction will be continued on 59 projects, of which 4 will be completed in 1957. Sixteen new local protection projects and 11 new reservoir projects will be initiated as follows:

1. Gold Creek, Alaska.[1]
2. Muscatine, Iowa.
3. Sabula, Iowa.[1]
4. Abilene, Kans.
5. Salina, Kans.
6. Topeka, Kans.
7. Worcester diversion, Mass.
8. Battle Creek, Mich.

12. Amazon Creek, Oreg.
13. Johnson Creek, Oreg.
14. Reynoldsville, Pa.[1]
15. Woonsocket, R. I.
16. San Antonio Channel, Tex.

9. Townshend Reservoir, Vt.
10. Waterbury Reservoir, Vt.[1]
11. Wrightsville Reservoir, Vt.

[1] To be completed with funds recommended for 1957.

Of the proposed 1957 obligation program, 46 percent will be used to finance the work on 16 major projects as shown in the following table:

6. Multiple-purpose projects including power.—With the recommended amount of $167.6 million, construction will be continued on 17 multiple-purpose projects with power installations, and will be initiated on the second powerplant at Fort Peck, Mont. Funds are provided for initiating work on two additional generating units at the Garrison project, North Dakota. The request is a decrease of $42.6 million compared with 1956 and a decrease of $36 million compared with 1955. With the funds requested, the construction schedules for these large multiple-purpose projects will be maintained. One multiple-purpose project with power will be completed and six others will have received over 90 percent of the funds required for completion with the 1957 request. Of the proposed 1957 obligation program, 86 percent will be used to finance the work on 10 major projects as shown in the following table:

[1] In the course of any one fiscal year, loans are made between projects already under construction to permit most effective use of funds on projects approved by Congress. These loans are returned to source upon availability of the next year's appropriations. Negative amounts as used in this tabulation result from adjustments of these loans applied to unobligated balances and are not an indication that total allotments to the project are overobligated.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The appropriation recommended is $85.9 million, an increase of $2.9 million over 1956 and an increase of $10.8 million over the adjusted appropriation for 1955.

1. Navigation.—The 1957 program proposes work on 172 channel and harbor projects, 25 canals and canalized waterways, and 3 reservoir projects. Surveys of the northern and northwestern lakes, to obtain data for charts and bulletins for safe navigation, will be continued.

2. Flood control.—One hundred and three flood control reservoirs will be operated and maintained in 1957. Provision is made for maintenance of 18 local flood protection projects, nondeferrable rehabilitation work, and inspection of completed flood control projects to determine adequacy of compliance by local interests with prescribed maintenance requirements.

3. Multiple-purpose projects, including power.—The facilities of 32 multiple-purpose projects with an actual installed capacity at the end of fiscal year 1957 of 4,920,400 kilowatts will be operated and maintained, including initial operations at 2 projects.

4. Lower Columbia River fish sanctuary program.—Funds are allocated to the Fish and Wildlife Service for operation and maintenance of hatcheries and other facilities.

5. Emergency operations.—Wrecks and other obstructions which are a menace to safe navigation are marked and removed. Work is accomplished to protect, clear, and straighten channels of navigable waters and their tributaries. Provision is also made for emergency flood fighting, rescue work, and repairs.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Executive direction and management.—The Corps of Engineers civil organization is decentralized in 39 district and 10 division offices and a number of separate boards. Division offices provide administrative and technical direction for the Chief of Engineers required for supervision of district offices.

A supplemental is proposed for 1956, and appears at the end of this chapter.

2. Review boards.—The River and Harbor Board reviews reports on proposed projects and makes recommendations. The Beach Erosion Board, set up cooperatively with the States, studies the prevention of erosion of the shores, develops standards, and reviews reports.

3. Regulation.—The Corps administers laws to keep navigable waters open. It inspects bridges, bridge plans, and fish stake limits, issues permits, investigates wrecks and oil pollution, controls dumping, regulates hydraulic mining, and establishes harbor lines.

4. Commercial statistics.—Data on waterborne commerce are collected, compiled, and published.

5. Special investigations.—Investigations are made and reports prepared pursuant to congressional and other special requests for current information relative to conditions prevailing at various localities.

Provision is made for flood protection of the lower Mississippi Valley from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to the Gulf of Mexico, including the main alluvial stream, the basins of the St. Francis and White, Lower Arkansas, Yazoo, Tensas, Atchafalaya Rivers, and Bayou La Fourche, and the alluvial lands around Lake Pontchartrain. The adopted plan calls for raising and strengthening about 1,600 miles of existing levees along the main river, for enlarging or constructing some 1,700 miles of levees on tributaries and in side basins, for channel improvement and bank stabilization on the main river, for dredging of the main river to provide a navigation channel 12 feet deep and 300 feet wide from Baton Rouge, La., to Cairo, Ill., and for five flood-detention reservoirs on minor tributaries.

The total estimated cost for flood control and improvement of the lower Mississippi River in its alluvial valley is $1,437.7 million, of which $881.5 million has been appropriated to date.

1. General investigations.—Provision is made for continuing a comprehensive review of the Mississippi River and tributaries program and for the collection of basic data which is subsequently used in planning and design of projects. Appropriations have not been made previously for this category, construction funds having been used. The total recommended is $646,000.

2. Advance engineering and design.—Funds recommended will complete the engineering and design on two projects on which construction is scheduled for initiation after 1957.

3. Construction.—The funds recommended for 1957 will be applied to the various features of the comprehensive project as follows:

| | 1957 obligation program (In thousands) |
|---|---|
| Mississippi River levees | $1,960 |
| Channel improvement | 18,750 |
| Memphis Harbor | 1,000 |
| Old River control | 6,700 |
| St. Francis Basin | 2,954 |
| Lower White River Basin: White River backwater | 350 |
| Reelfoot Lake | 325 |
| Lower Arkansas River: North bank | 500 |
| Tensas Basin: | |
| Boeuf and Tensas Rivers | 1,400 |
| Red River backwater area | 100 |
| Yazoo River Basin: | |
| Yazoo City [1] | 102 |
| Belzoni [1] | 243 |
| Lower auxiliary channel | 1,800 |
| Tributaries | 300 |
| Big Sunflower River | 875 |
| Atchafalaya River Basin: Atchafalaya Floodway | 3,460 |
| Lake Pontchartrain | 350 |
| Total | 41,169 |

[1] To be completed with funds recommended for 1957.

With the expenditure of funds requested for 1957, the main river levees will be about 84 percent complete, main channel improvement and river bank stabilization will be about 69 percent complete, and progress will continue on the side basins and on minor tributaries.

4. Maintenance.—Provision is made for operation and ordinary maintenance of major features of the project. The total appropriation recommended amounts to $14.1 million, which is $0.5 million less than the amount appropriated for 1956, and $0.9 million less than appropriated for 1955.

5. Flood control, emergencies.—The Corps conducts rescue work and the repair, restoration, or maintenance of flood control work on tributaries of the Mississippi River threatened or destroyed by flood.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

A treaty with Canada provides for greater power development in the United States and Canada and for works to preserve and enhance the beauty of Niagara Falls. The United States and Canada agreed to complete, within 4 years after approval of plans to be recommended by the International Joint Commission, remedial works necessary to enhance the beauty of the falls. The costs are to be divided equally between the United States and Canada. The United States is making flank excavation in the Horseshoe Falls Cascades, a 300-foot crest fill, and a concrete retaining wall. Canada is constructing the Chippewa-Grass Island pool control structure and making additional flank excavation in the Horseshoe Falls Cascades. Appropriations totaling $5.9 million were made from 1954 to 1956 for financing the United States share of the cost. The amount of $1 million will be used in 1957 to complete the financing of the United States share.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Ryukyu Islands are the remaining responsibility under this appropriation. Under the treaty of peace with Japan, the United States is empowered to continue to exercise all powers of administration, legislation, and jurisdiction over the territory and the 800,000 inhabitants of the Ryukyu Islands. A system of military bases and other installations pertinent to the defense of the Pacific area has been developed in the islands. Since these are of critical strategic importance to the security of the free world, it is expected that the United States will be responsible for their administration for an indefinite period.

1. Administration.—This provides for administrative costs in the Ryukyu Islands, and the Office of Civil Affairs and Military Government. In addition it provides for a program of civil information and education in the islands.

2. Exchange of persons.—Provision is made for a program of advanced study for Ryukyuan students and leaders in the United States.

3. Aid to Ryukyuan economy.—In order to insure the development and maintenance of economic and political stability, provision is made (a) for a grant to the local government which will compensate indirectly for the cost of extraordinary governmental services provided for the benefit of the United States; (b) for assistance in the development and expansion of educational facilities, including educational advisory services; and (c) for ocean transportation of relief supplies donated by private sources.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This appropriation provides for those functions in the Canal Zone which, in the United States, would be performed by State and local governments and civilian departments of the Federal Government, and for the operation of public hospitals and clinics. All operating expenses, including depreciation, are repaid by the Panama Canal Company from its revenues and by other agencies and individuals served, and the repayments are covered into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts.

1. Civil functions—(a) Customs and immigration.—This provides for the activities usually incident to such functions (except that no collection of customs duties is involved) and in addition includes certain special activities relating to transiting vessels and the execution of certain treaty obligations to the Republic of Panama.

(b) Postal service.—The postal system serves the entire Canal Zone and operates at present under policies and regulations generally similar to those of the United States Post Office Department, including money order and postal savings services.

(d) Fire protection.—At present, this provides for fire fighting and prevention in the civilian communities only of the Canal Zone. Beginning in fiscal year 1957, however, it is proposed to consolidate, under the supervision of the Canal Zone Government, practically all fire fighting facilities in the Canal Zone including military reservations. Facilities for aircraft crash fire fighting and for fighting fire aboard naval vessels and in ammunition depots will continue to be furnished by the other agencies concerned.

(e) Judicial system.—This includes the operation of two magistrates' courts, and the expenses of the Canal Zone District Court (exclusive of salaries) which serves as both a State and Federal court.

(f) Education.—This provides for the operation of educational facilities from kindergarten through junior college for the dependents of Government employees, military personnel, other residents of the Canal Zone and, on a space available basis, to certain residents of Panama. # REVOLVING AND MANAGEMENT FUNDS

PUBLIC ENTERPRISE FUNDS

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

Defense Production Guaranties, Army

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Guaranties are given on loans made by public and private financing institutions to facilitate performance of defense production contracts. When necessary, loans may be purchased by the Government. Administrative expenses are paid out of guaranty fees and interest on loans receivable. Funds in excess of guaranteed loan program requirements may be transferred to miscellaneous receipts of the Treasury. Advances from appropriations available for procurement may be made to this fund for its temporary use. Net earnings, retained to purchase loans when required under guaranty commitments and to cover possible future losses, are expected to be $4.8 million at the end of 1957 (50 U. S. C. App. 2091).

PURPOSE AND FINANCIAL ORGANIZATION

The Panama Canal Company is a wholly owned Government corporation. Under its charter it is required to maintain and operate the Panama Canal for the movement of ships from one ocean to the other. As part of that mission, and in consideration of the provisions of the international agreements under which the Canal enterprise is operated, the Company provides and operates necessary supporting service facilities.

The capital value of Company assets upon which depreciation and interest charges are computed depends upon a comprehensive plant inventory and appraisal of the Canal and other properties that were transferred to the Company at the time of the reorganization. This appraisal will be completed in fiscal year 1956. In the meantime preliminary values have been established which, by law, are subject to the final approval of the Director, Bureau of the Budget. These preliminary values, which include major valuation adjustments, form the basis for the financial results reported herein and estimated in the budget program. They have been developed on the basis of valuation policies tentatively approved by the Bureau of the Budget.

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAMS

The activities of the Company are grouped into (1) canal and allied maritime operations; (2) supporting operations; and (3) general corporate charges.

Canal and allied maritime operations.—This is the substantive program of the Company and comprises the transiting operations and related marine activities, vessel repair facilities, harbor terminals and marine bunkering operations, and Hotel Washington.

Funds to be applied to acquisition of assets in 1957 amount to $4,664,000 and are mainly for continuing (1) the replacement of locks towing locomotives and cranes, $2.5 million; (2) conversion of locks electrical equipment and distribution system from 25 to 60 cycles, $1,363,000; and (3) the project of increasing the capacity of the canal, $256,800. Locks overhaul expenditures in 1957 are for procurement preparatory to the regularly scheduled overhaul of the Pacific locks in 1958. Removal of the slide hazard in Gaillard Cut, begun in 1954, will be completed in 1956 at a total project cost of $4.3 million.

Net operating expenses estimated for 1957 amount to $21,468,000 as compared with $21,291,800 in 1956 and $20,845,138 for 1955.

Supporting operations.—These activities, which primarily support the Company's mission, include employee services, transportation and utilities, and other services such as engineering, maintenance, warehousing, and printing facilities.

Funds to be applied to acquisition of assets amount to $5,091,150 in 1957. The largest item is continuing conversion of the power system to 60 cycle, $3,839,850.

Net operating expenses are estimated at $30,116,200 in 1957, or about $5.5 million under those in 1956, due primarily to reduced sales of consumer goods to employees. This compares with $37,758,601 for 1955.

General corporate charges.—These include reimbursements to the Treasury for net cost of Canal Zone Government and interest, general and administrative expenses under statutory limitation, and other general charges.

Funds to be applied to acquisition of assets in 1957 amount to $175,000 for office equipment, and minor general items. Other expenditures total $25,951,400, or about equal to those for 1956. This compares with $25,095,889 for 1955.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

The Company is authorized to obtain appropriations for its capital needs and to cover losses, and may borrow up to $10 million without interest from funds deposited by it with the Treasury. In 1955 funds provided by operations exceeded those applied by $3.9 million. In addition, in 1955 a capital refund of $10 million was made to the Treasury. During 1956 and 1957, it is estimated that funds applied will exceed those provided for those years by $5.2 million and $2.2 million, respectively. This results from the continuing program of replacing obsolete and deteriorated plant and equipment. It is expected that capital projects can be financed from revenues through fiscal year 1957; however, no capital refund to the Treasury is presently anticipated for 1956 or 1957 due to the heavy capital outlay program now in progress.

OPERATING RESULTS AND FINANCIAL CONDITION

In fiscal year 1955 canal tolls from commercial traffic reached a record high level. However, because of diminishing volume of Government traffic, total tolls revenue and credits were 5.5 percent under fiscal year 1954. Forecasts of canal traffic based on economic and statistical review and analysis by the Company indicate that, at current rates, tolls from commercial vessels will amount to $34.9 million and $35.6 million in 1956 and 1957, respectively, as compared to $33.9 million in 1955. Tolls credits from Government vessels will be $0.8 million in 1956 and 1957 as compared to $1.2 million in 1955.

After giving effect to the valuation of net assets, as developed by the Company, net income for 1955 is tentatively stated at $0.6 million. On the same basis, net incomes for 1956 and 1957 are projected at $0.6 million and $0.8 million, respectively. These projections give full effect to pay increases to a large segment of employees as recently authorized by the Congress, as well as to continuing increases in interest rates at which the Company is required to compute its interest payments to the Treasury, the latter rates being 2.43 percent in 1955, 2.48 percent in 1956, and estimated at 2.5 percent in 1957.

The investment of the United States tentatively is expected to continue at approximately the same level through June 30, 1957, at which time it is estimated the total will be $445 million consisting of net-interest-bearing investment of $368 million, and $77 million in retained earnings.

INTRAGOVERNMENTAL FUNDS

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

RIVERS AND HARBORS AND FLOOD CONTROL

Revolving Fund, Corps of Engineers

The fund provides for expenses necessary for the acquisition, operation, and maintenance of plant and equipment of the Corps of Engineers used in civil functions, and for furnishing of facilities and services for the military functions of the Department of the Army and other governmental agencies and private persons, as authorized by law. The fund is credited by reimbursements or advances from the appropriations or individuals who utilize the services or facilities, at rates which include charges for overhead and related expenses, depreciation of plant and equipment, and accrued leave costs. Capital for the fund was provided by assumption of the assets, liabilities, and obligations of the plant accounts, as carried on the records of the Corps of Engineers as of June 30, 1953; and by a general fund appropriation of $100. This fund operates on a business-type budget, and maintains an operating reserve to defray losses due to storm, fire, flood, sinking, and other casualties. The reserve is credited with insurance premiums which are included as a portion of the cost of services rendered.

BUDGET PROGRAM

In addition to the operations described above, the fund will incur costs of $11.5 million in 1957 for acquisition of its own plant and equipment.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

Operations of the fund amounting to $165.9 million during 1957 will be financed as follows: From operating income, $162 million; from proceeds of sales of property and other nonoperating income, $2.4 million; by reduction in working capital, $1 million; and by use of Treasury cash, $0.5 million.

OPERATING RESULTS AND FINANCIAL CONDITION

Operating income of $162 million for 1957 is expected to equal expenses during the year, except for minor losses on sales of property to other agencies at prices determined by General Services Administration regulations.

Net effect on budget expenditures will decrease to $0.5 million in 1957 from $1.2 million in 1956.

In reducing the excess inventories with which the fund began in 1954, losses of $244,638 were incurred prior to this year, and further losses of $700,000 are expected in the completion of this inventory reduction program in 1956.

The only changes in the principal of the fund for 1957 are increases due to the receipt of additional assets free. The total investment of the Government in the fund will be about $130.5 million at the end of 1957. Total capital of the fund is limited to $140 million by law.

States citizens are available in continental United States or on the Canal Zone; (3) that nothing in this Act shall prohibit the continued employment of any person who shall have rendered fifteen or more years of faithful and honorable service on the Canal Zone; (4) that in the selection of personnel for skilled, technical, administrative, clerical, supervisory, or executive positions, the controlling factors in filling these positions shall be efficiency, experience, training, and education; (5) that all citizens of Panama and the United States rendering skilled, technical, clerical, administrative, executive, or supervisory service on the Canal Zone under the terms of this Act (a) shall normally be employed not more than forty hours per week, (b) may receive as compensation equal rates of pay based upon rates paid for similar employment in continental United States plus 25 per centum; (6) this entire section shall apply only to persons employed in skilled, technical, clerical, administrative, executive, or supervisory positions on the Canal Zone directly or indirectly by any branch of the United States Government or by any corporation or company whose stock is owned wholly or in part by the United States Government: Provided further, That the President may suspend from time to time in whole or in part compliance with this section if he should deem such course to be in the public interest.

SEC. 203. The Governor of the Canal Zone is authorized to employ services as authorized by section 15 of the Act of August 2, 1946 (5 U. S. C. 55a), in an amount not exceeding $15,000: Provided, That the rates for individuals shall not exceed $100 per diem.

[SEC. 204. There are hereafter authorized to be transferred between departments and agencies, with or without exchange of funds, all or so much of the facilities, buildings, structures, improvements, stock and equipment, of their activities located in the Canal Zone, as may be mutually agreed upon by the agencies involved and approved by the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, in the interest of elimination of duplicate activities and related facilities: Provided, That with respect to such transfers without exchange of funds (1) transfers to or from the Panama Canal Company shall be subject to the provisions of section 246 of title 2 of the Canal Zone Code, as added by the Act of June 29, 1948 (ch. 706, sec. 2, 62 Stat. 1076); and (2) transfers to or from the Canal Zone Government shall be at such appropriate amount as shall be agreed upon between the Canal Zone Government and the agencies concerned and approved by the Director of the Bureau of the Budget, and in the determination thereof due consideration shall be given to the cost of the transferred assets, or usable value to the transferee if clearly less than cost, and adequate provision made for depreciation of properties and equipment, obsolete or otherwise unusable inventories, and other reasonably determinable shrinkages in values; and such amount shall be added to or deducted from the investment of the United States in the Canal Zone Government as applicable.]

SEC. [205] 204. The Governor of the Canal Zone and the President of the Panama Canal Company, in computing allowances for the cost of travel on home leave for persons who elect at their expense to take other than the lowest first-class travel to the United States, shall take into account as the cost to the United States the actual cost, as computed by the General Accounting Office, of travel by United States owned and operated vessels rather than a reduced fare rate which is available for such employees when traveling on their own account.

[SEC. 206. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, the Officer of the Army now serving as Governor of the Canal Zone shall, effective upon the day preceding his retirement, be considered to hold the grade of major general for all purposes, without regard to any limitations on the number of officers in that grade, and shall receive the pay and allowances of an officer of that grade and his length of service, and when retired under any provision of law shall be advanced on the retired list to such grade and shall receive the retired or retirement pay at the rate prescribed by law computed on the basis of the basic pay which he would receive if serving on active duty in such grade.] (Department of Commerce and Related Agencies Appropriation Act, 1956.)

The laws enforced by the Administration are designed to protect consumers against adulterated and misbranded foods, drugs, cosmetics, therapeutic devices, and caustic poisons.

1. General enforcement operations.—Inspections of domestic plants and examinations of interstate shipments are planned according to the relative incidence and seriousness of probable violations. This involves about 96,000 manufacturers, shippers, and warehouses. Retail establishments are also subject to the prohibition against adulteration or misbranding of articles from interstate sources. Violations are reported to the Department of Justice with appropriate recommendations for legal action. Voluntary compliance with the law is promoted by every proper means. Corrections are effected without court action where permissible and possible. Standards for foods, and tolerances for poisonous substances in foods, and other required regulations are promulgated.

A citizens' advisory committee has made numerous recommendations for strengthening and improving the food and drug program. The 1957 budget proposes increases in the inspector staff and in related scientific, technical, and planning staffs to achieve greater consumer protection. This increase together with the increase provided in 1956 will result in a substantial increase in enforcement coverage as indicated in the workload data below:

|---|---|---|---|
| Establishments inspected | 11,161 | 11,700 | 13,800 |
| Import lots inspected | 24,151 | 26,000 | 29,500 |
| Samples collected for examination | 29,947 | 36,500 | 44,000 |
| Laboratory analyses and other examinations | 36,640 | 47,800 | 53,700 |

2. Poliomyelitis vaccine operations.—Inspections and examinations are made of establishments and records to obtain information as to the manufacture, distribution, transportation, wholesaling, retailing, and use of poliomyelitis vaccine. Appropriate regulatory actions will be instituted under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act where violations are encountered. This activity was financed by a supplemental appropriation in 1956, and will not be required in 1957 because the illegal sale of poliomyelitis vaccine has not proved to be as great a problem as originally anticipated.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Instruction and administration.—Gallaudet College is the only college in the country exclusively devoted to the advanced education of the deaf and to training teachers of the deaf. It also operates Kendall School for the elementary and secondary education of deaf children primarily from the District of Columbia and surrounding areas. The college conducts a small research program relating to the educational problems of those whose hearing is seriously impaired. The increase provides for an additional instructor in physics, for faculty promotions, and for additional library books and equipment.

1. General administration.—The university is administered by a private board of trustees and staff of officers.

2. Resident instruction and departmental research.—This activity includes all direct expenditures for the operation of the educational program in the 10 schools and colleges.

3. Library.—The general library serves the needs of all 10 schools and colleges, and supervises, in part, the professional collections.

4. Operation and maintenance of the physical plant.—The operation and maintenance staff services 44 buildings located on the university's 60-acre campus.

5. Auxiliary enterprises and noneducational expenses.—The dormitories, food services, bookstores, and athletic program included under this activity are intended to be self-supporting and render service at lowest possible cost. The noneducational expense covers cost of student-aid program.

This program has been financed under funds appropriated directly and under contract authorizations. The table following sets forth the authorized construction program and indicates the source of funds to finance this program. Additional funds are estimated in 1957 under the direct appropriation account to further the equipping of the new dental building. Additional funds are also estimated in 1957 to liquidate contract authority for the men's dormitory.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Payments are made to assist in the maintenance and operation of schools in districts overburdened by Federal activities. These payments are made primarily to local school districts. However, where such districts cannot assume responsibility for educating federally connected children, payments are made to other agencies for the direct operation of schools under Federal auspices. A supplemental appropriation of $25 million is anticipated for 1956 primarily as a result of Public Law 382, enacted in the last session, which liberalized eligibility for Federal assistance and postponed for an additional year the effective date of a provision that school districts absorb a greater portion of the cost of educating federally connected children. The application of this provision in 1957, under current law, will reduce the net budgetary requirements by $11 million below total funds estimated to be required in 1956.

The Service attends to the Federal interest in safeguarding public health by: Providing grants-in-aid and technical and consultative services to States for such public health services as the prevention and control of disease, and hospital planning and construction; conducting scientific research and investigations in biology and medicine; enforcing foreign and interstate quarantine regulations; collecting and disseminating information on health problems; and providing medical and hospital care for legal beneficiaries. To perform these major functions the Service is organized into four bureaus: The National Institutes of Health in the research and investigations area; the Bureau of State Services in the Federal-State cooperative health program area; the Bureau of Medical Services in the medical care, hospital, and foreign quarantine area; and the Office of the Surgeon General in the area of administration, formulation of general policy, and planning.

C., ch. 6A) (hereinafter referred to as the Act), and other Acts, including expenses for active commissioned officers in the Reserve Corps and for not to exceed one thousand five hundred commissioned officers in the Regular Corps, and except as otherwise authorized by the Act of September 30, 1950 (20 U. S. C. 236–244), for expenses of primary and secondary schooling of dependents of Public Health Service personnel stationed in foreign countries in amounts not to exceed an average of $300 per student, when it is determined by the Secretary that the schools, if any, available in the locality are unable to provide adequately for the education of such dependents, and for the transportation of such dependents between such schools and their places of residence when the schools are not accessible to such dependents by regular means of transportation, as follows: (Department of Health, Education, and Welfare Appropriation Act, 1956.)

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The number of reported cases of venereal diseases continued to decline in 1955. However, with approximately 2 million undiscovered syphilis cases in the United States, venereal diseases still remain a serious public health problem. During fiscal year 1955, 122,000 cases of syphilis and 240,000 cases of gonorrhea were reported.

1. Grants to States for venereal disease control.—Case-finding projects are supported in selected areas where venereal disease incidence and prevalence still remain high, with particular emphasis on: (a) areas showing significant increases in venereal disease morbidity; (b) areas containing large numbers of transients; and (c) areas with high venereal disease incidence rates among young age groups.

2. Direct operations—(a) Clinical and laboratory research.—Research and evaluation activities are directed toward maintenance of uniformly satisfactory nationwide serologic services; introduction of a new syphilis diagnostic test; development of an immunizing agent for syphilis; evaluation of more effective methods of therapy; and analysis and evaluation of activity and morbidity data to alert health workers to the development of potential problem areas and the effectiveness of control procedures.

(b) Technical assistance to States.—Epidemiologic services are directed toward the maintenance of nationwide and international intelligence and control of venereal disease in areas of particular concentrations of agricultural, industrial, and military personnel and in numerous small high-prevalence areas that might become the foci for spread of infection. Consultation is furnished to States through the regional offices in determining problem areas, infection sources, and control techniques required. Scientific information and educational media are prepared and disseminated through State agencies.

Control of Communicable Deseases, Public Health Service—Con.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This program provides facilities and services for the investigation, prevention, and suppression of communicable and other preventable diseases other than tuberculosis and venereal diseases, by the development, advancement, and dissemination of knowledge and techniques.

1. General disease-prevention and control.—Scientific and technical services in the fields of epidemiology, medicine, and biology including reference diagnostic laboratory services are made available to State and local health departments by investigations, consultation, and demonstrations. Public health workers are trained in laboratory and other public health techniques, and training materials are produced for use by the States and other agencies. In addition, problems related to airborne and vectorborne diseases, including insect resistance to insecticides and to the use of economic poisons will be studied. The following table shows selected measurable workload items:

3. General epidemic and disaster aid.—This small fund is utilized to prevent and control outbreaks of disease in disaster areas, and to provide disease control assistance during epidemics, upon request of State health officers. During 1955 aid was provided in 34 emergencies in 19 States.

This program is concerned with the identification of public health problems related to our environment and the development of adequate preventive and control measures in the support of sanitary engineering activities of States and localities.

1. Air pollution activities.—This activity provides for an expanded program of research and technical assistance as authorized by Public Law 159, 84th Congress, to determine the causes, extent, and effect on the health of man, of air pollution, and to develop effective methods of control. Public Health Service and other Federal facilities and personnel, as well as the competencies of public and private institutions and individuals through contracts and grants will be utilized in carrying out the research program. Technical assistance will be provided to State and local agencies.

2. Water supply and water pollution control.—This consists of cooperation with State and interstate agencies and with industry in the formulation and execution of their water pollution control and water supply programs. These include (a) development of water pollution control programs on a watershed basis involving interstate agreement and cooperation; (b) research on effects of pollution on water uses and practical means to abate pollution from industrial wastes and sewage; (c) development of methods for the economic evaluation of the effects of pollution control; (d) development of plans for meeting domestic and industrial water supply needs through analysis of regional water resource potentials; and (e) integration of water supply and water pollution aspects into interagency river basin resource development programs.

3. Radiological health activities.—These include the development of public health techniques for controlling radiation hazards, investigations of methods of disposing of radioactive wastes, training of State and local personnel to solve radiological public health problems, and the collection, analysis, and dissemination of information on radiological health.

4. Milk and food sanitation activities.—This provides for research and technical assistance to States in milk and foodborne disease control. Research is carried on to insure that new and improved methods of milk and food processing and distribution will not be hazardous to the public health. Technical and advisory services are provided to State and local agencies and industry through the certification of interstate milk and shellfish shippers, development and demonstration of methods and procedures, evaluation of laboratory techniques, and the presentation of research results. The increase in technical assistance will permit a pilot study for evaluation and demonstration of standards for improvement of the sanitary quality of poultry.

5. Interstate carrier and general sanitation activities.—This implements Federal responsibility for protecting the health of passengers aboard interstate carriers. It also provides for technical assistance to States on hygiene of housing and home accident prevention and on basic sanitation problems, including rural sanitation.

6. Sanitary Engineering Center research services.—This activity provides the supporting services and specialized technical skills required in common for the various research programs, as well as the maintenance and operating costs of the center.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Federal Government provides financial assistance to States and Territories, local governments, and nonprofit agencies to defray part of the costs of construction of hospitals, rehabilitation facilities, diagnostic or diagnostic and treatment centers, nursing homes, public health centers, and related health facilities. In addition, these funds permit the Surgeon General to conduct research, experiments and demonstrations relating to the effective development and utilization of hospital services, facilities, and resources, or to make grants-in-aid to States, political subdivisions, universities, hospitals, and other public and private nonprofit institutions for such projects.

This program operates under two annual authorizations: $150 million for construction of hospitals, public health centers, and related health facilities, and $1.2 million for research activities; and $60 million for construction of diagnostic or diagnostic and treatment centers, hospitals for the chronically ill and impaired, rehabilitation facilities, and nursing homes. Funds for construction grants are authorized to be appropriated for each fiscal year through 1957 for allocation to the States and Territories on the basis of population and economic need. Federal participation varies from one-third to two-thirds. Payments are computed under each individual contract and made as construction proceeds.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The seven research institutes of the National Institutes of Health are the Cancer, Mental Health, Heart, Dental Research, Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Microbiologic, and Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

Funds for the total National Institutes of Health are provided by this appropriation and by separate appropriations for each of the above-named institutes. Funds from the seven institute appropriations are pooled to finance all research services provided centrally, including the clinical center. It is estimated that 510 research beds will be activated by June 30, 1957. This appropriation, through the division of research grants, finances research and training activities relating to basic problems in public health, medical, biological, and chemical fields not related to a particular institute. It also finances the division of biologics standards which is responsible for the regulation of biologic products and the conduct of related research.

1. Grants—(a) Grants for research projects.—Funds for 1956 will support approximately 555 grants to medical and other institutions for research projects of which approximately 25 grants will be in the field of nursing. The 1957 increase will provide about 333 additional grants.

(b) Research fellowships.—Fellowships are awarded to individuals to increase the number of scientists qualified to carry on independent medical research. Approximately 128 fellowships will be supported in 1956, and 757 in 1957.

(c) Training grants.—Grants to accredited medical schools will be inaugurated in 1957 for improvement of instruction in the curriculum in critical fields not otherwise provided for. Approximately 25 grants will be awarded in 1957.

2. Direct operations—(a) Research.—The research services provided centrally for all institutes' research programs are financed through this account by reimbursements from each individual institute appropriation.

(b) Biologics standards.—Activities include administration of the Biologics Control Act, establishment of standards for preparation of biologics, testing of vaccines and their preparation, and research related to development, manufacture, testing, and use of vaccines and analogous products. The increase proposed for 1957 provides for expanding and strengthening these operations.

(c) Review and approval of research and training grants.—This covers administration of grants under this appropriation and those similar functions for the institutes which are performed best on a centralized basis. The 1957 increase is based on the expanded research grants, fellowships, and training programs of the institutes.

(d) Administration.—This is financed through reimbursements from the several institutes' appropriations. Overall program direction and central administrative services are provided in support of all research programs.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Grants—(a) Grants for research projects.—Funds for 1956 will support approximately 750 grants to medical and dental schools and other institutions for research projects. The proposed increase for 1957 will support approximately 330 additional grants.

(b) Research fellowships.—Fellowships are awarded to individuals to increase the number of scientists qualified to carry on independent research. Approximately 252 fellowships will be supported in 1956 and 1957.

(c) Training grants.—During 1956 and 1957, 132 grants will be awarded to accredited schools for the improvement of instruction in the curriculum, and 120 clinical traineeships will be awarded to individuals for specialized postgraduate training.

(d) Grants for detection, diagnosis, and other control services.—Funds are provided to States and Territories on a formula basis for strengthening State and local clinical and educational services.

(e) Grants for field investigations.—Grants are made to local health agencies, universities, hospitals, and nonprofit professional organizations to develop, initiate, or establish improved types of cancer control techniques and devices.

2. Direct operations—(a) Research.—Research is conducted in biochemistry, biology, biometry and epidemiology, chemotherapy, endocrinology, environmental cancer, metabolism, pathology, physiology, radiation, and surgery. The increase in 1957 over 1956 provides for expansion in the areas of chemotherapy, radiation, and animal-human cancer studies.

(b) Professional and technical assistance.—Technical guidance and professional leadership is provided to universities, hospitals, and other organizations engaged in prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of cancer. Field studies and investigations are supported to develop and apply new knowledge for the prevention and control of human cancer. In 1956 the cytological examination program and the chemotherapy program will be expanded. The proposed increase in 1957 will support additional cytological examination centers, environmental studies, and additional chemotherapy contracts.

(c) Review and approval of research and training grants.—Applications for grants for research projects, research fellowships, and training grants, are reviewed and approval is given to qualified applicants for awards. The increase for 1957 will provide support for processing the additional grants for research projects.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Grants—(a) Grants for research projects.—Funds for 1956 will support approximately 193 grants to medical schools and other institutions for research projects. The increase proposed for 1957 will support about 78 additional grants and will provide further for carrying out the purposes specified in the Mental Health Study Act of 1955.

(b) Research fellowships.—Fellowships are awarded to individuals to increase the number of scientists qualified to carry on independent research. It is estimated that 82 fellowships can be provided in 1956 and 1957.

(c) Training grants.—Training grants are awarded to accredited schools, for the improvement of instruction, and for traineeships to individuals for postgraduate training. In 1956 approximately 329 training grants can be awarded which include funds for approximately 851 traineeships, and in 1957 approximately 374 training grants can be awarded with approximately 1,037 traineeships.

(d) Grants for detection, diagnosis, and other preventive and control services.—Grants are made to States and Territories on a formula basis to assist in establishing, improving and maintaining community mental health programs. The increase in 1956 permits expansion of services in many of the States. The 1957 estimate provides for continuation at this expanded level.

2. Direct operations—(a) Research.—Laboratory and clinical research is conducted in neurochemistry, neurophysiology, psychology, neuropsychiatric studies, socio-environmental studies, and neuropharmacology (including narcotics and barbiturate addiction). The increases for 1957 will provide for the necessary balance in research effort.

(b) Review and approval of research and training grants.—Applications for grants for research projects, research fellowships, and training grants are reviewed and evaluated. The 1957 increase is based on the expansion of grant activities.

(c) Training activities.—Consultation is furnished to schools on modification of training procedures, techniques, and curriculum development.

(d) Professional and technical assistance.—Assistance is provided to States in developing, maintaining, and expanding local mental health programs through consultation services, demonstrations, and field studies in developing preventive and outpatient services.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Grants—(a) Grants for research projects.—These grants are made to medical schools, other institutions, and to individuals for research projects. Funds for 1956 will support approximately 735 research projects. The 1957 estimate will support about 210 additional projects.

(b) Research fellowships.—Predoctoral, postdoctoral, special and part-time medical student fellowships are awarded to individuals to increase the number of research workers in the area of cardiovascular diseases. Approximately 260 awards will be supported in 1956, and 294 in 1957.

(c) Training grants.—These grants in 1956 and 1957 will provide assistance to 98 schools of medicine, osteopathy, and public health for support of undergraduate training and, in some instances, awards for graduate research and clinical training. In addition, approximately 110 clinical traineeships will be awarded to individuals for specialized postgraduate training.

(d) Grants for detection, diagnosis, and other control activities.—Grants are made to States and Territories on a formula basis for improving State and local programs in prevention, education, community services, and operational research concerning cardiovascular diseases.

2. Direct operations—(a) Research.—Research is conducted in new and improved therapeutic agents, diagnostic instrumentation, and in clinical medicine on coronary artery disease, hypertension, arteriosclerosis, congestive heart failure, and related problems. The increase in 1957 is to continue on a full-year basis those activities which were new in 1956.

(b) Review and approval of research and training grants.—Applications for grants for research projects, research fellowships, and training grants are reviewed and approval is given to qualified applicants for awards. The increase in 1957 is due to the increase in research grants and fellowships.

(c) Professional and technical assistance.—Technical guidance and professional leadership are furnished to State and local health departments on heart program management in the fields of medicine, nursing, nutrition, medical social work, records and statistics, and program promotion. PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The hospital provides care and treatment for the mentally ill who are either beneficiaries of the Federal Government or residents of the District of Columbia which reimburses the hospital for its residents.

Obligations for 1957 are estimated to be $14,744,718, an increase of $456,964 compared with 1956 and $1,495,354 more than 1955. These differences are primarily due to increased patient load plus increased operating costs resulting from the opening of a new building, intensive use of new tranquilizing drugs, etc.

1. Operation and maintenance of hospital.—This activity covers care and treatment of the mentally ill, research on the causes, prevention, and treatment of mental illness, maintenance of hospital buildings, procurement of supplies and materials, and administrative services.

4. Training program.—The training program provides a source for medical and nursing staff recruitment by training interns, residents in psychiatry, student nurses, psychiatric aide trainees, and others concerned with care and treatment of psychiatric patients. PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The old-age and survivors insurance program provides protection to almost 90 percent of all employed and self-employed persons and their families against the loss of earnings because of old age and death. Tax contributions from employers, employees, and self-employed persons are deposited in the Federal old-age and survivors insurance trust fund, out of which benefit payments and administrative costs are paid.

The increased volume of work estimated for 1957 arises from: (1) The long-term growth of the program which will continue until it reaches maturity, and (2) the greater scope of the program resulting from the 1954 amendments, some of which will not be fully effective until 1957.

1. Maintenance of accounts of earnings.—Eligibility for insurance benefits and the amount of the benefit payments are based on earnings of employed and self-employed individuals which are recorded by the Bureau in individual accounts. The volume of work depends primarily upon economic conditions, especially the level of employment. Estimated volume of work for 1956 and 1957 reflects a gradual increase in the level of employment and the initial reporting of groups, such as self-employed farmers, which were covered by the 1954 amendments.

| Earnings items received | 217,566,410 | 238,238,000 | 249,573,000 |

2. Development, determination, and certification for payment of claims for insurance benefits.—Prospective beneficiaries file claims in district offices located in over 500 principal cities throughout the country. When a claimant's rights to benefits have been established, the Treasury Department is authorized to issue the initial benefit check. The increased benefit amounts, more liberal retirement test, extension of coverage, and several technical changes provided for in the 1954 amendments, have increased the volume and complexity of the claims activity.

| New claims received | 2,099,789 | 2,135,000 | 2,136,000 |

3. Recertification monthly of awarded claims.—The beneficiary rolls require constant revision so that benefit checks may be mailed promptly each month to beneficiaries whose entitlement continues and so that checks may be discontinued when entitlement ceases.

4. Development, determination, and investigation of continuing eligibility for disability freeze.—The 1954 amendments provided that the earnings records of individuals who have a long-continued and indefinite disability will be frozen for the duration of the disability. The period of disability is disregarded in determining an insured status and in computing the benefit payment. Applications for a disability freeze were received beginning January 1, 1955, and recomputed benefits were payable beginning July 1, 1955. State agencies under contract will determine disability in 60 percent of the cases processed in 1956 and 1957, subject to review by the Bureau to obtain uniformity in the disability standards applied. Investigations to determine whether individuals continue to be eligible for a disability freeze will begin in the latter part of 1956.

5. Hearings and appeals.—Individuals whose claims for benefits or whose applications for a disability freeze are disallowed have the right to appeal. The number of appeals, while not large, is significant in protecting the individual's rights. Appeals on disallowances of disability freeze applications will be processed for the first time in 1956 and will become a greater proportion of the total workload in 1957.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Grants for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, and aid to the permanently and totally disabled are made to States that have plans for these programs approved by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Fifty-three jurisdictions including all the States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, have approved plans for old-age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind; and in 1957, 45 jurisdictions will have approved plans for aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

The provisions of the Social Security Act amendments of 1952—which made additional Federal funds available to all jurisdictions, except Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands—were temporarily extended until September 30, 1956, and thus will be in effect for only one quarter of the fiscal year 1957. For the last three quarters of the fiscal year 1957, the Federal maximums on individual assistance payments will drop by $5 in the adult categories and by $3 in the aid to dependent children program; the Federal share within these maximums will also be lower. In consequence, Federal grants to States will be lower by approximately $165 million, unless proposed legislation is adopted. Extension of these provisions will require a supplemental estimate which is proposed for later transmission and is found at the end of this chapter.

For 1957, the total amount of Federal, State, and local expenditures for assistance and administration is estimated at $2,641,400,000, of which $1,344,500,000 represents the Federal share. The appropriation request of $1,328,000,000 is $16,500,000 less than the estimated Federal share, because the States will have available for expenditures $16,500,000 representing the Federal share of collections and adjustments for prior years. Of the total Federal share, $851,100,000 is for old-age assistance, $365,300,000 for aid to dependent children, $36,200,000 for aid to the blind, and $91,900,000 for aid to the permanently and totally disabled.

Based on the most recent program trends, it is estimated that a supplemental appropriation of $72 million will be required for 1956. The need for a supplemental appropriation for 1956 arises because average monthly payments per recipient under all programs are higher than those on which the appropriation was based, and the number of recipients of aid to dependent children exceeds the number on which the appropriation was based. The figures used in the tables appearing under the activities below include the supplemental of $72 million needed for 1956 requirements; however, the figures shown in the program and financing schedule do not include this amount.

1. Payments to recipients—(a) Old-age assistance.—The average number of recipients per month for 1957 is estimated at 1.1 percent fewer than was estimated for 1956. The estimated average monthly payment is $1.39 less than the estimate for 1956.

The Federal share is for the salaries and expenses of about 47,000 State and local personnel.

School construction assistance program, Office of Education (under proposed legislation, 1957).—Legislation will be proposed to establish a 5-year program of Federal assistance to States for the construction of urgently needed public school facilities. The proposal will have four parts: (1) Federal assistance in the form of grants to States for school districts needing aid to finance urgently needed school buildings, for which $250 million per year would be authorized; (2) Federal purchase of bonds of school districts with marginal credit, for which $750 million would be authorized over the 5-year life of the act; (3) Federal advances to provide needed reserve funds for State school-financing agencies; and (4) Federal assistance to States for the administration of State programs designed to increase public school construction and promote efficiency in such construction, for which $5 million annually would be authorized. First year appropriations of $375.5 million are forecast.

School assistance for federally affected areas, Office of Education (under proposed legislation, 1957).—Legislation will be proposed for a 2-year extension of school construction aid program for school districts whose enrollments are significantly affected by Federal activities. Public Law 345, 83d Congress, authorized an extensive program for construction of family housing for military personnel primarily on federally owned land. Schools for the children of the military personnel will be urgently needed and the school districts will require assistance in their provision, particularly since most of the housing will be in a tax-exempt status. A supplemental appropriation of $87.5 million is forecast.

This Federal assistance will facilitate needed construction to achieve an expanded and balanced program of research and teaching in the medical and allied sciences. Mortgage insurance for construction of health facilities, Public Health Service (under proposed legislation, 1957).—Legislation is pending to provide for Federal insurance of private loans for the construction or modernization of health facilities. The proposed legislation authorizes a contingent liability of $200 million outstanding at any one time, with authorization for the President to increase this by an additional $150 million if necessary in the public interest. The health facilities mortgage insurance fund would be maintained on a self-supporting basis from premiums charged for insurance of loans, earnings from investments of the fund, fees, and other receipts. A 1957 supplemental appropriation of $10 million will be requested for initial capitalization of the fund and for administrative costs.

The 1952 amendments which were extended to September 30, 1956, would be further extended to June 30, 1959. Provision would be made for Federal matching funds for 50 percent of the expenditures by State and local welfare departments, for medical-care payments in behalf of assistance recipients in the four federally aided categories. Other health, education, and welfare programs (under proposed legislation, 1957).—Legislation will be proposed to extend and improve the several grant formulas under which the Federal Government assists States in carrying out public health activities, and to expand water pollution control activities. Special legislation will be proposed to stimulate improvement of programs providing for the mentally ill, to alleviate shortage of both practical and professional nurses, and to assist in training more personnel and to encourage better nurse utilization. Authorization for periodic surveys of sickness and disability in the United States will be recommended. Legislation will be proposed authorizing the provision of minimum essential sanitation facilities for our Indian population and the Alaskan natives. Legislation will also be proposed to assist the Territory of Alaska in the care of their mentally ill. It is recommended that Freedmen's Hospital be transferred to Howard University, and that provision of new facilities be authorized.

Legislation will be proposed to extend and improve certain welfare and education activities. A grant program will be recommended to assist States in providing for treatment and rehabilitation of delinquent youth and an increase in the child welfare services authorization will be proposed. Authorization is recommended to engage in research and demonstration projects in the social security field and to encourage and help needy individuals to obtain self-support and self-care through the public assistance programs. Special legislation is recommended to alleviate the shortage of teachers and to encourage improved educational opportunities for mentally retarded children.

Supplemental appropriations of $25.8 million are forecast.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Administration markets power developed at multiple-purpose projects constructed by the Corps of Engineers in four Southwestern States. To perform this function, the agency (a) operates and maintains a system of high-voltage transmission lines and related facilities, and (b) contracts for the use of transmission facilities and for the sale, purchase, and interchange of power with other systems in the area.

Gross revenues, which are deposited in the Treasury, amounted to $4,075,727 in fiscal year 1955, and are estimated at $9,580,000 and $12,575,000 for 1956 and 1957.

1. System operation and maintenance.—The agency operates and maintains a transmission system as follows:

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund, accumulated from power receipts, is available permanently for emergency expenses necessary to insure continuity of service, but only $300,000 may be in the fund at a time for this purpose. It is also available in such amounts as may be approved annually in appropriation acts to cover costs in connection with purchase of electric power and rentals for use of facilities for transmission and distribution of power. Electric power is purchased through contracts with private utility companies, and generation and transmission cooperatives. Power is transmitted to customers through wheeling arrangements with private utilities, and through contracts for lease of the transmission capacity in the facilities owned by the generation and transmission cooperatives (16 U. S. C. 825s–1).

BONNEVILLE POWER ADMINISTRATION

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The agency markets electric power produced in Federal generating plants in the Pacific Northwest constructed by the Corps of Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation. Generating capacity will be added in 1957, 1958, and 1959 to complete the installations at McNary and Chief Joseph Dams. Initial generation at The Dalles Dam is scheduled in 1958. The Bonneville program for 1957 provides for continued construction, operation, and maintenance of high-voltage transmission facilities to transmit to load centers the output of the 11 Federal powerplants which will be in service in that year, and to interconnect the Federal system with non-Federal utility systems.

Streamflow conditions are above median in the Columbia Basin and adjacent areas. If streamflows do not recede below median levels for the rest of the storage drawdown period, a large portion of the interruptible industrial loads can be served with Federal system resources in addition to the agency's firm loads. Even if streamflows hereafter reduce to minimum levels, practically all of the region's firm load will be carried with hydroelectric power.

Many groups in the Pacific Northwest are continuing their planning to add generation to meet future requirements which cannot be met by Federal projects now under construction. In addition to participating in the planning for certain multipurpose projects, Bonneville Power Administration and other Federal agencies work with non-Federal agencies, public and private, to assist in the coordination of water resource development.

Gross operating revenues, which are deposited in the Treasury, totaled $51,978,055 in fiscal year 1955 and are estimated at $61,750,000 and $69,450,000 in 1956 and 1957. These estimates assume median water conditions and if poorer water conditions should prevail, revenues would be somewhat less.

Legislation is being proposed to authorize a business-type budget.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The 1957 construction program provides for additional transmission and substation capacity, including service connections, to deliver at load centers the increased power production from Federal generating plants under construction in the Pacific Northwest. Construction of transmission facilities will conform with generation schedules as follows:

Peak generating capacity on June 30, 1955, was 4,184,700 kilowatts. At the beginning of fiscal year 1957 it is estimated to be 4,976,600 kilowatts and by July 1960 this capacity will increase to about 6,962,500 kilowatts. After 1960 the capacity will further increase to approximately 7,515,700 kilowatts upon completion of the new Corps of Engineers projects, Cougar, Ice Harbor, and Hills Creek, which were started in the current year.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This program provides for the operation and maintenance of the Administration's regional high voltage electric grid system, and for commercial and administrative expenses in connection with the marketing of electric power at wholesale from Federal dams in the Pacific Northwest.

1. System operation and maintenance.—This activity includes the scheduling and dispatching of power, the operation of substations, the maintenance of transmission lines, substations and other electrical facilities, load estimating, the integration of resources, and system engineering.

Transmission facilities of the Administration are being expanded as increased generating capacity becomes available. It will be necessary to man newly energized substations, schedule and dispatch the increased power supply, and provide service through additional points of delivery and interconnection. Additional maintenance personnel will be required throughout the transmission area to maintain the expanded system at levels adequate to insure safe and continuous operation. Power resources and requirements work will be continued to obtain the fullest utilization of generating capacity, streamflows and stored water. The following table shows the rising trend in several of the more important indexes of the operation and maintenance activity.

| Points of delivery | 307 | 330 | 327 |

2. Power contracts and rates.—This activity includes the negotiation of power sales contracts, billing and servicing contracts, including the development of service plans, and establishment of wholesale rate schedules.

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The Bureau administers 468 million acres of public lands in the United States and Alaska in the interest of conserving forest, range, mineral and water resources.

Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis

In addition, the Bureau has responsibility for mineral resources on 358 million acres of land under the jurisdiction of other Federal agencies and private land with mineral rights reserved to the United States.

The total receipts in fiscal year 1957 from revenue-producing activities of the Bureau are estimated to be about $236 million. Of this amount, $38 million will be paid to the States and counties, and the remaining $198 million will be deposited in the Treasury.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Lease and disposal of land and mineral resources.—Applications for all types of land use and for leasing of mineral resources, principally oil and gas, are acted upon. Field investigations are made to determine the best use of resources. An increase for 1957 is provided to handle the increase in workload caused by greater public demand for lands and minerals.

|---|---|---|---|---|
| New and reactivated cases | 99,799 | 133,567 | 154,698 | 165,000 |
| Cases closed | 82,826 | 106,327 | 150,000 | 175,000 |
| Cases pending, end of year | 58,062 | 85,302 | 90,000 | 80,000 |

In addition to the above, an increase is provided for the administration of Public Laws 47, 167, 357, and 359, 84th Congress, which affect mining rights.

2. Management of grazing lands.—The use of 180 million acres of the Federal range by 30,000 livestock growers is supervised. Proper management of these lands increases the grazing capacity by reducing overuse, unseasonal use, or trespass, and protects them against fire and erosion. The increase in 1957 is for added workload under Public Law 167.

3. Forestry.—Over 5 million acres of commercial forest lands in the United States and 40 million acres in Alaska, plus 110 million acres of woodland, are managed. It is estimated that the 1957 program will permit marketing 840 million board-feet of timber having a stumpage value of $23 million.

4. Cadastral surveys.—These surveys are required to: (1) Locate and identify legal boundaries of lands under application for lease or disposal, (2) administer timber sales and manage forest lands, (3) provide legal descriptions necessary to the work of other Government agencies concerned with Federal land, and (4) permit States to receive patents to land granted them when they entered the Union. The increase for 1957 is primarily for surveys related to timber sales and work under Public Law 167.

5. Soil and moisture conservation.—The 1957 program plans treatment of 1,300,000 acres of public lands with measures to prevent runoff and erosion and to rehabilitate areas which are in critical condition. Emphasis will be placed on cooperative programs with other agencies in river basin areas. The increase for 1957 is to provide for the second step of a 20-year program.

6. Squaw Butte experiment station.—In cooperation with the Oregon State Agricultural College, studies are made of management problems on the western ranges. The recommendation made by the last Congress that this station be transferred to the Department of Agriculture is now under consideration, but final conclusion has not yet been reached.

9. Maintenance of access roads.—Provision is made for maintaining timber access roads constructed in the revested Oregon and California Railroad grant lands area of Oregon. The funds for this purpose are to be reimbursed to the Treasury from the Oregon and California land grant fund.

10. Weed control.—Provision is made for treating 111,000 acres infested by halogeton and other poisonous and noxious weeds. Since the inception of the program in 1952, 572,900 acres have been treated.

11. General administration.—In addition to normal administrative services, provision is made for the collection and distribution of an estimated $236 million in receipts for fiscal year 1957. The increase for 1957 provides for administration of the growing programs of the Bureau.

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The responsibility of the United States toward the Indian people and the natives of Alaska includes protection and development of trust property and the furnishing of services not otherwise available to Indians and which are normally provided other citizens through Government and private agencies. Active programs are being aimed toward the integration of like services to Indians and non-Indians through the same sources and toward increased Indian participation in the management of Indian-owned resources. States and counties are participating at an increasing rate in the service programs, usually with financing by the United States demanded because of the tax-exempt status of Indian lands. The ultimate goal of the entire program is to have the Indian people and the natives of Alaska take their proper place in the social and economic life of the Nation on the same basis as other citizens.

EDUCATION AND WELFARE SERVICES

Education and Welfare Services, Bureau of Indian Affairs

For expenses necessary to provide education and welfare services for Indians, either directly or in cooperation with States and other organizations, including payment (in advance or from date of admission), of care, tuition, assistance, and other expenses of Indians in boarding homes, institutions, or schools; grants and other assistance to needy Indians; maintenance of law and order, and payment of rewards for information or evidence concerning violations of law on Indian reservations or lands; and operation of Indian arts and crafts shops and museums; [$41,764,995] *$50,700,000. PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This program promotes the economic advancement of the Indians in the continental United States and of the natives of Alaska through the utilization of their resources.

1. Forest and range lands.—This activity covers management, protection, and utilization of the forest, range, and wildlife resources on nearly 50 million acres of Indian-owned lands.

2. Fire suppression.—This item provides for the suppression and prevention of fires on or threatening Indian reservations. Approximately 57,941,000 acres require protection.

3. Agricultural and industrial assistance.—Funds under this activity provide for improved methods in farming; homemaking; the management of a revolving loan credit program for small business enterprises; and formulation of plans for readjustment legislation pertaining to special trust relationships between Indian tribes and the Federal Government.

4. Soil and moisture conservation.—Land-use practices based on land inventories and soil-conservation plans are introduced to control erosion and promote more effective utilization of soil and water resources. Approximately 25.7 million acres, or 48.5 percent of Indian-owned lands, are severely or critically eroded. The job of soil and moisture conservation is approximately 17 percent completed, an increase of 3 percent over 1954.

5. Operation, repair, and maintenance of Indian irrigation systems.—Approximately 300 irrigation systems serving about 864,000 acres of Indian and mixed-ownership lands are operated and maintained. About 82 percent of the cost is financed from collections from water users, an increase of 2 percent over 1954.

6. Development of Indian arts and crafts.—Production and marketing of the products of Indian crafts are fostered through formation of production groups; establishing of standards; and improving of markets, design, and production methods.

7. Management of Indian trust property.—Banking services are provided for Indians; land is purchased, sold, exchanged, and leased; and Indian property and money rights are safeguarded. Consolidation and/or disposal of

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

The Bureau plans, constructs, and operates facilities to irrigate lands, furnish domestic water supplies, and develop related hydroelectric power and flood control in the 17 Western States and Alaska.

Appropriations to the Bureau are made from the general fund and from three special funds. The special funds are (a) the reclamation fund, largely derived from certain irrigation and power revenues; receipts from the sale, lease, and rental of public lands; and certain oil and mineral revenues; (b) the Colorado River dam fund, derived from the revenues of the Boulder Canyon project; and (c) the Colorado River development fund, derived from transfers of money from the Colorado River dam fund. The estimates of appropriation for the budget year are summarized by source, as follows:

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The work consists of preparation of designs and specifications subsequent to initial allocation for construction, award and servicing of construction contracts, construction of authorized projects, operation and maintenance during construction of completed features of projects, and rehabilitation of existing facilities. Basin investigations and advance planning for units of the Missouri River Basin are also included.

This appropriation request of $150.9 million represents an increase of $4,859,000 over the appropriation for the current fiscal year. This increase is due principally to the initiation of construction on the Collbran and Rogue River, Talent division, projects as well as powerplants and facilities on the Colorado-Big Thompson and Weber Basin projects, and the requirements of projects on which construction was started in the prior year.

Details of the program are shown in the following table. Accomplishments during the fiscal year are largely the result of the application of prior year appropriations. To a large extent the fiscal year 1957 program will be reflected in future year accomplishments. Bureau operations during 1957 will provide facilities for 873,200 additional acres of irrigated land and 85,500 kilowatts of new power-generating capacity.

The program is to be financed by $150.9 million of new construction appropriation and $6,528,311 from prior year funds. Of the new appropriation, 72 percent will be used to finance work on 7 major projects and 5 units and divisions in the Missouri River Basin in the construction stage as shown in the following table.

An amount of $30 million is being proposed for later transmission and appears at the end of this chapter.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Provision is made for operation and maintenance of (a) the power-generating and transmission facilities of completed projects (except the Fort Peck transmission system financed under a revolving fund), and the irrigation and water-supply facilities on certain projects; (b) the Colorado River front work and levee system; and (c) Boulder City, Nev. Provision is also made for soil and moisture conservation operations and halogeton control on public lands under jurisdiction of the Bureau.

The Bureau operates and maintains the power-generation and transmission facilities, and generally the storage dams and reservoirs, of completed projects. Where necessary, the irrigation works are also operated and maintained until the water users are able to undertake the responsibilities. In 1957 a total of 38 projects and 18 Missouri River Basin units and divisions will be operated and maintained for irrigation, power, municipal and industrial water supplies. SPECIAL FUNDS

Sums herein referred to as being derived from the reclamation fund, the Colorado River dam fund, or the Colorado River development fund, are appropriated from the special funds in the Treasury created by the Act of June 17, 1902 (43 U. S. C. 391), the Act of December 21, 1928 (43 U. S. C. 617a), and the Act of July 19, 1940 (43 U. S. C. 618a), respectively. Such sums shall be transferred, upon request of the Secretary, to be merged with and expended under the heads herein specified; and the unexpended balances of sums transferred for expenditure under the heads "Operation and Maintenance" and "General Administrative Expenses" shall revert and be credited to the special fund from which derived. PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The program of the Geological Survey is planned to provide basic and scientific data concerning the water, land, and mineral resources of the Nation, and to supervise the leasing of minerals on Federal and Indian lands.

1. Topographic surveys and mapping.—Topographic maps portray the elevation, shape, and position of the natural and man-made features of the earth's surface; and they provide the engineering information that is essential to (a) geologic investigations, (b) engineering and industrial development, (c) military and civil defense. The immediate program will provide maps for those areas where engineering, investigation, development, and construction are most imminent, and also where the Department of Defense has assigned a high priority. In 1957 standard maps for an estimated 132,000 square miles of the United States and its Territories will be compiled, compared with 132,000 in 1955 and 114,000 in 1956.

2. Geologic and mineral resource surveys and mapping.—These investigations are directed toward (a) providing an accurate appraisal of the Nation's mineral and mineral fuels resources, (b) providing background data needed in classifying the public lands and in exploring for mineral raw materials, and (c) research in the development of new concepts and techniques needed in the search for hidden deposits of useful minerals, with special emphasis on operations designed to implement the national minerals policy enunciated by the President in November 1954. The work also includes the development of basic data on surface and subsurface geologic conditions for use in planning and executing engineering construction projects; and the preparation of a geologic map of the United States, its Territories and possessions. Geologic mapping is now progressing at the rate of approximately 40,000 square miles annually.

3. Water resources investigations.—Surface and underground water supplies are investigated to provide information essential in planning water-supply projects for military, industrial, and domestic expansion, as well as irrigation, hydroelectric power, navigation, flood control, highway and bridge design, and land-use projects. The program includes determinations of the flow, stage, and sediment discharge of rivers; reservoir contents; locations and safe yields of underground waters; the chemical quality and temperature of waters; and the availability of water supplies as related to present and future demands. Emphasis in the 1957 program will be placed on studies to develop a more thorough understanding of the basic principles and physical processes of water's occurrence and movement in order to meet new responsibilities in hydrology related to changes in national water policy and technological advance. There will be some expansion of the work in cooperation with State agencies.

4. Soil and moisture conservation.—Basic data and advice concerning hydrologic and geologic problems are provided to other bureaus for the improvement and maintenance of the productive values of the 282 million acres of Federal land under the Department of the Interior. The program includes surveys of rates of erosion, evaluation of the effects of soil and moisture treatment measures on hydrologic factors, and evaluation studies to provide data for improving the design of remedial measures.

5. Classification of lands.—Federally owned and controlled lands are classified as to their mineral and water-power values as a basis for public-land administration. Owing to the unprecedented rate of development of the Nation's oil and gas resources, increased demands are being made upon the Survey for mineral classification services. Requests for land classification totaled approximately 60,600 in 1955 and are estimated to reach 66,000 in 1956 and 75,000 in 1957.

6. Supervision of mining and oil and gas leases.—Prospecting, development, and production of minerals on leased Federal, Indian, and outer Continental Shelf lands are regulated and supervised. In the current year, some 145,000 leased properties, oil wells, and mines in 38 States and Alaska are expected to produce oil, gas, and other minerals valued at $625 million and return royalties of about $65 million. The States which produce the minerals receive 37½ percent of the royalties; the Reclamation fund, 52½ percent; and 10 percent is retained in the Treasury. In 1957, it is anticipated that the leased properties, mines, and wells requiring supervision will approximate 157,000, and that the production and royalty values will reach $675 million and $70 million, respectively.

7. General administration—special purpose buildings.—The 1957 program contemplates construction of unit 3 of the Pacific coast center of the Geological Survey.

Reimbursements from non-Federal sources are from States and municipalities for expenses incurred in making cooperative topographic and geologic surveys and water resources investigations (43 U. S. C. 48), proceeds from sale to the public of copies of photographs and records (43 U. S. C. 45), proceeds from sale of personal property (40 U. S. C. 481 (c)), and reimbursements from permittees and licensees of the Federal Power Commission (16 U. S. C. 797). Reimbursements from other Federal agencies (31 U. S. C. 686) are for special purpose mapping and investigations performed at the request of the financing agency. Much, although not all, of the reimbursable work contributes to the basic objectives of the Geological Survey.

CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF MINERAL RESOURCES—CON.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Provision is made for conserving, evaluating, and developing mineral resources, such as:

1. Fuels—(a) Coal.—Scientific research and engineering investigations are carried out on the chemical and physical properties of coal and its mining, preparation, combustion, carbonization, and gasification. Coal samples are analyzed; a fuel economy service is performed for Government agencies; efficiency of coal-mining methods is evaluated; methods for improving the mechanized mining of anthracite are studied; and economic and statistical studies are performed.

(b) Petroleum and natural gas.—Basic and applied research is conducted in laboratories and in oil and gas fields, with the objective of conserving these resources by improving the processes of recovery and utilization. Research is coordinated with complementary work done by other Government agencies, educational institutions, and industry. Research projects provide basic information about oil fields, and properties and composition of crude oil and its products. They also establish relationships of properties and composition to production and use of the raw material and its products. Such fundamental information promotes more efficient production and utilization of petroleum and natural gas. Through industry cooperation, economic and statistical information is analyzed and disseminated to provide a factual basis for industry operations and governmental policy development.

(c) Synthetic liquid fuels.—Laboratory research is conducted and pilot plants are operated for the production of synthetic liquid fuels from coal and oil shale. The primary objective is to find technically and economically feasible methods for converting coal and oil shale to fluid fuels for their better utilization in the Nation's machines. Conservation and development of mineral resources are being achieved by studying and developing methods whereby these solid raw materials can be converted to gaseous and liquid forms which have a greater value than the cost of conversion.

(d) Helium.—Scientific and technologic research is carried on in resources, production, storage, and utilization of helium.

2. Minerals and metals.—Investigations and research are conducted to improve mining technology, examine ore deposits, discover metallurgical processes to make better use of low-grade ores, develop substitutes for scarce commodities, and statistical and economic information are analyzed and disseminated.

3. Control of fires in coal deposits.—Fires in inactive or abandoned deposits on public lands or private property are controlled or extinguished. Expenditures in connection with fires in operating mines are limited to the conduct of surveys, investigations, and research.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Investigation of accidents and rescue work.—Operations under this activity are designed to reduce working hazards, safeguard the health of workers, and promote efficiency in the mineral industries. The Bureau encourages accident prevention through education and safety organizations, exhibits, and demonstrations; gives instruction in accident prevention, first-aid and mine-rescue methods; investigates explosions, fires, and other serious accidents in mines and mineral-industry plants; investigates and develops safety devices for the mineral industries; conducts research on the support of mine roof, tests equipment for use in mines and plants where explosive atmospheres may be encountered; and performs field and laboratory studies of ventilation of mines, methods of allaying mineral dusts, prevention of dust accumulations, effective use of rock dust to prevent widespread coal-dust explosions, and blasting practices.

2. Mine inspections and investigations.—The objectives for the fiscal year 1957 are (a) to inspect, at least once annually, every active coal mine regularly employing more than 14 men underground, and to take action to require compliance with mandatory provisions and make recommendations to gain compliance with the voluntary provisions of law, and (b) to inspect annually, or as necessary, underground coal mines regularly employing less than 15 men, and all strip mines, and to report on hazards observed with appropriate recommendations to correct the hazards.

| Mine inspections | 6,074 | 3,894 | 551 | 10,519 |

3. Explosives and explosions testing and research.—Research is conducted to discover causes of explosions in coal mines and to improve methods of preventing explosions. Tests are conducted on explosives and blasting devices to determine their permissibility for use in coal mines or their suitability for use in other mining operations and the conditions under which they can be used safely.

Management and Protection, National Park Service—Continued

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Management of park and other areas.—The 181 park and other areas comprise about 24 million acres located in 38 States, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. The increase proposed is to provide (a) added visitor services in the areas as a result of the continued increase in visitation; (b) for areas for which no funds have been provided previously; and (c) for leasing of communication facilities. Leasing of communication facilities will avoid capital outlays for Government-owned equipment as well as future costs of replacing obsolete components. Actual and estimated visitors and revenue receipts are as follows:

| | Visitors calendar year | Receipts fiscal year |
|---|---|---|
| 1955: | | |
| Actual | | 4,914,239 |
| Estimate | 50,000,000 | |
| 1956 estimate | 52,000,000 | 5,120,000 |
| 1957 estimate | 54,000,000 | 5,625,000 |

2. Forestry and fire control.—Forest, brushland, or grassland on over 11 million acres are protected from fire, destructive insects, diseases, and other preventable damage. The increase proposed is primarily for leasing of communication facilities to provide more adequate fire protection.

3. Soil and moisture conservation.—The 1957 program will permit corrective measures on 32 of the most critical erosion problem areas.

4. Park and recreation programs.—Studies are made of the park, parkway, and recreational potentialities of the United States and its Territories, frequently in cooperation with Federal, State, and local agencies. Technical and scientific services and guidance essential to management, protection, and public use are provided in the fields of biology, geology, history, and archeology. Investigations are made to determine whether agencies receiving surplus Federal real property with a recreational potential are utilizing those properties in conformity with terms of the transfer agreements. The increase proposed is to provide (a) for further studies in connection with proposed or existing areas; (b) better interpretive services; (c) more adequate control of land use and water resources; and (d) for archeological salvage on Federal water control projects sponsored by the Bureau of Reclamation and the Corps of Engineers.

5. Concessions management.—There are 170 major concessionaires operating in parks and other areas. Contracts are negotiated, or permits issued; rates are established; services to be rendered are determined; and records are audited.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Administration of fish and game laws.—These laws apply to Alaskan fisheries and game, protection of migratory birds and certain game mammals, interstate transportation of fish, and enforcement of international agreements. The proposed increase will make possible more effective enforcement of the Migratory Bird Treaty and Lacey Acts. Funds for enforcement of the Migratory Bird Treaty and Lacey Acts are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent accounts—Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (reverted funds only), Management of National Wildlife Refuges, and Migratory Bird Conservation Account. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $945,530. It is estimated they will amount to $993,000 in 1956, and $965,000 in 1957.

2. Propagation and distribution of food fishes.—Eighty-eight fish-cultural stations are currently operated to produce fish and eggs for propagation of commercial food and game fishes. Fish screens and other protective devices are maintained on Federal areas in the West. Management programs are developed for fishing waters on public lands in cooperation with other Federal agencies. The proposed increase will make possible more effective utilization and maintenance of fish-cultural facilities.

3. Mammal and bird reservations.—Two hundred and sixty-four refuges, consisting of approximately 18 million acres, are operated for the conservation of migratory waterfowl and for the preservation and propagation of rare birds and mammals. The proposed increase is primarily a shift in financing from permanent appropriations necessary to continue this activity at approximately the current level. Funds for this activity are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent accounts—Management of National Wildlife Refuges, and Migratory Bird Conservation Account. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $6,419,108. It is estimated they will amount to $5,320,939 in 1956, and $3,840,000 in 1957.

FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE—Continued

4. River basin studies.—To insure that adequate measures are taken for the conservation and development of fish and wildlife, studies are made of proposed Federal power, navigation, irrigation, and drainage projects. Approximately one-half of the proposed increase represents a shift in financing from permanent appropriations. The remainder will provide more adequate surveys of water-use projects. Funds for this activity are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent accounts—Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (reverted funds only), and Migratory Bird Conservation Account. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $315,432. It is estimated they will amount to $250,000 in 1956, and $150,000 in 1957.

5. Control of predatory animals and injurious rodents.—Such control is exercised on public lands. Technical information, and correlation and supervision of cooperative programs are provided to protect livestock, game, poultry, forage, crops, forests, structures, foods, and feeds from destruction by harmful animals.

6. Soil and moisture conservation.—Nearly 5.5 million acres in 63 refuges within the continental United States are critically eroded or severely depleted. A long-range program for developing a conservation plan for a majority of these refuges has been completed. Work is now being performed on 35 refuges.

7. Management and investigations of fish and wildlife resources of Alaska, including construction.—Twenty-five percent of the receipts from sales of fur sealskins and other products are used to supplement other appropriations for management and investigations of fish and wildlife resources of Alaska, including construction. These amounts are not included in the totals of supplementary financing included in the narrative statements above.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Research on fish and fisheries.—Research is conducted (a) to learn more about variations in abundance of important food fishes and other aquatic animals; (b) to discover declining species and better measures for conserving, developing, and managing fishery resources; and (c) to improve cultivation of aquatic animals, including shellfish. Funds for this activity are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent accounts—Federal Aid in Fish Restoration and Management (reverted funds only), and Promote and Develop Fishery Products and Research Pertaining to American Fisheries. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $1,449,857. It is estimated they will amount to $1,410,100 in 1956 and 1957.

2. Exploration, development, and utilization of fishery resources.—This includes: (a) Exploring for fish and improving fishing gear and methods; (b) developing and demonstrating more efficient means of handling, processing, storing, and marketing fishery products; (c) compiling and publishing commercial fishery statistics, including operation of seven market news offices; and (d) collecting and disseminating economic data on the industry, including business trends and foreign trade. Funds for this activity are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent account Promote and Develop Fishery Products and Research Pertaining to American Fisheries. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $1,352,703. It is estimated they will amount to $1,426,000 in 1956 and 1957.

3. Research on birds and mammals.—Research is carried on in migratory wildlife and wildlife management and conservation practices. In addition, wildlife research units are maintained in cooperation with States and universities to give technical training in wildlife management, carry on research, and demonstrate improved management practices. The proposed increase in this activity is primarily a shift in financing from permanent appropriations. Funds for this activity are supplemented by moneys appropriated under the permanent accounts—Federal Aid in Wildlife Restoration (reverted funds only), and Migratory Bird Conservation Account. In 1955, these supplementary funds totaled $405,509. It is estimated they will amount to $436,000 in 1956 and $250,000 in 1957.

4. Research on fish migration over dams.—Investigations are conducted to acquire knowledge of the factors influencing the direction and rate of movement of anadromous fish over dams, so that these factors may be known in designing future dams.

Funds appropriated for the care of the mentally ill of Alaska during 1956 were based on an estimated average daily patient load of 341 at an annual cost of $2,208 per patient. The patient load is now expected to average 368 for 1956 and a supplemental appropriation of $60,000 is being forecast elsewhere in this budget. The 1957 average daily patient load is estimated at 370 at the same cost per patient.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The highway system of Alaska is being extended and constantly improved to meet military requirements and the needs of the expanding Territorial economy.

1. Preparation of plans.—Surveys are conducted and designs prepared for new road and bridge construction projects and for the improvement of existing roads and structures in advance of congressional authorization. Cadastral surveys of existing roads must be made for right-of-way identification. Staff work consisting of programing, surveying, engineering, and planning is performed for the Territorial highway engineer and road commissioners of the Territory as the Government's contribution in the development of farm and industrial roads.

2. Construction in progress.—In 1957 the program consists of the following projects: (a) Continuation of construction to completion and improvement of the Taylor Highway; (b) asphalt surfacing of 42 miles of Richardson Highway; (c) continuation of stage construction of the Denali Highway connecting Mount McKinley National Park with the Richardson Highway; it is planned that the final portion of this highway will be constructed by contract; (d) continuation of construction of Sterling Highway by paving; (e) further extension of access roads to new homestead and industrial areas.

3. Reconstruction.—Improvements will be continued on existing roads and bridges to raise them to accepted standards in order to meet increasing traffic demands and to eliminate hazardous conditions.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Educational expenses, children of employees, Yellowstone National Park.—Revenues received from park visitors are used to provide educational facilities to dependents of park personnel (16 U. S. C. 40c). Funds in excess of needs are returned to the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts. During fiscal year 1957 it is estimated there will be 49 elementary and 20 high school students. Cost per student is estimated at $348 for elementary students and $541 for high school students.

2. Operation, management, maintenance, and demolition of federally acquired properties, Independence National Historical Park.—Some of the buildings on lands acquired for establishment of the Independence National Historical Park, Philadelphia, Pa., are rented pending their conversion to park purposes or demolition. Some of the cleared sites are being used temporarily as parking lots from which income is also realized. Income from these operations is used for management and maintenance of the rental properties and for demolition of buildings (65 Stat. 644).

3. Payment to the State of Wyoming, in lieu of taxes on lands in Grand Teton National Park.—Park fees are used to compensate the State of Wyoming for tax losses on Grand Teton National Park lands (64 Stat. 849).

4. Purchase of Great Onyx and Crystal Cave properties, Mammoth Cave National Park.—Receipts from admission, guide, and elevator fees at Mammoth Cave National Park, Ky., in excess of the annual appropriation for management, guide, and protection purposes at the park, are available for acquisition of the privately owned Great Onyx and Crystal Cave properties located within the park boundaries (68 Stat. 36). The State of Kentucky will first acquire the properties, and the Federal Government will then purchase them from the State. Payment will be made in annual installments equal to available receipts.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The local revenues collected annually by the government of the Virgin Islands are matched by a payment out of the annual internal revenue taxes collected by the United States on Virgin Islands products transported to the United States. The local revenues for fiscal 1957 are estimated at $2,500,000. During 1956 internal revenue taxes in excess of local revenues were paid to the Virgin Islands to provide a fund of $5 million to be used for emergency purposes. Beginning with fiscal year 1957, the Virgin Islands will receive only amounts equal to local revenues (Revised Organic Act of the Virgin Islands, Public Law 517, approved July 22, 1954).

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

Revolving Fund for Loans, Bureau of Indian Affairs

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund is used to assist Indians in acquiring livestock, farm, and other equipment and in establishing tribal enterprises (25 U. S. C. 470, 471, 631). This fund and miscellaneous tribal funds provide the only source of loans for the great majority of Indians who cannot borrow from ordinary commercial credit sources because of their low economic status and lack of bankable security.

In 1957, loans are estimated at $1.5 million, and repayments at $0.5 million, the same as for 1956; compared with $0.2 million made and $1.4 million repaid in 1955. As of June 30, 1955, the principal of the fund amounted to $15.5 million, consisting of $13.8 million appropriated, and $1.7 million cattle settlements. Cattle settlements are payments made by the Indians for breeding stock furnished by the Government generally prior to establishment of this fund.

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION

Continuing Fund for Emergency Expenses, Fort Peck Project, Montana

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund defrays the operating expenses of the generation and transmission of power from Fort Peck project, Corps of Engineers, and emergency expenses to insure continuous operation (16 U. S. C. 833). Net income is estimated at $1.8 million for 1957, a considerable increase over prior years, the result of an estimated increase in power revenues, and an estimated decrease in operating expenses. Receipts in excess of current operating needs may be retained so as to maintain a continuing emergency fund of $0.5 million. The balance is paid into the Treasury as miscellaneous receipts toward the cost of amortization and interest of the dam, reservoir, and powerplant allocated to power and of transmission. Such payments totaled $1 million in 1955 and are estimated at $1.7 million in 1956 and $2.2 million in 1957.

The operation of the Fort Peck project power and transmission facilities are financed by this fund and capital outlays for transmission by the appropriation "Construction and rehabilitation, Bureau of Reclamation." Capital outlays for the dam, reservoir, and powerplant are financed by Corps of Engineers appropriations. The following statements consolidate the financing from the "Continuing fund for emergency expenses, Fort Peck project, Montana" and "Construction and rehabilitation, Bureau of Reclamation."

BUREAU OF MINES

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This fund is used for the production of helium, primarily for the Army, Navy, Air Force, and the Atomic Energy Commission, who reimburse the fund for products received. Sales are also made to non-Federal consumers for medical, scientific, and commercial use (50 U. S. C. 164). As of June 30, 1955, the net appropriated capital consisted of appropriations of $17,971,969, less $5,585,964 in write-offs and disposals. An additional $6 million appropriated in 1955 to "Construction, Bureau of Mines," together with income derived from operations, are being used to expand productive capacity to meet the growing demand for helium.

PURPOSE AND FINANCIAL ORGANIZATION

This fund is derived from earnings of the Railroad, and is used for operating and maintenance expenses as well as improvements and additions (48 U. S. C. 301–308).

The Government's investment in the Railroad as of July 1, 1955, was $135.6 million consisting of invested and donated capital of $146.3 million, less a deficit of $10.7 million. The investment is represented by $113.5 million of fixed assets and $22.1 million of working capital.

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAMS

1. Rail line operation.—The railroad mainline extends from Seward to Fairbanks, a distance of 470 miles. Branch lines and passing trackage total 165 miles. Funds applied to expenses are expected to decline from $13.8 million in 1955 to $12.7 million in 1956 and $11.8 million in 1957. Income provided by operations decreases from $18.1 million in 1955 to $15.9 million in 1956 and $14.9 million in 1957. This results primarily from decreases in shipments of construction materials and the installation of a military petroleum pipeline.

Asset acquisitions totaled $5 million in 1955 and are estimated at $10.9 million in 1956 and $8.4 million in 1957, mainly for the reconstruction of the Seward-Portage line and construction of the Seward dock. Both are expected to be completed in 1957, and will expedite operations and reduce operating costs.

Formerly the Railroad operated hotels for the public at McKinley Park, Healy and Curry. The McKinley Park Hotel was transferred to the National Park Service in 1955, and the others have been converted to workmen's dormitories and messhouses.

2. Other operations.—These are miscellaneous operations not related to rail line operation. Beginning with 1956 the activities consist primarily of operation and maintenance costs allocable to sales of power and steam and to properties rented. Operation of river boats was terminated during 1955 when the facilities were leased to a private company. The decline in expenses after 1955 is due primarily to this action. Revenues of $50,000 annually will be realized from the lease.

OPERATING RESULTS AND RETAINED EARNINGS

The unfavorable traffic trend mentioned above will cause a decline in net earnings. Reductions in revenues will not be accompanied by corresponding reductions in expenses and the $2.7 million net income attained in 1955 will not be maintained, but operating economies will play their part in sustaining net income of about $1.5 million in 1957. Profits will reduce the deficit to $7.4 million at the end of 1957.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration was established in 1935 to increase employment by useful projects. It was financed under this revolving fund which derived its income largely from rentals, collections on loans and mortgages, and lease purchase contracts (49 Stat. 1135). Congress directed the liquidation of the Puerto Rico Reconstruction Administration by February 15, 1955 (67 Stat. 584) and the Administration was closed on that date. The 1955 obligations reflect liquidation costs as well as certain necessary operating expenses incident to the termination of the program. Assets disposed of in the liquidation are as follows:

Loans are made to local trading companies to enable them to perform the functions formerly performed by the Island Trading Company of Micronesia. Until its termination on December 31, 1954 (67 Stat. 261), the company bought Micronesian products for resale in the world market, and bought trade goods for resale to the Micronesians.

Public Law 78, approved June 16, 1955, made available for one year $500,000 of the proceeds from the liquidation of the Island Trading Company of Micronesia for establishment of this fund. It is being proposed in the appropriation language for the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands to extend this availability for fiscal year 1957.

Loans are expected to total $425,000 in fiscal year 1956 and $180,000 in fiscal year 1957. Interest will be charged at the rate of 4 percent per annum on the unpaid balance. Loans will be made for the purchase of Micronesian products for resale, acquiring stocks of trade goods, and purchase of vessels.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Virgin Islands Corporation promotes the economic development of the United States Virgin Islands. Appropriations not to exceed $9 million were authorized to be made to a revolving fund in the Treasury, based on annual budgets submitted by the Corporation. The appropriation of additional funds as grants to finance specific programs not primarily of revenue-producing character and to reimburse the Corporation for operating losses is also authorized (48 U. S. C. 1407).

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAMS

1. Loan program.—Loans are made (a) to aid farmers in agricultural diversification and to improve livestock production; (b) to aid business enterprises with any commercial or industrial undertaking in the Virgin Islands when such loans are not available from other Federal or private sources. During 1957, it is probable that a loan of $100,000 will be made to a corporation for building a hotel in St. Croix, and a like amount to a distiller for development of byproducts.

2. Sales program.—The principal business of the Corporation is the growing of sugarcane and production and sale of sugar, including assistance to farmers by rental of agricultural equipment and sale of sugarcane seed and other materials used in the cultivation of sugarcane. Production statistics are as follows (costs exclude depreciation and interest):

|---|---|---|---|
| Sugarcane production: | | | |
| Acres harvested | 2,322 | 2,200 | 2,400 |
| Tons harvested | 56,728 | 55,000 | 60,000 |
| Tons per acre | 24 | 25 | 25 |
| Total cost | $460,868 | $385,000 | $420,000 |
| Cost per ton | $8.12 | $7.00 | $7.00 |
| Sugar manufacture: | | | |
| Tons of cane ground: | | | |
| Corporation cane | 56,728 | 55,000 | 60,000 |
| Purchased cane | 39,714 | 51,000 | 60,000 |
| Total | 96,442 | 106,000 | 120,000 |
| Tons of sugar produced | 9,950 | 10,600 | 12,000 |
| Yield per ton of cane (percent) | 10.5 | 10 | 10 |
| Total cost | $1,169,701 | $1,186,100 | $1,333,200 |
| Cost per ton | $117.56 | $111.90 | $111.10 |
| Gross profit or loss (−) per ton: | | | |
| Manufacturing expense | $117.56 | $111.90 | $111.10 |
| Shipping and selling expense | 15.31 | 15.30 | 15.30 |
| Total expense | 132.87 | 127.20 | 126.40 |
| Income | 130.33 | 128.77 | 128.51 |
| Profit or loss (−) | −2.54 | 1.57 | 2.11 |

Uncertain growing conditions make production of sugar a precarious enterprise in the Virgin Islands. However, extensive repairs in the factory and improvements in operating methods are making it possible to reduce losses materially.

3. Power program.—Electric generating plants are operated by the Corporation to supply each of the islands of St. Croix and St. Thomas with electric power. Sufficient funds are available to finance extension of distribution lines during 1957. Program statistics are as follows:

| | 1955 actual | 1956 estimate | 1957 estimate |
|---|---|---|---|
| Generating capacity (kilowatts) | 5,895 | 6,760 | 7,776 |
| Miles of distribution lines | 368 | 418 | 430 |
| Number of consumers | 6,722 | 7,920 | 8,300 |
| Kilowatt-hours sold | 11,543,748 | 13,450,000 | 15,700,000 |
| Average rate per kilowatt-hour (cents) | 4.73 | 4.25 | 3.89 |

4. Nonrevenue producing activities.—These include water- and soil-conservation programs, particularly the construction of dams, land clearance, and forest development.

5. Administrative expenses.—Administrative expenses for 1957, limited to the sales program, are anticipated to be held within a limitation of $160,000.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

An appropriation of $350,000 for 1955 was received to defray the balance of 1953 actual losses ($279,924) and the balance ($70,076) to apply against the 1955 loss of $341,539. The 1956 appropriation of $260,000 defrayed the balance ($167,780) of 1954 actual losses and applied $92,220 against 1956 anticipated losses of $295,200. The appropriation requested for 1957 includes $295,000 to defray the balance ($271,463) of 1955 actual losses and $23,537 to apply against 1956 anticipated losses.

An appropriation of $130,000 was received in 1956 to finance nonrevenue producing activities, and $130,000 is requested in 1957.

Revenue-producing activities are financed from the revolving fund authorized in an amount not to exceed $9 million. Through 1956 there has been appropriated to the revolving fund $6,388,000, of which $5,050,000 was withdrawn through fiscal year 1955. The balance available on deposit is $1,338,000, which is considered sufficient for the 1957 program.

OPERATING RESULTS AND RETAINED EARNINGS

A net loss of $289,100 for 1957 is estimated as compared with $295,200 in 1956 and $341,539 in 1955. Climatic conditions are largely responsible for poor cane production. This factor coupled with poor milling efficiency of equipment and unskilled help has resulted in heavy losses in past years. Extensive repairs and acquisition of a more qualified supervisory staff during 1955 have proven that losses can be reduced ($567,780 in 1954; $341,539 in 1955) and additional improvements during 1956 and 1957 are expected to reduce losses further.

The Government's investment in the Corporation at June 30, 1957, is estimated at $7,444,761, consisting of $8,087,547 appropriations and paid-in capital, less a deficit of $642,786.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, as the investigative branch of the Department of Justice, obtains evidence for use in civil litigation and prosecution of violations of Federal law. It has primary responsibility for the internal security of the Nation. In addition, as a service agency, it assists all law-enforcement agencies in identification and technical matters.

The appropriation request for the fiscal year 1957 totals $95,510,000 and will enable the Bureau to keep the same staff as provided by the approved appropriation for the current fiscal year. Included in the request is $5,873,580 for the general pay raise and $410,000 to defray increased travel costs.

Increased investigative responsibilities; the need for adequate coverage in the internal security, subversive, and counterintelligence spheres of operations; and the continuing high workloads being received in the general criminal classifications, all contribute to the substantial investigative commitments facing the Bureau.

1. Security and criminal investigations.—This activity includes the Bureau's investigative responsibilities, coordination of the data gathered, and the maintenance of the Bureau's communications systems. Information is made available to other Government agencies having an official interest therein. During the fiscal year 1955 the Bureau processed a total of 1,764,349 name searches through its files, including 1,121,110 for other agencies of the Government. An increase is anticipated in fiscal year 1957.

2. Identification by fingerprints.—The Identification Division provides a national repository of identification data based on fingerprint records. Fingerprints are acquired, classified, preserved, and exchanged with other duly authorized law-enforcement agencies. During the fiscal year 1955 a total of 5,175,694 sets of fingerprints were received for handling, a 5.8 percent increase over the prior year, bringing the total to 135,990,686. Increasing workloads are expected to continue throughout fiscal year 1957. Funds requested include amounts necessary for servicing this collection as well as for processing the expected acquisitions.

3. Operation of criminal and scientific laboratory.—The Federal Bureau of Investigation laboratory provides technical and scientific assistance for all duly constituted law-enforcement agencies and other Federal agencies without charge. During the 1955 fiscal year 133,724 scientific examinations were made, up 5.7 percent from the prior year. In 1957, an increase of 3.9 percent over 1955 is expected.

4. Training schools and inspectional services.—A program of training is carried on for Bureau personnel and the Bureau cooperates in providing various types of training for other law-enforcement agencies upon request.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Service administers and enforces the laws relating to immigration and naturalization.

The increase is to provide enforcement fences at selected points along the border, maintain employment, and meet increased travel costs.

A supplemental appropriation of $2,650,000 for pay increases is anticipated for 1956.

1. Inspection for admission into the United States.—Control is maintained at border points, seaports, and airports over the entry of persons into the United States.

| Aliens denied entry on primary inspection | 172,778 | 185,000 | 190,000 |

2. Detention and deportation.—Aliens alleged to be in the United States unlawfully are served with orders to show cause and accorded hearings. Warrants of deportation are issued, served, and executed. Detention facilities are operated and maintained. New procedure initiates the deportation process through an order to show cause instead of a warrant of arrest. Strengthened border control reflects in fewer hearings and aliens deported. New policy results in fewer aliens in detention.

4. Patrol for prevention and detection of illegal entry.—This activity also combats smuggling, apprehends aliens illegally in the United States, and guards the international boundaries. Modernized methods and improved organization have strengthened control of southern border. This is reflected in broadened enforcement activities which causes a decline in apprehensions as possibilities of illegal entry are lessened. Urgently needed strengthening of the northern border is planned through these improvements.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Custody, care, and treatment of prisoners in Federal institutions.—The program for 1957 contemplates an average inmate population of 21,400, which is the same as that estimated for fiscal year 1956. The increase in funds is required to bring the total available up to the level of the actual costs in 1955 and to provide for some anticipated increases in costs. Funds used for this activity, exclusive of salaries, are in direct relation to the average inmate population of the Federal penal institutions, at a per capita cost for fiscal year 1957 of 75 cents compared with 73.5 cents in 1955. The population as of June 30 1955, was 20,929.

2. Maintenance and operation of institutions.—There are 27 institutions in the United States (6 penitentiaries, 3 reformatories for men, 7 correctional institutions, 4 prison camps, 1 medical center, 3 juvenile institutions, 1 youth institution, 1 institution for women, and 1 jail). In addition there are 5 major jails and 1 prison camp in Alaska. The present normal capacity for these institutions is 19,090. Higher costs of utilities and the increasing need for additional maintenance and repair work at all of the institutions are reflected in the estimates. Special repairs and improvements are included in the appropriation for buildings and facilities for 1957.

3. Medical services.—This provides for the salaries and travel expenses of personnel detailed to the institutions by the Public Health Service to furnish medical care to prisoners.

PURPOSE AND ORGANIZATION

The Corporation is authorized (18 U. S. C. 4121–4128) to establish and operate industries in Federal penal and correctional institutions including those under jurisdiction of the Department of Defense where prisoners convicted by general courts-martial are confined. Its purpose is to provide employment for physically fit inmates, giving them the maximum opportunity to acquire knowledge and skill in occupations by which they can earn a livelihood upon release. It also conducts a vocational training program for qualified inmates in connection with regular institutional and industrial activities and operates a placement service which assists in obtaining jobs for released inmates. Products manufactured by the inmates are sold only to other Government agencies and the penal institutions. Earnings from the sale of these products pay all expenses of the Corporation and in addition have permitted payment of $28,500,000 in dividends into the Treasury since the Corporation operations began on January 1, 1935.

ANALYSIS OF BUDGET PROGRAMS

During 1957, the industrial program is expected to employ 3,800 inmates on a 40-hour-week basis, a slight increase over preceding years. During the past year industrial activities were diversified among 29 different lines of industry in 49 shops at 20 locations. During the year 2 new industries started operations while 1 industry was discontinued. The new industries were the furniture refinishing shop at Texarkana, Tex., and the clothing factory at the branch United States disciplinary barracks, Lompoc, Calif. The cannery at Terre Haute, Ind., was discontinued. During 1956 a tire recapping shop (new industry) will start operations at Petersburg, Va., and it is expected that new industries will start at Tallahassee, Fla., and Terminal Island, Calif.

During last year, 9,970 inmates were enrolled in organized vocational training as follows:

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1954 | 1955 | 1954 | 1955 | 1954 | 1955 |
| Types of training: | | | | | | |
| Agricultural | 38 | 40 | 1,027 | 722 | 454 | 260 |
| Industrial | 44 | 48 | 1,823 | 1,492 | 611 | 449 |
| Occupational | 223 | 234 | 2,893 | 3,270 | 2,092 | 1,644 |
| Trade | 47 | 50 | 1,231 | 1,432 | 856 | 788 |
| Special courses | 65 | 70 | 2,632 | 3,054 | 1,342 | 2,189 |
| Total | 417 | 442 | 9,606 | 9,970 | 5,355 | 5,330 |

Last year, 15 major institutions, as compared to 13 during 1954, met the standards and requirements of State boards of vocational training, and 734 State-approved certificates in vocational education were granted. In addition, 804 institutional certificates of completion of courses were issued to those who completed subunits of basic trade courses.

Employment placement officers assisted in finding jobs last year for 1,979 released inmates as compared to 1,749 the previous year. These placements were made through direct contact with private employers, offices of the United States Employment Service, and through employment offices of labor organizations. Of the placements, 509 were on jobs for which the inmate had been trained in the institution and 324 were on jobs related to such training.

For 1957, 3 additional vocational instructor positions are requested for assignment to institutions where expansion or establishment of training opportunities are necessary.

The meritorious monetary award program provided awards to 4,752 inmates during 1955 for outstanding services, as indicated in the table on program highlights.

The 1957 budget includes an administrative expense limitation of $422,000 (an increase of $23,000 over 1956), which is 2 percent of estimated sales.

The 1957 limitation request for vocational expense exclusive of depreciation and after taking account of related revenues is $528,000, an increase of $24,000 chiefly for 3 additional vocational instructors.

FINANCING OPERATIONS

Profit from 1957 operations is expected to result in a minus budgetary expenditure of $1.7 million, an increase of $0.2 million over the 1956 estimate, but a decrease of $0.4 million from 1955 actual. Dividends of $1,250,000 were paid into the Treasury during 1955 and it is anticipated that $2.8 million and $2.25 million will be paid during 1956 and 1957.

OPERATING RESULTS AND RETAINED EARNINGS

Income.—Net income of $2.5 million is expected to be realized from 1957 sales of $21 million, which is the same result expected in 1956, compared with 1955 actual earnings of $2.2 million from $20.4 million sales.

Expenses.—Cost of sales, excluding depreciation for 1957, is estimated at $16.6 million, approximately the same as for previous years, reflecting a percentage of cost of sales to sales of about 81 percent.

Retained earnings.—As of June 30, 1955, the Corporation's accumulated earnings amounted to $42.8 million of which $14.3 million has been reinvested in the business in the form of working capital, plant, and equipment. It is expected that such retained earnings will remain at approximately the same level in 1956 and 1957.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Litigation.—The enforcement of the important Federal wage, hour, and child labor laws, through court action comes within the scope of this activity. During 1955 the regional offices referred 997 potential actions and 626 actions were filed in the district courts of the United States. Fiscal year 1957 will bring an increase in litigation primarily because of the increase in the minimum wage.

2. Interpretations and legal advisory services.—The legal interpretation of the various acts administered by the Department as well as legal services and advice to departmental officials in connection with the administration of these acts fall within this activity. During 1955 8,203 interpretations on Federal wage, hour, and child-labor laws were given in response to specific requests from administrative officials and members of the public. A higher workload volume is estimated for 1956 and 1957 primarily because of the increase in the minimum wage.

3. Wage determinations.—This activity relates to the predetermination of prevailing wages to be paid to laborers and mechanics on public construction contracts; it is also concerned with efforts to coordinate the administration and enforcement of labor-standards provisions in statutes relating to public construction.

In 1955, there were 17,293 wage determinations made on request for Federal contracting agencies. The workload volume in 1956 and 1957 is estimated to surpass that of the past fiscal year.

4. Legislative advisory services.—Included in this activity are analyses and interpretations of existing legislation and preparation of drafts of proposed legislation in which the Department is interested.

5. Enforcement of regulatory labor laws (regional offices).—Services rendered at the regional level include interpretation and enforcement of regulatory labor laws, and legal advice to the bureaus of the Department and the public in response to inquiries.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau develops and encourages the adoption of sound labor standards, designs, and promotes programs aimed at the reduction of occupational injuries, promotes improved conditions for young workers, promotes improvement in working and living conditions of migrant workers, serves as a clearinghouse of information on all types of labor law and administration, and encourages employment of the physically handicapped.

1. Development and promotion of sound labor laws and labor practices—(a) Legislative standards and State services.—Technical assistance, advice, and information are given to States on labor law administration. Federal-State agreements are negotiated to eliminate duplication in labor law administration. Cooperation with other Federal agencies and with voluntary organizations is maintained, and advisory and technical assistance is given to State officials, committees, and voluntary groups on ways to improve working and living conditions of domestic farm migrant workers. Technical reports are prepared for the International Labor Organization.

(b) Safety and accident-prevention programs.—State agencies are assisted in planning industrywide safety programs in especially hazardous industries and through inspection advisory services; service is provided for the President's Conference on Occupational Safety; and Federal agencies are assisted in promotion of safety programs. In cooperation with State and Federal agencies, labor organizations, and other groups, training courses are conducted for State factory safety inspectors, for Federal employees, and for longshoremen, the latter to receive special attention in 1957. During 1955 a total of 95 safety training courses were conducted for 2,442 trainees.

(c) Youth employment.—Child labor and youth employment research aims to meet the needs of young workers, and child labor regulations are developed under the Fair Labor Standards Act. During 1957 a special project will be undertaken to study ways of overcoming restrictions on employment of younger workers.

(d) Employment of the physically handicapped.—The office of the President's committee provides for a continuing program of public information and education to advance the employment of handicapped citizens, and cooperates with all groups interested in the employment of the handicapped, including Government agencies, private groups, and individuals. The office conducts continuous liaison with voluntary citizen members of the committee and provides programs, plans, and materials for governors' committees in the States and Territories. In addition, it works through various standing committees to carry out the national program for the handicapped, and coordinates the efforts of all interested public and private groups in connection with the annual observance of National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week the first full week in October.

2. Registration of labor union data.—These are financial and organizational data required to be filed as a condition of union use of the facilities of the National Labor Relations Board. As of June 30, 1955, 36,995 unions had completed one or more annual registrations.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau of Employment Security carries out the Federal responsibilities of the public employment and unemployment insurance programs. Obligations for 1957 are estimated to be $5,765,000, an increase of $413,750 from 1956 due primarily to program expansion affecting veteran placement, low-income farm areas, auditing of State operations, and labor market studies.

1. Veterans' placement service.—This includes helping State local employment offices to give suitable counseling and placement services to veterans and to stimulate the interest of employers in employing veterans.

2. Farm placement service.—This service guides the interstate movement of migratory workers in cooperation with the farm placement activities of the States.

3. Collection and interpretation of labor market information.—Facts and figures are reported and analyzed on (a) the administrative operations of the unemployment insurance and employment service programs; (b) supply, demand, and utilization of labor by areas, industries, and occupations.

4. Assistance in maintaining public employment services.—Effective employment service is promoted by assistance to the States on (a) organization and management; (b) counseling and testing of veterans, handicapped workers, and others in occupational adjustment; and (c) employer contact programs.

5. Unemployment insurance service.—State laws and interpretation are reviewed to assure conformity with the requirements of the Federal law. Proposals are developed and surveys made to improve the existing programs. The unemployment compensation programs for veterans and for Federal employees are administered through the States.

6. Field guidance, financing, and auditing of State operations.—Technical assistance is provided to State agencies, and the administrative needs of the States are evaluated as a basis for making grants. Annual audits are made.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Grants are made to the States for administration of the unemployment compensation and employment service programs.

The increase of $15 million is due primarily to increased workloads resulting from new legislation extending the coverage and responsibilities of the program, increases in average annual State salary rates, extending employment services to low-income farm areas, and to more intensive efforts to prevent improper payments. The average annual State salary rate was $3,751 in 1955 and is expected to rise to $3,900 by the beginning of 1957.

1. Unemployment compensation.—These activities consist of determining the tax liability of each employer, collecting the taxes and auditing the employers's records; maintaining a record of each employee's wages; accepting and processing claims to determine eligibility and the amount and duration of benefits; verifying the claimant's continuing eligibility; making benefit payments; and conducting hearings and making decisions on appeals. Some differences in the workload for continued claims and benefit payments are due to the change during 1955 from biweekly to weekly claims taking.

4. Veterans' unemployment compensation.—This consists of activities for claims filed by veterans similar to those listed under activity 1. The benefit payments are provided by the unemployment compensation for veterans appropriation.

5. Unemployment compensation for Federal employees.—This consists of activities for claims filed by Federal employees similar to those listed under activity 1. The benefit payments are provided by the unemployment compensation for Federal employees appropriation.

6. Contingency fund.—This fund is used to meet unforeseen increases in the number of claims filed, in State salary rates due to changes in State compensation plans embracing employees of the State generally, and changes in State unemployment compensation laws.

7. Financing adjustment for advances to the States.—Because of State legal requirements, funds must be made available to the States before the fiscal year begins. This entry covers the difference between the amounts advanced in prior and subsequent years. In June 1954 funds were advanced from the 1955 appropriation to provide for operations during July–September, but in June 1955 funds were advanced from the 1956 appropriation to provide only for operations during July 1955. This resulted in a reduction of $27,400,167. In June 1956 the amount advanced from the 1957 appropriation will provide for July operations and will be $1,070,167 greater than the amount advanced in June 1955.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Funds are allocated to each State entering into an agreement with the Federal Government for the payment of unemployment compensation to Federal employees.

The program became effective on January 1, 1955. Congress appropriated $20 million to carry on the program during 1956 until an estimate based upon experience could be made. Such experience indicates that the annual level of payments will be approximately $33 million. Therefore a $13 million supplemental estimate for 1956 is proposed for later transmission.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Mexican agricultural labor is imported for use in areas having a shortage of domestic agricultural workers. Authorization for this program was extended to June 30, 1959, by the act of August 9, 1955 (69 Stat. 615).

1. Determining foreign-labor requirements.—The agricultural areas needing foreign workers and the number of workers required are determined. An estimated 400 area requests will be considered for approval in 1957.

2. Supplying foreign-labor requirements.—Workers are recruited in Mexico and transported to centers in the United States where the employer contracts for their use. In 1955, 331,000 workers were contracted and an estimated 350,000 will be contracted in 1956 and 1957. Direct costs such as transportation, subsistence, medical examinations, etc., are charged to the revolving fund. The overall cost, including revolving fund expenses, for supplying a Mexican agricultural worker averaged $10.18 in 1955 and is estimated to be $12.01 in 1956 and 1957 due to increased recruitment from the interior of Mexico.

3. Determining compliance with contract provisions.—Complaints of contract violations are investigated, and housing and other perquisites required by the contract are inspected.

4. Farm-labor analysis.—Foreign-labor reports are developed and States assisted in preparing them. Approximately 3,300 of such reports will be controlled and tabulated in 1957.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau administers the Federal Employees' Compensation Act, the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers Act, the Defense Bases Act, the War Risk Hazards Act, the District of Columbia Workmen's Compensation Act and certain provisions of the War Claims Act, and the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act. The combined caseload of new injuries reported under these acts in 1955 was 183,077. It is estimated the caseload will be 186,275 for 1956 and 186,250 for 1957.

Administration of the District of Columbia Compensation Act is financed through a working fund advanced by the District of Columbia and the War Claims Act is financed through reimbursement from the war claims fund.

1. Disposition of compensation claims.—Workloads are related to the volume of covered employment and the servicing of cases originating in prior years. (a) Federal employment is estimated at 2.3 million; cases from prior years number 40,038. The backlog of investigations is 374 cases going into 1956, but investigators added during the year are expected to reduce this backlog materially by the end of 1957.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau is the principal factfinding agency of the Department. It develops economic data affecting labor for use in policy determinations by the Department, other agencies, and the Congress, and for the use of business, labor, and other public groups.

Direct appropriation obligations are estimated to be $7 million for 1957, an increase of $583,000 compared with 1956 for improvement and expansion of basic statistical series.

1. Collection, analysis, and publication of labor and economic statistics.—This information serves as a basis for labor-management negotiations, establishment of current trends, and developments in the national economy, improvement of industrial safety programs, and for similar purposes.

2. Central administrative services.—Included in this activity are allocations for the publication program and such nonlabor costs as are not readily allocated to other program activities.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau establishes standards and policies that will promote the welfare of wage-earning women, improve their working conditions, increase their efficiency, and advance their opportunities for profitable employment. It investigates and reports on matters relating to the welfare of some 21 million women workers, who constitute nearly one-third of the labor force in the United States.

1. Investigating and reporting on conditions.—The Bureau collects and analyzes basic economic data relating to women workers; plans and conducts studies on special problems affecting them; and prepares reports.

2. Promotion of standards and policies.—Facts and services are made available through the distribution of publications, and through correspondence and field work to advance the welfare and effective utilization of women workers.

3. Advisory services on legislation.—Technical and advisory services are furnished State and Federal agencies, international bodies, women's organizations, and civic groups. Such services are supplied in the various fields affecting the employment, civil, and political status of women.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The division obtains compliance with minimum standards respecting wages, hours, and other employment conditions in industries engaged in interstate commerce or the production of goods for commerce and in establishments furnishing goods to the Government.

1. Promotion of compliance and enforcement.—Information media are used to inform employers and employees of their rights and responsibilities under the law. Investigations are made on a selected basis to correct violations and to assist employers in meeting legal requirements and workers in recovering wages due them. During 1955, 39,330 establishments representing 5 percent of the total estimated covered establishments were investigated and 55 percent were in violation. A total of 128,754 employees were found to be due wages in the amount of $12,151,077 of which employers have agreed to pay $6,165,117. Amendments to the Fair Labor Standards Act in August 1955 require intensification of the information and education program and an increase in the level of the investigation program to 67,500 per annum. Primary emphasis in these programs will be directed to those industry areas which are most directly affected by the amendments. This expansion in program will commence during 1956 and continue through 1957.

2. Wage standards and determinations.—During 1956 six industry committees will be convened in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands to review and recommend minimum wage rates under the Fair Labor Standards Act. Staff and program activities will be further expanded to service even greater committee activity beginning July 1, 1957, to conform with the recent amendments requiring review of all Puerto Rican and Virgin Island minimum wage rates not less than once a year. Regulations governing subminimum wages for learners, apprentices, messengers, and handicapped workers will be revised as a result of the amendments. It is expected that 14,000 applications for subminimum wage certificates will be received and acted upon this year and that the level of program will continue through 1957. Prevailing wage determinations under the Walsh-Healey Act are issued at the rate of approximately five per year.

3. Regulations and interpretations.—Regulations and interpretations are prepared to give effect to the Fair Labor Standards Act. Future emphasis will be directed to review and revision of regulations and interpretations affected by the 1955 amendments.

4. Economic analysis and statistics.—Economic research and analysis and the development of statistical data, necessary in the consideration of administrative problems and legislative proposals, is provided. A minimum wage effects study, as directed by the 1955 amendments, is planned to evaluate and appraise the new minimum wage and to determine the ability of employers to absorb wage increases. Reports on this study are to be made annually to the Congress.

REVOLVING AND MANAGEMENT FUNDS

PUBLIC ENTERPRISE FUNDS

BUREAU OF EMPLOYMENT SECURITY

Farm Labor Supply Revolving Fund, Bureau of Employment Security

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

Fees for each worker contracted are paid by agricultural employers into this fund. These fees are used to meet transportation and subsistence costs and other expenses directly involved in importing Mexican farmworkers (7 U. S. C. 1461–1468). When the program was first established, the fee for initially contracting a worker was $15 and the fee for recontracting a worker with another employer was $7.50. These fees which have been successively reduced to the current rate of $3 and $1 respectively, to return the accumulated surplus to agricultural employers, will be increased to $5 and $3 respectively, to provide a fund balance considered adequate for this operation. This increase will become effective on March 1, 1956.

The net effect on budget expenditures for fiscal year 1957 is estimated at $312,000. Retained earnings as of June 30, 1957, are estimated to be $643,884.

In fiscal years 1956 and 1957 it is estimated 350,000 Mexican farmworkers will be imported at an average cost to the revolving fund of $6.17 for each worker.

The act of August 9, 1955 (69 Stat. 615), extended authority for importing Mexican agricultural workers to June 30, 1959.

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The postal service is financed primarily from postal revenue. This revenue has been insufficient to cover increasing costs due to rising wage and price levels. The deficit has been met by appropriation from the general fund of the Treasury. The President's program includes legislative proposals which would ultimately permit the postal service to operate on a self-sustaining basis.

The financial deficit for fiscal year 1955 of $362 million was lower than in the preceding 6 years. Deficits of $440 million and $470 million are projected for fiscal years 1956 and 1957, respectively. The increases over 1955 are due entirely to recently enacted pay legislation, which can be absorbed only in part by operational economies and increases in volume of business.

Five annual limitations are established on the use of the postal fund: (1) Administration, (2) Operations, (3) Transportation, (4) Finance, and (5) Facilities. The money order fund and postal savings fund are accounted for separately as deposit funds, and are excluded from the budget tables.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau of Post Office Operations gives policy direction to the operation of all post offices, including city and rural delivery services and custodial service.

The total appropriation requested is $2,118,880,000, an increase of $78,720,000 compared to estimated obligations for the current fiscal year. Of this increase, $25,430,700 is attributable to increases in pay cost. Virtually all of the balance of the increase is for clerks and carriers.

AVERAGE EMPLOYMENT AT FIRST-, SECOND-, AND THIRD-CLASS POST OFFICES

| | Postmasters | Post office supervisors | Clerks, carriers, mail handlers, etc.[1] |
|---|---|---|---|

[1] Does not include rural carriers.

1. Administration of post office operations.—Provision is made for staffing of 15 regional offices set up under Reorganization Plan No. 3.

The administration of local post offices and additional compensation to fourth-class postmasters for furnishing space and utilities are also under this activity.

POST OFFICES BY CLASSES

| | 1955 actual | 1956 estimate | 1957 estimate |
|---|---|---|---|
| First class | 3,427 | 3,611 | 3,675 |
| Second class | 6,605 | 6,633 | 6,713 |
| Third class | 13,224 | 13,088 | 13,119 |
| Fourth class | 15,060 | 13,958 | 13,133 |
| Total, post offices | 38,316 | 37,290 | 36,640 |

Additional assistant postmasters are needed to fill positions where these duties are now performed by clerks and additional supervisors are needed because of general expansion of the service.

2. Mail handling and window service.—This activity includes clerical employees in post offices for the handling of incoming and outgoing mail and window service to the public, including that required at contract stations. It also provides for cost of employees at the mailbag- and lock-repair centers.

The small increase in manpower under this activity is to provide for the estimated 2.64 percent increase in mail volume in 1957 over 1956.

COMPARISON OF AVERAGE EMPLOYMENT AND WORKLOAD

| | Average paid employment | Mail volume (thousands) | Average units per man-year |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1955 | 206,075 | 56,035,945 | 271,920 |
| 1956 estimate | 207,091 | 57,561,250 | 277,951 |
| 1957 estimate | 209,609 | 59,080,371 | 281,860 |

3. Collection and delivery.—The growth in population and in the number of family units, while reflected in the postal service workload as a whole, has affected the carrier service more intensely due to the extensions required by the dispersion of families to outlying sections. The rate of growth in the outlying parts of metropolitan areas in the last 5 years was 7 times as rapid as in the central city areas. Much of this formerly rural territory has been built up and qualifies for city delivery service.

The funds requested in 1957 will provide for extensions of service to these new developments and inauguration of service at new offices.

7. Terminal and transportation charges by foreign countries.—Payments are made to foreign countries, in accordance with international postal conventions or agreements, for transportation and handling of mails of United States origin. The decrease in estimated payments is due to settlement of accounts on a more current basis and consequent elimination of many payments for service in prior years from current year funds.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The Bureau of Finance supervises the financial transactions of the postal service, including audit and control functions, procurement, sale and distribution of stamps and other accountable paper, postal savings, and sale of money orders. The postal service handles over $20 billion in transactions annually.

Significant progress was made during 1955 in modernizing the Department's fiscal administration. This included reorganization of the Bureau of Finance to provide effective departmentwide control over fiscal activities, and inclusion of the controllership function within the Bureau.

Completion of the staffing program, resulting from this reorganization, is anticipated in fiscal year 1956. No additional positions are provided in the 1957 estimates.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This appropriation, covering the Bureau of Facilities, includes purchase, rental, and maintenance of vehicles for local transportation; operation of buildings; and procurement of supplies and equipment.

The requested increase of $35,416,000 over the current fiscal year will provide for the anticipated increase in mail volume and for improvement in working conditions.

1. Administration of postal facilities.—Provision is made in the estimate for this activity for employees at Washington headquarters. The decrease is the result of transferring the cartographic unit to the field, partially offset by the full-year cost of specialists added to the staff in 1956.

2. Local transportation.—This activity provides for purchase, rental, and maintenance of motor vehicles required for local delivery. The estimate is predicated upon (1) replacement of high priced hired vehicles with Government-owned vehicles involving purchase of 1,775 ¾-ton trucks for this purpose, (2) 1,750 ¾-ton trucks for replacement of depreciated trucks, and (3) 400 ¾-ton trucks for expansion of the fleet for increased mail volume and extensions of service. An overall increase in operations and maintenance costs due to expansion of the fleet and salary increases is also provided.

3. Operation of buildings.—This activity covers rents, fuel, utility services, and maintenance for all leased quarters and Federal buildings under jurisdiction of the postal service. Included also are telephone and telegraph services, continuation of the light and color, and ventilation program in Federal buildings. The amount requested will increase occupancy of rented space by 6,032,946 square feet in 1957 to care for the increase in mail volume.

4. General postal supply service.—This activity provides for salaries of 25 mechanicians, 3 examiners of supplies and equipment, salaries of personnel operating the supply centers, cost of operating the mail equipment shops in Washington, cost of postal supplies, equipment, and printing for the field service.

The request will provide for increased production of mailbags and for purchase of supplies to completely stock supply centers and modern mechanical and labor-saving devices.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The object of the foreign buildings program is to provide consolidated office space to house the Foreign Service and other agencies of the United States Government abroad and living quarters for American employees in localities where suitable facilities are not available. Through this program the Department has acquired real property valued in excess of $140 million consisting of some 176 office buildings, 91 principal officer residences, 201 residences for senior officers and attachés, and 574 staff living units. Since 1946 the program has been financed primarily through the acquisition of foreign currency credits held by the Treasury Department resulting from lend-lease settlements, sale of surplus war property, and other sources. This program also finances property leases of 10 years or more, procurement of initial furniture and furnishings, and repair, maintenance, and operating costs of these facilities.

The purpose of the program for acquisition and construction is generally to replace outmoded or otherwise unsatisfactory Government-owned or leased office space. Such space is replaced with structures that are specifically designed to meet the particular needs of the Foreign Service and other overseas Government operations both from the standpoint of conducting efficient operations and of providing adequate security protection. In addition, housing is provided American employees in localities where housing either is not available or is substandard in relation to American living standards.

It is estimated that approximately $100 million expended over a period of 9 to 10 years will be required to provide for existing and projected requirements for new office space and staff housing. Of this amount, $50 million would be expended for office buildings, $21 million for attaché and principal officer residences, $16 million for staff housing, $8 million for embassy residences, and $5 million for structures that would combine office and staff housing space.

It is also estimated that an additional $100 million will be required during this period to properly maintain and operate the owned and long-term leased properties.

The program proposed for 1957 contemplates the construction or acquisition of 14 office buildings, 13 attaché and principal officer residences, 125 staff housing units, 3 embassy residences, and 1 structure combining office and housing space. Construction projects are selected on the basis of most critical needs.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The request of $1,304,000 is estimated to equal the Government's net share of cash disbursements to be made by the fund in 1957. It will cover a portion of the $4,948,537 accrual due from the Government to the fund for the year. The latter figure consists of (a) the normal cost actuarially computed at 14.94 percent of the payroll for services rendered during 1957 by the Government employees, and (b) interest at 4 percent on the unfunded liability of $43.9 million which is owed to the fund. There has been no appropriation since fiscal year 1950.

A supplemental appropriation for 1956 is being proposed for later transmission and is printed at the end of this chapter.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This appropriation finances all costs of operating and maintaining the American Dam and Canal, El Paso-Rio Grande rectification and canalization projects, completed portions of the Lower Rio Grande flood control and bank protection projects, Falcon Dam and powerplant, stream gaging stations on the international rivers and tributaries, and the Douglas-Agua Prieta and Nogales sanitation plants. The increase in 1957 is principally for maintenance work deferred in prior years and for continuation of the replacement program for heavy duty maintenance equipment.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

1. Rio Grande dams.—Construction of Falcon Dam is functionally complete with only miscellaneous cleanup work remaining. Completion of land acquisition program under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice was not accomplished in 1955 and is to be continued in 1956. The final phases of relocation of the town of Zapata are to be completed in 1956. These features will be financed with unobligated balance of prior year funds. Prior year funds will finance completion during 1956 of preliminary investigations for determination of the site, capacity, and general plans of the Diablo Dam and Reservoir, the second major international storage structure contemplated by the 1944 Water Treaty.

2. Lower Rio Grande flood control.—The necessary rights-of-way in the United States for construction of Anzalduas Dam have been acquired by local interests and donated to the Federal Government, permitting initiation of construction of the dam during 1956. Acquisition of the rights-of-way necessary for related levee and floodway improvement works is in process. The purpose of the dam is to effect equitable division between the interior floodways in the two countries of floodwaters in the Lower Rio Grande, in excess of the capacity of the channel in the Brownsville-Matamoros area.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

This appropriation provides funds for use in flood emergencies affecting structures erected for protection of properties in the United States valued at nearly $1 billion. The total Federal investment in these works is $58 million. New language is included in the budget which would authorize the United States Commissioner to expend such sums as may be necessary from any appropriation available to the International Boundary and Water Commission for emergency flood protection. This additional language is considered necessary since, in the event of a major flood disaster, this appropriation could provide only a small part of the funds needed to protect lives and property.

PROGRAM AND PERFORMANCE

The primary objective of the international educational exchange program is the promotion of the foreign policy of the United States through the exchange of key persons, selected for their capacity to build up a receptive climate of opinion overseas in which our action and policies can be more accurately interpreted. To realize this objective, exchanges are made between the United States and over 75 foreign countries. Such exchanges include teaching, study, research, professional and governmental observation, lecturing, or the acquiring of specialized practical experience. The estimate provides for the participation of 4,359 foreign and 1,915 United States citizens, a rise of 840 grants. It will also provide assistance to certain American-sponsored schools in the other American Republics and the promotion and facilitation of a large number of exchange projects under private auspices.
